

FINANCE COMMITTEE HAD NO KNOWLEDGE OF
SOME BIG PAYMENTS

Made By Order of President of New York Life.
Treasurer Hughes Reduces His Estimate of Company's Profits.
Director of Mutual Life Made Much Money Without Investment.

New York, Sept. 15.—When the session of the legislative committee to investigate the life insurance business was begun today, Edmund D. Randolph, treasurer of the New York Life, was again called to the stand. He presented a statement of the profits realized from the operations of the New York Life insurance company's joint accounts. It showed a profit of $83,541 in ten years, and was made out at the request of Counsel Hughes for the committee, earlier in the week. A book of the financial transactions in non-liable assets of the New York Life, kept at its Hanover bank office, was also presented.

Checks for $100,000 were found in the accounts of the Hanover bank office of the company. They were paid to Hamilton, who, Mr. Randolph said, was connected with the law department. These payments were made on order of the president, without any action whatever by the finance committee, and Mr. Randolph said he knew nothing whatever about them.

On Dec. 30, another instance of checks ordered paid by the president to the amount of $48,702 was found, and Mr. Randolph said he knew of no one but the president who could tell what these items were for. As to the statement of the profits presented earlier, Mr. Randolph referred Mr. Hughes to George W. Perkins, who has been in charge of that part of the financial operations. Mr. Perkins was sent for at this stage of the proceedings.

Taking up again the matter of checks ordered paid by the president, Cornelius C. White, a deputy auditor of the New York Life, who was temporarily called, said the $100,000 was on account of the purchase of property in this city, to enlarge the company's office facilities. Mr. White was asked to produce the books that would show anything relating to these check payments.

The affairs of the Mutual Insurance company were again taken up, when Augustus D. Juilliard, a trustee for twenty years, and a member of the finance committee of the Mutual, was called. Mr. Juilliard is a stockholder in the Guaranty Trust company, United States Mortgage and Trust company, Morris Trust company, Fifth Avenue Trust company, Morton Trust company, and the National Bank of America. He said he individually participated in syndicates for the purchase of bonds, but that his personal participations were in no way influenced by the fact that the Mutual was also a participant therein.

In one of the Japanese bond syndicates Mr. Juilliard withdrew no bonds. He put up no money but shared in the profits. In the United States of Mexico bond syndicate Mr. Juilliard was interested. The Mutual Life Insurance company took $4,000,000 in bonds and the members of the syndicate, while putting up no money, shared in the distribution of profits.

He was in the navigation syndicate to the extent of $100,000 which is still in force. He paid the call, and like others, is awaiting the result.

Mr. Juilliard made the statement on the stand that he would go into any syndicate, the Mutual Life thought sufficiently safe to participate in and would also risk his own money where he would not that of the Mutual Life.

Concerning the United States of Mexico syndicates of which Mr. Juilliard was a member, Mr. Hughes said: "In these the Mutual bought bonds in the open market and so contributed to the profits of the syndicate."

"Were all the other members of the finance committee in that?"

"Members of the finance committee individually, I can't tell whether they were or were not," declared witness.

Mr. Hughes brought out that the witness had participated in Republic of Cuba syndicate, his participation being to the extent of $100,000. He got his share of the profits.

Mr. Hughes now began to inquire if the Mutual was treated in any way differently from individual participants in the syndicates. He elicited the fact that in really successful deals the participants withdrew no bonds, put up no money, and make a profit without cost to themselves.

Then he was asked:

"Generally it is understood when the Mutual goes into a syndicate it will be the purchaser of bonds outside of participation?"

"Yes, but we never go into syndicates if we would not be willing to take up the bonds."

Mr. Juilliard's connection with the Morris Trust company was next considered. He could not state that the Mutual controlled the company, though several directors of the Mutual were on the Morris Trust board. Asked if the Mutual Life made large loans to trust companies, Mr. Juilliard said: "The Mutual makes no loans."

NO HAS RESIGNED.

St. Paul, Sept. 15.—Hans Mo of Sleepy Eye, member of the board of directors of the St. Paul district, telegraphed his resignation as a member of the board to Governor Johnson yesterday. Governor Johnson immediately appointed W. R. Hodges, editor of the Sleepy Eye Herald. No reason is assigned for the resignation of Mo.

UNTRUE STORIES DRIVE YOUNG GIRL TO END HER LIFE

False Stain Against Character More Than She Could Bear.

New York, Sept. 15.—Lorenzen Berry, a carpenter of West Medford, Mass., today identified as that of his daughter Ella, the body of the young woman who committed suicide Wednesday in the Hotel Manhattan. She was a stenographer in her home town, he said. Mr. Berry declared that the publication of an untrue story in a Boston paper a year ago that his daughter had run away with a married man was the cause of her self-destruction.

"Wherever my daughter would go," Mr. Berry said, "it would seem as if somebody was ready to point her out as a girl who had been mixed up in a disgraceful affair. Then she went away from home to seek employment in other cities. She would be a short time in a place when the story would reach the ears of her employers and she would be told that she could not remain. This happened several times, until my child could not bear it any longer."

Elmer Berry, the dead girl's brother, who was with the father, said that a letter had been received by the family from the girl, in which she wrote that she had decided to put an end to it.

"I cannot bear this false stain on my character," she wrote to her father, "and I see nothing else left for me to do than to kill myself. Please forgive me and believe that I would not do this thing if it were not that I am nearly out of my mind with grief and horror at the aversion which everybody seems to think is true."

YOUNG GIRL CARRIES OUT HER PART OF A SUICIDE COMPACT

Marion, Ind., Sept. 15.—Carrying out her part of a suicide compact, entered into with her chum, Cleo Baugher, who committed suicide at Marion a month ago, Miss Cleo Thompson, 17 years old, today swallowed a large quantity of arsenic and died from the poisoning.

Miss Thompson was at Marion with the Baugher girl when she could hear life by taking arsenic. It is believed that Miss Thompson purchased the poison at that time and that she intended to die with her friend, but for some reason postponed her act until today.

Like the Baugher girl, Miss Thompson took the poison while on the street. After swallowing a large quantity of the drug this morning, she called a cab and asked to be driven to her home. She became unconscious before leaving the cab and died within a few hours.

Sherick Charged With Embezzlement of the State's Funds.

Indianapolis, Sept. 15.—David E. Sherick, ex-auditor of state, was slated at the police station today, charged with embezzlement of the state's funds. He waived examination, and was to be bound over to the grand jury under heavy bonds. Because of matters before the departments and Judge Whalen postponed the hearing as to the amount of Sherick's bond until this afternoon. In the meantime, Sherick was under the guard of a detective. At the police station he appeared downcast. He refused to talk concerning the case, referring all inquiries to his attorney. It was after 1 o'clock this morning when detectives called at the Sherick home. The officers found Sherick in a nervous condition, bordering on collapse. Dr. Cottingham was called, and the apartment was advised the detectives to allow Sherick to stay in his room until this morning. Some time after midnight County Attorney Cyrus J. Clark and another man called and talked with Sherick for some time. Earlier in the night there was a constant stream of callers from among the friends of Mr. Sherick. From conversations that took place within the hearing of the detectives, it could be seen that Sherick was bitter toward the governor for his action. Investigation of the securities, which were placed in the hands of the governor, tends to show that they are of sufficient value to protect the state if taken with the $100,000 bond of the American Surety company.

There will also be an exposition of food products permitted to be recommended by physicians in tuberculosis cases. Rooms will be fitted up like those in Sanatoria, of three classes, those destined for rich patients, those for middle classes and those for the poor. Special exhibits will be made of pharmacy for tuberculosis and of house furnishings, such as arm chairs and bath tubs for patients. Cleansing and disinfecting apparatus also will be displayed.

Seven meetings will be held during the week and on Oct. 5 the delegates will visit the establishments of the assistance publique and institutions of charity, hygiene and veterinary art. The final session will be held at the Sorbonne. The presidents of the four sections will deliver their annual addresses and the date and place of the next congress will be determined.

PRISONERS
BREAK JAIL

Five Men Obtain Their Liberty By Drilling Out Bolts.

Omaha, Sept. 15.—Five men confined in the county jail here succeeded in obtaining their liberty early today by drilling out the bolts and breaking one of the bars of the steel lattice work enclosing their cells on the second floor.

All of the prisoners except Harry De Lacey, who a few days ago was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary on the charge of swindling, were serving sentences on minor charges. De Lacey was in the county jail for two months ago, while on his wedding trip, and it is said he is of prominent family. Since their escape from jail no word has been heard of them.

HUNDREDS OF FEVER REFUGEES ARRIVE AT CITY OF CINCINNATI

Two of Them Suspected of Being Afflicted With Plague.
Came In a Special Train, Although Many Are Destitute.

Cincinnati, Sept. 15.—At least five persons suspected of having yellow fever arrived here over the Queen & Crescent line, today. Those held are: Mrs. T. J. Bonn of Tallulah; Mrs. Stone of Tallulah; Willie Walters Smith of Lake Providence and Miss Stockner of Lake Providence.

The train consisted of 200 refugees from Lake Providence, La., and Tallulah, La., who were fleeing from the yellow fever.

Dr. Clark W. Davis, health officer of this city, being notified by General Passenger Agent Peterson, that he was bringing about 200 people from the South up in a special, sent Dr. B. F. Lytle and an assistant to board the train at Lexington, examine the people aboard and wire him.

Ambulances were at the train to receive the patients in response to a message from Dr. Lytle.

When the train reached Lexington several persons who were sick at the time they were taken to the Branch hospital on their arrival here.

All the other passengers of the train were allowed to go to their destinations but the names and addresses of all were taken and they can be reached by the authorities if needed. Reports that a large number of these were also sick were investigated by physicians during the day.

Fifty of the party of 200 came up to this city absolutely penniless. Each carried a lot of hand baggage. These fifty gathered together in a group at the Grand Central station. Congressman E. E. Randall of Lake Providence, La., was on the train and he and his family rendered every assistance to the stranded group of fifty.

At Tallulah, seventy-five persons boarded the train, but they did not get on at the station. Knowing they would have difficulty in getting out of town, which is in the heart of the fever district, they walked out a mile and a half and there, when the engineer stopped for them the crowd of men, women and children got aboard. Some of these are among the penniless ones.

SUPPRESSING CASES
Will Be Followed By A Relentless Prosecution.

New Orleans, Sept. 15.—Annoyed by the constant digging up of hidden cases of yellow fever, which has added to the difficulty of stamping out the disease, the health officer is serving notice on the public that he and his staff hereafter will relentlessly prosecute those who may be guilty of suppressing cases. Advice from Tallulah and Lake Providence are more cheerful.

Leeville has had a total of forty-nine deaths with many still sick and the sufferers in need of delicate diet to help along their recovery.

Great interest is manifested in the diamond festival for the yellow fever fund, which is to take place tomorrow and if the weather is favorable as is now indicated that affair will be a success.

A large blackboard has been erected upon which there will be printed, in large letters the message worded by President Roosevelt has promised to send.

NO GUNS CAN BE

Bede Discovers It Would Be Direct Violation of Treaty.

Washington, Sept. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Bede arrived in Washington this morning. Mr. Bede comes to Washington on a variety of matters before the departments and will remain here probably about a week endeavoring to work through these matters for his constituents. Mr. Bede declined to discuss the Duluth postmaster's office reversionary contract.

It was announced at the state department that after a careful perusal of the old treaty between the United States and Great Britain relative to the maintenance of armed vessels of war on the Great Lakes it was found that to arm the Fern, recently loaned to the naval militia of Minnesota, would be a direct violation of the stipulations of this treaty, and the heavy department has been so notified.

This means that no guns can be mounted on the Fern for any purpose whatever. The Minnesota naval militia will doubtless follow the course by the naval militia of Michigan, who some years ago secured the loan of a battleship from the navy and were obliged to mount their big guns on shore. The guns for the Fern are here in Washington, and if the Minnesota boys want to arm them as a land battery they may have them.

THOUSANDS OF HUNGARIANS DEMAND UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE

Budapest, Sept. 15.—Since early this morning dense masses of workmen have been marching to the lower house of the diet for the purpose of making a demonstration in favor of universal suffrage. Crowds composed of other classes also gathered and strong cordons of police were posted near the building. Herr Julius Just, president of the house, received the deputations, who presented petitions setting forth the demands of the people. In reply Herr Just said his position as president of the house prevented him expressing an opinion, but he begged the people to await quietly the decision of parliament.

Work is at a standstill in all the factories, as the workers are taking part in the demonstration. No disturbances had occurred up to the time this dispatch was filed.

SOUBRETTE WEBS.
Blanche Gibbs Married to an Orchestra Leader.

Milwaukee, Sept. 15.—Walter L. Clauber, son of Joseph Clauber, composer and bandmaster and leader of the orchestra at the Bijou theater, and Miss Blanche Gibbs, sourette of the "How Baxter Batted In" company, which played last week at the Bijou, were married at the city hall in Chicago Wednesday. The ceremony was held at 10 o'clock and was a very quiet affair. The bride was dressed in a white gown and wore a large veil. The groom was in a tuxedo. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Connelley. The bride and groom were accompanied by their parents and a few friends. The reception was held at the city hall. The couple will reside in Milwaukee.

ARMISTICE SIGNED ON THE BATTLEFIELD

Opposing Generals Deliberated Nine Hours Before Signing.
Naval Envoys Will Establish an Armistice on Sea at Once.

Gunshu Pass, Manchuria, Thursday, Sept. 14.—Owing to the variance between Russian and Japanese time, and also the fact that the exact spot for the meeting of the Russian and Japanese representatives had not been defined, Maj. Gen. Gvanovsky, representing Gen. Lincolith, was the last to arrive yesterday morning at the place for the armistice conference. Gen. Fukushima, representing Field Marshal Oyama, with Col. Tanaka and Capt. Tanaka, two professors of international law, Ariga and Soyzi, and a guard of fifty men, had already arrived under a flag of truce.

Gvanovsky and Fukushima dismounted, and in the plain near Shatohu, after an exchange of greetings, the two generals, at 10 a. m., began the discussion of the conditions of the armistice, frequently retiring for the purpose of consultation. All the houses on the spot having been destroyed, the conference was held in the open, the officers sitting on the grass.

After nine consecutive hours of negotiations, the armistice was signed at 7 p. m. It takes effect Sept. 15, agrees to the abolition of all hostile or brutal acts, establishes a neutral zone of four kilometers wide between the two armies, of which Shatohu, on the railroad, is the center. Maps showing the zone are to be exchanged. Only civilians will be allowed within the territory, and communication between the two armies is to be only by the Shatohu road.

Special naval envoys are to meet near Vladivostok, with one ship for each nation, to confer and establish an armistice and a neutral zone at sea.

An armistice on the borders of Korea is to be arranged by separate negotiations, between the local commanders, and on terms similar to those agreed on in Manchuria.

JAP COMMITTEE
Will Demand the Abolition of Martial Law.

Tokio, Sept. 15, 6:30 p. m.—The committee of the lower house of the diet, which has been investigating the recent disturbances, will have an interview with Premier Katsura tomorrow, on which occasion the committee will demand the abolition of martial law, and will also organize a special committee of inquiry into police outrages.

The bar association is memorializing the government for the abolition of martial law.

The president and vice president of the lower house of the diet will go to Yokohama tomorrow to meet Secretary Taft.

TRAINER OF ATHLETES DROWNED

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Joseph Lattimore, who had been head rubber for the Northwestern university athletic team for the last eight years, was drowned yesterday in Spring lake, near Waukegan, Wis., where the candidates for the team are practicing.

Lattimore had started out in a boat to go in swimming. Upon his failure to return, several hours later, search was made and Coach McCormick discovered Lattimore's boat stranded in shallow water. In it were his clothes. Lattimore was nowhere to be found. Until late at night the football players and several local residents worked to find some trace of the body, but their efforts were futile.

Lattimore began his career of training the Northwestern team at Pennsylvanian university under George Woodruff. Eight years ago he entered Northwestern academy and was named head rubber for the university teams. During that time he finished his preparatory course and entered the college of physicians and surgeons and was to have been graduated next June. During the summer he was employed as a basketball trainer at Atlantic City. His mother and a sister live at Lawndale, N. C.

RAMSEY MAY TRY TO OUST GOULD

New York, Sept. 15.—Joseph Ramsey, formerly president of the Wabash road, has issued a public statement in which he asks stockholders of the road for proxies in his name for use at the annual election of directors, to be held at Toledo, Ohio, on Oct. 10.

From the wording of this statement, says the Herald, it is believed that Ramsey is being made to dispute the control of the property with George J. Gould. The serious contemplation of any such attempt, however, is deemed in railroad circles, as it is said to be the policy of the Goulds to retain 40 per cent of the stock of their properties, so that in the event of a contest, it would not be so great an effort for them to maintain a controlling interest.

It was semi-officially stated only recently that Ramsey was expected to become active head of the Wabash system to succeed Mr. Ramsey.

TSI AN RECEIVES AMERICAN PARTY

Peking, Sept. 15, noon.—Miss Alice Roosevelt, Mrs. Rockhill, wife of the American minister; Mrs. Newlands, wife of United States Senator Newlands, and other ladies of Miss Roosevelt's party, went to the summer palace Wednesday and spent the night. Yesterday they were received in formal audience by the dowager empress. Mrs. Rockhill, who was first presented to the empress, introduced Miss Roosevelt first and afterward the other ladies of the party. The empress moved among the visitors, chatting informally and presenting them with handsome gifts of bracelets and rings. This was followed by an inspection of the grounds of the summer palace. The whole visit was remarkable on account of the absence of formality. Returning to Peking in the evening most of the party attended an "at home" at the German minister's, where Gen. Corbin and wife and Senator Newlands and wife are being entertained. The party spent the day seeing the sights of Peking. Tomorrow all will go to Tien Tsin to attend a reception given by Viceroy Yuan Shikai.

NO DEMONSTRATION TO BE MADE AGAINST NICARAGUA

Oyster Bay, Sept. 15.—A misapprehension has arisen as to the action of the government in the case of William C. Albers and his brother who are confined in prison at Ocatel, Nicaragua. It is said here by authority of President Roosevelt that no demonstration against Nicaragua is to be made at this time.

It appears from the official correspondence that Albers brothers are under arrest at Ocatel on an alleged violation of the law of Nicaragua, and are being held in the local court. The various phases of the case have been presented to the government and the president directed that the usual steps be taken to insure the prisoners absolutely fair and impartial treatment at their trial.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Senator Corbin, the Nicaraguan minister, called again upon Acting Secretary Loomis at the state department, today, presumably in connection with the case of William C. Albers, the American, imprisoned at Ocatel, Nicaragua, though neither of the parties to the interview cared to make any statement for publication.

Consul Donaldson, whose exequatur was cancelled because of his intervention in behalf of Albers, is believed to be now en route to the United States, but it is not known whether he came on the Pacific liner from Corinto or made his way to the Atlantic and will reach New York in that way. It is known that Donaldson was very ill with typhoid fever at about the time he is said to have addressed a letter to President Zelaya which gave offense to that official. Upon his arrival in this country, Mr. Donaldson will be given an opportunity to explain this letter. He is still American consul, notwithstanding the withdrawing of his exequatur and if the state department is satisfied with his explanation he probably will be provided with another post in an exchange.

Football Team Forming

Preparing.

Ole Tornick, who lives on Fifty-eight avenue west, between Nicollet and Gensold street, was badly injured yesterday afternoon in the Algonquin mill at West Duluth. He was handling lumber, and while thus engaged was caught between one of the lumber carriers and a pile of lumber, and his right leg was badly crushed. Only one of the bones was broken, but the muscles and ligaments are terribly lacerated, and it is feared that Tornick will lose his leg. However, the lack of contagion germs, etc., and the man's vigorous constitution give him a good fighting chance, and he may get through without loss of the limb.

Another sad affair, yesterday afternoon, was the accident which happened to John Bloomquist, who keeps a candy store at the end of the car line at Sixty-first avenue west and Raleigh street. While just outside the store yesterday, Bloomquist fell in an apoplectic fit, and hurt himself severely, both externally and internally. He was carried to Dr. Graham's hospital, and remained unconscious for a long time. His condition is very grave, and fears are entertained that he will not recover.

A boy named Earl Spooner, while working in the Algonquin mill yesterday afternoon, was struck in the eye by a flying missile, and that member was painfully but not seriously injured.

Rev. Nils Hedeon Admires Scenery Here.

Rev. Nils Hedeon of Portland, Me., visited in the city this week and was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Peterson of 608 Fifty-ninth avenue west. He was accompanied by his wife. Rev. Mr. Hedeon preached last Sunday morning at the Bethel Baptist church, Ninth avenue east and Third street, and in the evening at the Third Baptist church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Ramsey street.

Dr. Hedeon is pastor of the Swedish Baptist church at Portland, Me., and is out for a vacation trip. He said, while here, that he has seen a great many places in this country, having traveled extensively; he had been greatly impressed by the magnificent sight of the prairies along the shore of Lake Superior. This climate, he said, must be the healthiest in the country, and more so because of the very excellent water supply had here. Mr. and Mrs. Hedeon left this week for Ishpeming, from where they will go to Chicago and will reach Portland by the first of October.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.
Sunday shoes at Laumann's. West Duluthians who attend shows or other affairs up town are pleased over the fact that the street railway company has put on an "Owl car," which leaves Third avenue west at 12:22 a. m., instead of 12:08, as formerly. The last car going west gets into the car barn at 1:10, and some West Duluthians will make a dash to have this car run through to West Duluth and then back to the barn.

The Merrill & Ring ball team, and that of the Longshoremen, will try conclusions at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, on the old grounds at the foot of Fifty-seventh avenue. The proceeds of the game will be for the benefit of William Leach, who is sick at

So said a woman a few days ago after she had paid $5.00 for a pair of shoes at a certain store and then accompanied a friend here who bought a better pair for $3.50.

"If I Had Only Known."

Of course this woman will know better hereafter and come here for her shoes. How is it with you, madam? Have you been here and made a shoe saving, besides getting a pair of excellent shoes?

Affairs of Interest.

This evening a gymnasium rally will be held at the Young Women's Christian association. Former members of the classes are invited to attend, as are also any prospective members.

Mrs. William Donaldson entertained the members of Calendar Circle of Highland church this afternoon at her home on Duluth Heights. The guests of honor were the new officers of the Circle, who are: Mrs. William Webb, president; Mrs. Herbert Wilson, treasurer; and Mrs. George Knight, secretary. The afternoon was a most pleasant one.

Mrs. M. W. Turner entertained at cards this afternoon at her home at 1910 East Superior street. The guest of honor was Mrs. W. T. TenBrook of Deerwood.

The delegates from the local branch of the W. C. T. U. of this city to the convention, which will be held at Minneapolis, Sept. 19 to 25, have been elected, and will be: Mrs. N. C. Hendricks of 831 North Fifty-seventh avenue guest, and Mrs. L. P. Swangle of 19 South Fifty-eighth avenue west. Mrs. Hendricks will give the response to the speech of welcome.

The Young Ladies' church of St. Luke's Episcopal church entertained at a poverty social last evening at the vestry rooms of the church. A large number were present, and the proceeds of the affair will be used in the work of the guild.

A special meeting of the Ladies' Union of Pilgrim Congregational church was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the church parlors. The meeting was an important one.

An executive meeting of the Missionary Union will be held tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock, at the parlors of the Young Women's Christian association. It is greatly desired that all the presidents of the local missionary societies be present at the meeting, which is an important one.

Personal Mention.

Among the students who left the latter part of the week for the State university were David Freimuth, George Kruschke and Robert Jacques.

Mr. and Mrs. T. K. McKoon of 213 South Seventeenth avenue east are visiting friends at Nashville, Tenn.

Dr. and Mrs. George M. Butchart of Hibbing are the guests of Mrs. W. W. Butchart of 402 East Fifth street.

Mrs. Frank Freckle and Mrs. W. W. Butchart have returned from a visit at the Portland fair.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Pearson and son, Galen, have returned from an outing at Deerwood.

RUSSIAN WOMAN'S CURE.

Cold Water or Snow For the Nerves.

The cure which the Russian woman takes when she is tired or when her nerves are on edge is the cold water cure. She goes into a cool apartment and dashes cold water into her face. If possible she takes ice and binds it on her brow. In the winter she hoods her head and faces the driving snow for a minute, says the Brooklyn Eagle.

So great is a Russian's belief in cold water that she begins at an early age to teach her children how to use it.

The Russian nerve cure is being tried in London very successfully for more things than tired nerves. Tired muscles, tired sinews, worn-out bones, and a weary head are all treated to a dash of cold water. If the feet ache, they are run through ice water, as one wades in a brook, quickly scents with swift steps.

The Japanese have a much prettier way of curing their tired nerves, though perhaps it is not quite so speedy. The Japanese woman takes the blossom cure.

In Japan, when you furnish your house, you send for the flower man, who comes and decorates your home with plants. This is always done as a matter of health. The flower man brings his palms, his quince trees, his flowering shrubs and his great spreading Oriental flowers, and bestows upon the house. If any one is ill he selects the flowers carefully, taking care to get a certain kind of scent, for there are people to whom scents act as a quiet.

The English woman finds a quieter in a cup of tea. She brews it very much as the Chinese brew it, having learned a great deal of late years about tea making.

To make a cup of tea actually quiet the nerves the room should be darkened, for it is the light that tires the nerves most. Then the clothing should be loosened. Finally the shoes should be taken off. Then one is ready for one's cup of tea. The tea should be taken as hot as is comfortable, but never scalding.

The Jiu Jitsu have a plan for resting a set of tired nerves. The Jiu Jitsu warrior will take a pint of fresh milk and heat it scalding hot. Then he will slowly cool it until it is pleasant to the taste.

He will then sip it, letting each swallow rest in the stomach before taking another. Milk taken in this way is not fattening, and it is certainly very restful.

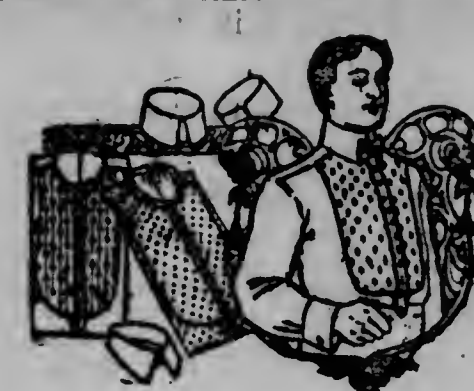

The Hindoo, who has the steadiest nerves in the world, and who is accustomed to concentration, and who can go through feats that would daunt any other man of any other race, has his own way of resting his nerves. He does it economically and claims that he gets results.

When worn out, so tired that he can hardly stand, the Hindoo will drag himself to the window and rest upon his feet. He will open his arms wide and breathe deeply. This is his way of resting his lungs and his stomach.

He will remain by the window taking it deep breaths of pure fresh air, meanwhile he will say his prayers. The two together, the deep breathing and the prayers, restores him. He turns from the window rested in mind and body. His nerves are light and free again.

The pet nerve cure of the American woman is nap. She takes the sleep cure. Her forty winks restore not only

A DESIRED END

The gate was open and in the long, shaded path between wonderful bushes of blooming roses the form of a white-clad woman lingered.

It was very still; hardly a leaf stirred; the air was hot and heavy. The man at the open gate paused before entering and drew the gate shut. The woman turned at the sound and faced the man.

A look of recognition flashed between them, but for some reason it was not openly acknowledged by either. Then last by the woman's voice, soft, low and vibrant, truly, a voice none could hear and not heed.

"You are seeking the Prospects, perhaps?" she asked slowly.

"Yes," he hesitated.

"I am indeed sorry, but they are in Europe for the summer. We were—that is, I have taken the house for the season. Is there anything I can do for you?"

"Why, no, nothing, I think," he answered very slowly.

"You are stopping near here?" she asked suddenly.

"Yes, I am on the beach road, a mile east of here."

"Ah, then we are neighbors."

"Yes, perhaps I may have the pleasure of calling some time. Or—have a car that I will be happy to place at your service."

"I thought this country too hilly for autos, so we—that is, I have only a team and a modest runabout. You see, I am

GLADDEN'S FIGHT

Against "Tainted" Money Will Not Meet With Approval.

Members of American Board Believe Matter to Be Closed.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 15.—The ninety-sixth annual meeting of the American board of commissioners for missions of the Congregational church, opened here yesterday in Plymouth Congregational church.

Dr. Washington Gladden, moderator, who has been making a strenuous fight against the acceptance of what he terms "tainted money," has not yet arrived.

The visitors were greeted at the opening session by Rev. A. M. Freeman, for years identified with the churches of the Pacific coast, and the session was made by Dr. Samuel B. Capen of Boston, the president of the board, who said:

"If we can Christianize China and Japan we shall change the whole content of Asia. Yea, more, they will mightily influence Europe from the East."

"Certainly it behooves us to treat not only Japan, but China, as brethren. We must feel that in many ways our treatment of the Chinese has been most unworthy, and self-interest as well as religion bids us change our methods. It is only right that we should put them in every way upon the same basis as other nations. We have only ourselves to blame for the anti-American feeling which within a few months has been developing so rapidly in China. It is not to our credit that we have to be taught to do right because are pocketbooks are injured."

"The church grows slowly in this country because so many Christians are indifferent in foreign missionary work. Our inadequate support of this work reacts and hinders our own growth. What does the world think of the Christianity of a man who gives $1 for foreign missions and $2 for a necktie and $3 for a choice seat at an evening entertainment? We shall never have the great religious awakening for which so many of us are praying and longing until we get out of our selfishness and put in our money until it means something of sacrifice. I am glad to believe that we are gaining in many directions. The idea of stewardship is getting hold of men, and we must not hinder it in any way."

The minutes of the last meeting of the commissioners were read by Rev. Henry A. Stinson, D. D., of New York, the recording secretary, after which President Capen appointed the customary committee. Treasurer Frank H. Wiggin read the report of the treasury department and the report of the auditor of the board, which was read by the report of Treasurer Frank H. Wiggin of Boston, contained the following:

The total receipts for the year ending August 31, were $52,149. Not included in this amount, because not for a specified purpose, was the gift of $50,000 from Mr. John D. Rockefeller, in part payment of the debt of $100,000 for educational work for institutions allied with the board. Treated in the same way was a gift of $5,000 from Mr. Vanderpool for a new building in connection with St. Paul's institute at Tarsus. If these two sums were added the total amount of receipts would be $52,149.

The total disbursements, including the gifts of Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Vanderpool were $50,589, and the excess of expenditures above receipts was $1,560 which, added to the debt of the previous year of $22,737 makes a debt carried over to the account of the new year of $24,297.

The cost of maintaining the work abroad has been materially increased, the necessity for part of the increase being unavoidable, as it could not be foreseen.

The amount of conditional gifts received was $34,736, the conditional gift fund now amounting to $48,173, a growth of $13,437. The twentieth century fund now amounts to $136,178 and unpaid pledges are in hand which will swell it to about $14,000.

A strong sentiment has been expressed by Dr. Washington Gladden to present to the convention in his fight against "tainted money." The resolution has not been presented to the convention, but the sentiment among members is that the resolution will be lost by a large majority if presented.

The New England party, 135 strong, arrived in Seattle yesterday morning. The most prominent among the New Englanders who arrived is F. Henry Whitcomb, chairman of the Prudential committee, to which the question of "tainted money" was referred some weeks ago.

In outlining his position on the question, Mr. Whitcomb made the following statement: "I do not know what Dr. Gladden proposes to do. The incident is really closed, although the question can be brought up under the head of new business, or can be injected at most any time. We are ready to consider any matter that is proposed, no matter how radical or absurd it may be."

"The Prudential committee cannot be placed in the position of looking up a man's history or his family record, whenever he offers money to the committee for the work of the church. Mr. Gladden's resolution would make it necessary for the board to weigh the standing of every man, and to put the committee in the position of censoring every donation. That cannot be done, and I do not believe the board will suggest it."

Most of the time of the board during the convention in this city will be taken up with the consideration of the question of maintenance of foreign missions.

BRYAN SEES OPPORTUNITY

For President Roosevelt to Inaugurate a Peace Movement.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 15.—A letter addressed to President Roosevelt from J. J. Bryan in which a plan for permanent peace is suggested, was made public here last evening. Mr. Bryan congratulates the president on his success in bringing Russia and Japan together and says: "Why not ask congress for authority to submit all international questions (When agreement cannot be reached by parties interested) to an impartial board for investigation?"

Investigation will in nearly all cases remove the cause of complaint and reconcile the parties. Questions which a nation might be unwilling to submit to arbitration by an impartial international board, in advance could be settled by investigation by an impartial international board.

"It was a glorious thing to end the war between the Russians and Japanese, but it would have been more glorious to have prevented the war and saved the frightful loss of life. The moral prestige which our nation has gained from this war will enable it to lead a successful peace movement. The congratulations which you have received from the hands of European governments strengthen the chances of success. If the leading nations of the world would enter into an agreement to join in the creation of such a board and pledge themselves to submit all disputes to the board for investigation before declaring war the danger of war would be reduced to minimum."

"We must not have had it in their power to do so much for humanity—why not improve the opportunity?"

—W. J. BRYAN.

FRANK B. BROWN

Appointed to Hennepin County District Judgeship.

St. Paul, Sept. 15.—Governor Johnson yesterday appointed Frank B. Brown of Minneapolis as judge of the Hennepin county district court to take the seat which will be vacated by Judge Charles B. Elliott Oct. 1. Governor Johnson announced that he would appoint Judge Elliott to the seat on the supreme bench left vacant by the resignation of Judge Lovely.

The resignation of Judge Lovely will take effect Oct. 1, at which time Judge Elliott will resign from the Hennepin county district bench and receive the appointment to the supreme bench to fill out the unexpired term of Judge Lovely. By virtue of the last election, Judge Elliott would take his seat as justice of the supreme bench Jan. 1. The present arrangement is one of expediency. It was not thought best to have the court fall entirely upon four of the judges, as would have been the case if Judge Lovely had held over until Jan. 1.

F. B. Brown, the appointee to Judge Elliott's seat, is president of the Hennepin County bar association and has been a prominent attorney for a number of years. He is associated in law practice at present with W. A. Kerr.

LIGHTNING BOLT KILLS TWO AT MISSOURI FAIR.

Belton, Mo., Sept. 15.—Lightning struck the old fair hall and live stock yesterday while they were packed with people seeking shelter from the storm.

Style facts vs. style talk.

Our suit department is opening the season with an assortment of stylish suits, coats, skirts and waists, as well as furs, corsets and undermuslins, that is winning warmest praises from hundreds of daily visitors—and winning sales on the part of those who are ready to buy.

The "little fellows" are out with their usual grist of "style talk," which is most ludicrous to those who are on the inside and know that when it comes to control of styles and lines the biggest buyer—the Glass Block—is always given the preference.

We buy more and buy for lower prices from the leading fashion creators. We sell more and sell for lower prices.

We buy hundreds of garments, where the "little stores" buy only a fraction of a dozen.

And we sell them because the styles are exclusive, while the prices are invariably MUCH LOWER.

WE ARE SHOWING:

New tailored suits with full length coats.
New tailored suits with three-quarter length coats.
New suits with tight fitting long coats.
New suits with latest hip jackets.
New suits with loose "Empire" coats.
New fur lined coats for ladies—$22.50 to $125.00.
New long coats for children—$4.98 to $10.00.
New walking skirts of Panama and cheviot cloth in the latest style of pleats and kilts—at $4.98 and $5.98.
New dress skirts in voiles, Panama cloth and mixtures from $7.50 to $37.50.
New lingerie skirt waists and handsome silk waists in white, black and fancy plaids—$2.98 to $10.00.

New cravenette rain coats.

The popularity of the long cravenette coat for street wear in all sorts of weather, increases this season. We are showing a number of new ones—styles are exclusive and beautiful—prices as always at the Glass Block are from $5.00 to $15.00 lower than similar coats are priced at the little stores.

Cravenette Rain Coats $14.98 to $32.50

Boys' and girls' shoes.

Saturday will be the time to realize savings on fall and winter shoes for the boys' and girls' school wear.

BOYS' box calf vic kid and patent colt—the best of durable school shoes—worth from $2 to $3—all sizes up to 6—also misses' vic kid, box calf and patent kid shoes—light and heavy soles, worth $1.75 and $2.00—all sizes—LAST CHANCE SATURDAY—$1.50

The Glass Block shows the most extensive line of fleeced goods for all sorts of house wear ever shown in Duluth—these items will illustrate the savings by buying here.

30-INCH MOMIES—Fleeced, in a widely varied assortment of beautiful Persian patterns—the best designs and colorings of the season—advertised elsewhere at 18c—our price per yard 12½c

PERSIAN TWILLED FLANNELS—32 inches wide—the best styles and colors to be seen in this season's entire outfit—a so-called "special" elsewhere at 15c—our price per yard 12½c

ESKIMO—Extra heavy, double fleeced—100 pieces to choose from—they're asking 18 and 19c in some places—get them here at per yard 15c

SILK EOLIENNE—A new fabric, soft and lustrous—beautiful materials for evening wear—28 inches wide and 20 of the swiftest new colorings—no one else in Duluth handles them—only per yard 50c

THE DEAD: JOHN L. POST, a prominent retired farmer. MRS. CLEVELAND, a negro woman. W. O. Plummer, of Peculiar, Mo., was probably fatally injured.

Others seriously hurt are John Theaton, Winny Moore, Pleasant Hill, Mr. Riley, Nichols, Jr., William Hunsley, David Roberts and William Evans of Belton.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS. Receiver Bradley of the defunct First National bank of Denver, Kan., informed by C. S. Downing that sufficient capital from a New York underwriter corporation has practically been secured to assume all of the C. S. Devlin liability. The amount of the loan is $4,000,000. This would, it is said, pay the Devlin liability and the First National bank credit for dollar.

A large portion of the business section of Grangeville, Idaho, was destroyed by fire, causing a loss of $100,000. The fire was caused by a defective gas pipe in the kitchen. The fire was caused by a defective gas pipe in the kitchen.

The steamer Neptune, with the winter supplies of the Hudson Bay company on board, sailed Thursday from St. Johns, N. B., under rush orders from Ottawa. The Neptune has had the supplies on board for more than a month. The orders received followed the urgent telegraphic inquiries from the Hudson Bay colony.

Eugene S. Zimmerman, president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railway, arrived in Cincinnati from New York late Thursday night. He denies the report that the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton system has been sold, but intimated that negotiations for its sale are now in progress.

Gus Rubin and John Wille Thursday posted forfeits for their fight at Salt Lake City, Sept. 8. Rubin will train there.

WOMAN DROWNED.

Whereabouts of Her Male Escort Is Unknown.

Watertown, Wis., Sept. 15.—The body of Miss Emma Schultz, daughter of Louis Schultz, was found floating in Rock river, near the Lutheran home for the feeble minded, yesterday.

She went boat riding Wednesday evening, with Hans Traumer, son of Maj. George P. Traumer, a former resident of Milwaukee, it is said. The boat was found half full of water near where the body of Miss Schultz was found.

The whereabouts of Traumer is unknown, today. Some are inclined to believe that his body will be found in the river, but other rumors of a sensational nature are current. Miss Schultz was 30 years old and always had an excellent reputation.

FALLING VIAL REVEALS PLOT

How Japs With Sore Eyes Deceived the Officers.

San Francisco, Sept. 15.—Falling from the wide sieve of a Japanese coolie's kimono at the detention shed on the mail dock, an innocent looking little vial containing adrenalin has exploded in his hand. The explosion succeeded in deceiving immigration officials. All painstaking examinations of thousands of Japanese eyes at quarantine have been wasted. The man whose charges are declared to have been made against Dr. H. J. Huston, surgeon-general, for passing opium and other drugs with the intention of deceiving officials. The white fluid in the vial, little better than a trace of disease, so that the eyelid when turned back, appears to be in normal condition.

But what the drug can conceal it cannot cure. An hour after they land at San Francisco, the eyes of the Japanese eyes that the surgeon's helper could identify as non—non by trachoma.

The plot was first discovered at the detention shed. The man who had succeeded in passing the examination were held for other causes. As their supply of white drug gave out, their eyes grew red and inflamed, and the inflammation was set on foot, and then the viral fell to the doctor's feet. In spite of expostulation of the coolies, it was seized.

MEMORY BLANK.

The Strange Case of an Iowa Man.

Maloy, Iowa, Sept. 15.—J. W. Beaman, who mysteriously disappeared from sight a little over a year ago, arrived at his home at Maloy, from Cleveland, Ohio. He was at one time given up for dead. He was in Detroit about a year ago in the interest of a patent on one of his own inventions, and was traced to far London, England, where he dropped from sight. He explains his absence by declaring that everything has been a blank to his mind since his departure from Detroit, until a few weeks ago, when his wife received a letter from him dated at Cleveland and bearing an endorsement from J. H. Is now well and entirely rational.

CRIMSON MILK

Is Given By a Cow In Pennsylvania.

Tunhannock, Pa., Sept. 15.—What is said to be the queerest freak in the cow line ever known in England or America has been discovered on the former member of the state legislature, near here. The cow gives red milk, not a dull, watery or milky red, but bright, flaming crimson. The milk is white when drawn, but changes to red in the course of a few hours. A second illustration of the cow, the state veterinarian was made, resulting in the cow being marked as the one with the red milk, in the record. So interested are the state's scientists in the case that the cow will be brought to the University of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia, for observation.

Hair Vigor. Gives to gray hair all that soft, dark, rich color so natural to early life. Checks falling hair; keeps the hair soft and smooth, and prevents splitting at the ends.

If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know how good they are. These famous little pills cleanse the liver and rid the system of all impurities. They are pleasant effects. Sold by all druggists.

EUROPEAN DOCTORS

Declare Handshaking as Dangerous as Kissing.

Paris, Sept. 15.—Dr. Valentine Malpassee, a well-known physician, has announced that handshaking is as dangerous as kissing. He is based on the ground that it is not merely unhygienic, but a possible danger, as likely to convey infection.

He makes the claim that infection by transmitting microbes is likely whenever two hands come in contact. He is not alone under the ban of physicians, but this was supposed to represent the limit of conservatism.

Now, however, Dr. Malpassee has received the indorsement of several colleagues.

In lieu of handshaking Dr. Malpassee suggests the Oriental practice of placing the hands successively on heart, lips and forehead.

For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding flaps, eczema, cuts, burns, sores and all skin diseases, Dr. Williams' Sanguiferous Pills are given by so many thousands of afflicted persons, and by so many thousands of physicians.

CONTRACT APPROVED

The President Stands By Shonts In Panama Subsistence Concession.

Over Bay, Sept. 15-A contract for the hotel and subsistence concession on the Panama Railroad was awarded to Markel of Omaha, by President Shonts of the Panama Railroad company with the understanding that the contract was to be assigned to the subject named by President Roosevelt, who yesterday appointed the subject Markel.

The contract amounts, in the aggregate, to $100,000. President Shonts report indicates that it may be possible to assign the contract to the subject, who actually will own the permanent right to the concession.

Under the terms of his contract, the subject has authorized the publication of a report he had received from Markel as president of the Panama Railroad company, that the latter had been actually received by him from Hudgens & Dumas, who had been successful in their bid against the award of the contract to Markel.

It was directed by the president to make known the protest was referred to him when the protest was referred to him. President Shonts took in the matter and the subject was referred to him for his concession to Mr. Markel.

The subject, who is president of Hudgens & Dumas and H. H. Hufel, advised that the subject had been given special treatment by President Shonts and that he had been through a leak in the subject's office.

The subject was informed of the nature of his proposal and had been unable to obtain the concession from the subject. Hudgens & Dumas had submitted.

The subject was informed of these allegations to the satisfaction of the subject, who had been given the report, and no further action concerning the protest probably will be taken.

PAYS A CENT
Because He Whipped His Mother-in-Law.
Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 15.—In the county court Chris Oliver pleaded guilty to whipping his mother-in-law and sent to the penitentiary for 30 days.

While no special tariff has ever been promulgated in cases of this nature, the fine suggested above has provoked attention on account of its comparative cheapness.

Whether the present minimum rate should be returned upon by Alabama and other beneficiaries as the maximum limit has not yet been settled.

-PUT UP A JOB

To Gain Favor With Her Mistress

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 15.—After summing a wagon load of police and claiming that the residence of W. A. Owens, a wealthy manufacturer, had been ransacked and that she had been assaulted, Francis, a domestic in the employ of the Owens's, confessed that she put up the job to gain

While Mr. and Mrs. Owens were at the farm, the girl accepted the opportunity to ransack the house. By calling the police she thought she would be remunerated by Mrs. Owens, who had previously cautioned her to summon assistance should the house be entered by burglars.

It required some severe sweating by the police to finally make the girl admit that she had worked a fake. She was not arrested.

BEAR HUNT LIKELY

President Roosevelt Invited to Hunt In Vermont Woods.

Mountaineers Hope Secret Service Men Will Stay Away.

Woodford, Vt., Sept. 15.—The 473 inhabitants of this town are in the throes of expectation; other nearby villages are sitting up and taking notice, and the whole section of the country of which Woodford is a part, is discussing one all-absorbing question: Will whether President Roosevelt will really hunt the fall and winter bears. No one in Woodford ever saw a president of the United States, and some of the residents never saw steam locomotives. It is not surprising, then, that a former governor speak at a political meeting, and he has been regarded as a great man. It is not a little wonder that the citizens are excited.

The report that Mr. Roosevelt might visit the place on a bear hunt was first brought by courier from Bennington, and the news spread so quickly that many of the men have not been experienced since Fort Sumter was fired upon. The crowd gathered in the town, the only one in the village, could not believe its ears. The courier, however, stuck to his statement.

It was not until the night from John Barney Wright, the veteran bear trapper, who lives just across the line in Williamstown, Mass., and slays black bears in the Green Mountain state. Everyone knew that was not corded until the trapper got ready to tell it.

"Don't go out West bear hunting this fall, Mr. President, but come to Williamstown and we will drop over into Vermont and give you as fine sport as you can find anywhere," is just what Barney says he said. To this the trapper declares the president replied: "I'll surely come if I can arrange it. Let me know when the hunting time comes and I'll try to get there."

This is the nearest Woodford ever got to entertaining a real live head of the American government, and it Will he really come? Won't some great matter of importance hold him off? It is not likely that the town is too unimportant a place to be visited by such a great official? These are the questions which are whistling in Barney's head.

Barney—They never call him John. He is called Governor. I don't believe he has a habit of coming. I must convince the president makes up his mind that the bears of Bennington county are not so scary.

Whitaker—And the word of the veteran trapper goes a long ways here. He doesn't believe in a bear.

Barney—You are right. The word of the invitation long ago.

He spoke real serious, just as though he was a bear. I says, "and if he can only get the fall chores to the White House done, I'll give him the blunderbuss and p'int for Vermont."

Barney—The only thing that bothers Woodford is the possible appearance of secret service men. I told him that wherever he goes, and if they are anything like sheriffs and army majors, they will be in the community wants nothing to do with them. The expeditions if county officers of the state are not pleasant. The officers have not been pleasant like Whitaker, in dwelling on the matter, delivered the general opinion.

"Then detectives have all the state

If by any remote chance the president should come hunting he will find bears in plenty and an able guide in John Barney Wright. Since the bounty was taken off all noxious animals bear hunting has not been financially profitable and the animals have increased until they have become a nuisance.

Berry-pickers have had several uncomfortable experiences in the past. One resident will only come and kill a few dozen he will be both honored and thanked. His presence is a warning to the other folks believe he would rid the woods of the animals in a week and corn husks would be left behind when he is gone without fear of interference.

Barney Wright himself is the greatest of all trappers. He has a few traps he can't kill all the bears. He has been trapping since he was 13 years old, and has made a fine living. He has a few traps set out for the bears by paying an aged trapper $50 in silver and gold coin for certain rats handpicked by him. He has sold a few bears and sold his pigs and cow for $70 bought traps.

There is a great howdydoo in the family when the folks found I had sold some of my stock to buy traps," he said then. "The other folks are all in the same way. I brought in skins worth $30, the folks

The secret which Barney bought concerns a compound for scenting traps. What his formula is he refuses to say, but other and less fortunate trappers declare the concoction to be very wonderful. The odor brings bears from a long distance, and each and every one follows his nose until forepaws are securely held by the strong, sharp teeth of the trap.

"I wouldn't even tell that secret to my own son," says the hunter. "May-

"Would you tell it to the president?" he was asked.

"I can't do it," said the hunter, not a trapper," replied Barney sagely, "because he won't be privy. I'll guarantee that if he don't ask me no sartain questions, I'll be able to tell him what I won't better him with any consarnin' the ruinin' o' the gov'ment or the sittin' o' the Cap war."

"I'll say," said George Barney is a trapper, as well as a hunter, and his hands, however, is useless. This is the result of an accident which occurred shortly after he gave up trapping. He was out on a hunt, and he caught a wild cat, and in trying to remove it from the steel trap the jaws snapped upon his hand and held him fast. The spring could only be bent back by a lever, and he had unfortunately left this at home. He was in great pain, and his next thought was to cut the flesh and free the hand. But his knife, too, was missing, and there was nothing for it but to walk three miles to the nearest house, dragging the trap, clog and chain, weighing in all over seventy pounds.

It was sickening work, and at the end of a mile he was too faint to go on. So he had to work his way back after many trials braced his back against a tree, got the heel of his boot against one of the jaws, and managed to separate the teeth a fraction of an inch. Then he gradually inserted a

COWMEN ARE
The half-humorous, half-surprised look playing about the wrinkled corners of a mouth that must once have had power to arouse terror was on the face of Elizabeth Hunt, 100 years old, snuggled in the rear seat of a big twenty-four-hour power automobile that she named "Brooklyn bridge." She was celebrating her extraordinary birthday by taking the first auto ride of her life. Sitting in the machine with her was her grandson, grandnephew, a great-grandson and great-great-grandson.

The funniest thing about it all is that she has never met a cow. The oldest she saw the sweet old lady when the man who took her from the city to the mountains stopped for a moment at the Meadows one day. She said:

Laramie, Wyo., Sept. 13.—Ranchmen east of the Laramie river are facing this fall a situation which practically precludes the possibility of their being able to ship any cattle as feeders this year.

It is the fact that the government has quarantined the eastern portion of Wyoming because of the disease, which is caused by a parasite which attacks the lungs of the sheep, is said to have existed here for a number of years, and the ranchmen have been told that the only way to get a vaccination, the government has now taken over the quarantine and the sheep are to be present be shipped out of this portion of the state unless they are vaccinated.

Under the supervision of a government inspector, except fat cattle and calves, all sheep are to be vaccinated in blocks. Cattle that are shipped to market are to be vaccinated in the same manner in the stockyards at which they are sold.

It is which more many thing else worries the ranchmen is the fact that the government has closed the plants in the country, and none at all are to be shipped out of the state.

Some of the big cattle companies have in the last two years built dipping plants for their own use, and the ranches as closely as they found it practical, but they say that the government inspectors will not allow them to tie cattle afresh by the herds or the bunches, but will require that they be dipped the same ranges. The smaller ranchmen, on the other hand, say that the government inspectors will not allow it.

case the stray cattle of the big ranchmen, and the community disease was then fresh.

The situation is serious in that the cattle of the big ranchmen, and the ranchmen of this section has been the shipping of feeders to Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma, and the ranchmen practically put a stop to the trade and to the selling of straight stock to the feeders. The ranchmen have not done in former years. The same man-

REGION TOO NEW WORKING FINELY

Rev. R. H. Joldersma of New System of Gathering Fulton, Ill., Is In Duluth. Grain Samples Operates Excellently.

Would Have Flock Wait D. M. Philbin Characterizes Superior Reports a Year or Two Before Coming. as "All Bosh."

While he likes the land and thinks the country has great possibilities, Rev. R. H. Joldersma of Fulton, Ill., who went to Payne to look over the meadows near Payne with W. O. Kinsman of the land department of the Duluth & Iron Range road, thinks that it is still too wild for the staid agriculturists who compose his congregation in the neighborhood of Fulton. He will advise them, upon his return to Fulton, to buy land in the iron range region but to defer the transfer of their household goods and families until a few harder ones show up made the region a trifle more homelike.

Rev. Mr. Joldersma says that the members of his little flock near Fulton are not hardy pioneers. They are placed Germans who work upon their farms steadily but who like to feel that they are in well established neighborhoods and not so very far from the centers of population.

Consequently for two or three years at least, the meadow lands near Payne will not know a colony of Fultonites. Some of them will undoubtedly invest in land there because their pastor thinks the soil is very fertile and the region one with a great future.

But he cannot be shaken in his determination that the country is too wild as yet. Perhaps the presence of scores of big black bears in a metropolitan like Duluth has influenced him in coming to this conclusion.

Rev. Mr. Joldersma and Mr. Kinsman returned last night from Hibbing, where they were yesterday. They inspected the iron mines and the Fulton clergyman was much interested. His family is in Duluth with him at present but they will leave soon for their home in Illinois.

FINE LIQUOR MEN.

Refilling Bonded Bottles in Several Cases.

Several internal revenue inspectors, who have been in the city for a few days, have been doing things to rectifiers of spirits and saloonmen. It is understood that a number of these matters have all been settled out of court, as those who were accused were anxious to suppress the matter because of the damage publicity would do to their business, even if they proved themselves not guilty.

It is claimed that a considerable number of cases were found where bottles originally used for bottling liquor in bond had been refilled.

LAW POINT RAISED

Has This County Any Probation Officer at Present Time?

Is Mr. Withrow Eligible to Salary Under New Law?

Has the county of St. Louis a probation officer at the present time? If so, what is his salary? It is an annual salary provided for in the laws of 1905?

These are two questions that the county officials are pondering over and which it is quite possible that the court will be called on to decide.

When the board of county commissioners convened this week, Assistant County Attorney W. G. Crosby called attention to Chapter 321 of the laws of 1905, in which provision is made for the appointment by the judges of district court of a probation officer, and, if necessary, one or more deputies, these to hold office for four years or until removed for cause; the salary of the probation officer in counties of more than 100,000 inhabitants to be $3,000, and that of each deputy to be $720 per year. Mr. Crosby remarked that H. C. Withrow, agent for the Duluth Humane society, has been acting in the capacity of probation officer on a salary of $50 per month, paid by the county. Mr. Withrow is the duly qualified probation officer, his salary on the $1,500 per year basis really commenced June 1 last.

The point has been raised, however, that Mr. Withrow, having been appointed under the old law, is not eligible to receive a salary under the new law, unless reappointed in accordance with the provisions of the new law. In this matter opinions differ.

Judge Ensign, who presides over juvenile court, says that the district court judges have not appointed a probation officer, under the new law. He said the matter had not previously been called to his attention and he was not in a position to express an opinion until he has looked up the laws.

Mr. Withrow states that he is acting in the capacity of probation officer under his appointment as deputy under the old law. He says that he expects to abide by the laws just as the county officials and the courts find them.

The files of the clerk of district court show that Mr. Withrow was nominated to the position of probation officer by the board of control of state institutions, and was appointed by the district court judges August 1, 1901, for a term of four years. In such case it would seem that his term of office expired August 1, 1905, and that the position is now vacant, the district court judges not having appointed a probation officer under the new law.

If such is the case then the county officials claim that the question resolves itself into a question of whether an officer under the old law and amended by the laws of 1903, Mr. Withrow is entitled to draw a salary of $50 per month and the $125 per month provided for the new law, which became effective June 1. The new law states that the salary shall be paid the probation officer and his deputies monthly by the county treasurer on warrants drawn by the clerk of district court.

J. P. Johnson, clerk of court, has not yet issued such warrant for June and July, pending the advice of the county attorney as to the salary to his legal right to do so.

In any event, no matter what the decision may be as to the salary question for June and July, the probation officer appointed by the district judges will draw his salary for the month of August on the basis of the $125 per month instead of $50, a salary that is believed to be more commensurate with the amount of the work that such official has to perform.

Probation officers at St. Paul are said to have been drawing the full salary under the new law since June 1, though none of these are understood to have been appointed since the new law went into effect.

HIGH SCHOOL OFFICERS

Elmer McDevitt Elected President of Athletic Association.

One of the most enthusiastic athletic meetings ever held in the high school was held this afternoon. In the absence of the president, Elmer McDevitt took the chair, and Don Stocker acted as secretary. After calling the meeting to order, President McDevitt said that the athletic association was to be congratulated on its condition. Last year, for the first time, the football team closed the season with no debts, so that this year the team has no handicap to work against. The treasurer reported 79 cents in the treasury.

Nominations for president were then called for. Elmer McDevitt was elected president.

The other officers elected were: Vice president, Charles McLennan; secretary, Don Stocker; treasurer, Frank Crossweller; sergeant-at-arms, Robert Forsythe and William Crawford; manager of football team, Don Stocker; mascot, Rudolph Abraham; chief rooster, McLennan.

Members of last year's football team were called upon for speeches and each spoke briefly, expressing great confidence in the team this year. The meeting closed with the school yell.

DISCOVERY OF NEW EVIDENCE

Was the Cause of Quashing the Sentence of Vartanian.

Constantinople, Sept. 15.—The action of the court of cassation in quashing the sentence of death imposed on Ghrikis Vartanian, a naturalized American citizen, and the remitting of the case to the lower court for retrial was due to the discovery since his conviction that he had an accomplice in the assassination of the Armenian merchant, Undulian. This discovery at the eleventh hour and the action of the court of cassation are generally attributed to the instance of the American legation. No further judicial action is permissible until the settlement of the question of principle arising from the naturalization of Vartanian and of the other Armenian also said to be an American citizen, who was arrested in connection with the explosion of the bomb July 21, while the sultan was leaving the Mosque after the solemn ceremony, which caused the death of about forty persons. It requires the services of only sixty-five clerks to handle this vast amount of business. The expenses of the company are divided among the forty odd roads which are members, so that the saving to the railroad by the establishment of this bureau is considerable. The credit for its success is due to Commissioner Donohue, who originated the scheme and worked out the plan.
It is claimed that a deal for a dock site on the Lake Superior & Northwestern railroad on St. Louis has been closed, and that papers in the case will be signed either this week or next. The Superior and River company is said to be the seller. The location will be on the St. Louis side of the bay.
The tract to be taken over is believed to be a triangular section of land with a dock line extending into the bay for nearly half a mile, and located just west of the Standard Oil and Great Northern docks. It is supposed that the dock, if built, will be used for merchandise.

Night School

Is now in session at the Duluth Business University, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of each week. Young men and women get here a complete training in commercial and common branches. Some study bookkeeping; some shorthand, while a great many are taking the English course, which consists of reading, writing, spelling, grammar, arithmetic, etc., etc.
The evening school is in charge of a corps of competent teachers, and the student gets the individual, or private attention necessary to insure rapid progress. Young people find that it costs less to spend their evenings here, than on the streets, and that the practical training received fits them to better their conditions. You can begin at any time.

TRAFFIC IS HEAVY

L. K. McConnell Says Season's Passenger Business Will Break Record.

Eight Michigan Lines Join the Central Milcage Bureau.

"Travel to the state fair over the Milwaukee road, as well as over other lines, broke all previous records," said L. K. McConnell of St. Paul, traveling passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, today. "The last three days the special rates were in force over the line had 5,000 people to return home from the fair. The passenger equipment was taxed to the utmost in handling the business."

"From present indications the 1905 business will be greater over the Milwaukee than during any similar period in the past. Although it is getting pretty late in the season, the passenger traffic is showing no signs of falling off. I believe it likely that passenger traffic over several leading Western lines will this year break all previous records. The travel both East and West has been unusually heavy all the season."

BACK FROM TEXAS.

D. E. Cole Impressed By Possibilities of Southwest

Don E. Cole, assistant ticket agent at the union depot, has returned from a trip to Fort Worth and other Texas points.
Texas is rapidly coming to the front in a commercial way, said Mr. Cole today. "The average Northerner does not realize the possibility of that rich section of the country. The towns down there, particularly Fort Worth and Dallas, are just as active in a business way as any here in the North, and more so than good many. Dallas claims a population of 22,000 and Fort Worth falls 20,000 or 3,000 behind that."

MORE ROADS JOIN.

Central Passenger Bureau Enlarged By 6,000 Miles

By the addition of eight Michigan rail and lake lines, which formerly used the mileage book of the Northern Milcage bureau, the territory of the Central Passenger bureau was enlarged by 6,000 miles this week. It now covers 28,000 miles of railroad and steamboat lines.
Of the Michigan roads only one remains out of the central association bureau, and as the Michigan, known as the Northern, bureau has been disrupted, there is said to be only one thing for the Grand Trunk to do—get out a mileage book of its own. The road may reconsider. It is said, and go in with the others.

The latest roads to be taken into the central bureau are the Michigan Central, Ann Arbor, Pere Marquette, Detroit & Mackinaw, Detroit & Cleveland, Grand Rapids Navigation company, Detroit & Buffalo Steamboat company and the Grand Rapids & Indiana.
Eight years ago the Central bureau was established, after it was discovered by the railroad that on their old-style individual mileage books they were losing money. The innovation of an interchangeable book which required the holder to go to the office and secure his ticket, paying at the rate of 3 cents a mile for it, brought down the wrath of the commercial travelers. They at one time appealed to Commissioner Donohue, who got him to abolish that form of mileage book. The book has been profitable to the railroad. Over $25,000 has been sold back in rebates, leaving $20,000 for the railroad.

It has been found that the average trip made by the holders of these goods is forty miles, and there are 25,000 of them in use every day. It requires the services of only sixty-five clerks to handle this vast amount of business. The expenses of the company are divided among the forty odd roads which are members, so that the saving to the railroad by the establishment of this bureau is considerable. The credit for its success is due to Commissioner Donohue, who originated the scheme and worked out the plan.

ACQUIRES DOCK SITE.
Reported Deal of New South-eastern Railroad.

It is claimed that a deal for a dock site on the Lake Superior & Northwestern railroad on St. Louis has been closed, and that papers in the case will be signed either this week or next. The Superior and River company is said to be the seller. The location will be on the St. Louis side of the bay.
The tract to be taken over is believed to be a triangular section of land with a dock line extending into the bay for nearly half a mile, and located just west of the Standard Oil and Great Northern docks. It is supposed that the dock, if built, will be used for merchandise.

RACE FOR COAST
On Between Northwestern and St. Paul Lines.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—The Record-Herald says: A race for the Pacific coast is said to be on between the Northwestern and the St. Paul railroads. That the former purposes building such a line is indicated by the incorporation of the Pierre, Rapid City & Northwestern Railway company at Pierre.
The Northwestern has purchased an old right-of-way surveyed, and acquired years ago and purposes commencing construction at once. Material has been hurried to Pierre, which is the western terminus of the Northwestern and everything is ready for the Western race in construction.
The new line will take the Bad river route through Stanley county across the corner of Lyman county and through Pennington county to Rapid City, a distance of 160 miles. At Rapid City the new line will connect with a branch line of the Northwestern, connecting Dakota Junction with Deadwood and Middle Creek. The St. Paul is already constructing an extension from Chamberlain, S. D., west along parallel to the Northwestern's proposed route.

Northwestern Equipment.

New equipment is being delivered by the holders to the Chicago & Northwestern railway, for the Overland Limited, the fast three-day train to the coast. One of the features of the new cars is the sleeping car equipment, of latest design, maximum size, electric lighted Pullmans. Each car has ten sections, a drawing room and two private compartments, and are intended for the Chicago-San Francisco service. Similar sleeping cars, fitted with twelve sections, one drawing room and one compartment, will be operated on the Chicago-Portland line.

Railroad Personals.

A. B. Hill of Chicago, representing the Lehigh Valley railroad, is in the city today.
C. L. Kennedy, commercial agent of the Milwaukee road in Duluth, has returned from Chicago.
George S. Atterbury of the E. J. & E. line, is in the city from Chicago today.
E. Chambers of Minneapolis, who looks after the railroad claim matters for the Mississippi Valley Lumbermen's association, is in the city today.

FALLS IN FIT

Prisoner Released From Jail, Too Weak to Walk.

Ten minutes after he had been released from the municipal court under suspended sentence, and had started to walk to his camp twenty-six miles up on the Missabe road, James O'Brien, on a charge of drunkenness and pleaded guilty before Judge Windom. He was shaking and trembling with weakness and nervousness brought on by the drink, but he pleaded with the judge for a suspended sentence.
"I'll get right out of town, your honor," or," he said, "and go back to work."

"I think you ought to have ten days to get over the effects of your spree," said Judge Windom. "You're in pretty bad shape, just now. You must have been drinking very heavily for at least a week."

"It's only six days, your honor, but I'll not touch another drop, and I'll get right back to work if you'll let me go." The court finally released him under his promise to go back to work, but the man had barely secured his possessions at headquarters, and been released, before he fell to the sidewalk in a fit, striking his head against the pavement, and cutting a long gash in his scalp.

He was immediately taken back to headquarters, where another charge of drunkenness was brought against him. The hearing of the case was set over until Monday, and if he is sufficiently recovered by that time to be released, he will doubtless be given another suspended sentence by the court, and allowed to go back to work.

The wound in his scalp, while it caused the loss of consciousness, is not thought to be dangerous. A physician was summoned and sewed up the wound.

SUMMONS MAYOR

City's Head Asked to Appear Before the Grand Jury.

City Attorney and County Commissioners Are Also Called.

Among the witnesses summoned to appear before the grand jury this morning were Mayor Cullum, City Attorney Bert Foster and some of the county commissioners. The city officials are supposed to have been called to testify in regard to an investigation of the moral affairs of the city, and the commissioners are supposed to have been called in regard to county road matters.

No report has been made by the grand jury since Wednesday, but it is considered very probable that some returns will be made this afternoon. It is understood, however, that in case any indictments are returned today, they will not be made public, for the reason that the indicted persons are not yet in custody.

Much interest is evinced in the coming grand jury report as to the city and county affairs, in view of the investigation that is apparently being carried on, and not a few believe that there will be "something doing" after the present grand jury completes its labors, and that the "something" may go so far as to involve certain places where it has been suspected that young girls have been taken for liquor, and afterwards enticed to their ruin.

NEW YORK LIFE CONTRIBUTED

New York, Sept. 15.—On the stand this afternoon in the insurance case George W. Perkins produced a check for $48,000 drawn by the New York Life Insurance company, Dec. 30, 1904, payable to J. P. Morgan & Co. Mr. Perkins testified that this check was a contribution to the National Republican fund, and was promised to Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the committee, Mr. Perkins said the check (being done in 1904 and 1905). The reason for these contributions, he said, was that the company feared its assets would be endangered in case of Democratic success.

FOOLED BY A DOG

Four Brave Hunters Mistake Canine For a Bear.

Theater-Goes Give Quartet the Laugh at Finish.

A bear hunt that came precious near ending in a dog fight, with a dog opposing four young men, took place near the corner of Third avenue east and Sixth street, and was witnessed by a number of people returning from the theater.

Four young men started out armed with axes and all sorts of weapons which ordinarily are found only in peaceful pursuits. The object of their quest was a big black bear, evidently alive but asleep in the gutter, near Third avenue east, on Sixth street.

Coming from a performance of "Ben Hur," the spectators were prepared for a terrible and exciting ordeal. They watched the brave young men steal upon the sleeping bear, brandishing their axes and clubs high in the air.

One timid woman, who was watching the march of the four hunters, gave a little scream that well might have spoiled everything. But the bear did not hear and slept peacefully on. The hunters drew nearer and nearer to the denizen of the forest, and were about to strike fatal blows, when a sudden sound came out of the front door of a house and said:

"If you fellows hurt that dog I'll have you arrested."

Then one of the theater-goers laughed uproariously, and the others joined in—that is, every one except the hunters. They were much chagrined, but declared that they had begun the chase in good faith, acting upon the alarm sounded by some children, who said that they had seen the bear.

The dog is the property of Hudson Clark, East Sixth street.

INJURY CASE BEFORE JURY

Julius Koschman Asks $10,000 For Loss of Eye.

Only one jury case was in progress at district court, when the noon adjournment was taken, today, but it was expected to start two more cases for trial when the court reconvened at 2:30 o'clock.

The personal injury case of Julius Koschman against C. R. Ash, went to the jury shortly after 11 o'clock and no verdict had been reached at a late hour this afternoon. Koschman lost an eye while employed at Virginia by Mr. Ash, due to a blow from a sledge hammer.

In Judge Ensign's room, a jury is listening to the evidence in a timber contract case against Mr. John Demore, against the St. Croix Lumber company.

One other case was called for trial this morning, but it was discovered that a point of law was involved and the jury was waived, the case going to

SAID JUROR

Considerable interest was caused in Judge Ensign's room this morning, following the reading of the verdict in the case of John Korby against John Chesser, when D. M. DeVore, attorney for Korby, announced to the court that some of the jurors had divulged the contents of the sealed verdict to outside parties before it was opened in court.

Mr. DeVore claimed that he was called out of bed at a late hour last evening and informed by telephone that the verdict was for Chesser and against his client, John Korby.

Before discharging the jury, the court called attention to the fact that special stress had been laid on the instruction to the jury that they were not to talk of the case outside the juryroom nor to divulge the verdict until it had been read in open court. He warned jurors against any infraction of that rule.

Korby's Attorney Claims He Was Told Verdict Thursday.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Walter Wellman says in a Washington special to the Record-Herald: It is almost as good as settled that the Panama canal is to have locks and that it is not to be a sea-level canal. The members of the board of consulting engineers have not as yet come to a formal decision on this important matter, and are not likely to do so till after they have made their forthcoming visit to the isthmus. But members of the board privately say they have little or no doubt as to what their final conclusion is to be. One member of the board said he believed the report of the engineering commission would be strongly in favor of a lock canal and added:

"The one great argument in favor of a sea-level canal is that it would make the better canal because ships could go through it more expeditiously and with less danger. But upon careful examination of the subject most of us have come to the conclusion that the argument is not well founded. At point of fact, ships could pass through a properly constructed lock canal quicker than through a sea-level canal. It is not the locks that consume time, but because a big ship can go through a modern lock in twenty-five to thirty minutes. If the locks are placed at the terminal of the canal the locking will practically consume no time at all, for ships always tie up an hour or two on arriving in a canal port and do the same on leaving. Before putting to sea again. One of the plans we have under consideration calls for a canal with only two locks, one at either end; and this plan is very attractive. It will stand a good chance to be adopted if we find there are no difficulties about the lock foundations."

"We are well aware," continued this member of the board, "that there is a popular impression a sea-level canal means the best canal, and that the American people believe they can afford the best canal that can be built. But this is a mistake, in my opinion. There must be one lock anyway, even in a so-called sea-level canal. One more lock is a small consideration. With a lock canal we can within a reasonable cost, get a pretty straight channel, and a cross-section large enough to meet all the demands of the present and the future. The area and alignment of the canal are far more important than the absence of locks. With a wide, deep channel, giving plenty of water and storage way, the time lost in going through one lock (if we call it time lost) may be compensated for many times over by the speed at which ships may pass through the whole forty-seven miles. To make a sea-level canal, and give it sufficient width and depth through the Culbreth Ridge, would run the total cost to almost prohibitive figures. These are some of the reasons why the opinion of members of our board seems to be running strongly to a canal with at least two locks."

Most of the members of the engineering board have returned from their visit to the president at Oyster Bay. They say the president urged them to make a report to him as soon as possible, but he did not indicate whether or not he had a preference as to the type of the canal. The president care-

THE LOCK PLAN

For the Panama Canal Is Favored By the Experts.

Board of Consulting Engineers Doooms Sea Level Ditch.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Walter Wellman says in a Washington special to the Record-Herald: It is almost as good as settled that the Panama canal is to have locks and that it is not to be a sea-level canal. These are some of the reasons why the opinion of members of our board seems to be running strongly to a canal with at least two locks."

Most of the members of the engineering board have returned from their visit to the president at Oyster Bay. They say the president urged them to make a report to him as soon as possible, but he did not indicate whether or not he had a preference as to the type of the canal. The president carefully refrained from expressing an opinion on that subject, because he did not want to seem to be trying to influence the expert engineers. In fact, he plainly told them he wanted their best judgment of the whole question of type, regardless of any outside opinion or pressure.

The engineers hope to be able to present their report in November or December, and President Roosevelt will send it to congress. There is at present no statute defining the type of the canal. Unless congress takes action the president is free to adopt any plan he sees fit. No one believes that either the president or congress will go contrary to the recommendations of the board of consulting engineers, a body which embraces the best engineering talent in the world. And all the indications now are that a lock canal is to be the recommendation of the board.

Not only naval officers but members of congress and engineers generally are keenly interested in the outcome of the Bennington court-martial. If the defense which it is understood Commander Young, the captain of the unfortunate vessel, will rely on for his exoneration is successful, not only must he be acquitted of all neglect of duty, but the burden of responsibility will be shifted onto the navy department and it seems almost impossible that a congressional investigation can be avoided.

Commander Young is alleged to claim that not only did he know the defective condition of the boilers of the Bennington but the navy department knew it equally as well. He is said to have repeated frequently to the department that the boilers were so rotten that they endangered the safety of the vessel and the lives of its crew, but no attention was paid to his reports or his warnings of disaster. So impressed was Commander Young with the danger he incurred that he issued imperative orders to his engineer officers never under any circumstances to raise more than about one-half the steam pressure that the boilers were nominally supposed to stand. It will be urged that Commander Young took every precaution, but it was beyond the power of any man to prevent rotten boilers from exploding when a navy department kept them in active service long after they should have been sent to the scrap heap, and in face of repeated warnings given by the commanding officer, who knew the risk he ran.

By a coincidence I received today two letters from widely separated parts of the country. One was from a prominent senator and the other from an equally prominent member of the house. Both of my correspondents wrote about the Bennington disaster, the mistakes apparently made by congress in merging the engineering corps of the navy in the line and the advisability of congress using the Bennington disaster as a reason why there should be an investigation by congress of the efficiency of the officers of the navy.

In the opinion of a great many men, officers of the navy as well as professional men who are not connected with the navy, disaster far greater than that of the Bennington threaten the navy unless immediate steps are taken to restore the engineering corps to its former efficiency. The reader perhaps may remember that a few years ago congress merged the line and staff and provided that officers should be trained in seamanship and navigation as well as in engineering, so that they would be qualified either to take the bridge or to take charge of the engine. This was the outcome of a long and bitter fight between line and staff and was regarded as a happy compromise. The men who hate compromise, who look upon them as cowardly and always a mistake, predicted that the scheme would be disastrous.

It is claimed by the opponents of the scheme that it has resulted in making naval officers bad seamen and worse engineers. They are now neither one nor the other. A modern battle ship is a floating machine-shop crammed full of the most delicate and intricate machinery and this machinery is the very life of the ship. Without it a vessel is simply a useless hulk. It requires not only a skilled engineer but an engineer of long experience to be master of his machinery. The engineer officer of the Bennington was a young officer, practically without experience in charge of engines. Possibly the Bennington's boilers would have blown up, anyway; if they were as rotten as it is alleged, they were there was no help for them, but the best boilers would be in danger if they were placed in charge of a young and inexperienced man.

A CROSS OLD WOMAN.
Sir Edward Monson, the veteran English diplomat, who is now visiting America, served under Lord Lyons in Washington during Lincoln's administration, and has many interesting stories of Lincoln to relate, says the Los Angeles Times.

A distinguished old woman, he said, the other day, once called on Lincoln and railed and railed and stormed over some fancied wrong that she had suffered at the government's hands.

Mr. Lincoln listened to her politely, he talked to her in the kindly way he talked to everyone, and then, after she was gone, he turned to me and said:

"Little Edith heard the other day that the matter out awhile, and then she looked up into her mother's face and said: 'Mamma, when do you think papa will shoot Aunt Martha?'"

That "There never was a good small-spaced ad. of a big store, nor had big ad. of a big store," is not quite true, but is as near the truth as Franklin's claim that "There never was a good war, nor a bad peace."

A friend recommended Cuticura. The first night after I washed my face with Cuticura Soap, and used Cuticura Ointment and Resolvent, it changed wonderfully. MILLIONS CLAIMED

By Memphis Woman Who Is Working as Stenographer. Says She Is Part Owner of Valuable Gotham Land.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 15.—That a Memphis woman, a stenographer, who is working as a monthly salary envelope, should be a part owner of New York's beautiful Central Park and a great tract of land now covered with tall office buildings and fronting on busy streets, seems at first thought almost incredible. But if Mrs. Lula Bates Nott, 331 Poplar street, is able to substantiate her claim, there will be few wealthier women in the country.

Zachary T. Culler, president of the Collier-Hill House and Mine Co., of Memphis, is also said to be entitled to a large share in this property. Both he and Mrs. Nott are said to be descendants of the holder of the original British grant of this land. Mr. Culler has not as yet instituted active steps toward recovering his inheritance, and but little could be learned of his connection with the family.

The estate which is believed to belong rightfully to Mrs. Nott, Mr. Culler and other heirs, is valued at over $100,000,000, some estimating its value at a round half billion. It consists of 199 acres of land in the heart of Manhattan island. In one of the busiest portions of the metropolis, where land is worth almost fabulous sums, and where hardly a breath of air is left unoccupied except where the city fathers have decreed that the great park shall furnish one green spot in the densely inhabited island.

Mrs. Nott's claim to this property is based upon a deed which she claims to have owned over 100 years ago by their ancestor, Andrew Hartfield of New York. Mrs. Nott, her two brothers, Charles H. Bates of Colorado, and Louis Bates of California, believe that one-ninth of the great estate is theirs by right of inheritance. The claim to the property is being investigated by Cuyler, Tucker & Powell, New York lawyers.

TALENT SURPRISED
At Winning of Brother Frank, 100 to 1 Shot.

New York, Sept. 15.—The surprise of the season occurred at Gravesend yesterday, in the victory of Mrs. C. E. Durnell's Brother Frank, 100 to 1 shot in the fifth race. Brother Frank met and defeated some of the fastest horses.

The race was a handicap at about six furlongs and eleven starters went to the post with Debar, an 11 to 5 favorite. The start was fair and Wiley got off in a good position with Brother Frank. After following the pace to the stretch, he came away and won driving by three-quarters of a length from Belle Snicker, with Zimnap third. Brother Frank has been racing nearly all year and in most of his races finished last.

TEACHERS BOYCOTTED.

Illinois Farmers Refuse to Provide Pedagogues' Board.
Springfield, Ill., Sept. 15.—County Superintendent of Schools Van Dorn announced that a number of districts in the county would be without teachers this winter unless something was done to change the situation which exists regarding accommodations for rural teachers, and they are unable to secure board at any of the farm houses near their schools.

In some instances the farmers, being unusually prosperous, have conceived the notion that "keeping boarders" is beneath their dignity and refuse to open their houses for this reason. In other cases the teachers are unable to pay the prices demanded for board near the schools.

"The prices paid to country school teachers in this county," declared Superintendent Van Dorn, "are a disgrace to Central Illinois and to the school system of the state. A number of good teachers have resigned places to which they were elected because of small wages."

LITTLE BUSINESS TALKS.
Regular reading of The Herald wants ads, regular weighing and balancing of the opportunities they present, is a practical education. You learn Duluth, its people, values of things, human nature, what to believe and what to reject—and you learn to know a real opportunity at first sight. That spells success.

You probably never regretted any car fare or time spent in answering a Herald want ad. It is rare, indeed, that they lead you on a "fool's errand." Every such trip teaches you something—pretty nearly everyone should pay you for your trouble.

A few lines of type may remake the map of your business life—and they are apt to appear any day in the want ad columns.

"Phone in your ad for the Saturday Herald. The cost is small—results are sure."

DUTIES RAISED
By the Mexican Government on Patent Medicines.

Mexico City, Mexico, Sept. 15.—The Mexican government has increased the duties on patent medicines to a prohibitive figure. The patent medicines which are used in this country are manufactured principally in the United States, and this trade is very large. There is not a drug store in Mexico that does not carry a big stock of patent medicines of United States manufacture.

It is said that the prime object of the government in raising the duties on this class of importations was to encourage the manufacture of the nostrums in this country. This object

NEPHEW OF COUNTESS

May Have Been Kidnaped or Shingled.
Seattle, Wash., Sept. 15.—According to information received by the police of Vancouver and British Columbia, the son of Sir James Hamilton of London, England, and nephew of the Countess Warwick, is missing from his usual haunts and no tidings have been received from him for several days.

The young man, it is said, was sent on a tour of the world to teach him to forget the fair face and figure of a beautiful woman with whom he had fallen in love, and to marry whom he is said to have made all arrangements.

It is hinted in some quarters that he has been either kidnaped by bandits or shingled by sailors to prevent the marriage.

The woman with whom he is said to be infatuated is his cousin, Lady Abercrombie.

TINY BURGLAR

Hides in Freezer and Betrayed by Sneeze.
Louisville, Ky., Sept. 15.—Hiding away in a five-gallon ice cream freezer, Samuel Endlessey, a diminutive negro, was discovered in the rear of F. C. Klotz's Ice Cream works, 519 East Market street. He was locked up on the charge of housebreaking. He had evidently gained an entrance by climbing through a rear transom.

When Mr. Klotz visited his place of business early in the morning, he thought he heard some one in a rear room. His belief was strengthened by the sight of the open transom, but he could see no one. He looked behind barrels and boxes, and peered into Park corner, but his search was in vain. He was in the act of passing to another room, when he heard a half-suffled sneeze. He renewed his search, and again he was baffled. Stepping to a side door, he saw Patrolman Kraft to the right of the open transom, but he could see no one. He looked behind barrels and boxes, and peered into Park corner, but his search was in vain.

One of the patrolmen took hold of the lock on the opposite side of the door, intending to roll it to one side. It offered more resistance than he had anticipated, and Mr. Klotz took a hand. "I thought the freezer was empty," he said, at the same time removing the lid.

To his surprise he gazed down into the whites of the little negro's eyes. "I ain't done a thing, boss," he sputtered, as Mr. Klotz caught him by the collar and dragged him into the light. "I got in here by mistake, an' thinkin' you'd find me, I hid in the big can. It must' ha' gub me a case. I sneezed an' dat gub me away."

"I Spent All My Earnings for Doctors and Medicine."
Here is a remarkable letter from a catarrh sufferer, who was cured by Cooper's New Discovery after everything else failed.

THE COOPER MEDICINE CO.—Gentlemen:
For twelve years I have been a sufferer from Catarrh. It first started in the nasal cavities and air passages, which became inflamed and sore. My breath became very offensive and a nasty mucus dropped into the throat and stomach; the bronchial tubes became affected and my entire system was filled with the catarrhal poison.

I spent all my earnings with doctors and for medicine without results, until I gave up all hope and despaired of ever being cured. I was told of Cooper's remarkable cures of catarrh, but did not believe he could benefit me.

My family insisted that I should at least try these discoveries in medicine. I did so reluctantly.

I noticed an improvement the first week, and now after three weeks' treatment I am a healthy, happy man. God bless Mr. Cooper and his remedies. Signed, J. Sautelle, No. 519 Grand Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.

Catarrh Is a Dangerous Disease.

It poisons the entire system and oft times ends in consumption and death. Cooper's New Discovery never fails to expel the poison and drive every tract of catarrh from the system.

EVERY CATARRH SUFFERER SHOULD TRY THIS REMARKABLE MEDICINE. Cooper's New Discovery costs $1.00 per bottle, three for $2.50, six for $5.00. Cooper's Quick Relief, the assistant remedy costs 50 cents per bottle. Beware of canvassers and street fakirs, claiming to sell the Cooper remedies. Buy only from our special agent, whose name appears below, or from legitimate dealers in medicine. Where we have no special agent, you can secure the medicines, charges prepaid, by sending the price of the remedies you wish direct to the Cooper Medicine Co., Dayton, Ohio.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 15.—The wheat market was active today. The market closed strong with December up at 84c and 84c.

Wet weather was again a bullish influence in the corn pit. Other factors that contributed to the firmness were higher cables, small local receipts and lighter shipments from Argentina. December opened a shade to 1/2c higher at 41 1/2c. The market advanced to 41 3/4c. Local receipts were 488 cars with 215 of contract grade.

The market was firm the entire session. The close was at the highest point of the day with December up at 84c and 84c.

As a result of continued excellent demand from exporters a firm tone prevailed in the oats market. Shorts were active bidders. December advanced to 25 1/2c. Local receipts were 566 cars with 215 of contract grade.

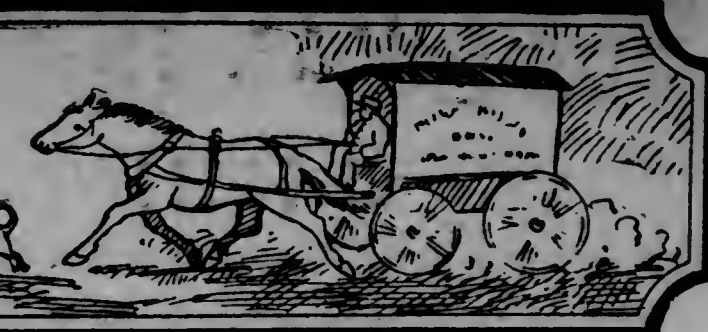

Provisions were firm with a 5c advance in the live hogs. Trading was fairly active. January pork was up 7 1/2c to $12.00. Lard was 1/2c higher at $10.00. Hams were up 1/2c to $10.00. Corn was up 1/2c to 35c. Corn September was up 1/2c to 35c. Corn October was up 1/2c to 35c. Corn November was up 1/2c to 35c. Corn December was up 1/2c to 35c.

Argentine shipments of wheat this week have been 1,232,000 bushels against 1,400,000 last week and 92,000 bushels this week against 100,000 last week. Argentine shipments of corn this week were 2,000,000 bushels against 2,500,000 last week and 1,000,000 bushels this week against 1,500,000 last week.

Save Money on Your Grocery Bills

We are today inaugurating a series of sales of FINE GROCERIES, offering high-grade goods at lower prices than they have ever been offered in Duluth. In order to reduce our stock prior to remodeling our entire store, we shall offer groceries at prices which must be attractive to every economical housekeeper.

For 35 years C. H. Oppel & Sons have held the confidence and custom of the public, and have occupied an enviable position among the retail merchants of Duluth. The new firm "THE OPPEL GROCERY CO.," will make the most earnest effort to maintain and increase that confidence by offering only the best goods obtainable, and by selling them at a little less than others, by quick service, prompt delivery of goods, and by uniform courtesy and fair dealing to all its patrons. WE ARE ANXIOUS TO PLEASE.

Better to Do Right Than Be Sorry Later.

No matter who your doctor is, a great deal depends on the accurate filling of the doctor's prescription and the purity of the drugs that are used. That's why we try to impress on your mind not to take chances with your prescription, because it might mean death to the one whose life you want to save.

Take your prescription to BOYCE, THE DRUGGIST, and you are not taking any chances, because he uses none but the purest of drugs, employs the most expert prescription clerks at the Head of the Lakes, and has gained a wide reputation of doing just as the doctor orders.

A BOILER BLOWS UP; FIVE DEAD

Casualty Occurs In Stave
Mill at Pinconning,
Mich.

Eight or Ten Injured,
Two of Whom May
Die.

Pinconning, Mich., Sept. 16.—By the explosion of an alleged defective boiler in the stave mill of Edward Jennings, here, today, five men were killed and eight or ten injured, two of them so seriously that they will probably die.

The dead:
RICHARD GIFFORD,
BURT BELL,
CHARLES EASTER,
WILLIAM ALPIN,
FRED SCHULZ.
Easter and Alpin were married men and leave families.

The explosion came without the slightest warning to the workmen, and the destruction of the mill was complete. Portions of the wreck were scattered about for several hundred feet.

Thirty men were at work in the mill when the explosion occurred. The concussion was so terrific that windows were broken a mile from the mill. The bodies of the five men killed were badly mangled.

EIGHTY-FIRST CONVENTION

Of Odd Fellows Opens at Philadelphia on Monday.

Philadelphia, Sept. 16.—Odd Fellows from all parts of this country, Canada and Mexico are here today, to attend the eightieth annual convention of the sovereign grand lodge. Although the official convention will not take place until Monday there was a meeting today of the grand council of Philadelphia in Odd Fellows temple. It is estimated that by Monday 8,000 members of the fraternity will be in the city. The formal opening of the convention will take place in Lulu temple.

Immediately after addresses, prizes will be in order at the second regiment armory. From 1 o'clock in the afternoon until 1 o'clock at night, the competitive degree work, which is open to all lodges, encampments and Rebekah lodges will be continuous in Lulu temple.

THE BODY OF MAYOR COLLINS AT BOSTON.

Boston, Sept. 16.—The funeral car carrying the body of Mayor Patrick A. Collins and attached to the Federal Express arrived here today, over the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. The body was taken to an undertaking establishment in South Boston. Later it will be removed to the home of the late mayor in Corey road in the Brighton district. The city hall has been draped in mourning and today flags at half staff were seen everywhere throughout the city.

AUTO SMASHES BUGGY; AUTOISTS BADLY HURT.

Valley City, N. D., Sept. 16.—Willis Heintz's touring car, containing seven persons, ran into a buggy while going down a steep grade, near here, last night. All of the occupants of the car were more or less severely injured. Mrs. Sherborn was injured internally and is in a critical condition. Both vehicles were wrecked.

FOREIGN ENGINEERS FAVOR SEA LEVEL CANAL.

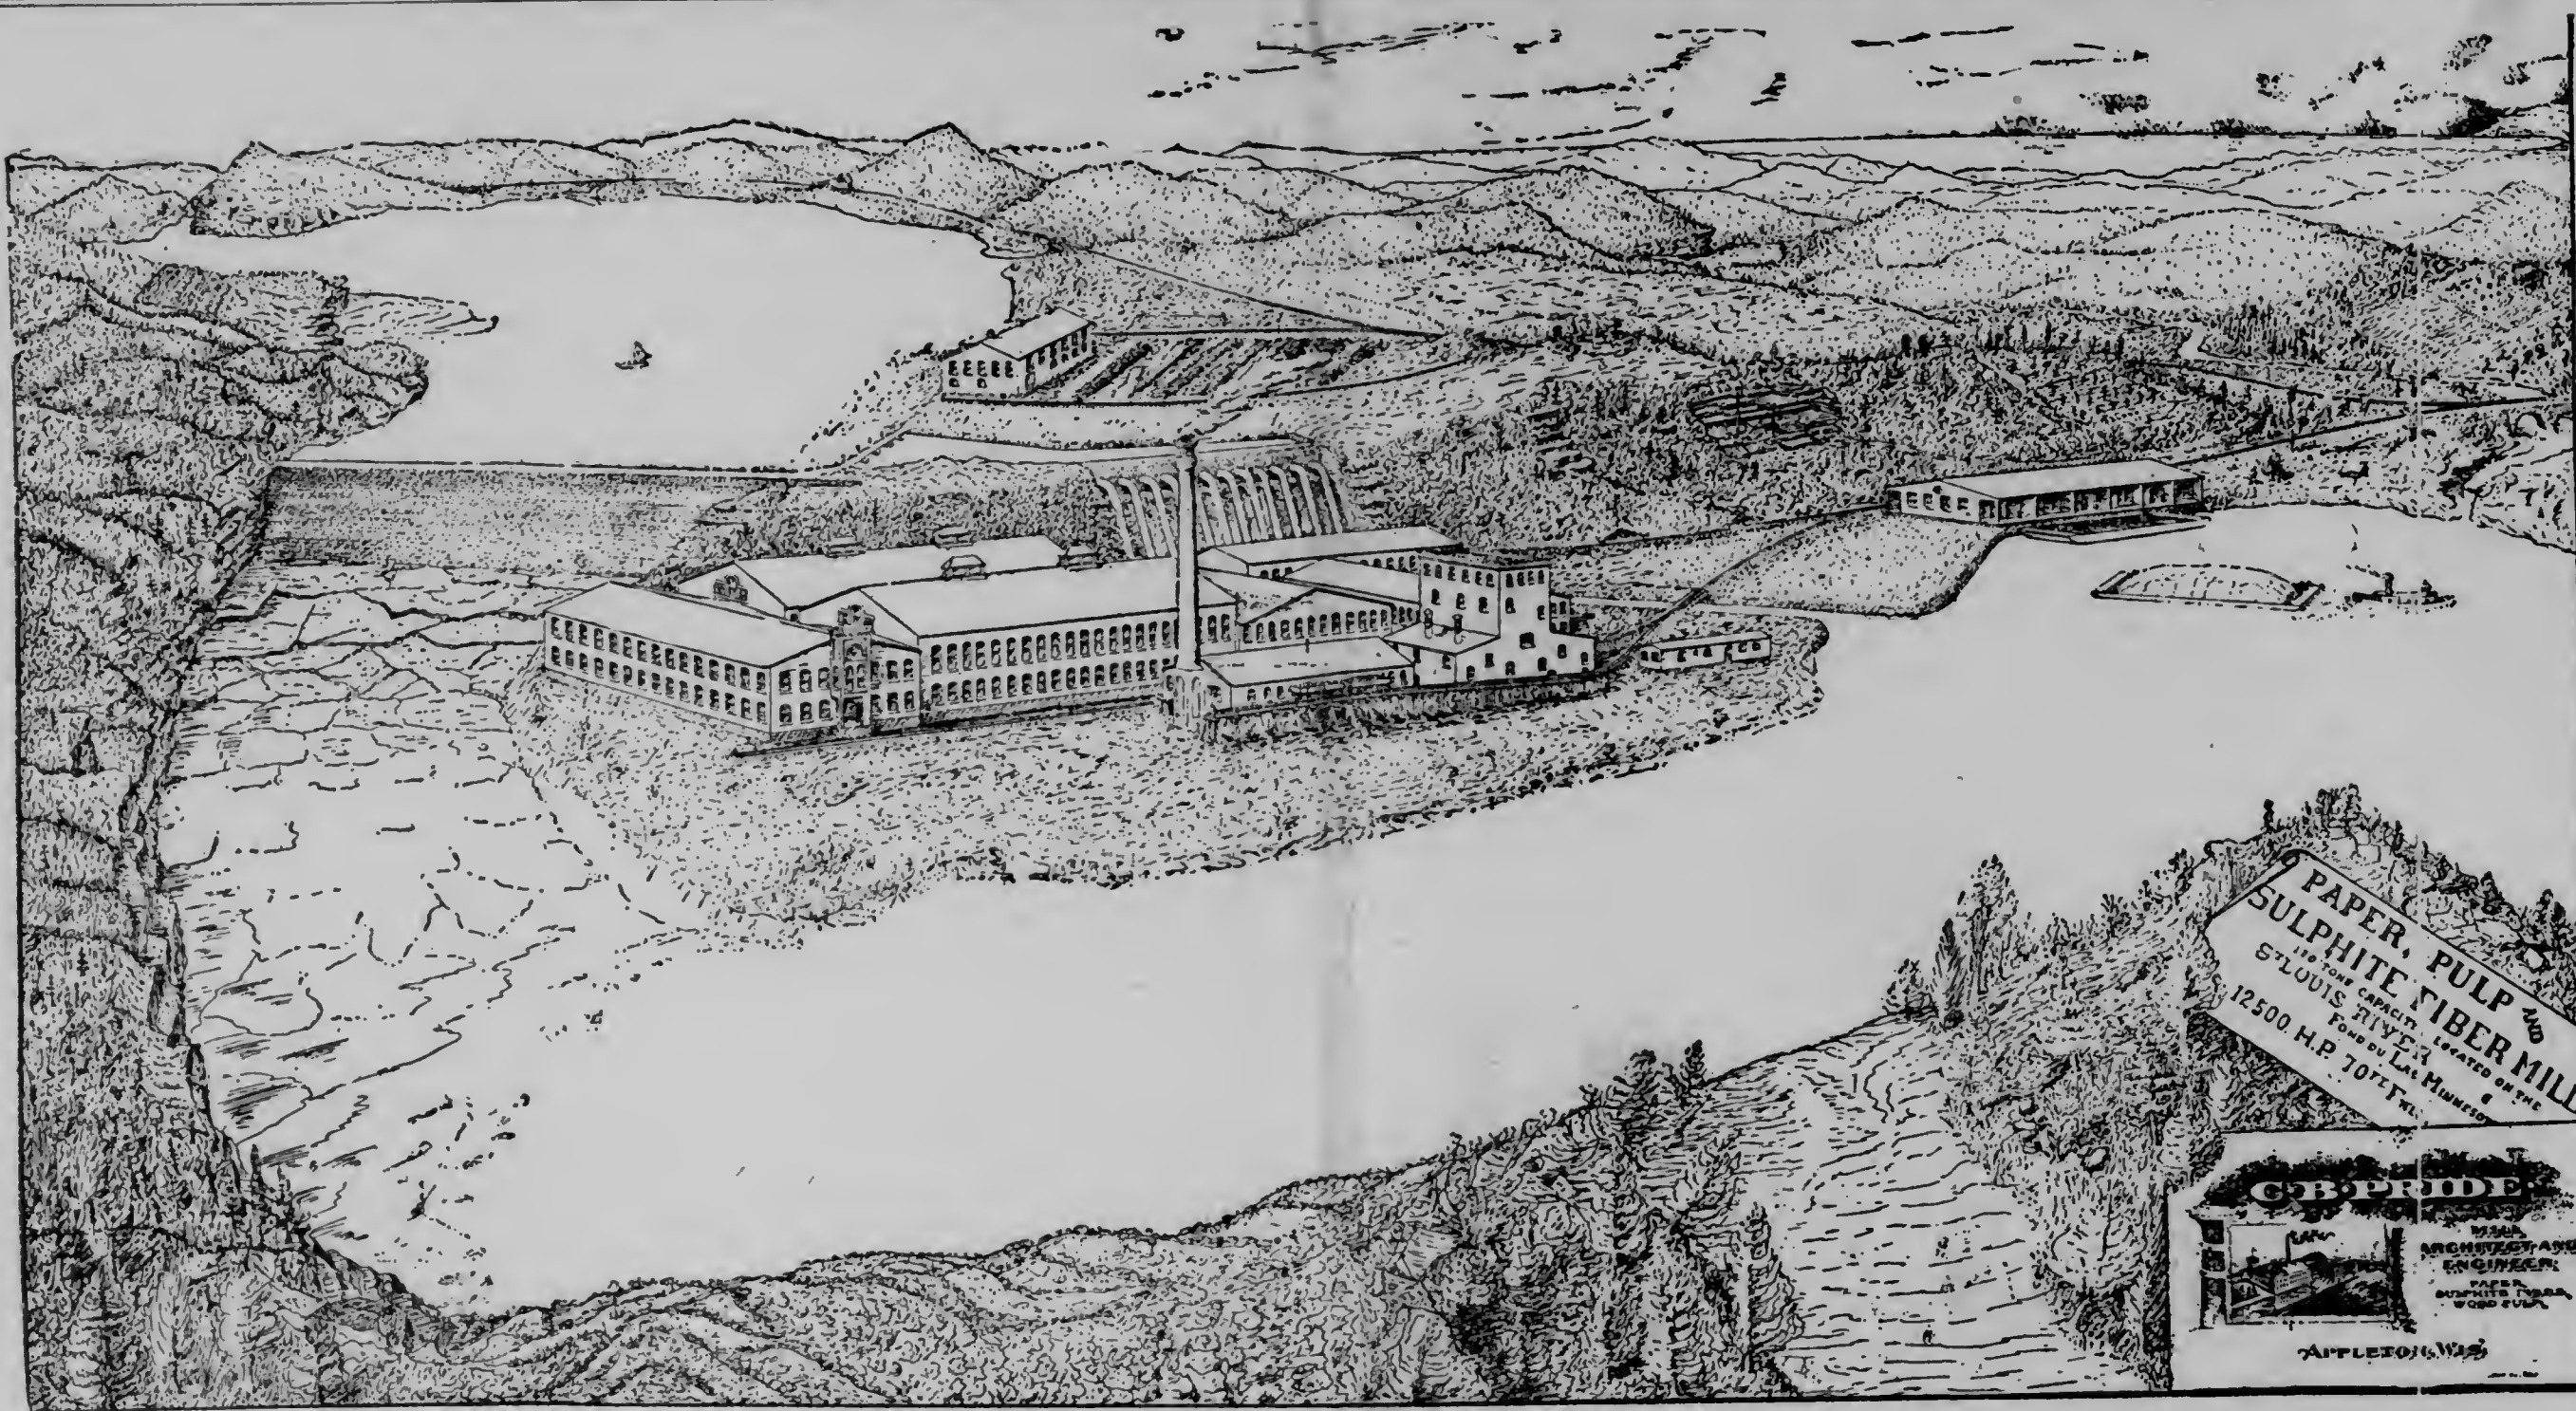

Washington, Sept. 16.—A majority of the foreign members of the consulting board of engineers of the isthmian canal are said to favor a sea-level canal. This fact may become of the greatest importance if their votes shall become a necessity to decide that, which is after all the principal question requiring a decision at the hands of this board. No attempt has yet been made to pass upon this question at any of the regular board meetings, but the fact is that the majority of the foreign delegates who have been closely studying the vast amount of data collected and laid before the board by the canal commission are at present of the opinion that a sea-level canal would be better than a lock canal.

SECRETARY TAFT IS AT YOKOHAMA.

Yokohama, Sept. 16.—Secretary of War William H. Taft has arrived here and today received visits from distinguished citizens of Tokyo, a large number of local Japanese and foreigners. There was no formal reception, the visitors calling direct on Mr. Taft at his hotel. Afterwards he was the guest of M. Otani, a prominent merchant of this city. All is quiet here.

CEZAR GOES ON CRUISE.
St. Petersburg, Sept. 16.—Emperor Nicholas, accompanied by Minister of Marine Bihoff, left St. Petersburg today for a cruise in the Finnish archipelago.

GREAT PAPER AND SULPHITE PULP MILL IS NOW ASSURED FOR DULUTH

GENERAL PERSPECTIVE OF NEW PAPER AND PULP MILL ABOVE FOND DU LAC, AND DAM ACROSS ST. LOUIS RIVER WHICH WILL DEVELOP HYDRAULIC POWER FOR ITS OPERATION.

TO EMPLOY 400 MEN

Will Be Located at Fond du Lac In City Limits.

Second Dam Will Develop
12,500 Hydraulic Horse Power.

Cost of Construction and Equipment Will Be
$1,200,000.

A great industry to be located upon the St. Louis river within the city limits of Duluth is now an assured fact, and it is the first step in the industrial development which is certain to come to Duluth through the development of the water power of the St. Louis river.

Plans have been prepared for a large pulp, sulphite and paper mill to be built at the site of the seventy-foot available fall at the foot of the rapids as shown on the accompanying sketch of the Great Northern Power company's developments upon the St. Louis river. This site is about one mile above the steamboat landing at Fond du Lac, and within the city limits of Duluth.

Plans for the buildings as presented herewith have been prepared by C. B. Pride of Appleton, Wis., for parties interested. Mr. Pride has had a large experience in the building and operation of similar plants, having designed and constructed more than sixty mills throughout this country and in Europe. The plant on the St. Louis river will have a capacity of 150 tons of finished paper per day, and will employ between 400 and 500 hands the year round.

This project has been under advisement for several months past by leading paper mill manufacturers and considerable rivalry has resulted from an effort to secure what has come to be recognized by paper manufacturers generally as the most valuable site anywhere in this country for the location of such an industry upon a large scale.

The fact that this particular property has been tied up as a part of the Jay Cooke holdings upon the river for the past thirty years, makes its development not possible, until coming under the control of the Great Northern Power company last year, when F. A. Cokefair, chief engineer, in making plans for developing the rapids to best advantage, included in his final report recommendations for the construction of a seventy-foot dam at this particular point for the development of some 12,500 continuous direct shaft horsepower in addition to the development of some 80,000 electric horse power at the main generating station further up stream.

Since the adoption of the engineer's plans for this particular improvement upon the river, C. C. Cokefair, president and manager of the Great Northern Development company, an organization closely allied to the Great Northern Power company, has been negotiating with several large paper mill manufacturers throughout the country, with a view to interesting them in the establishment of such an industry at this point. Negotiations are now as well advanced that the construction of the plant is assured in the immediate future, and The Herald is permitted to announce the same. It is now only a matter of decision by the power company as to which one of several applicants will secure the site and build the plant.

The cost of constructing and equipping the buildings will be about $1,200,000, and the cost of improvements upon the river for this particular development, which will be made by the power company, about $375,000. This dam will be built of concrete, same as the dam now being constructed by the electrical development. It will be seventy feet in height, and with the retaining walls, some 1,100 feet in length. It will take from twelve to fifteen months to build the plant. The dam, canal and head gates can be constructed in from six to eight months. The bulk of the work on the dam will probably be done during the period of low flow in the coming winter.

The power company owns all the lands and riparian rights required for this proposition complete; also a town-site adjoining for the erection of homes for the operatives. A thriving settlement will be made at this picturesque spot, and two or three thousand people will shortly be added to the population of Duluth as a direct result of this particular improvement.

The prospectus prepared by Mr. Pride when he drew the plans gives full details as to the mill, its site, advantages of location, etc., and is given herewith:

"The proposed plant is to be located at Fond du Lac, Minn., on the St. Louis river, at a point about ten miles south west, within the city limits of Duluth, and from the business center of the city, and about 125 miles north of Minneapolis on the Northern Pacific railroad. In addition to the Northern Pacific, the Brooks-Seaton Logging company and the Weyerhaeuser interests have extensive systems of logging

INSIST THAT NORWAY IS MOBILIZING ARMY

Effect Reaches Paris.

Paris, Sept. 16.—Despite the contradictory statements made on the subject, information reaching the highest quarters here show that the mobilization of Norway's forces is now going on. The French government has made conciliatory representations to Stockholm, with the view to averting a rupture. Official sentiment here tends toward an arrangement whereby Norway would be permitted to continue its frontier fortifications. It is understood that other powers are joining in peace representations, as a rupture is considered likely to cause unrest and entanglements throughout Europe.

Christiania, Sept. 16.—Most of the special dispatches from Karlstad agree in saying that the negotiations between the Norwegian and Swedish delegates are reaching smoother water. According to the Verdens Gang, a peaceful settlement may be confidently expected, while the Afterpostens correspondent says the arbitration question may be regarded as almost settled, and that both sides are directing their efforts toward a satisfactory understanding in regard to the Fredericksen and Koningsberg fortresses. The Morgen Bladet correspondent remains doubtful. He declares it is too early for hopeful prognostications regarding the outcome of the negotiations.

Karlstad, Sept. 16.—No joint session of the Norwegian and Swedish delegates was held this morning. The delegates conferred with their respective military experts and it is expected that some communication will be made during the day. Hopefulness was the predominant sentiment.

The report that the powers had made representations to Sweden was based on the fact that Great Britain, France and Germany offered their friendly services if necessary.

MAN MURDERED AND THROWN INTO RIVER

Prominent Man of Des Moines, Iowa, the Victim of Robbers.

Des Moines, Sept. 16.—George R. Griswold, state manager of the State Mutual Life association of Worcester, Mass., was murdered and his body thrown into the Raccoon river. Robbery was the object, the man's pockets being turned inside out and cut. Every article of value, but a plain gold band ring which could not be removed, was missing. The identification was made by means of letters and papers in his pockets.

Griswold has been missing from home since Tuesday. At that time he left for Omaha, Neb., and purchased a Great Western mileage ticket. The murder was probably committed near the depot, a blunt instrument being used to knock him senseless.

The dead man was a former resident of Omaha, coming here two or three years ago. He leaves a widow and three children. Detectives have no clue to the murderer.

TWO PERSONS KILLED, SCORE INJURED IN TRAIN COLLISION

Kimmel, Ind., Sept. 16.—Two persons were killed and a score were injured in a collision between east bound passenger train No. 14 and a light engine on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, one mile west of here, early today. The light engine, which had been standing on a siding waiting for No. 14, had pulled out on to the main line to a distance which made it impossible for passing trains to clear it, and as the passenger train came by at a high speed it was "side swiped." The passenger engine and the three forward cars being completely wrecked. A man and a woman were killed and a score of the injured were cut by flying glass and debris. Engineer Snyder of Garrett, Ind., was killed beneath his engine and Baggageman Frank Smootz of Chicago Junction, Ohio, was pinned beneath the wrecked baggage car. A tramp known to be stealing a ride is as yet unaccounted for and probably was buried beneath the wreckage. The injured were taken back to Cromwell on a relief train, which was immediately sent to the scene with medical aid. Their names have not yet been ascertained. It was learned from physicians in attendance that none of the injuries are serious, consisting of minor cuts and bruises.

THE RUSSIANS HAVE NO REASON TO FEEL PROUD OF PEACE SETTLEMENT

A REVISION OF TARIFF

Japanese Were Not In Position to Enforce an Indemnity.

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. W. Dennison of Tokyo and the other members of the Japanese peace party, Amaza, director of the political bureau of the foreign office; M. Adachi, secretary of legation of the foreign office; Col. Tachibana and K. Ochiai, secretary of the legation, arrived in St. Paul on the Burlington railroad from Chicago this morning and were entertained at breakfast at the Minnesota club as guests of J. J. Hill, who was represented by C. E. Stone, general passenger agent of the Great Northern road. The party left for the West over the Great Northern road.

In speaking of the results of the peace commission, Mr. Dennison said: "If you have failed to pay a debt which your creditor is not in a position to collect, that's no reason you should feel especially proud of yourself. But the Russians are taking great credit to themselves because they have got out of paying an indemnity to Japan."

"Why," observed the legal adviser in hearty, American accents, "we didn't insist upon an indemnity from the simple reason that our position did not permit of insistence. If we had a fleet in the Bering sea or an army before St. Petersburg or at the gates of Moscow, we might have enjoyed the same advantage that the Germans possessed when they occupied Paris. They got a big indemnity from France, merely as an inducement to go away. An indemnity, in international affairs, you know, is not so much payment for past losses as a guarantee that future losses will be prevented."

"But our fleets and armies were many thousands of miles from European Russia. We could, it's true, have renewed the war and captured Vladivostok and got, perhaps, in a position to collect an indemnity, but it would have cost us some millions of yen—as much as the indemnity itself was worth, not to speak of loss of life."

"The embassy is not at all apprehensive about a hostile reception in Japan. We are losing no sleep about it. There is no probability of any assassinations on our return, or of any serious trouble. The riots were largely instigated, we suspect, by political influences. Any sort of a treaty would have been attacked by the opposition. And the people will not blame Baron Komura and his associate envoys. We have learned that Japan feels that the envoys did their plain duty; they carried out their instructions and did not exceed them."

Mr. Dennison said it was his opinion that Baron Komura did not have typhoid fever, and that he would soon be well.

Quarrels With Husband and Drinks
Carbolic Acid In His Presence.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Anna Grant, aged 18, drank a glass of carbolic acid before her husband's face, yesterday afternoon, and died fifteen minutes later in spite of all efforts to save her life.

The Grants came here from Brule, Wis., about a year ago, and lived in a room upstairs over the Hayes' drug store. It is said that she had complained that her husband left her alone evenings, that he responded by accusing her of unfaithfulness, which charge she denied. The start of the quarrel was night before last, and as a result of it Mrs. Grant kept all night. Yesterday, just before noon, she visited Mrs. Hayes. About noon Grant called for her, and they returned to their room. There the quarrel was renewed, more bitterly than before. While it was in progress Mrs. Grant reached behind the water pitcher and brought out a glass, which she had evidently placed there before with a view to such a contingency. Her husband did not realize what it was until she placed it to her lips and drank its contents. He realized then what was going on, and dashed the cup from her lips, but it was too late. He called physicians, and two of them, with the druggist from downtown, worked over her, but she died in fifteen minutes.

Mrs. Grant was well regarded here, and came from a good family. While living in Chisholm she bore herself in such a manner as to command the respect of everybody, and her husband's charges do not receive public belief. The burial will take place here, through the arrangements have not yet been made.

A BOILER BLOWS UP; FIVE DEAD

Casualty Occurs In Stave
Mill at Pinconning,
Mich.

Eight or Ten Injured,
Two of Whom May
Die.

Pinconning, Mich., Sept. 16.—By the explosion of an alleged defective boiler in the stave mill of Edward Jennings, here, today, five men were killed and eight or ten injured, two of them so seriously that they will probably die.

The dead: RICHARD GIFFORD, RICHARD BELL, CHARLES EASTON, WILLIAM ALPIN, FRED NICHOLS. Easton and Alpin were married men and have families.

The explosion came without the slightest warning to the workmen, and the destruction of the mill was complete. Portions of the wreck were scattered about for several hundred feet. Thirty men were at work in the mill when the explosion occurred. The concussion was so terrific that windows were broken a mile from the mill. The bodies of the five men killed were badly mangled.

EIGHTY-FIRST CONVENTION

It is estimated that the convention will be the largest in the history of the order. The formal opening of the convention will take place in Lulu temple.

Immediately after addresses, prizes for the best essays were awarded. In the afternoon the Odd Fellows of the city and vicinity were entertained at a banquet at the Hotel Pennsylvania. The banquet was a success and the Odd Fellows of the city and vicinity were entertained at a banquet at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

ALBENBERG'SIN LABOR WORLD

Very Little Doing Since Labor Day—Everything Quiet.

Expected First Sensation Will Be Job Printers' Fight.

Union meetings: Tonight—Bakers and Confectioners, 15 West Superior street; Brotherhood of Bolemakers and Iron Shipbuilders, AXA hall.

Monday—Building Trades' alliance, Labor World hall.

Tuesday—Carpenters, Bowley block; Stationary Firemen, Labor World hall; Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers, Labor World hall.

Wednesday—Cigar makers, Labor World hall.

Thursday—Stationary Engineers, 600 Lyceum building; Electrical Workers, Labor World hall.

Friday—Federated Trades' assembly, Labor World hall; Lathers, Labor World hall.

The principal thing just now in labor circles is "death of news."

Labor day seems to have exhausted this quality in the movement for the time being, and just when something will be doing is problematical. It is quite likely that the first thing that will develop in labor circles will be the trouble between job printers and the Typographical union on the eight-hour question. According to the dispatches the journeymen are winning out in Chicago, and this condition may have a decided effect upon the situation here, although this is hard to say.

For there has been no move in the matter here since the union decided to make its demand for an eight-hour day on Oct. 1. It is quite likely, however, that the employers will put up a fight in order to discourage future demands from the union, but it is expected that after making a respectable show of resistance, the employers will accede to the demands of the union.

The Labor day picnic held last Sunday passed off very smoothly, the day smiling upon the efforts of the unions to get even financially over the show-down of Labor day itself. The unions succeeded in meeting all obligations and will have a small balance left. It is likely, although this is hard to say, that the full financial matter has not yet been fixed up. The committee held a meeting Thursday night and will hold another next Tuesday evening, at which time it is thought everything will be closed.

Sunday proved a beautiful day and the large crowd which took in the labor picnic spent a good time at Zenith park. A thoroughly peaceful day was passed without there being the least disturbance or rowdiness. Everything went well until the com-

IMPOTENCY CURED

We invite all men desirous of a cure for—Hydrocele, Varicocele, Stricture, Syphilis, Blood Poison, Nervousness, Debility, Prostatitis, Kidney, Bladder and Urinary troubles to come to this office for consultation. It is self-evident that all such ailments and troubles are confidential with men. If you cannot call, write Dr. A. J. Medical Ass'n., Duluth.

To be hale and hearty, sprightly and vigorous, with all the powers of his sex, should be the first aim of every man. If, through overwork, or accident, or careless abuses or excesses, or by indulgence in strong alcoholic drinks or tobacco, you have been incapacitated physically and mentally, have become impotent and nervous—the quickest, surest and safest road to the recovery of these lost powers is the treatment afforded by the Progressive Medical Association. Many men afflicted with STRICTURE, VARICOCELE, BLOOD POISON, SKIN DISEASES, PILES, FISTULA, HYDROCELE, NERVOUS DEBILITY, MALNUTRITION, WEAKNESS or even the more common contagious diseases have been successfully treated, and after spending a great amount of money and time, are in a worse condition than before treatment. A great many men come to me afflicted with one or more of these PELVIC DISEASES, seriously complicated with symptoms that indicate physical, mental and male weakness, and tell me that they have tried every known remedy and many different doctors without receiving any benefit. Nothing better than success can distinguish the skill and ability of a competent, reliable specialist from the failures made by the ordinary doctors. And the success and surety of a positive and lasting cure, as attested by hundreds of strong, vigorous men cured by us in this community, has earned for us the deserved title of the great Northwest's most reliable and successful specialist in the diseases of men. BRILLIANT OUTLOOK FOR FOOTBALL TEAM ALL SHOW PROFIT

Opening of School Brings Unexpectedly Large Number of Big, Strapping Fellows, and Football Interest Is Running High—First Class Coach Assured If Students Show Their Interest.

No greater change could have taken place in the foot ball prospects of a school than that which has caused so much enthusiasm among the boys of the local high school during the past week. At the examination for condition of the foot ball men passed so that they are now eligible for the team.

There will be no lack of seasoned players to form the nucleus of a fast team. Capt. McDavitt who will play full back needs no introduction. His line bucking and kicking last year won him distinction and made him a back in the state. Clair who played guard during the latter half of last season and Spencer who made the team and played one game when he was laid out in the game with Superior, have both reported for practice and both are considerably heavier than last year. Casswell, last season's clever quarter, who distinguished himself by his back field tackling and good generalship in running the team, has his place already secured. Magnuson, the fastest sprinter in the school, who played a brilliant game at right end will try for the position again.

A large and enthusiastic bunch of foot ball aspirants panted the pigskin around the campus. Practice in getting under punts and starting was all that was undertaken this week but Capt. McDavitt wishes to announce Monday afternoon. Those who got out for practice and the positions they are trying for are:

Jefferson, tackle; Hendricks, tackle; Crosby, tackle; Cooley, half back; Cole, end; Cannon, tackle; Cummings, quarter; Sharpless, half back; Jacoby, tackle; Coventry, center; Schoonover, end; Kinky, end; Eddy, guard. These are in addition to the old players mentioned above.

Another find in the shape of good football material is reported in the person of a huge and bulky freshman Dudgeon. He is said to have played guard on a crack team in Spokane and if his ability approaches his size he will be a most valuable asset to the team.

As if the unlooked for showing of football material was not enough to raise the enthusiasm of the school to the highest pitch, there was a rumor that Frank Church, last year's popular coach, is to be back to guide the red and white to victory. Nothing is known positively, however, except that he is a coach, and of the consideration for the place. Mr. Church was a great favorite and a most successful coach and the greatest disappointment will be felt by all interested in the school if he is not the man secured.

The athletic meeting held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of electing a new athletic association was one of the most enthusiastic in the history of the association. Elmer McDavitt took the chair and opened the meeting with a short speech in which he congratulated the association on the financial success of the last year being the first in some time in which the football team has finished the season free from debt.

Nominations for president were then called for and Elmer McDavitt was elected. Charles McLennan was chosen vice president, Don Stocker, secretary, and Frank Crasswell, treasurer. William Crawford and Robert Forsyth were elected sergeant-at-arms and Rudolph Abraham was honored with the position of mascot.

Charles McLennan was elected chief of the new athletic association. This year in order that there may be more organized rooting at the games, the most important office at this time of year is that of football manager, and Dan Stocker was chosen to hold it by an overwhelming vote.

Principal Smith addressed the meeting. The substance of his talk was: "Your chief trouble at present seems to be the matter of coaching. I can assure you that if you show that there is material for a winning team in the school a competent coach will be forthcoming. It depends entirely on the boys now whether we have a winning team. You are out of debt. You need not worry about a coach. There is a host of good material in the school and I see no reason why we should not have a winning team."

Capt. McDavitt appealed to the boys to get out for practice. He said: "Never have there been so many big fellows in school as there are this year. Many of you have never played football before, but get out just the same. There will be lots of fellows in the same fix as you have got to beat Superior and Minneapolis. We have never beaten Minneapolis, but we have beaten Superior. This year we must beat them both, and we can if we will only get out for practice."

Roads File Annual Reports—D. V. & R. L. Earnings $76,118.54.

C. & N. W. Makes Good Showing—Slade Has Not Resigned.

The Duluth, Virginia & Rainy Lake Railway company, and the Split Rock & Northern Railway company yesterday made their annual statements of gross earnings and expenditures to the railway and warehouse commission.

The former road, in its annual statement, announced that gross earnings amounted to $189,030.51. The net earnings were $76,118.54.

The schedules of the logging road showed gross earnings of $14,866.01, operating expenses of $6,315.36, making the net income $8,550.65.

The gross earnings for the entire system of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company during the year ending with July were $35,745,273.17, according to the annual statement. The expenditures for operation were $36,561,234.83, making the net earnings $18,940.34. The gross earnings for Minnesota were $2,843,441.48, the operating expenses $2,189,571.89, and the net income $653,869.59.

The net income of the Minneapolis Railway Transfer company for the year amounted to $15,685.28.

HAS NOT RESIGNED.

G. T. Slade Is Still With the Great Northern.

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—General Superintendent Geo. T. Slade of the Great Northern railway has been away from his office for the past three weeks on an extended vacation in St. Paul, and is making preparations to sail for Japan on the steamer Dakota. This has resulted in the publishing of rumors that he had resigned. Mr. Slade, when asked about the matter, said:

"The business of the office is still being done under my name. I am on an extended vacation, and will shortly sail for Japan on the steamer Dakota."

Wylie Service Will Continue. The railway and warehouse commission has issued an order compelling the continuance of railway service at Wylie, Minn., following a hearing on the complaint of the residents of the town, to the effect that the Great Northern Railway company was about to abandon its depot at Wylie. According to the order the company must continue to maintain a mixed train daily between St. Hilaire and Wylie, so as to make connections with the Crookston-Greenbush branch.

DOINGS IN MICHIGAN

Farmer Accidentally Shot Himself Instead of Hawks.

Calumet—While chasing hawks which had been molesting his chickens for several days, John Plonemint, a farmer living about four miles from Redridge, stumbled and fell, with the result that a Winchester rifle he was carrying was discharged. The bullet entered the forearm, just above the wrist and came out a few inches farther up on the opposite side. From 9 o'clock in the morning until noon when he was taken to Redridge by a fellow farmer, the victim was without medical attendance. The chances of saving the arm are small, and the member will in all probability have to be amputated.

Sault Ste. Marie—Jillie Fagin, the five-year-old son of James Fagin of the Soo, accidentally ran a knife blade into his eye. The sight of the optic was totally destroyed.

Bessemer—While hunting north of Bessemer George Apitz shot a gray wolf. The animal was of an unusual size, measuring over eight feet from the end of the nose to the tip of the tail.

Grand Marais—Cheboygan men are building a plant at Sable lake, three miles south of Grand Marais, for the manufacture of cedar shingles. The plant will be largely shipped from Manitowish by boat.

Crystal Falls—Two dogs that had been making midnight raids on chicken coops in the west end of the city of Crystal Falls came to grief the other evening, when a basket from a gun fired by John Erickson put a quietus to their careers. The canines had been tearing at the baskets, and had killed many chickens. Mr. Erickson was aroused by a commotion in his poultry house and as he approached his coop one of the dogs bounded out of the door. Mr. Erickson gave him one barrel in the head, killing him instantly. The other dog was in the coop and was quickly despatched. They had killed eight chickens in the Erickson yard. The dogs proved to belong to William Eldred and Al. Charron. They were surrounded by chickens on all side at

LABORER KILLED

By Northern Pacific Train Near Sauk Rapids.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 16.—John Hilted of Brainerd, who had been employed as a workman on the Watab for two weeks, was struck by a Northern Pacific train one mile north of Sauk Rapids Tuesday night and instantly killed. It is thought by the authorities that while intoxicated he laid down upon the track.

The home of Edward Briggs in Sauk Rapids was destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning.

DIVERS WORK ON WRECKED STEAMER.

Helsingfors, Finland, Sept. 16.—Divers have arrived at Jakobstad to thoroughly examine the wreck of the British steamer John Grafton, which was sunk by her crew Sept. 10, after landing a portion of her cargo of arms and explosives on a barren island in the Gulf of Bothnia. Among the steamer's salvaged cargo, boxes of bombs and explosives have been found, besides the rifles already reported. The investigations of the authorities have thus far failed to throw much light upon the incident.

MISS ROOSEVELT AND PARTY TO VISIT KOREA.

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 16.—Miss Alice Roosevelt, Maj. Gen. Corbin and Admiral Train and party are expected to arrive here on Tuesday next. The emperor is preparing to welcome them with imperial honors. The travelers will remain a few days in Korea when they will go to Japan by way of Fusan.

ASKS A BALANCE.

John Densmore Claims Partial Payment for Logs.

Evidence has been partially submitted in the civil case of John Densmore against the St. Croix Lumber company, now on trial before a jury in Judge Englin's room. Densmore has sued the company for a balance on an alleged contract amounting to $12,232 for logs delivered, the measurement by the surveyor general of logs and by Ole Anderson, a private scaler, differing materially. The company claiming that it paid for all the timber it received. Anderson was employed by the lumber company in his capacity of scaler. He testified that he did his work impartially and that his services have generally been regarded as satisfactory.

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR THE STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS IS HOSTETTER'S Stomach Bitters.

When the stomach gets "out of order" the liver and bowels are immediately affected and unless remedied at once sickness results. Severe Headaches, Coated Tongue, Bad Complexion, Poor Appetite and Sleepless Nights, are warnings that should be heeded. Get a bottle of the Bitters to-day and take a dose before meals and at bedtime, and good health is soon regained. A 50 Years Record is back of it. It always cures Sour Stomach, Bloating, Heartburn, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Insomnia, Liver and Kidney Ills, Headaches, or Malaria, Fever and Ague. Here's convincing proof:

R. Moorehouse, Long Branch, N. J., says: "I suffered for years with Indigestion and Dyspepsia, but your Bitters soon cured me. It is now our family medicine."

Daniel Fleming, Dublin, O., says: "Your Bitters cured me of Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Liver Troubles, and I willingly recommend it."

TWIN CITY REALTY MEN DULUTH GUESTS

Hundred Arrive on Morning Train and Go to Ranges.

Fine Program Prepared For Their Entertainment While Here.

Before the members of the Duluth Real Estate exchange were able to get down town from their homes in the outskirts of the city this morning, the real estate men of Minneapolis had arrived in Duluth, ready for the trip over the iron ranges and the other entertainment which their Duluth brethren had planned for them and the realty dealers of Superior.

The crowd from the Twin Cities was a merry one. The St. Paulites wore white badges and the Minneapolisians flew simple purple ribbons with the name of their city inscribed thereon.

They lounged about the Commercial club and all spoke of the taste with which the rooms were furnished and generosity of the leading business men who compromise its membership list. Whitney Wall and the other members of the Duluth exchange came down town as fast as their 6 o'clock cars would bring them and they were soon greeting the visitors and distributing little badges, which will be as passports to them during their stay at the Head of the Lakes.

When breakfast was announced, the visitors gave vent to whoops of joy. Breathing the Duluth air had given them great appetites and they welcomed the meal vociferously. There was little formality. The hungry travelers walked rapidly into the dining room and took seats wherever they were to be had. One hundred persons sat down to the breakfast.

The majority of the party came up

now. I think one should try to see all the interesting spots in one's state if possible. The Duluth Real Estate exchange is certainly a jolly good host.

"We are all having a fine time," said F. B. Chute, treasurer of the Minneapolis board. "Everyone who comes to Duluth does, I think."

"Nearly thirty members of the St. Paul exchange are here," said W. W. Price, the president. "More of the fellows would like to have come along but were unable to get away from their work. Perhaps some of them will come up on the late trains today and take in that trip tomorrow, which, I understand, is going to be just as interesting as that over the range. The members of the St. Paul exchange are certainly glad of an opportunity to look over this northern country. We appreciate how good it is."

After an interval long enough to

E. G. WALTON,
One of Leading Real Estate Men of Minneapolis.

In their honor at the club this evening, in many ways the trip tomorrow afternoon is just as interesting as the range trip. Only the members of the real estate exchange and its guests from out of town went over the range today, but a number of local business men will go tomorrow. The tickets are being sold by the real estate men at a dollar each.

The special train will leave the Union depot tomorrow afternoon at 1:30, arriving at the head of the rapids and a quarter will be spent in looking over the reservoir, dam and head gates at Thompson, after which the train will leave for the mine-ranges post office there at 3:30. Here the work of the contractors will be inspected and the members of the party will walk down to the river and back to West Duluth, arriving at 6 o'clock. At West Duluth the Zenith Fur company's plant will be inspected, after which the train will return to Duluth, which will be reached at 8:30.

Tomorrow's trip will prove of special interest to the members of the exchange and their guests. They will be taken to the water power company, where the work of the water power company will be discussed. A number of the visitors will be called upon to speak also.

and you will learn what is the "power behind the dough." In the high-class powders it is cream of tartar, extracted from clean, delicious grapes, and that is healthful. In the low-grade powders it is "phosphate alum," or "sodium aluminum sulphate," which is also alum, a mineral acid, and that makes the food unhealthful.

Of what use are twenty-five ounces for twenty-five cents, if eight of these ounces are alum?

Food baked with alum baking powders is found to contain a portion of the alum unchanged!

The continued use of alum made food impairs digestion, causing dyspepsia. When buying baking powder, examine the label and take only a brand whose label shows it to be free from alum.

from the Twin Cities over the Great Northern, but a few chose the Northern Pacific and these persons were very late in making an appearance at the Commercial club for the reason that one or two were lazy and the rest good naturedly waited for them.

Breakfast lasted very good to everyone, but it was a short meal, as the special train awaited the party on the tracks at the Union depot. For a very few minutes after breakfast all the sellers of lots and houses stand around and talk.

All of them had much praise for Duluth and its real estate exchange. "I don't when I have enjoyed a breakfast so much as I have this one," said S. S. Thorpe, president of the Minneapolis Real Estate board. "I could not have gotten a better one in Minneapolis, and that is quite an admission for a Minneapolis man to make, and a real estate dealer besides."

"I am looking forward to this trip over the iron ranges with a great deal of pleasure," said H. F. Newhall, secretary of the Minneapolis board. "I have always planned to come up here and see what was being done in the iron mines, but something always prevented until permitted the visitors to chat with their hosts and with each other and to get their cigars. The train left Duluth at 11:15, for the depot was made. At 7:30, the special train carrying the enthusiasts pulled out of the depot. Some of the bad-hungry individuals had to hurry some to catch the last coach, but everyone, including the Superior realty men, got on.

The first stop was made at Mountain Iron, where forty minutes was spent in the inspection of the Mountain Iron mine, the largest open-pit mine in the world. Evelyn was reached at 11:15, where the visitors were shown the Adams and Spence mines. The train left Evelyn at 11:55, arriving at Biwabik at 12:20, where it remained until 1 o'clock. The Biwabik Iron company's mine claimed the attention of the visitors at that place.

Luncheon was served in the baggage car after the train left Biwabik. It was a merry meal and every member of the party of 10 ate heartily.

The big ore docks at Two Harbors interested the visitors very much too. The train arrived there about 2:30 and remained about an hour, after which the start for Duluth was made over the Duluth & Iron Range road. The first part of the trip was over the Duluth, Missabe & Northern line. The train will reach Duluth somewhere in the neighborhood of 5 o'clock and enable the visitors to rest before the dinner which will be given Julius Koschman was yesterday afternoon awarded a verdict of $1,550 against C. R. Ash as damages for the loss of an eye while employed at the Ash mill, at Virginia, by reason of being struck by a splinter from the head of a hammer he was wielding in the blacksmith shop. He sued for $10,000.

Koschman contended that he was not supplied with a proper tool. He also alleged that since his accident he has been unable to work on bright, sunny days, or days when it was dark and cloudy, because the light affects his remaining eye. Koschman claimed that the only time that he is able to work at his trade is during the night.

railroads which can be extended to the plant, and which afford an outlet for enormous quantities of spruce pulpwood, with which the adjacent country is abundantly timbered. This mill location is also connected with Lake Superior by the St. Louis river, enabling boats, tugs, lighters and scows to proceed immediately to the mill site for the purpose of receiving or discharging shipments via the lake routes, such as coal, sulphur, etc., required in the process of manufacture and also for shipping the manufactured products of the mill down the lakes.

"The river, at the point where the mills are to be located, has a fall of seventy feet and will develop 10,000 continuous horse power.

"The location of the plant will be particularly advantageous by reason of the large amount of pulpwood timber which is to be found nearby and which will last for many years, also, there will be great advantage in the cost of pulpwood over other competing mills, the price of the same should be not to exceed $5 per cord and the supply should be sufficient for a number of years, while in nearly all other paper mill locations the present price of pulp wood averages from $7 to $9 per cord.

"The plant will consist of a six or eight machine mill, of about 150 tons capacity, for the manufacture of news print paper; a sulphite mill of 60 tons capacity; a ground wood pulp mill of 100 tons capacity; a steam boiler house of 4,000 horse power. There will also be a steam engine and generator room; a wood preparing room for the wood pulp mill; a heating engine room for heating and mixing of the paper stuff; a finishing room for the arranging of the paper for shipment; a wet machine room for screening the stock and preparing the pulp; and the necessary warehouses for storing of chemicals, pulppaper stock, etc.

"The paper machines will be located in units of two machines in each building, with courts between, seventy feet in width and 250 feet in length, one story and basement in height with self-supporting steel roof spanning the entire width of the building. The basement story is to be eighteen feet in height and the second story twenty feet in height.

"The paper machines in these buildings will be modern in every respect; designed to make paper of an extra fine quality. The finishing room, where the paper will be finished, is designed to be 100 feet in width by 350 feet in length, two stories in height and to be equipped with the necessary cutters, rewinders, scales, elevators, etc.

"The beating engine room will be seventy-five feet in width by 350 feet in length and two stories in height and will be equipped with necessary beating engines, refining engines, pumps, scales, elevators, etc.

"The wet machine room will be 100 feet in width by 350 feet in length, two stories in height and will contain wet machines, screens, pumps, reclaimers, regrinders, stock tanks, etc.

"The ground wood pulp mill will be ninety feet in width by 210 feet in length, one story in height and will contain twenty-four pulp grinders and two electric generators of 2,000 horse power. The pulp grinders will each have 500 horse power and will be connected directly and horizontally to the water wheels.

"The sulphite mill will contain three digesters of a diameter of fifteen feet and a height of fifty feet. This building will be 125 feet in height and will be equipped with the necessary chimneys and other machinery as required.

"There will also be a sulphur-burning building for the chemical department, also necessary buildings for sulphuric acid used in the manufacture of paper.

"There will be two warehouses, 100 feet by 200 feet in dimensions and two stories in height. An office building, forty feet by fifty feet and one story in height, is also designed. The building will be constructed of steel concrete, brick and stone and it is designed that the construction shall include fire walls between each of the department buildings, equipped with self-closing fire doors.

"The power canal will be constructed in connection with the plant, taking its water from the main river above the dam, and will be conveyed through modern improved head-gates and racks leading to the turbines and water wheels.

"The walls of the canal are to be constructed of concrete, in such form as to protect them against frost and leaks.

"The latest of improved water wheels will be installed, and will develop 10,000-horse power at the wheels. They will set horizontally in steel cases, connected directly with the forebay of the canal by steel feeder pipes, thus doing away with ponderous gearing, and transmitting power to the plant with a saving of at least 25 per cent over the ordinary means of distribution.

"The water from the wheels will be discharged into a pit thirty feet deep, and thence leading into a tail-race, which will extend to the river at the foot of the falls.

"The plant will be conveniently located in every way, so that side tracks may be run on all sides of all buildings, and a steamboat dock will be arranged in close proximity to the plant.

"Large warehouses will be constructed in which to store manufactured products, etc.

"It is designed that the plant shall be complete and of the most modern construction in every respect, so that the product may be turned out at the lowest possible cost.

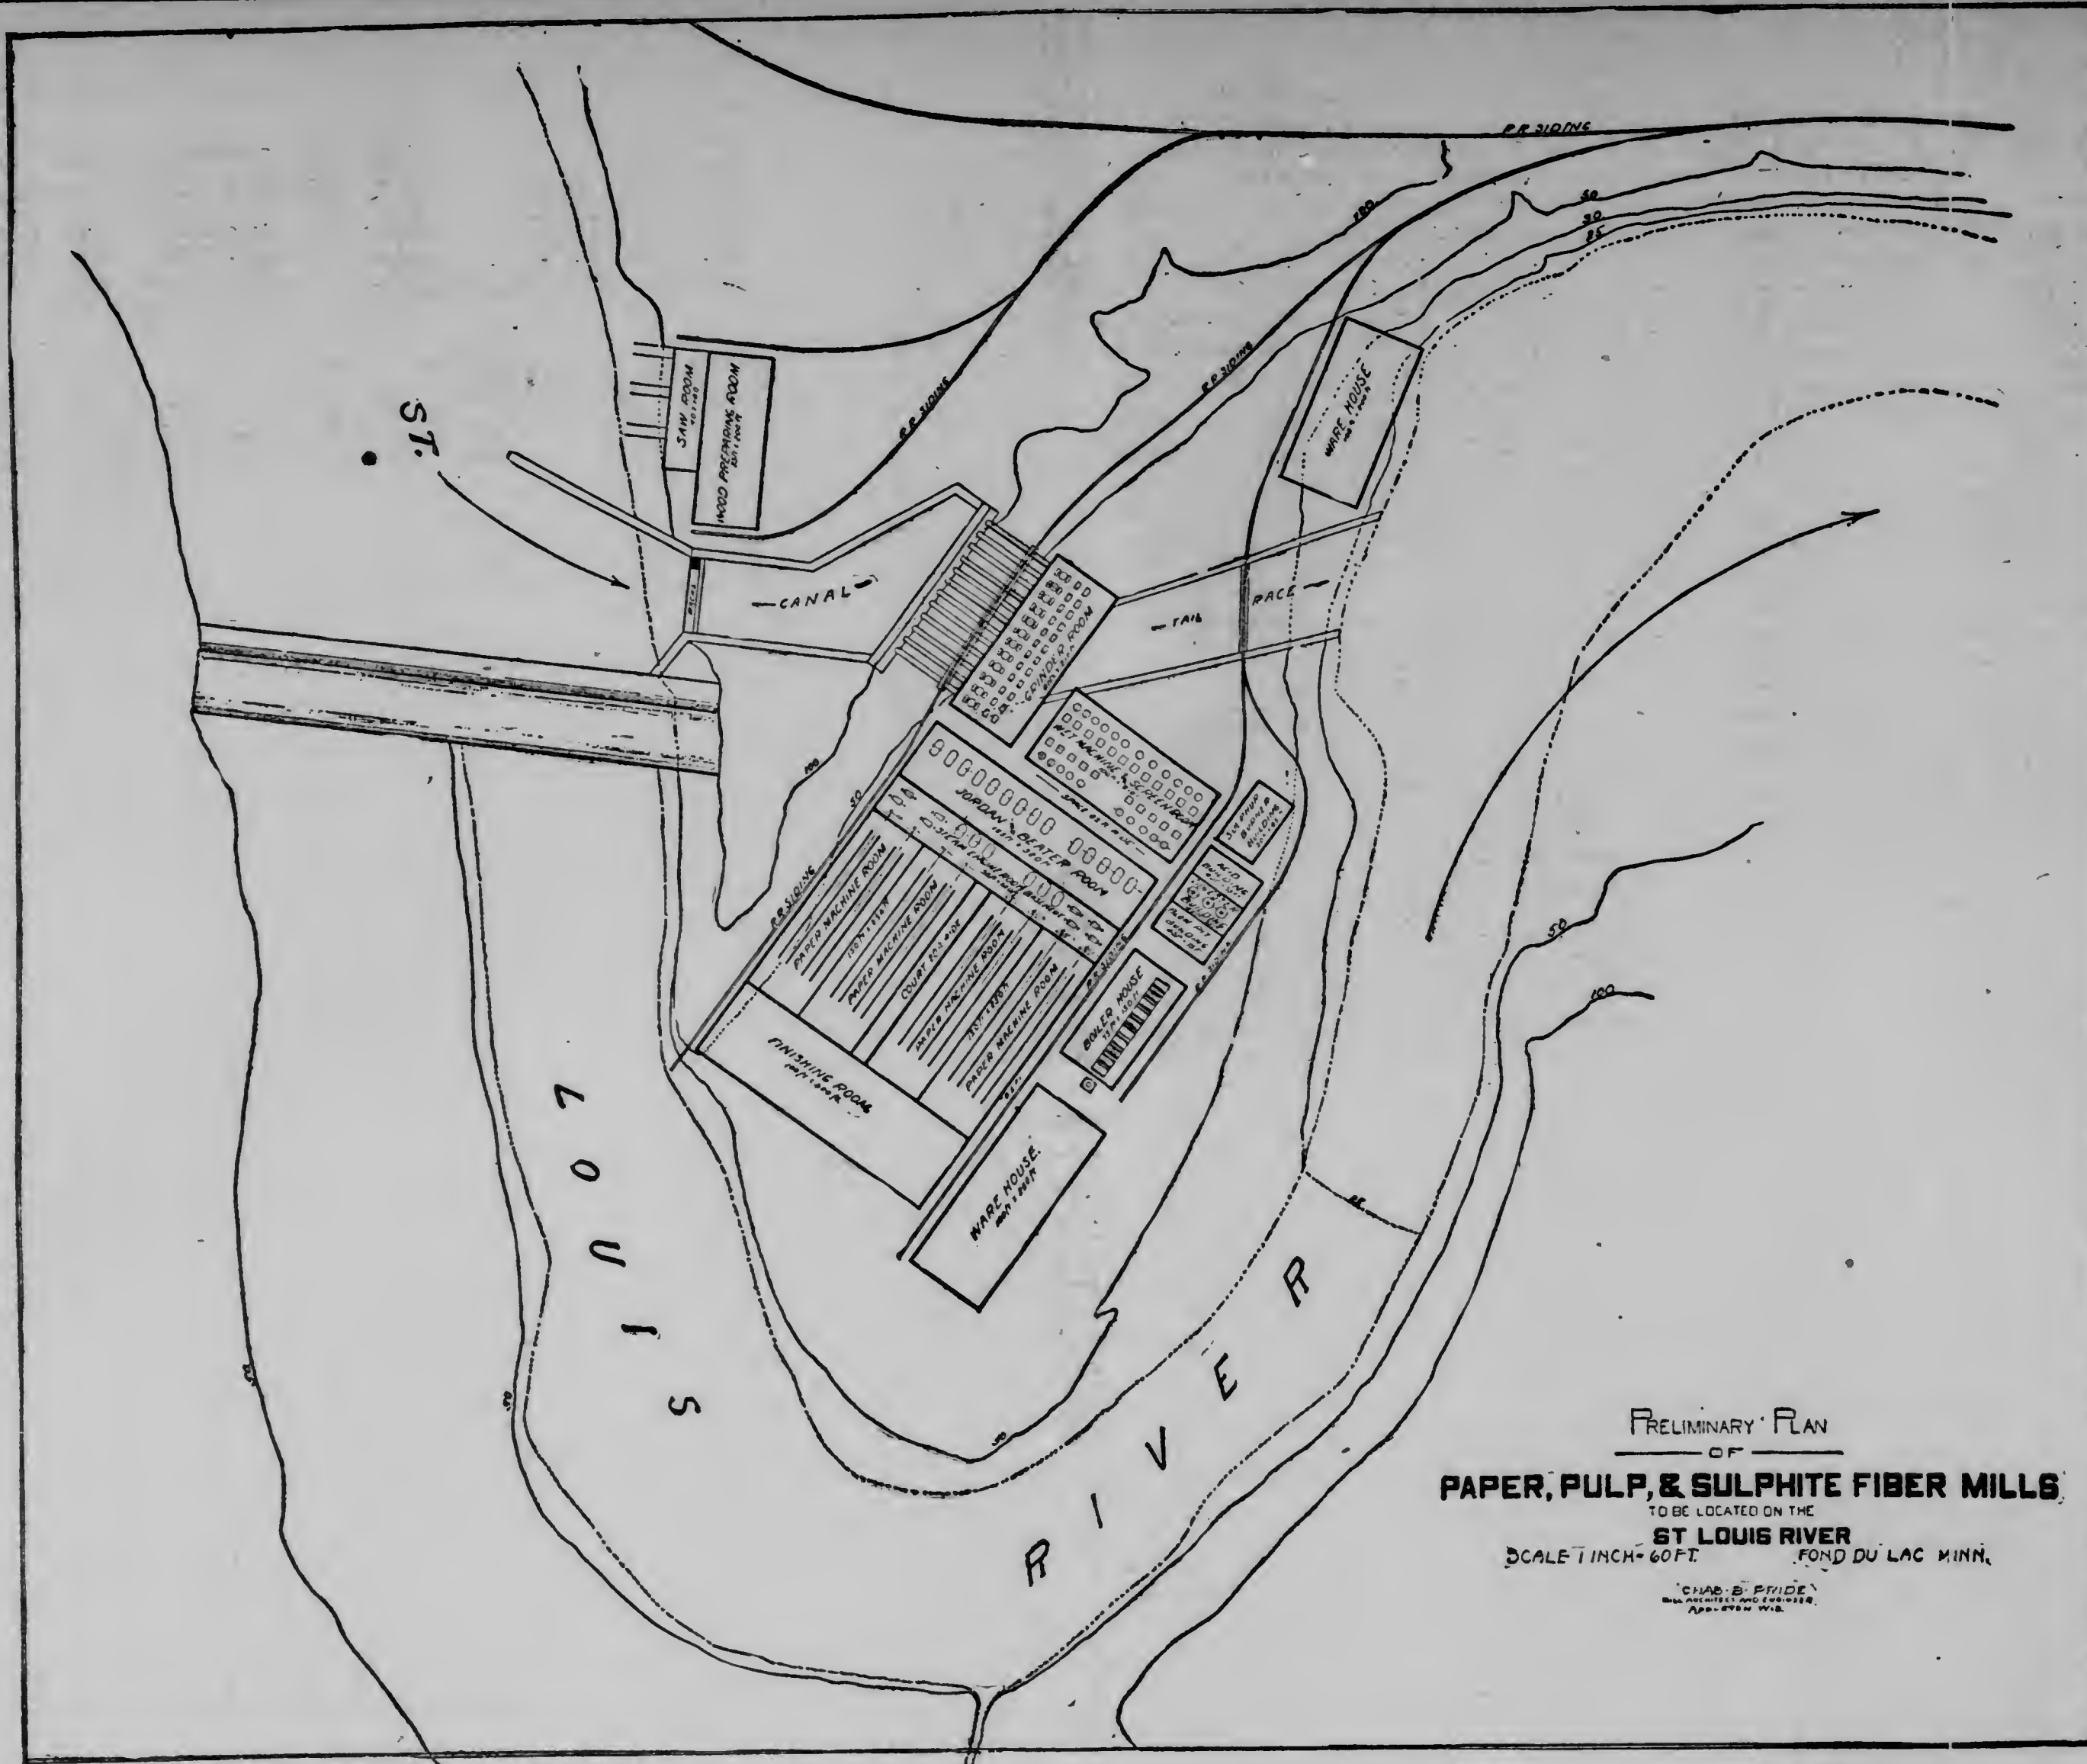

"New ideas and inventions follow each other rapidly in the paper business, and a mill of three years ago cannot successfully compete with a mill of today, which has utilized the latest inventions and devices in the manufacture of paper.

"The difference between the cost of spruce wood delivered at Fond du Lac, and the cost of such wood delivered at other points where paper is manufactured, is in itself sufficient to net the company a handsome profit each year.

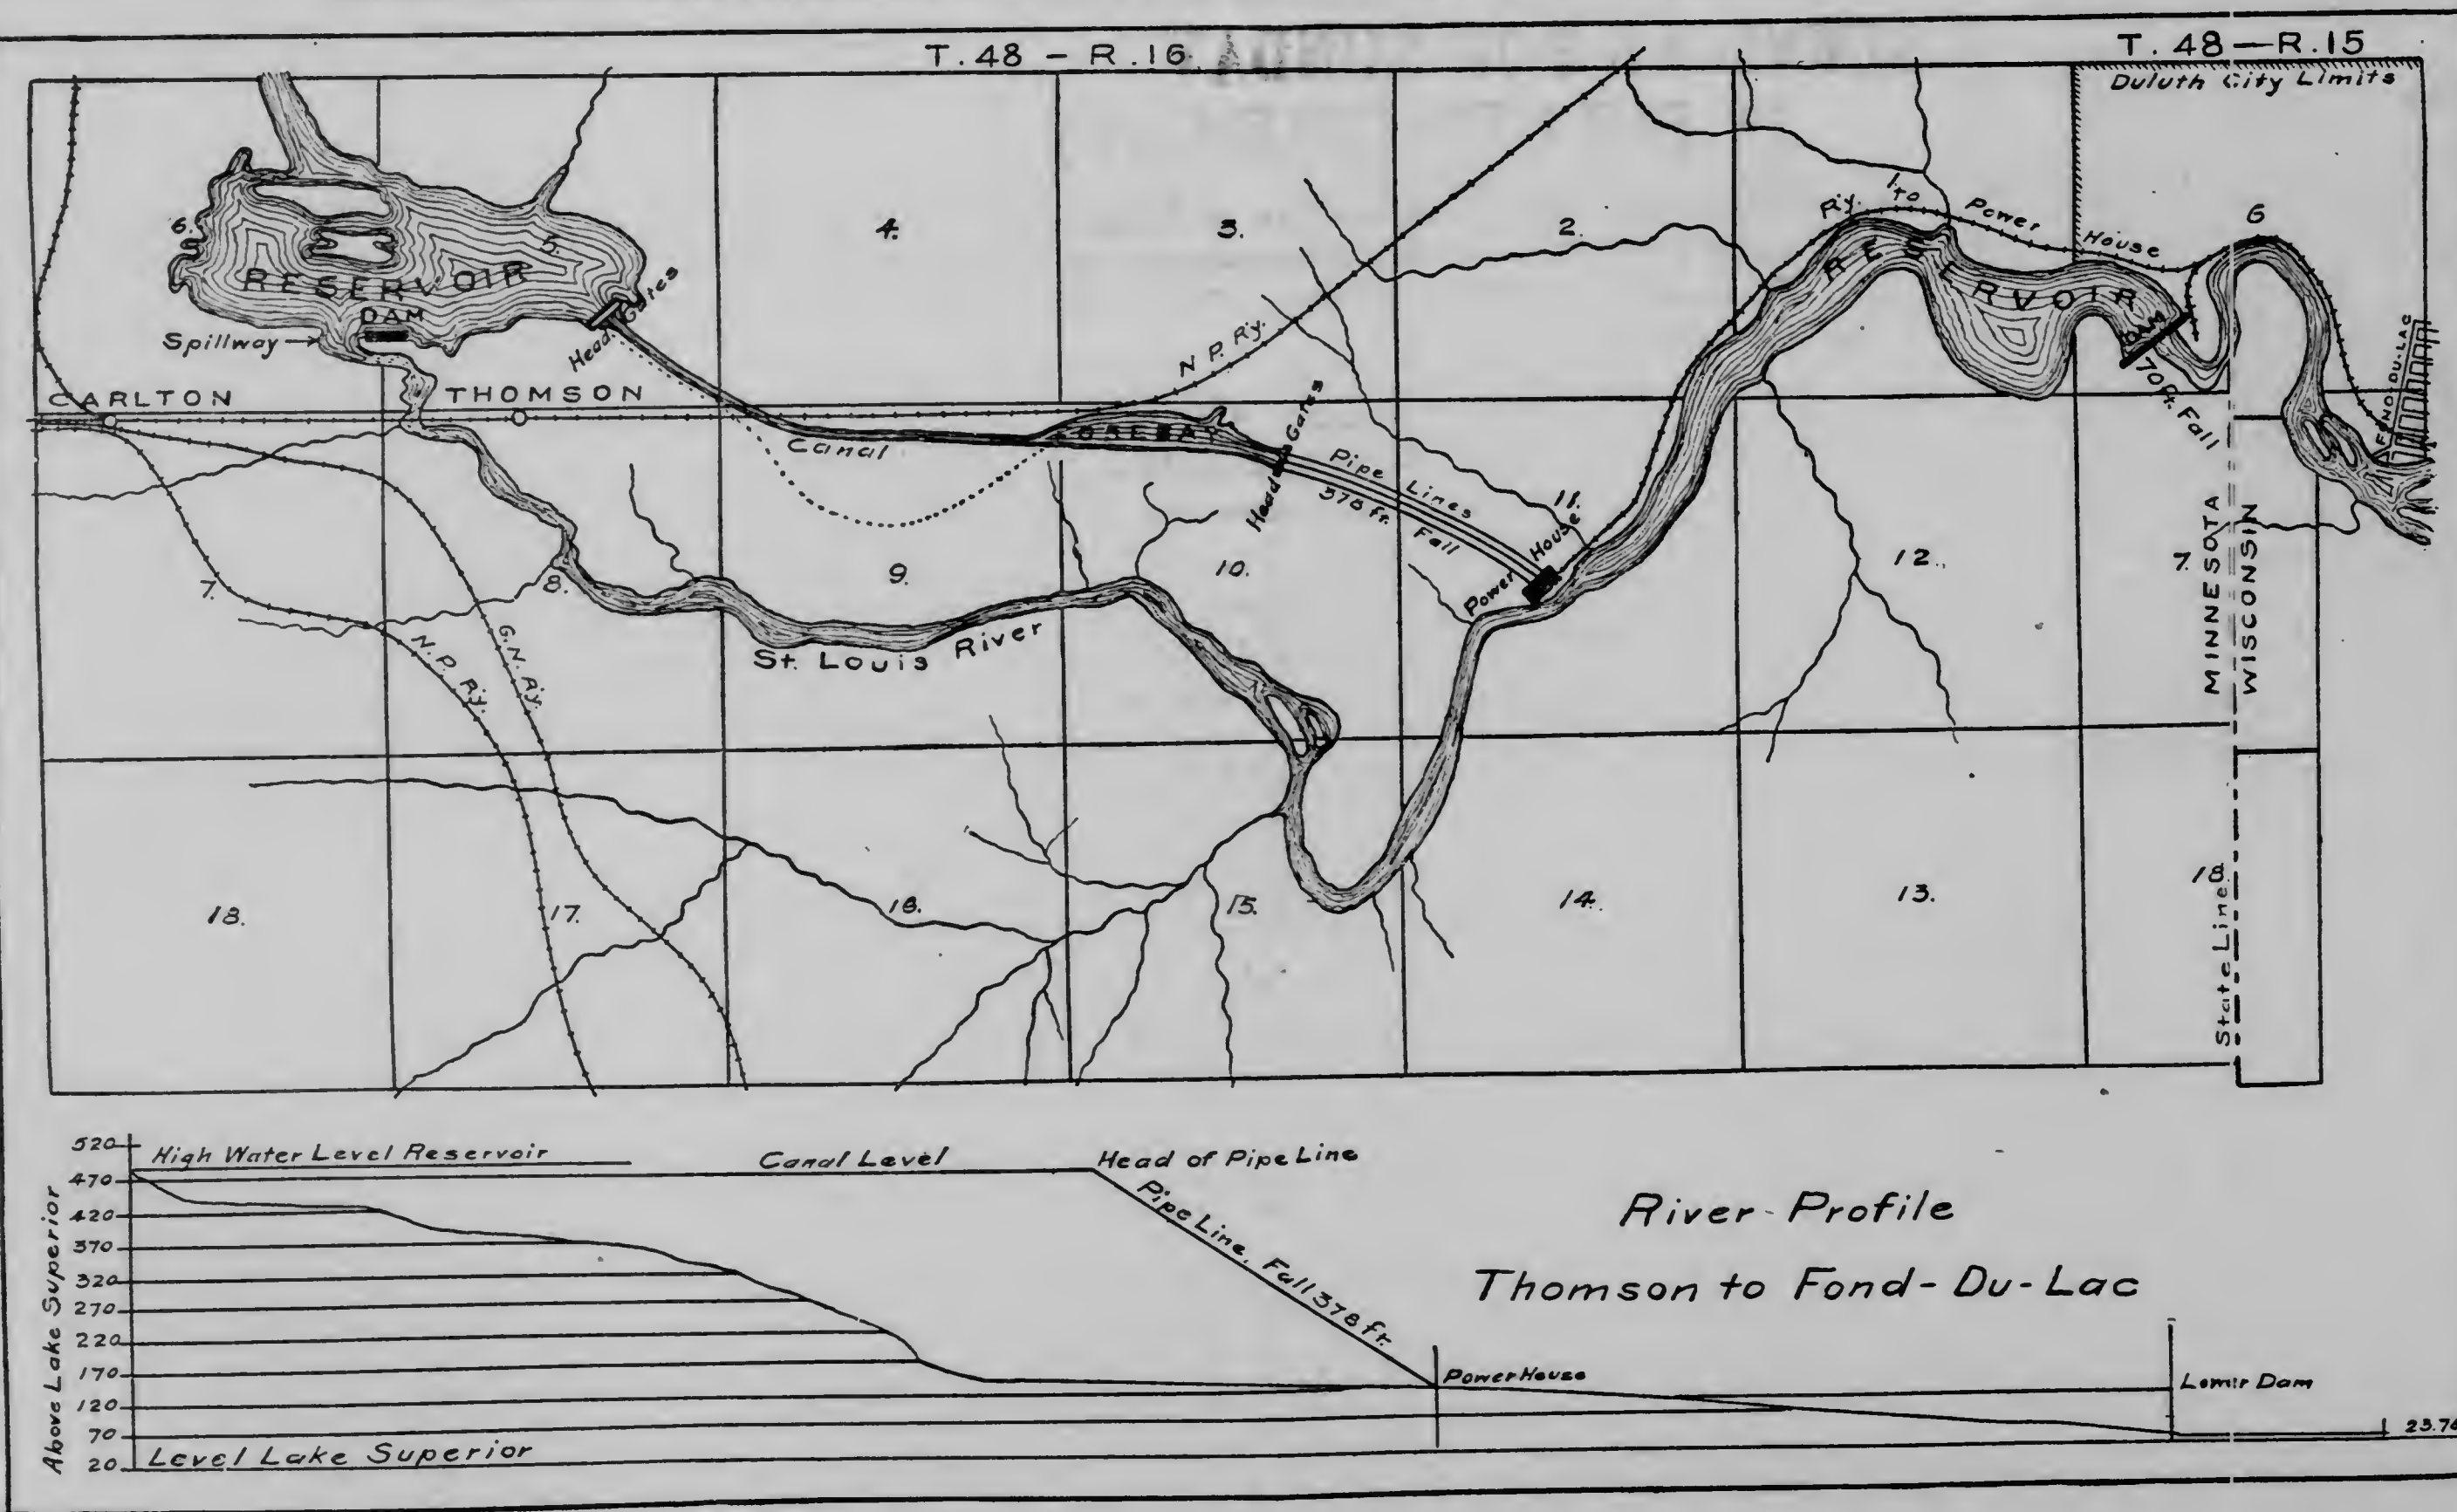

"Besides, the two lines of railroad over which the company can get its supply of wood, it has the benefit of the St. Louis river and the north shore of Lake Superior, and the numerous streams flowing into it, where pulpwood is abundant, and can be delivered at the plant at a cost to the company of one-third less than to any other manufacturing concern, excepting, possibly, the Northwest Paper company of Cloquet, Minn.

"The plant will be so arranged that pulpwood coming to the mill will be unloaded directly into the river, there to remain until used.

"It is a matter of common knowledge that the paper mills of the Fox and Wisconsin River valleys have proven a very profitable investment. There is no question of the success of the business; it is not an experiment."

A FLOWER WIZARD

Experiments of C. S. Harrison of Nebraska
With Plants.

York, Neb., Sept. 15.—The results obtained by C. S. Harrison of this city in his experiments with plants are compared by his friends with the achievements of Luther Burbank, the California wizard. He has done much in the way of improving plants and shrubs, producing new varieties and giving old ones greater hardiness, longer season of bloom and increased leaviness.

Largely because the climate of Nebraska is most favorable to its growth.

Mr. Harrison has devoted much of his labor to the peony. His flowers are grown in separate gardens, some distance apart, instead of all on one piece of land. By this means he is able to prevent cross fertilization between immature or unsuitable plants and to control the intercrossing. In the blooming season these great gardens of peonies, fifty feet in width and 125 feet long, are dazzlingly beautiful. In speaking of what he has been doing, Mr. Harrison said:

"It is true I have entered a delightful field of discovery, and I have met with some success. Among peonies we have depended too much on Europe. Our own investigators have done but little, and yet their efforts have been richly rewarded by the origination here of some of the finest varieties in the world.

"I have been impressed with the idea that we have never planted heavily enough, and so I have broken the world's record by planting from 50,000 to 100,000 plants, and among all those no two are exactly alike. Some are crosses of the finest from England, Japan, Holland and France.

"Among these vast numbers there will not be a poor flower. It will be hard to discard many of them, but there will probably be about one in a thousand worthy of naming, and I trust some of them will equal, if not surpass, anything we now have. The only trouble is that these investigations take time. It will be five or six years before I can tell the result of this experiment.

"From the old-fashioned peony I have produced varieties that have the fragrance of the rose and often surpass it in form and loveliness of coloring. Some have the odor of the pond lily, others the perfume of the heliotrope and several are cinnamon scented.

"They are old peonies and pebbles in character. They will grow and bloom as well in the gardens of the poor as on the costly estates of the rich.

"He has produced lines that are white, yellowish, white and deep purple, as well as the usual light purple of the old time garden.

"I am almost amazed with the results of my researches in peonies," he said. "In this field it requires immense numbers with which to operate. I raised 10,000 last year and hope to make it 50,000 this year. Improvement comes through selection. The wild peony has flowers the size of a dime. They have been improved from the dimensions of a quarter up to a half, and then the joy of the peony, to those of a silver dollar. Out of all that I planted last year I secured but twenty very choice kinds, some of them with flowers larger than a dollar.

"Fifty years ago there were only twenty-five varieties. Now there are more than 2,000 named, besides thousands of others in the background.

"Their culture is the best paying one I know. From an investment of $50 a few years ago, one man that I know of has been able to sell $1,000 worth every year.

"There are three harvests a year—spring, summer and fall, from seeds, blossoms and roots. This delightful and profitable employment, together with the fascination of raising from seeds, will give a zest and joy to living that cannot be found in any other outdoor employment.

"The flower is addicted to freakish habits. When you plant from seed there is no certainty what you will get. Some will bloom single for years and then start blooming double.

"Peony culture requires no expensive greenhouse. From a few roots in ten years you will have a thousand.

"The old varieties bloom in May, when rains generally spoil them in a day or two. By grafting throwing away the imperfect ones and saving only the best, early part of June and one that flowers in the first of July.

"Now I am pushing along this line, securing the largest and finest regardless of cost, planting them among others and raising them by the tens of thousands. Of these I select the best and continue the experiments. The results are most cheering. There are quick returns, as it takes but a year to find out what you are doing."

"The columbine is another flower with which Mr. Harrison has experimented. Under his experiments they use up all the colors of the rainbow.

"The Oriental peony, one specimen of which nine inches in diameter, is a flower that he has touched with the wizard's wand. His new variety is of intense scarlet, with strong markings of velvety black. He has also produced it in a charming salmon pink. Hundreds upon hundreds of these flowers bloom in the gardens. He is now devoting especial attention to the larkspur.

"Mr. Harrison believes that if farmers would employ the same tactics and the same knowledge in their business as he does in his they would all be millionaires.

"If I were a younger man," he said, "I would like to buy an acre of ground and start to raising corn. I have no doubt if the care and zeal I have employed in flower culture were expended upon the corn raising, it would be easy to raise 200 bushels to the acre."

Duluth Evening Herald—Aug. 12-10-05; Sept. 2-9-10.

Rudolph Clamm was from a small town in Southern Wisconsin. He was a cousin of Will Grove. That is how Rudolph happened to be visiting Bill in Duluth. The cousins were both of a pretty good sort, and Bill was very anxious that Rudolph should have a good time while in the city.

He took particular pains to show the cousin from Wisconsin about, and was duly gratified when the latter made manifest his delight at what he saw and heard. This was Clamm's first visit to Duluth—his first visit of any length to any large city, in fact. It was only natural that he should be getting a lot of fun out of his stay here. The more fun he got the better Bill was pleased, which all goes to show that Bill was just as good a fellow as his numerous friends claimed him to be.

After Rudolph had been in town a few days, and had been given ample opportunity to pay his respects in full to Bill's mother and father and sisters and the other folks making themselves as his relations who happened in to see what old Andrew Clamm's youngest son looked like, and after he had gone to the theaters, seen the parks, rode on the Park Point trolley line, been ferried across the bay to Superior, and after he had done various other interesting things along the same line, he was taken one night at his own request, out "for a time" with the boys.

Rudolph was from a small farming town. He had never been out for a time. He had read delightfully mystifying accounts of the great and glorious pleasures city youths had when they were out for a time. Often he had dreamed of them, and wished that he might be along, just to see what the sensation would feel like. College stories also told of the young men being out for a time. He often wondered just what the term implied, but was always afraid of displaying his deplorable lack of knowledge on the subject, and so asked no questions, even after he arrived at the Head of the Lakes.

But all the way to Duluth, mixed with the thoughts of the pleasures he was to meet while at the end of the journey, was his firm decision that, whatever happened, he would never let his life be taken by the boys before his return home, even if he landed in the police station and had to send home for money with which to be bailed out. He figured that he would have the event, or series of events, to remember for the rest of his life, and that this delight would fully repay him for any untoward incident that might otherwise be expected to mar the enjoyment of the occasion. Think of all the fun it would be to tell the fellows back home about it, and to drop dark hints concerning it in the presence of the girls! Surely, the experience was worth any effort.

And so, when the second night after Rudolph's arrival, Bill told him that an effort would be made to have him meet all the fellows of Bill's particular "bunch," and added:

"We will have to go for a time some night before you leave," the man from Wisconsin began to see things right away. He tried to picture to himself all the joy that would be his when he went out with the bunch for a time. His ideas on the subject were, as always, rather hazy, for, even after Bill had announced his decision nothing particular was volunteered in the way of information as to what Rudolph might expect.

If his thoughts were hazy, the haze was of a beautiful rose color, delicately tinted with other extracts from the boys he had seen. In it figures of handsome, laughing men, with a devil-may-care air about them, holding champagne bottles in one hand and a beautiful handful of curds in the other, floated about. There were also poker chips, cigars and a great variety of things included in the picture. He didn't know whether dashing women, smoking cigarettes, should be there or not. He decided to wait and see before allowing them to be too vividly impressed upon his inexperienced mind.

The day that was to have such a glorious climax came around in due course of time. Rudolph came home from work and the two sat around the table and talked on different subjects until the time for the evening meal was reached. After the food had been properly disposed of Bill and Rudolph repaired to their room and smoked awhile. Rudolph had been in such a state of excited anticipation that he didn't eat much. He had taken the precaution, however, to drink a large glass of cream. He had read somewhere that buttermilk would put a man in condition to stand a lot of intoxicants without becoming weak in the knees or in the brain, and he supposed that cream would have something of the same effect.

It was not quite 8 o'clock in the evening when the cousins left the house and started down the street. They brought up in the lobby of one of the leading hotels. Jack and George were already there. Rudolph was introduced to them. Pretty soon Jack and Ed came along. Bill was also introduced to the crowd. Rudolph didn't catch the name, but learned later in the evening that it was Jack. That made two Jacks in the crowd greatly simplifying matters for the stranger in their midst.

George proposed that they have a drink. At this Rudolph concluded that the "out for a time" had begun. The seven fled through a doorway and lined up against a polished bar. Rudolph stood close to Bill and said he would take the same. He hadn't any idea what it would be, but he knew it would be good stuff, anyway. He didn't understand how to work the outfit that was put before him, and so he waited to see what the others were going to do about it. There was a glass containing some ice, and a bottle containing some "Indian's delight," as Joe called it, and a siphon-like arrangement containing a liquid that looked like beer from the outside.

"Here's Ho!" said the fellows. "Here's Ho!" echoed Rudolph. The man from Southern Wisconsin was very much disappointed at the taste of the stuff he had put into his mouth. It was a vile, sticky, sticky mess, to him, at least, but he would not admit this to himself.

Jack patiently dug down in his pocket and produced 3 cents, and the crowd had some more stuff in glasses. Rudolph changed his order this time, taking the same as George, and getting an amber-colored mixture with a cherry in it. The glass was real cute, and the contents were a vast improvement over the first effort, but still it didn't suit Rudolph's palate at all. Before long he knew that he was doing his best to get a glass of beer, or milk, or lemonade would have been tasted. The realization that he was having one of these times he had heard and read so much about, he banished the unpleasantly thought from his mind, and devoted his attention to the leather box, which was passing among the fellows. At the same time, he could not but wonder at what the fellows back home would say to spending 30 cents for a drink that he knew that he was doing his best to get a glass of beer, or milk, or lemonade would have been tasted.

The game broke up at 4 o'clock Sunday morning. Joe and Rudolph were the only winners. Bill lost $17. Although Rudolph had won he had a most disagreeable feeling, and would gladly have returned the money to the losers only he thought they would laugh at him and would refuse to take it. He knew Bill had some debts to pay and that, on 415 week, he could ill afford to lose $17, and he figured it was very much the same with the others. Rudolph would have felt much better if he had come out even at the end, or even if he had lost. The losers laughed at him that were plainly forced, and reviewed the big hands and their mistakes of the night. If they had not been so drunk, they would have played them differently, and they explained in detail their reasons for doing so.

While Rudolph's sensations were like those he might be expected to have on being sent to jail for the first time, Joe, the other winner, was exuberantly happy over his winnings. Rudolph didn't see the reason for this, but he was especially in view of the fact that what he did win was through the poor playing of the two Jacks, who were too drunk to know what they were doing. The Wisconsin man's winnings were due to phenomenal luck alone. He had a little more "Indian's delight," and the Jacks drowned their sorrows in such a way that they became violently ill and had to be taken home. Rudolph had a curious feeling about his stomach, and his head felt as if it needed the attention of a surgeon. He could not remember that the world had never before looked so gloomy to him.

Rudolph and Bill didn't talk much on the way home. When they had gotten in bed, Rudolph, after a deal of persuasion, got Bill to consent to take $15 of the winnings. The man from Wisconsin felt better in his mind after that, if not in his head and stomach, and finally sank into a broken sleep. Sunday he had a beastly headache all day.

Monday, Rudolph and Bill saw most of the seven, and, without exception they spoke of the great fun they had had Saturday night.

"You ought to have been there," they would say to any outsider that happened to be by when they met. "You missed the time of the year."

And Rudolph hadn't gotten through yet telling his crowd down home what a fine time he had in Duluth when he was out with the bunch for a time. At each telling they look at him with keenly envious eyes, and mentally resolve that they will visit the city at the first opportunity and go "out for a time."

Monday, Rudolph and Bill saw most of the seven, and, without exception they spoke of the great fun they had had Saturday night.

"You ought to have been there," they would say to any outsider that happened to be by when they met. "You missed the time of the year."

And Rudolph hadn't gotten through yet telling his crowd down home what a fine time he had in Duluth when he was out with the bunch for a time. At each telling they look at him with keenly envious eyes, and mentally resolve that they will visit the city at the first opportunity and go "out for a time."

SEVEN ARE DEAD

Disastrous Fire In a Fuse Factory at Avon, Conn.

Victims Were Cremated In Full Sight of Their Friends.

Avon, Conn., Sept. 16.—The explosion of a fuse, followed by a fire, in a building of the Climax Fuse company, here, yesterday afternoon, caused a panic among twenty employees in the building, and resulted in the death of seven, and injury that doubtless will prove fatal to several others. There was no way of coping with the flames, which soon spread rapidly, and in less than an hour after the explosion occurred, those who were unable to escape were in the clutches of a fire that eventually burned their bodies to ashes. The crowd that collected in the hamlet around the factory, and women roasting in the fire, and were powerless to check the flames.

The list of dead and injured follows: WILLIAM BURKE, 40 years old, married.

JAMES HOYCE, 35, married. ROBERT MCCARTHY, 18. JAMES WALLACE, married. MOLLIS MCCARTHY. MRS. J. SULLIVAN. MRS. M. B. TUCKER.

There have been many systems of reading for the blind, all based on the Braille system, which consists of letters formed of combinations of dots, and which would never have existed but for a terrible accident which happened to the inventor in his childhood. In the year 184, when M. Haüy, inventor of the Braille system, was a pupil of the school for the blind at Paris, as of Europe generally, were a pitiful and shameful sight. Without the intelligence which can only come of education, without any means of livelihood, they struggled for favorable places for beggary, and made a mockery of themselves to attract attention. Seeing at a fair at Paris a number of blind men ridiculously dressed in rags and carrying a stick, M. Haüy was struck with shame at the outrage and in 1784 founded the first school for the blind and began the first printing in raised characters.

Five and twenty years later was born near Paris Louis Braille, the inventor of the greatest improvement ever made in the education of the blind—the use of raised dots. Louis was the son of an elderly harness maker, and was great pet. At 3 years old he took it into his head to imitate his father's work, and in a moment a sharp instrument he used flew up and put out one of his eyes. Inflammation ruined the other and left him completely blind. He went to the school for the blind in Paris at 10, made great progress alike in literature, music and mathematics, became a brilliant organist in Paris and a teacher of many subjects.

After all, he devised the method of representing letters by combinations of dots instead of embossed Roman characters. In the Braille system the space for each letter is an oblong holding six dots, like one of the halves of the double-six in dominoes.

Although the places for these dots are present in the mind of the reader, they are not all punched. It is the number and position of close punched and left blank that indicate which letter is meant.

The top left-hand dot standing alone means "A," the two top left-hand dots "B," and the two top ones "C," and so on. As there are over 60 possible combinations of the six-dot space, not only all the letters, but punctuation marks, common words such as "and," "for," "the," and "with," and parts of words such as "con," "dis," "ing," are provided for by single characters.

The Braille system is both written, printed and typewritten. At the Royal Normal College for the Blind, Upper Norwood, our representative has shown a wonderful collection of the machinery and appliances in use, and received from Dr. Campbell, the principal, the facts as to the history of printing for the blind from which a selection has been given above.

For ordinary writing a sheet of paper is fixed on a frame, and slipped through a double bar of brass, which slides up and down, so as to cover the lost his life by the force of the explosion. The scene at the fire was heart-rending. Friends and relatives of the missing were almost frantic with grief when it became known that bodies of those close to them were being burned to a crisp in the ruins of the factory. As there is no fire department in the town, it was utterly useless to cope with the flames with buckets. As one of the walls of the second largest building fell, several bodies could be seen entangled in the mass of masonry in the basement, and in a short time they, too, were reduced to ashes. Early in the evening the body of a woman was seen near the edge of the fire, and an effort was made to pull it away from the flames, but on account of the great heat, this was impossible. The loss on the four buildings burned is estimated to be $100,000.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—The football season in Chicago opened today, the university of Chicago eleven lining up against the North division high school eleven, the interscholastic champions. Last season, the high school boys held the university of Chicago team to a low score. Coach Stange of the university decided to take chances today, and accordingly announced a line-up most of veterans. A hard fought contest was expected.

THREATS ARE MADE GOOD

Bomb Thrown at Man's Shop Who Refused to Settle.

New York, Sept. 15.—A bomb was thrown against the front of Casino Pilot's barber shop in Washington avenue, Brooklyn, today. The explosion blew in the front doors and windows and tore up a portion of the floor. Pilot had received twenty-five threatening letters within a year, and within a week a letter of one had informed him that he would be killed if he did not at once put $500 where it could be found by the writer.

When the bomb exploded the three families, including that of Pilot, who lived in the building, fled in a panic. Pilot carried a revolver and opened fire on a policeman who came running to find out the cause of the noise, but the bullets, fortunately, went wild. It is believed the bomb was thrown from the platform of a street car passing the shop.

RAINS IN SOUTHWEST.

Kansas City, Sept. 15.—Soaking rains have fallen in Western Missouri and Kansas in the past twenty-four hours and continue today. Coming on top of almost continuous heavy rains during the past ten days, all streams are up and more or less damage has been done.

TO ENJOIN VILLAGE

Taxpayers of Chisholm Seek to Stop Payment of $2,784.

Claim Contract For Street Improvement Is Null and Void.

Five of the citizens and taxpayers of the village of Chisholm have made application in district court for an injunction order restraining the village officers, William Grant, president; W. A. Martin, recorder; Helmer Hermanson, treasurer and Oscar Wilberg, Webb Latham and W. J. Smart, trustees, from paying out any of the town funds on estimates for material and labor furnished by Adolph Belanger in the improvement of one of the Chisholm streets by cutting and grading. A temporary order of injunction has been issued by Judge Dibell, which was returnable in district court this morning, when the defendant village officials were to show cause, but the hearing was postponed until next Saturday, the temporary injunction remaining in effect until that time.

In the action started for a permanent injunction the complaints filed by the taxpayers, Alonzo R. Kirk, Richard J. Mitchell, William J. Shane, W. B. Talboys and M. F. Martin, claim that unless the court makes the order restraining order the village council threatens to allow certain estimates of Belanger on his work and pay him the amount of the same. They claim that such procedure will work irreparable loss and injury to these and other taxpayers.

In the complaint it is set forth that prior to June 8, 1905, the village council called for bids for cutting down, widening and grading Lake street, starting at lot 19, block 7, extending westward to the street, then around the corner and southward 100 feet, the work to be eighty feet wide, and the road to be cut down to the present grade of the street, the contractor to furnish all the labor and materials. It is also alleged that the bid of Adolph Belanger of $2,784 for the work was accepted by the council June 8, and that a contract was drawn in his favor June 10. It is further claimed that Belanger submitted two estimates, each for $1,500, in August, each of which was allowed and orders were ordered drawn on the village treasurer. These orders are claimed to have been assigned to the First National bank of Chisholm, which is also made a defendant in the action.

The taxpayers allege that the performance of the contract constitutes a public improvement under the statutes of the state. It is alleged that Belanger never furnished a bond, as required by law, for the faithful performance of his contract. It is also alleged that the work was not petitioned for by the requisite number of property owners of real estate along the street proposed for improvement, and, further, that the village council never specified the location of the improvement, or its character, or gave the property owners notice or opportunity to appear to be heard in the matter.

Because of the claim that no bond was furnished by the contractor and because the council is alleged to have proceeded in an illegal manner, the taxpayers ask the court to declare the contract null and void and to restrain the public officials from paying out further estimates, also to enjoin them from paying over any money on the estimates already made.

The taxpayers are represented by Baldwin, Baldwin & Dancer of this city.

Night School

Is now in session at the Duluth Business Institute, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of each week. Young men and women get here a complete training in commercial and bookkeeping, and are studying bookkeeping; some shorthand, while a great many are taking the English course, and others are reading, writing, spelling, grammar, arithmetic, etc., etc.

The evening school is in charge of a corps of competent teachers, and the student gets the individual, or private instruction necessary to insure progress. Young people find that it is less to spend their evenings here, than to attend the district school. The training received fits them to better their conditions. You can begin at any time.

School District at Chisholm Defends In Injunction Case.

Defending itself in the injunction proceedings instituted by William Grant, president of the village of Chisholm, to stop the payment of a salary of $35 per month to E. G. Martin, clerk of school district No. 40, the district named, and its officials have filed answer to the complaint in district court.

Admission is made by the defendants that the annual school election was held in July, 1904, at which time, Martin was elected clerk at a monthly salary of $35 per month. It is claimed that the election was held in accordance with the law.

The district officials allege that the disbursements for the year ending in July, 1904, were $9,473.73 and that the disbursements from Aug. 1, 1904, to the last of August, 1905, were not to exceed $20,750.

It is admitted that Clerk Martin drew $210 for the first six months of his service but that he has not since drawn any compensation. It is asked that the action be dismissed without costs to the district or its officials.

The district is represented by Baldwin, Baldwin & Dancer.

PRESIDENT SAYS

He Wants Canal Built In the Shortest Possible Time.

Rather Favors the Lock Scheme Because Quicker of Construction.

Washington, Sept. 15.—President Roosevelt is urging in the strongest terms the necessity for a plan for the construction of the Panama canal which may be accomplished in the shortest possible time. In his recent remarks to the consulting board of engineers of the isthmian canal commission, he said many things which are regarded as of the utmost importance in that connection. These remarks have just been transcribed and transmitted to the board here, and edn. Davis, its chairman, has been authorized to make them public.

The president said: "What I am about to say must be considered in the light of suggestion not as direction. I have named you because in my judgment you are especially fitted to serve as advisers in planning the greatest engineering work the world has yet seen, and I expect you to advise me, not what you think I ought to hear, but what you think I ought to do."

There are two or three considerations which I trust you will steadily keep before your minds in coming to a conclusion as to the proper type of canal. I hope that ultimately it will prove feasible to build a sea-level canal. Such a canal would undoubtedly be best in the end, if feasible, and I feel that one of the chief advantages of the Panama route is that ultimately a sea level canal will be a possibility. But while paying due heed to the ideal perfectability of the scheme from an engineer's standpoint, remember the need of having a plan which shall provide for the immediate building of a canal on the safest terms and in the shortest possible time. If to build a sea-level canal will but slightly increase the risk, then, of course, it is preferable. But if to adopt the plan of a sea-level canal means to incur extra hazard, and to cause indefinite delay, then it is not preferable. If the advantages and disadvantages are closely balanced I expect you to say to me, 'I don't know whether, if you recommend a high-level multi-lock canal, it will be possible to build it in the shortest possible time or to substitute for it, in time, a sea-level canal, without interrupting the traffic on the isthmus. If the considerations to be kept steadily in mind are:

1.—The utmost practicable speed of construction.

2.—Practical certainty that the plan proposed will be feasible, that it can be carried out with the minimum risk.

The quantity of work and the delay incident to the construction of a plan for an ideal canal are not to be considered, but if there is not, then I hope to see the canal constructed on a system which will bring to the nearest possible date in the future, the time when it is practicable to take the first ship across the isthmus; that is, which will in the shortest time possible secure a Panama waterway between the oceans of such a character as to guarantee permanent and ample communication for the largest ships of our navy, and for the largest steamers on either the Atlantic or the Pacific. The delay in its construction, owing to additional locks, would be of small consequence when compared with shortening the time for the construction.

ACTIVE INQUIRY IN REALTY MARKET

Good Demand For Improved and Unimproved Residence Property—Sale of West End Lots One of Most Remarkable Ever Seen In the West.

The past week in uluth really business has witnessed about the same movement as a week ago. Inquiry has been excellent for improved and unimproved property. Several good sales have been made of improved property. The main point of closing, and numerous transactions have been made of lots for improvement. The principal residence sales have been in the East end district, while the largest movement, unimproved property has been in the West end. In the latter section not much more improvement can be looked for the remainder of this year, the

ing. If the predictions hold out, that portion of the city will see another building movement that will be even more rapid than the first.

One of the features in the real estate situation at present is the lively interest in the city by the people of Duluth, either in the vicinity of the city or the territory tributary to it. Since the Duluth people have had a number of great many visitors in the city from other portions of this state and from other cities, they have been making tour and who have become interested in St. Louis and Carlton county and who have been buying land or buying for actual settlement. Wet weather during the week has hindered the Duluth people from coming, but the most has been made of the

The realty interests of this city do not often witness a campaign during which city lots to the number of 250 are advertised and sold within the space of a few days. The L. S. & S. Loeb Moore & Bushnell accomplished this very thing, beginning last Saturday afternoon and continuing through the last lot by Wednesday of this week, people who have been in the real estate business here cannot let such enterprise pass unnoticed.

This sale of the L. S. & S. Loeb company's recently purchased tract of land in the city and beyond the city and the fair grounds, was something that has not been witnessed before in this city. The sale of the city lots may be likened to that of hot cakes.

It was engineered by a firm that has long been experienced in the sale of suburban property in large cities all over the country. The firm is the L. S. & S. Loeb Moore & Bushnell, who has been giving the nation Improvement Bulletin "A wise step has been taken by some land lords in Winnipeg. This rapidly growing city is suffering from a great shortage of residences, owing to the inability to build houses as fast as they were wanted, and rents have advanced accordingly. The solution is to build more houses, find a supply, and while there is as yet no surplus of residences, yet some landlords have taken a tactful step and lowered their rents. It is possible for them to have kept their charges up and to have received the old prices for their houses. But they are not. They are at a point above what is regarded as normal, it tends to encourage and stimulate the building of more houses. If inquiries were made repeatedly for houses, after the demand had been met, the price would be lowered. It is to give an impression that there was a greater call for houses than was actually the case. It might induce some one to build more houses. The figures, based upon the knowledge that there was a frequent inquiry for vac-

Among the substantial improvements that will be made on West Second street this fall and winter will be the handsome flat building that S. I. Leach is preparing to build on the lower side of the street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues west and adjoining the existing rolling mill building on the west side. On this site Mr. Leach will erect a building, costing about $25,000, designed by the architect J. J. Wangenstein. The plans will be in the hands of the contractors within the next few days. Mr. Leach's building is already a year ago, and at first planned a brick terrace, but has, within the last few days changed to a handsome building. The new structure will have, according to the plans, eight flats, all with large, well-lighted and handsomely-finished

MANY ARE HURT

Bert Arsenal Loses Leg
In Street Car Accident.

Epidemic of Injuries—Street Cars Held Up
Long Time.

An epidemic of accidents seems to have taken hold of West Duluth. A number of them have taken place this last few days, in which the worst of which was that last night, in which Bert Arsenal, a 12-year-old boy, residing with his parents on Center avenue, was run over by a car and so badly injured that his right leg had to be amputated, about six inches below the knee, at Arsenal's hospital, where he was taken when the accident happened.
It is understood that the boy was attempting to run across the track on Grand avenue, near Fifty-seventh, as the car was approaching at a fair rate of speed.
A man had his face cut this morning in the Reg Cliff Lumber company's mill, and another had his arm bruised and sprained at the Alger-Smith mill.

DELAYS CARS.

Wagon Breaks Down on Car Track.

People coming into the city from West Duluth and the West end this morning were very much inconvenienced by a long delay in car service.
A wagon, bearing a large boiler, broke down on the eastbound car tracks, right in front of the power house at Fifteenth avenue west, and although jackscrews and other implements were used freely, the load could not be hauled. A string of about fifteen cars was held up for a long time, and after waiting for a while those on the cars who were in a hurry had to walk to the center of the city.

Finally, when the blockade gave evidence of lasting several hours longer, the cars were switched onto the westbound track and ran eastward on this to Fifth avenue west, where they could switch to the other track again.

CARRIED HOUSE AWAY.

Jagged Man Likes Its Support First Rate.

A man with a jag got himself into a ridiculous predicament in West Duluth a few days ago. Some children had built themselves a small playhouse on the lawn in front of the Asbury parsonage, and had it nicely covered with olefin to keep out the rain.

I procured a bottle of Mystic Cure. It got me out of the house in 24 hours. I took one with me when I had five of the best physicians in the city, but I received very little relief from them. I know the Mystic Cure to be what it is represented and take pleasure in recommending it to other poor sufferers." Sold by all druggists.

SYNDICATE'S PROFIT IS $1,400,000

New York, Sept. 16.—Members of the H. B. Hollins syndicate made a profit of about $1,400,000 by the sale of their contracts for subscription rights to the stock of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton road, to J. P. Morgan & Co., according to the Herald. They disposed of 65,000 shares at $100, making a profit of $25 a share.

No statement regarding the acquisition of the railroad property was given yesterday by Morgan & Co. Interested parties identified with the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton pointed out that while the firm nominally had taken over a majority interest, the voting trustees still hold control and already in that they had 65,000 shares tied up in the trust agreement in the hands of the United States Mortgage and Trust company. Voting trustees who were seen acknowledged they knew nothing of the Hollins sale.

Members of Hollins & Co., on the other hand, said that at the next Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton meeting of the directors' board, they would take part in a joint picnic with the regiment of that church at Lincoln park. Each one is supposed to bring a service of 12 o'clock and offering will be taken for Wild Reck Orphans' home.

MANAGER TALKS

Warren Makes Statement Regarding Paying and Track-Laying.

Says Street Railway Company Is Working Fast as Possible.

Considerable comment has been caused by the delay in the paving operations and there have been some criticisms of the street railway company.

Herbert Warren, general manager of the Street Railway company, upon being questioned regarding the report that the work in connection with repaving West Superior street was being delayed by the track relaying operation, said: "It is true that Contractor Steele can not make much progress until the track is relaid, but we are working as fast as possible. The city engineer and his assistants have stated to anyone that the company is not making every possible effort to hurry the work, he must have come to that conclusion very suddenly.

"The city engineer and his assistants who are in charge of the work have made no complaint whatever to us and I believe that they are thoroughly satisfied that we have made every possible effort to finish up the first four blocks of track so as to give the contractor a good start. After we get the first stretch of track completed, our work will go much faster."

"We were desirous of having the work started at Eighth avenue west instead of Twenty-fifth avenue west for the reason that our track had already been relaid at that end and there would have been little or nothing for us to do and the contractor could have started at once."

"We had all our material on the ground in advance of the letting of the contract, and started the work at once, and made good progress for the first few days, but just at the critical moment, when we had laid out new ties and rails laid in the bottom of a trench in the clay, and were ready to lay them, a heavy rain came and left the track in a bed of 'nice thick red soup.' There was nothing that could be done more than what we did do, which was to bail out and drain off the water and wait for the rain to stop. If we had waited until the rain stopped, we could have put out in our ballast. The rain then held out until we got the new blocks of single track to the same critical point, when it didn't stop again in torrents, and it hasn't stopped yet."

"It is going to be very hard for us now to get a solid foundation for our track, as it will be some days before we can go on, even if the weather from now on is more favorable. Most of our work so far has been entirely wasted, and we would, perhaps, have been just as far along a week from now if we had not started at all. We started relaying our track about two weeks ago last Tuesday, and owing entirely to the unfavorable weather we are not now as far along as we would have been in one week of favorable weather."

"The fact that so many jobs of this kind are commenced by the city at this season of the year when the most unfavorable weather can be depended upon, is due to conditions for which we are in no particular to blame, but it seems there should be some way of changing these conditions so that such jobs can be done at the time of the year when the weather is the most favorable. It is settled in the spring, when they could be done at much less expense and in a much more satisfactory manner."

"The street railway company was unjustly blamed by many citizens who did not have the time or inclination to look into the matter thoroughly, for not being willing to start on the East Superior street paving at about the same time of the year that this West Superior street paving was started and some of our citizens have been just as far along a week from now if we had not started at all."

"I was conclusively demonstrated afterwards that it had been started when it was proposed the result would probably have been that the work would not have been started in the fall and the street would have been
the following July or August. That job involved the laying of a concrete foundation under the paving and under the tracks and necessitated side-tracks and was therefore much more difficult than the present one."

The ball game between the longshoremen and the Merrill & Ring men tomorrow afternoon will be held at Athletic park instead of at the foot of Fifty-seventh avenue west.

Washington, Sept. 15.—Miss Nan Patterson, the actress, who was tried for the murder of Caesar Young in New York, is to marry her former husband, Leon G. Martin, from whom she was divorced three years ago.

The license to marry was issued today, and the ceremony will occur at the home of the bride's father, which is conducted in a manner which leaves not the slightest room for criticism and increasing rapidly, in fact, to such an extent that room is almost at a pre-

THE BISBEE MINES PROGRESSING WELL

General Manager Parnall of Bonanza Circle Says Things Look Good—The American Development Company to Start Drills.

Bisbee, Ariz., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The American Development Company, of the Bonanza Circle, returned to the city last Saturday in company with Mrs. Parnall from their visit of several weeks in Michigan.

Immediately upon return Mr. Parnall plunged into the work of his office, and before night had visited several of the properties of the Circle to see how things were moving.

In conversation he said that things looked very good to him in the camp. He had, however, been back so short a time that he had not yet been able to get in very close touch with the changes in the situation made by the steady work that has been going ahead vigorously at all the properties during his absence.

"Michigan people," he said in response to questions as to the feeling there, and the view entertained with regard to the Bisbee district, "are very hopeful, and are facing a bright outlook. So far as I was able to observe, they all have faith in the Bisbee district, and feel very good over the reports that they have been receiving from the properties in which they are interested."

Mr. Parnall, according to a Michigan paper, comes back to Bisbee with the title and authority of general manager of all Bonanza Circle properties. He said that he had read the newspaper statement as he was departing for the West, and presumed that it was correct. He had not, however, received as yet official notification of the assignment of confidence in his ability from those who are directing the affairs of the Bonanza Circle. That is generally felt here, by those acquainted with the manner of work Mr. Parnall has done, to be well deserved.

Isaac Stevens, manager of the Chase Creek Copper company at Clifton, was visiting for several days in this city and last evening drove down to the Warren Development company lake and looked over the lower end of the district. When he came back he said that he did not believe Warren district had yet fairly commenced to produce. "This camp has only started," he said. "There is a whole lot of that lower country yet to be brought in, and it is only a question of time when it will come. Depth will get the values there beyond a doubt."

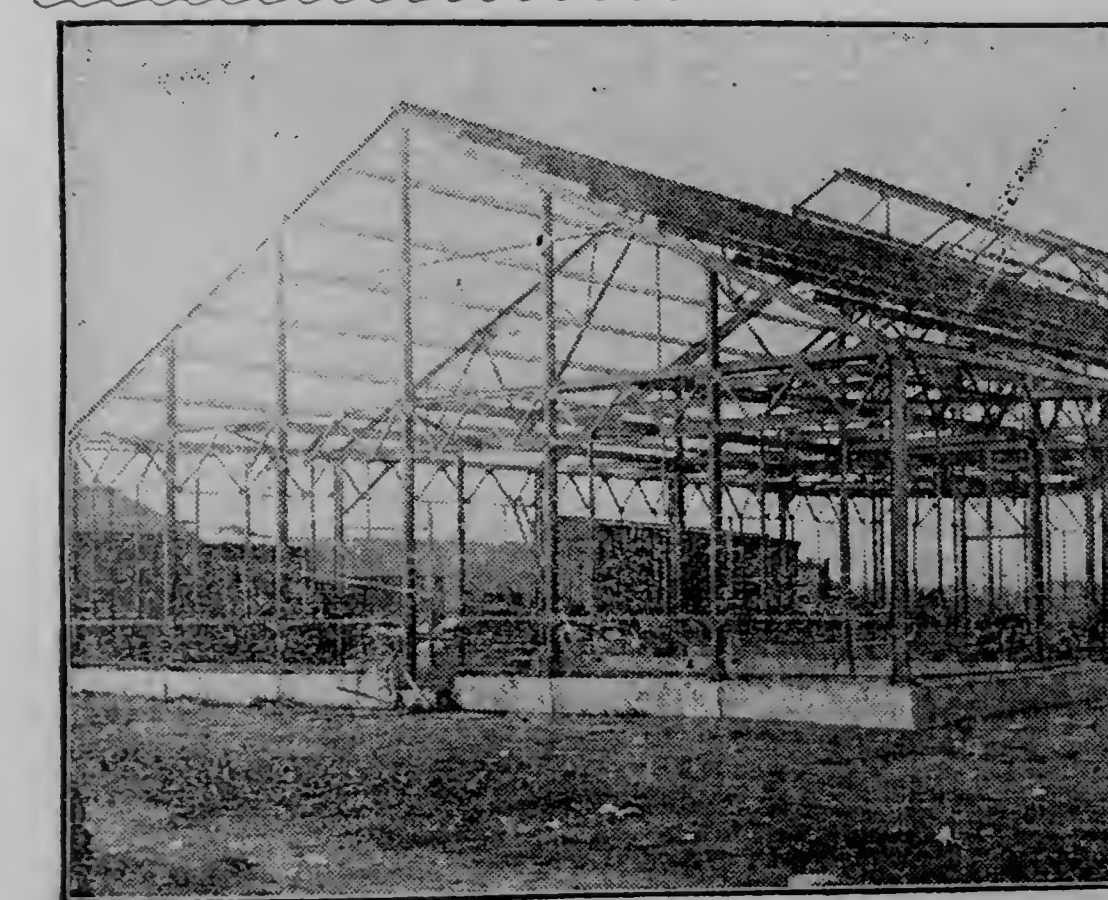

At Clifton Mr. Stevens states that things are pursuing the even tenor of their ways. The Arizona Copper company and the Detroit Copper company, the latter at Morenci, are continuing improvements which will increase their present ore handling capacity to nearly double. Both have many years to come in excellent condition and that development is steadily improving. One block out for many years to come, and the visible supply growing steadily. The Shannon company is also making excellent headway in the development of this year, make rapid headway toward the dividend. The property and the promising properties are developing in most encouraging manner in the district, and there is every reason to expect that the camp will keep steadily ahead with the march of progress.

There has never been a boom there, but the manner of development now in progress will assuredly in due time invite greater interest from capital throughout the country than has heretofore been had. With other Clifton-Morenci district people Mr. Stevens believes that it is only a question of time when the district will come to the Marquette, Mich., Sept. 16.—The St. Paul railroad will construct another large ore dock at Escanaba to care for their constantly growing ore traffic. The new dock will be larger than the present one and when completed will give the railroad a storage capacity of nearly 100,000 tons. The company is very anxious to get the dock ready for business next season and to that end are making arrangements to start the work of driving the piles at once so as to have them driven before the bay

PICKANDS, MATHER & CO. HAVE STRUCK ORE ON CUYUNA RANGE

Ore Better Than Expected, Being Hard, Heavy and of Superior Structure—Drills In Operation on Other Properties—Thomas Feigh Says Ore Has Been Found On His Land.

Ore has been encountered in the shaft that Pickands, Mather & Co. are sinking on the Cuyuna iron range.

This discovery is as significant and satisfactory as it was unexpected. It shows a quality of ore that wholly was unexpected by the people interested. It also shows an ore body very much larger than drill work gave reason to expect.

Yes, it is true that ore has been struck in the Pickands, Mather & Co. shaft," said Cuyler Adams to The Herald. "We had not planned to strike it there—in fact those doing this work did not wish to find it. It is there, however, and all concerned are gratified over the character of the showing. The ore is better than expected. It is hard, heavy and of superior structure. I really look for it to prove to be a superior quality of limestone—just what the people seeking ore particularly desire."

The Shenango interests are drilling steadily on the southeast forty, in section 46-28, long-war has two drills on lands in sections 3 and 4, same township, belonging to Messrs. Congdon & Hartley. In a few days more, something definite should be known of that work.

Mr. Adams' drill is showing up ore still on the southerly side of Big Rabbit lake, where drilling has been in progress for nearly three months. The ore is of a fine, granular texture, and of a high grade. It is a hard, heavy, and of superior structure. It is a hard, heavy, and of superior structure. It is a hard, heavy, and of superior structure.

This discovery means much to the Cuyuna range unless it is very deceiving. It will close the mouths of several croakers and wise ones who had planned to have a huge body of dirty, low grade ore opened up there, with small bands of slate, soft ore and hard ore resting therein, in disorder and dissatisfaction to the fee holders and lessees.

In one sense, the find is premature and even unwelcome. When diamond drilling ceased early in summer, a line was drawn that would, it was thought, cover the outer and northerly limits of the orebody. Then, 125 feet away and further north from that, on slightly rising ground, away from surface waters, that were plentiful, a shaft was started. It was planned and desired that the shaft should go down 150 feet or so into solid rock and then a cross cut be driven southerly across the orebody, showing the exact width, accompanying rock formation and character of the ore.

Old Nature's work and poor man's

trict of Marquette county, Fort Wayne, Ind., men have taken over the old Kivik ore property and are installing machinery preparatory to its development.

Corrigan, McKinney & Company, who recently took over the Baker and Tully properties in the Iron River district of the Menominee range, are arranging to begin the work of exploration and development. It has been decided to sink a shaft on the Baker tract as soon as the necessary machinery can

A RICH FIND IN THE GOLDFIELD COUNTRY

Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—In all probability the most remarkable discovery in a gold mine in recent years is being made in the world's history of mining, has just been reported from the Bullfrog Extension Mining company's estate in the Bullfrog district, seventy miles south of Goldfield, where a narrow seam of almost pure tellurium ore has been encountered that assays 82 per cent pure gold. Not since the days of the great Isabella discovery in Cripple Creek, eight years ago, has such a remarkable find been chronicled, and operators of the Southern Nevada district are in a fever of excitement as a result. Until the discovery of sylvanite and calaverite—classifications of the mineral family known as tellurides—at Cripple Creek, tellurium ores were a decided scarcity and in only isolated places were they mined commercially. Heretofore the holdings of the Bullfrog Extension Mining company have not attracted any great amount of attention. The estate is in the Bullfrog district, where there have been the scene of exceptional discoveries that have centered about the mine and upon that particular section. With the announcement of the opening up of a vein of such rich tellurium ore, the mine has suddenly sprung into the limelight among mining sharps that have been attracted here and there by the discovery of the Bullfrog Extension Mining company's ground, and the great interest in the district has been increased. The discovery of tellurium ore is a most important discovery, and it is a most important discovery. It is a most important discovery. It is a most important discovery.

The existence of tellurium has not been looked for in the holdings of the Bullfrog Extension Mining company. Rather had the management expected to encounter bodies of oxidized quartz, carrying their contents of gold in a comparatively free state. The formation of the district, it was thought, did not warrant the occurrence of this character of mineral, and for this reason the discovery is of even greater surprise. The statement of Walter Scott, "the spectacular man from Death Valley," that he had opened a ledge of ore that contained a streak of exceptionally rich tellurides, has been generally scouted by the knowing ones. Rife and money checked by the Wells-Fargo company found near his hiding place, to the contrary notwithstanding, some credence now attaches to Scott's story, in view of the fact that tellurium ore has been found in other localities of the great mineral zone of Southern Nevada.

The holdings of the Bullfrog Extension Mining company, which consist of four claims and a valuable tunnel situated practically surround the original Bullfrog mine. This was the scene of the first discovery in the Bullfrog district by "Shorty" Harris, about a year ago. The property is being aggressively developed, both by shaft and tunnel. In the shaft an important body of ore, thirty feet in width, has been exposed, and the mine is being developed. As work progresses the value of the ore shows consistent improvement, and inability to see underground, have frustrated all these plans and shown up as ore better in every respect than either hoped for or expected.

There was no risk whatever in something the surface hardpan and the ore. About twenty men are at work, the pumps have the water finely under control, and the shaft has been constructed thus far without accident or serious difficulties of any kind. One report that quicksand was playing havoc was wholly wrong, for no quicksand whatever was encountered.

Pickands, Mather & Co. evidently hope for further results on the Cuyuna range, even if not sanguine of attaining them. The company has purchased 130 acres of the southerly part of section 22, 47-28, east of the northeasterly arm of Big Rabbit lake. A drill has been in operation some days, and the last report stated that it was down 120 feet in surface soil and had not encountered either rock or ore.

The Shenango interests are drilling steadily on the southeast forty, in section 46-28, long-war has two drills on lands in sections 3 and 4, same township, belonging to Messrs. Congdon & Hartley. In a few days more, something definite should be known of that work.

Mr. Adams' drill is showing up ore still on the southerly side of Big Rabbit lake, where drilling has been in progress for nearly three months. The ore is of a fine, granular texture, and of a high grade. It is a hard, heavy, and of superior structure. It is a hard, heavy, and of superior structure. It is a hard, heavy, and of superior structure.

This discovery means much to the Cuyuna range unless it is very deceiving. It will close the mouths of several croakers and wise ones who had planned to have a huge body of dirty, low grade ore opened up there, with small bands of slate, soft ore and hard ore resting therein, in disorder and dissatisfaction to the fee holders and lessees.

In one sense, the find is premature and even unwelcome. When diamond drilling ceased early in summer, a line was drawn that would, it was thought, cover the outer and northerly limits of the orebody. Then, 125 feet away and further north from that, on slightly rising ground, away from surface waters, that were plentiful, a shaft was started. It was planned and desired that the shaft should go down 150 feet or so into solid rock and then a cross cut be driven southerly across the orebody, showing the exact width, accompanying rock formation and character of the ore.

Old Nature's work and poor man's

trict of Marquette county, Fort Wayne, Ind., men have taken over the old Kivik ore property and are installing machinery preparatory to its development.

Corrigan, McKinney & Company, who recently took over the Baker and Tully properties in the Iron River district of the Menominee range, are arranging to begin the work of exploration and development. It has been decided to sink a shaft on the Baker tract as soon as the necessary machinery can

A RICH FIND IN THE GOLDFIELD COUNTRY

Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—In all probability the most remarkable discovery in a gold mine in recent years is being made in the world's history of mining, has just been reported from the Bullfrog Extension Mining company's estate in the Bullfrog district, seventy miles south of Goldfield, where a narrow seam of almost pure tellurium ore has been encountered that assays 82 per cent pure gold. Not since the days of the great Isabella discovery in Cripple Creek, eight years ago, has such a remarkable find been chronicled, and operators of the Southern Nevada district are in a fever of excitement as a result. Until the discovery of sylvanite and calaverite—classifications of the mineral family known as tellurides—at Cripple Creek, tellurium ores were a decided scarcity and in only isolated places were they mined commercially. Heretofore the holdings of the Bullfrog Extension Mining company have not attracted any great amount of attention. The estate is in the Bullfrog district, where there have been the scene of exceptional discoveries that have centered about the mine and upon that particular section. VALUABLE CLAIMS FOR NORTH BUTTE

In Northern Part of the District Have Been Acquired—North Butte Company's Earnings in August Said to Be Very Large.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rumors of a new company with unlimited capital have been rife in Butte during the past week. It is stated that a syndicate of local and Eastern capitalists will shortly take over a group of claims in the northern part of the city, which claims are at present under bond, and rumored that payments on the Berlin, Lynchburg, and other properties have already been made and that within a short time the new company will be in control of a valuable group of claims in the northern district. While these rumors have been generally circulated and have aroused much speculation, it is learned on good authority that the claims in question are to be added to the properties of the North Butte company and that no new company is to be organized.

They will add greatly to the value of the North Butte's possessions. While no figures have been given out, it is said in well informed quarters that the North Butte's earnings in August were very large. Several hundred men were kept underground for a period of four hours, last Saturday morning, by an accident to the engine at the Mine Hoist. Fortunately nobody was riding on the cage at the time and no injuries resulted but the men on the night shift were imprisoned in the lower levels of the mine for several hours after the accident to the machinery. They were hoisted to the surface after day-break through the Leonard shaft.

It was stated that a week will be required to make the necessary repairs. Meanwhile ore will be extracted through the shaft of the adjoining property. The cause of the accident and its exact nature could not be learned, but its severity is attested by the many fragments of steel scattered about the engine-room.

Sinking will be resumed at the Pittsburg and Montana property next week, and the main shaft will be lowered a distance of 320 feet. Despite the fact that the opening of the shaft is giving the officials plenty to look after, the development work is not being neglected. The Pittsburg and Montana people feel sure that their new smelting process will prove successful, and are preparing to handle a large amount of ore once the plant is started full blast.

Copper-silver ore of splendid quality is now being regularly shipped from the properties of the Raver, Mining company in this city. The ore that is being taken to the smelters is extracted entirely from the drifts, no attempt at stoping having been commenced as yet. The strike was made on the 1,200-foot level.

The striking of copper ore at the Raver adds another producer to the list of this camp. Much money has been spent in the development of the Raver company's properties, and the stockholders are now just beginning to reap their reward.

The workings of the Mountain View mine, owned by the Boston and Montana company, are to be deepened, but not by the shaft-sinking route. A long cross-cut has been driven from the 2,400-foot level of the High Ore to a point directly under the shaft of the Mountain View. This week a force of men will begin raising, to connect with the shaft of the View, which is now 1,300 feet. As can plainly be seen, this is a task of considerable magnitude, but the management has no doubt but that the 60-foot raise will be made without difficulty.

H. Foster Bain, a government geological expert, was in the city last week investigating the zinc possibilities of the district in order to make a statistical report to the geological survey regarding the zinc output here. At present, the only zinc mine in the Western country, it is located at Pueblo, Col. There is a small mill in operation at Canyon City, Col., and one north of this city. All of the concentrates from this city are shipped to an Illinois smelter near St. Louis. There has been talk of installing an exclusive zinc plant in Butte, but experts are of the opinion that it would be a paying proposition, unless some device for separating and saving the minerals associated with the zinc could be invented.

LAKE SUPERIOR COPPER DISTRICT

Advent of South Shore Road in Keeweenaw County Will Have Far-reaching Results—Coalition between the Mineral Range and Keeweenaw Central Probable.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The strange action of the Tamarack company in refusing a right-of-way to the Keeweenaw Central railway is explained by the decision to build, or at least the announcement by the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway that it will extend its mineral range line through Keeweenaw county, paralleling the Keeweenaw Central. The South Shore should have taken this step some years ago instead of waiting until a line covering the same territory is well along toward completion. The advent of the South Shore as a competitor of the Keeweenaw Central presents a bewildering change of front in the Keeweenaw county situation, and is apt to have some far-reaching results. The relations between the managements of the Copper Range and the Keeweenaw Central, while amiable, have not been especially close, and were not expected to become such, but in the presence of an attack by a common enemy a coalition between the two companies is almost certain to come, no matter how much both interests may be opposed to such a step on first consideration. The D. S. S. & A. railway also paralleled the Copper Range line one year after the latter was built by an extension of the Mineral Range, ending at Mass City, but was unable to seriously injure the Copper Range because the latter was affiliated more or less closely with most of the developing mines along its line. In fact, the Copper Range has the rock tonnage of all the producing mines along its main line, with the exception of the Mass and Michigan mines, which ship to the Mass mill, at Keeweenaw bay, on the Ontonagon branch of the Lake Superior Range. INDICTS GRANT

Grand Jury Charges
Chisholm's President
With Being Drunk.

William Grant, the Official, Pleads Not Guilty and Furnishes Bail.

William Grant, president of the village of Chisholm, was arraigned before Judge Cant this morning, on an indictment charging drunkenness returned by the grand jury now in session. Grant entered a plea of not guilty and furnished cash bail in the sum of $100 for his appearance for trial when his case is called.

The indictment is one of those returned within the past few days but which was not made public for the reason that President Grant was not in custody. Under the law, the alleged offense constitutes a misdemeanor and the person so charged, if convicted is liable to imprisonment. The state law provides that habitual drunkards have to be proved to constitute malfeasance in office. Before adjourning last evening, the grand jury returned some five or six indictments, none of which have been made public for the reason the persons charged are not yet in custody. They are believed to affect persons not living in the city.

The grand jury is not in session today, but will resume its work Monday morning.

THE JURY CASES.
Setting Made For the Coming Week.

Following is the setting of jury cases for trial next week as placed on the board at district court this morning:

Monday—Nos. 59, 68, 80, 84, 93, 97, 98, 100, 101, 102, 41, 42, 99, 103, 104, 113, 115, 124, 125, 126, 127, 130.

Tuesday—Nos. 121, 122, 123, 129, 140, 142, 143, 145, 146, 147, 148.

Wednesday—Nos. 150, 23, 24, 28, 33, 5.

This closes the jury calendar.

Will Give Bazar.

A bazar for the benefit of St. Peter's Italian church will be given next week at 307 West Superior street, and the congregation is making elaborate preparations for the event. An orchestra will furnish music and musical entertainments will be given every evening. The members of the congregation bought a church at Eleventh avenue west and Superior street a few months ago and are working energetically to make it prosper.

OTHERS WILL COME.

A. G. Bernard and A. L. Cole to Accompany Hays.

When H. G. Hays, Bernard, secretary of the newly formed State Drainage league, comes to Duluth, the latter part of this month, to speak before the members of the Commercial club on the subject of drainage, he will probably be accompanied by several of the men prominently identified with the movement.

A. G. Bernard of Walker, president of the league, will probably be here to deliver an address, and Senator A. L. Cole may be here, too. The date for their coming has not been set yet, but the secretary of the Commercial club announced today that it would be some time this month.

Karlberg Found Insane.

Probate Judge Middleton has made an order committing Israel Karlberg, a West Duluth young man, to the state hospital for insane, and he will be taken down today. Karlberg was examined the other day, when his mother was committed, but he did not at that time indicate signs sufficient to warrant his care at the asylum. Since, however, his condition has taken a turn for the worse.

Foreign Will Filed.

The foreign will of E. D. T. Myers, a wealthy resident of Richmond, Va., who died some time ago, was probated in this county today, on account of large real estate holdings in this vicinity belonging to the estate.

The bequests include cash to the amount of over $25,000 to relatives and servants, the residue of the estate being divided among Myers' three children.

The amount of the estate is not stated, but it is believed to be large, for the reason that the executor is bonded in the sum of $40,000.

DENONCES POLYGAMY.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 16.—The Western Wisconsin Methodist conference today adopted resolutions denouncing polygamy as a menace to church and home and to republican institutions. The United States senate is asked to declare vacant the seat of Reed Smoot of Utah.

MEN WHO HOLD RISKY JOBS

Experiences of Nerry Railroad Builders Working Among Wild Beasts.

The building of the bridge at Victoria Falls and the Cape to Cairo Railway has suddenly and necessarily brought a great many people together at this spot, where there were previously no houses, and indeed, no one but an occasional traveler and hunter. Besides the birds and butterflies and the fish, the chief living animals were lions and elephants and hippopotamuses and crocodiles and jackals and hyenas.

The crocodiles were found to be so numerous—as many as thirty being seen together sometimes—that they have had to be killed in great numbers for the safety of the people at work. One is known to have killed a man and a woman, and was itself only killed after it had seized another man. A native woman was taken from the river when the crocodile knocked her in with its tail, seized her in its horrid mouth and dragged her away. Her husband was close by, but was powerless to save her. He determined to be avenged, however, and for several nights waited in a canoe with a loaded gun. He, too, disappeared, and it is thought that the crocodile knocked him out of the canoe as it had knocked his wife out of the boat, and took him in its hole under the bank.

A week later it got another man, but instead of taking him into its hole it carried him to an island. Here its victim got hold of the reeds and strong grass, and held on so tightly that the crocodile could not get away with him. Of course, he screamed with all his might, and a gang of men with crowbars went to rescue him. This they succeeded in doing, and also slaying the dangerous monster. These crocodiles are so ravenous that it is not possible even to keep dogs with safety. And a couple living near the river are in constant dread of losing their children.

One of the lions killed had also filled up the measure of its iniquity, and it was found that it had killed a woman, a native village some distance north of the spot. This lion was very slender, being built mainly of reeds. In the lion pushed aside the door, walked in and seized her, carrying her away to his lair in the dense bush. Then he had an ox. This was in the inclosure with other cattle and donkeys.

The lion, falling to get into the inclosure, frightened the animals with his attempts, that they rushed in a cluster, terrified mass from end to end, and their weight upon the railroad broke it down. They rushed out through the opening, which was just what the lion wanted, for he had now nothing to do but take his choice. After the ox he selected a donkey on his next visit, and then a sheep and finally another ox. At last the natives became panic-stricken, until some white men reassured them, telling them that the lion was only after the lion and shoot him. The lion came and got away with another ox, for the white men, unable to keep awake, had fallen asleep. However, they were able to track him.

It was important that having promised to kill the lion they should do so, for that is the secret of the white man's power over the native—never to break his word. So they set off to the thick bush half a mile away, whether the lion's tracks led them. There they came upon a good kill, as the natives consider a good kill, as the lion did not disfigure the lion nor injure his skin. Near by was the carcass of an ox, and a little further in the bush, in a sort of tunnel of impenetrable thorn, were the gnawed bones—the remains of some of his former victims.

A young hippopotamus, riding on its mother's back when she was shot, was saved and carried off by one of the men. These animals are very dangerous to canoe men, for in returning to the shore to blow their often come up right under the canoe and upset it. Sometimes they give chase to canoes, and then the native paddlers do all they can to reach the bank, unless a white man with a rifle is with them. The baby was thriving very well when last heard of. He escaped from his enclosure once, but on being hungry, as was evident from the ravenous way in which he applied himself to his food.

SAVE YOUR HEALTH

It Is Worth Saving, and Some Dutiful People Know How to Save It.

There are some people who take their lives in their hands by continuing to neglect their kidneys, when they know these organs need help.

Sick kidneys are responsible for an immense amount of suffering and ill-health, but there is no need to suffer or to remain in danger with all diseases and sufferings arising from sick kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here is the statement of one Duluth person who has reclaimed good health by the use of this remedy:

A. Ebner of 351 Fifth street east Duluth, Minn., says: "My experience has demonstrated the fact that Doan's Kidney Pills are a remedy of exceptional merit, and one that can be relied upon in treating different phases of kidney trouble. Six years ago I suffered from a most distressing and heavy pain in the small of the back and through the loins. It broke sleep at night, and in spite of the various remedies I used from time to time I had obtained no relief. At length I got Doan's Kidney Pills, and began using them with the most gratifying results. In a short time I found myself cured. I am now a well man.

THE DRAINAGE MOVEMENT OF IMPORTANCE TO DULUTH

Drainage League
Discusses It.

Will Be Here Shortly to Address Commercial Club.

The drainage movement is of vital importance to Duluth. Millions of acres of the tributary territory are now lying dormant in the embrace of swamps, awaiting the operation of drainage to cause it to spring into life and activity. Practically all of the lands involved are in Duluth's particular territory.

A State Drainage league has been formed to take up the fight, and H. G. Hays of Bemidji, its secretary, will be here shortly to lay the matter before Duluth, and its business men. The Duluth Commercial Club will be the scene of an interesting Duluth people to the proper extent.

Following is an interview given to the Herald by Mr. Hays, vividly setting forth the importance of the drainage movement to the state in general and to Duluth in particular:

"Within five years' ride of your city," said Mr. Hays, "is a swamp of practically 500,000 acres, a body of one-seventh of the land area of the state, which is now lying dormant in the embrace of swamps, awaiting the operation of drainage to cause it to spring into life and activity. Practically all of the lands involved are in Duluth's particular territory."

GET WELL -- KEEP WELL

How to Climb Stairs Correctly—Stair Climbing a Healthful Exercise For the Mentally Nervous—Ventilation a Preventive of Throat Diseases—Average Winter Home a Reservoir of Poison—Don't Be Afraid of "Draughts" or "Night Air"—Yawning an Admonition to Open the Window

BY EDWARD B. WARMAN, A. M.
(Author of "Scientific Physical Training," Etc., Conductor of "The Get Well-Keep Well" Course.)
(Copyright, 1906, by Joseph B. Rowles.)

It is possible that stair-climbing is a healthful exercise? There is a right and a wrong way of doing everything. The majority of people, especially women, climb stairs the wrong way; hence the admonition of the family physician—avoid the stairs.

There is no evil that is not perverted good; the abuse or misuse or misuse of that which would benefit us if rightly used. There is no indoor exercise more beneficial, more healthful, more invigorating than going up and downstairs correctly. The air in the hallway is pure. You have the open gymnasium without any additional expense.

When the public school teachers learn by experience the benefits derived from the exercise of ascending, they will no longer dread "those horrid stairs," but will consider them a blessing instead of a curse. I have no doubt that, in many cases, they will go earlier than usual to school, in order to go up and down the stairs several times before beginning the regular exercises of the day. Then if they feel mentally tired or nervous when the day's work is over, they will follow the directions previously given (for standing, sitting and walking correctly) and hereafter they will be given (for the conservation of vital and nervous energy) they will rest themselves and draw the excess of blood from the brain and otherwise equal the circulation by taking a few trips up and down the stairs before going home.

Elevators are blessing to busy men when viewed in the light of time-savers, providing he takes his regular exercise in some other way. Otherwise they should be wholly ignored. In this regard, they are in a class with street cars. Exercise of some kind, is positively essential to health.

What I said in regard to the teacher or the business man, I desire to impress you so strongly in regard to the errors that you will recognize them in your own life. (1) Do not place the whole foot upon the step, nor strike the heel heavily; in fact, the heel should not touch the step in either going up or coming down. To do so is in direct violation of a physiological law—the jarring of the base of the brain, the kidneys and the injury to the spinal cord.

for midsummer, is to have a board four inches wide and as long as the width of the lower window-sash fitted as perfectly to the bottom of the lower sash as if it were part of it. This permits a free current of outgoing (impure) air and incoming (pure) air being turned the sash day and night. This method has decided advantage over the lowering of the window—a better exchange current is produced, the windows will always remain in position (not pushed up by some one afraid of "too much fresh air," the finest snow or sleet cannot enter, and you cannot catch cold—even in your mind.

(2) Incline the body forward from the hips, instead of bending it at the waist line. Keep the chest active (raised and fixed). Feel all the impulse from the chest as you ascend, and you will realize a lightness and buoyancy rarely experienced.

(3) Keep the mouth closed (very discreet when two or more persons are together), not only when ascending, but after reaching the top. Keep it closed until the breath is fairly freely expired—the more necessary if the breathing is labored. Do not let the upper chest rise and fall by breathing shallowly, but see that every inhalation is diaphragmatic—to the waist line.

When descending the stairs the body should be erect. Bend at the knee joint (naturally), touch the ball of the foot, but do not completely shut out the moving air. The dust may find its way in with the air, but "twice better to have some dust than none at all." Bear in mind that a cool room in summer is not a healthy room, and if the coolness is purchased at the expense of fresh air and sunshine, it is not worth the cost.

Do not think it safe to breathe night air? What kind of air can you get at night except night air? Almost any air is better than that which has been bred over and over again, besides, the cool air of a closed room is not fresh air. It is dead air, the deadliest kind of dead air.

Closed windows and closed doors, by day or night, mean the presence of an unseen enemy in that room. The water that streams down inside the window of a closed occupied room is so impregnated with carbonic acid gas that it is a deadly poison. One drop of the liquid will suffice to poison a rabbit.

YAWNING. When you sit in a close room the lungs do not receive sufficient quantity of the vital gas, oxygen. The yawn is a desperate effort of the lungs to properly aerate the blood, and it is an admonition to open the windows or to get out into the fresh air.

When you are out of bed too long, or when you have been unusually hard days work, the waste products of your body are present in excessive quantity; then the yawning is a reminder to you to get away to rest. In short, that the steam has run down.

plants have their facilities engaged well into next year. As demand broadens there is a natural tendency to increase capacity, which adds to the already exceptional structural activity. Jobs have secured much more forward business than at this date last year, especially in drygoods lines, and the frequent reminders of autumn temperature stimulate retail distribution of wearing apparel. Thus far, the weather has not been cold enough to harm the crops that remain to be harvested, and another week of favorable weather should assure an unprecedented yield of several sections of the country.

A few complaints of inadequate transportation facilities from foreign centers are attributed to the requirements of grain moving. Railways earnings thus far reported for September were 37 percent larger than last year while 37 percent of the total for the past week showed gains of $2,344,130 in value of exports and $7,851 in imports as compared with the same week of the previous year. The official report of exports of staple products from all parts of the United States in August was valued at $16,833,300, or over the same month last year, or more than 50 percent.

Large exports of packer hides are reported, but on heavy Texas steers, small consignments were made, although the limited offerings in other sections of the market maintained the average prices at the highest point. Purchases of leather are not as yet as liberal as they will be later in the season, as shoe manufacturers are operating moderately, but the tone is very firm, and a fairly large export movement gives support.

Failures this week numbered 194 in the United States, against 224 last year, and twenty-nine in Canada, compared with twenty-one a year ago.

The late secretary of state, John Hay, was a devoted friend of associations, and interested in their success. "I regard the association movement," said he, "as one of the most important in the world. I admire its moral force and its success. I attribute the better life of its spiritual character and its business-like administration."

As one of the leaders in the movement in Duluth said the other day, "It is simply common-sense, present-day, practical Christianity that appeals to the young man at first largely from the advantage of his being young and his friends, and he is in good luck and he has drifted away from them it helps to bring him back. It helps him to reach his aspirations, and if he has none it puts them in his way and where he can scarcely avoid seeing them."

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

The city tax commission, composed of the mayor, president of the city council and the city clerk, met at the council chamber last night to take action upon and levied a tax for 1990 at the rate of about 1 per cent, cutting the levy about 1/2 per cent from the previous year. At the same time the commission made up the estimate of the appropriations necessary for the year and it is as follows: Aldermen, $990; mayor, $1,000; city clerk, $1,000; city attorney, $60; fire department, $8,000; public department, $3,260; city hall expenses, $1,000; city auditor, $1,000; street commissioner, $720; printing, $800.

street labor, $3,500; health officer, $300; fire department, $1,000; library fund, $1,000; city engineer, $1,000; city clerk, $1,000; city auditor, $1,000; sidewalks, $3,000; fire department supplies, $1,500; sewer, $500; animal hospital, $1,000. This makes a total of $13,500 estimated expense for the city government. The city council has agreed to raise in salaries all along the line. The city is growing very fast and the branches of the city government to keep things going will have to be paid for this extra work. The expected revenue for 1933 is $13,000, but that is not $500 short. This is considered the limit, as nothing but the taxes and the city engineer's salary can be raised. The only revenue, as the slot machines and houses of ill fame have been closed, is the city engineer's salary. The city council has ordered that there are lamps to be placed on the streets of Cedar, Central and Willow, Cleveland and Locust, Mesquite and Elm, and on the streets of Cedar, Central and Poplar, Wyoming and Maple.

About twelve of the team crew of the Duluth, Virginia & Rainy Lake railway ran a special car up to Rice Lake early Sunday morning for a day's duck hunt and succeeded in bagging one lone mallard, and from what can be learned, the honor of shooting this one is claimed by every man in the party, as they all shot at the fowl at the same time. On examination of the bird it was found that it was not a shot, but found in the duck's body, and it simply died from fright.

The Virginia Lumber company is establishing new logging camps up their railway and many men are finding employment. A new camp has been established on 4, 33-19, the old camp No. 33 having been abandoned, but the office is there yet.

The city has received the elegant new furniture which has been placed in the city hall, thus furnishing the clerk's office, municipal court and council chambers. The clerk's office is provided with desks and railing and high screen. The council room has a large elevated desk for the president of the council, the mayor and the clerk, while the five aldermen have individual desks. Judge Nelson now has an elaborate bench. In his room is also the lawyer's and stenographer's desks and there has also been provided a jury box. The furniture is all highly polished oak and is certainly a beautiful set, and quite different from the old style hard made affair used by city officials since 1883. Virginia is certainly getting metropolitan in more ways than one.

At the firemen's tournament held at Eveleth last month, there were some keen contests and Eveleth won the lion's share of prizes. The year before, the tournament was held at Grand Rapids and there Eveleth did not contest, merely sending representative firemen to attend. But this year Eveleth competed with several outside fire departments, among them Cass Lake which won most of the contests the year before. W. H. Murry, the chief of the department, had brought his men up to a degree of proficiency which was decidedly commendable.

Three pictures of the Eveleth team in action in contests which they won are shown herewith and in connection with them the time should be considered so that something of an idea of the efficiency of the men may be understood.

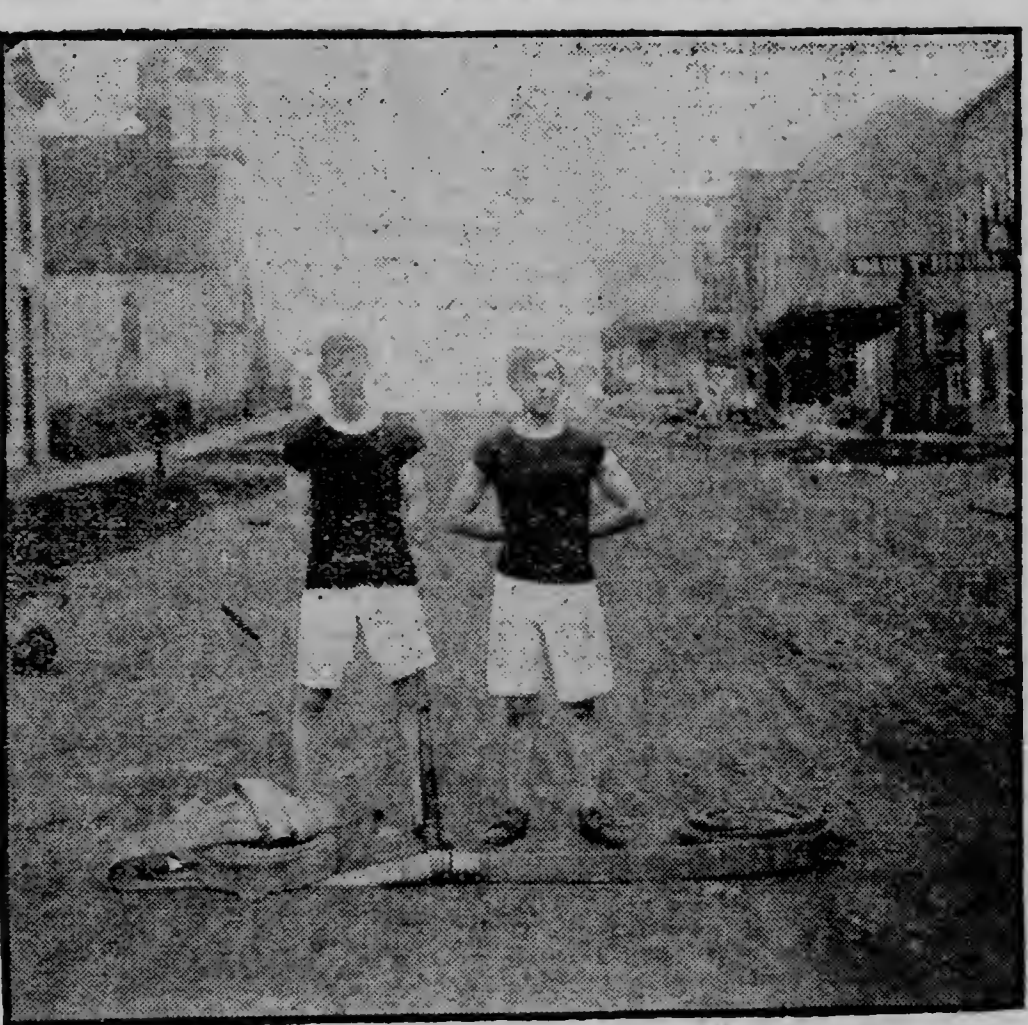

For instance in the first picture which is that of Edward Hatch of the Eveleth department winning the ladder climbing contest, the time he used in scaling a 74-foot ladder was eight seconds. The picture shows him going up the ladder.

McDunna and Trevarrow footing it and Chief Murry, Elsworth, Murphy and C. B. Hole raising it. From the time the men started to raise the ladder until Hatch was at the top only twenty-three seconds were used.

BEARS SHOT AT LAKEWOOD

CHARLES CHARTIES AND FAMILY AND THREE BEARS, KILLED BY THEM NEAR LAKEWOOD.

It was not until all the children in the neighborhood had been scared nearly to death and the bears had been shot, that the successful bear hunt at the Lakewood pumping station, which was recorded by The Herald Tuesday, was held.

The successful hunter was Charles Charties, assistant engineer at the city pumping station. When his trusty weapon had finished speaking, as they say in the Indian tales, three bears were shot. The first was a male, and the other two were females.

The following of the cattle told the residents of the neighborhood that something was wrong and the first thing that suggested itself to the mind was a bear. So everyone rushed home for a gun and the hunt was on.

To Charties, however, all of the honors for it was he that killed old mother Bruin and her cubs. It was a husky family, as the accompanying pictures taken for The Herald by William Palmer, show.

BRANCH LABORATORY OF STATE HEALTH BOARD

Established in Duluth at Request of Health Commissioner Murray—Valuable Work It Will Perform.

Diphtheria "bugs" have but a small show for getting a start in Duluth, now that Duluth's health commissioner, Dr. D. D. Murray has got his laboratory and his staff of assistants in the city.

The laboratory is located in St. Mary's hospital, which is a branch of the laboratory conducted by the state board of health at St. Paul. Formerly all diphtheria cultures had to be sent to St. Paul for analysis, and it required two or three days before the decision was reached.

The laboratory, which is a branch of the laboratory conducted by the state board of health at St. Paul, is now in the city. It is a well-equipped laboratory, and it is expected that it will be of great value to the city.

School Life.

Off to school in the morning;
Back to our homes at night;
Nothing to do the live-long day
But study, learn and recite.

Oh, yes, there's recess in the forenoon;
And an hour for luncheon, you know;
And recess again in the P. M.;
Then off to our homes we go.

So the hours bring changes,
A medley of study and play;
And the school-child's life is full of fun
From dawn to the close of day.

ANNA MAY.

When Riot Reigned in the Pigeon Flats.

BY MAUD WALKER.

It was early in the spring that Hal Blake built the "Pigeon Flats." They were erected in the branches of a great, dead tree which stood in the center of the back yard overlooking the garden, poultry coops and barnyard.

All spring and summer peace and contentment reigned in these "Flats" occupied by Mrs. White and her little white ones—the first floor—Madame Dove and her fledglings on the second floor. But in the fall a dispute had arisen which seemed destined to terminate in a life-long feud between these two pigeon families. One morning when Hal Blake was feeding the Whites and the Doves one of the Dove children—Pig by name—attacked one of the White children—Dovey by name—and took from him a tender morsel of food just as that hungry fellow was getting it well into his beak to swallow. Now, as the Dove child's name would indicate, he was a glutton and a selfish fellow and was known throughout the barnyard as "That Pig Pigeon." His daily habit was to not only eat his own share of the food thrown to them, but to take by force from the beak of that belonging to his brothers and sisters. This conduct on his part had continued with no interference save an occasional mild reprimand from his mother, who did not always see the doing of her son "Pig."

But this morning of which I tell you, Pig had tried his robbing scheme on Dovey White, a playfellow, and, till now, a friend. But Pig soon found that it was not such an easy thing to take the

I say. Mind your own business!" "Too-bad-you-didn't—teach—your—son—to-and-his-own-business," screamed the old parrot. "If you had he wouldn't now be laid-up with a bum-lamp! Ha, ha!"

Just at this moment, and as old Pol sat bustling with laughter, Mrs. White flew up to Madame Dove's perch to inquire after Pig. She was an amiable pigeon and felt no animosity toward her neighbors on account of the children's little squabble. But Madame Dove, being vexed by the taunts of old Pol Parrot, and feeling in a bad humor, scowled upon her lower-story neighbor, and, supposing she had come to thrust an argument upon her regarding her son Pig's bad conduct, said:

"Mrs. White, I wish to have nothing to say to you. I shall stand by my son in this matter. I am forced to tell you that our acquaintance is at an end. After today my children and I do not know the beings who live in the flat beneath us." Then Madame Dove withdrew her head from the window with a toss.

"Gee-whizz!" screamed Pol Parrot. "We are not grapes!" And so the war was on between the two families of flat pigeons. At last things came to such a pass that Blake began to observe the existing enmity. When he fed the pigeons he noticed the children of the opposing families would rush upon each other in great fury and peck at one another's eyes most viciously. Even Madame Dove and Mrs. White, when coming to their offspring's assistance, would get into altercations of food from an outsider as it had been to Pol his own brothers and sisters. When he got into one of these fights, he would be gobbled up—or I should say down—by the whole lot that Dovey was just beginning to taste. Mr. Pig Pigeon found trouble on his wings. Dovey flew at him and gave him a peck right in the eye close to the eye, and in another instant a spot of red blood flowed. Then in the melee which followed fast and furious Pig lost a great many of his fine, white eye feathers and very sprightly in his movements and in a short time had caused his antagonist to "give up."

The two excited youngsters buried their respective sons to their flats in the tree where they were put to bed and where Dovey received a severe scolding from his young mother who had not even the cause of the fight.

Now, this childish matter might have blown over had it not been for an old parrot who was sitting on his perch in the back yard and who had been an interested spectator of the little "flap." The old parrot, half-crazy, old, and very old, was named Pol. He was a glutton and a selfish fellow and was known throughout the barnyard as "That Pig Pigeon." His daily habit was to not only eat his own share of the food thrown to them, but to take by force from the beak of that belonging to his brothers and sisters. This conduct on his part had continued with no interference save an occasional mild reprimand from his mother, who did not always see the doing of her son "Pig."

their own and fly at each other's heads in anger, pulling out neck feathers till the air about them was full of flying down. The sparrows made good use of these pigeon broils by swooping down during a conflict and helping themselves to the food that Hal had scattered about them. This conduct on the part of the birds was not at all unusual. But one day things came to a crisis. Hal Blake flew into the tree and held the "Pigeon Flats" in place. His little sister, seeing what was about, asked his son for doing so.

"Those pigeons are a bad lot," explained Hal. "They fight continually. I'm going to sell those flats to Frank Thompson for his pigeons. As for these pigeons—I'll give them to whoever wants them. I won't keep a lot of fighting-cock pigeons with crippled feet and wings, and sore eyes about the place. If they want them, let them come. I don't want them. They're like nuisance people—they're a nuisance when a long way off."

But that morning there had been a fight between the two families. Madame Dove, sitting in their flats, heard what Hal told his sister. When Hal began tearing away the nails holding the flats in place he had attempted to frighten from their respective apartments the two pigeons who were the worst of it. So, there they hovered in their cozy quarters, preferring to have the house pulled down over their heads rather than being disturbed.

their peace of mind concerning the future. Here in the Blake yard they had been bounteously fed and splendidly housed. No dogs nor cats came there to menace their safety.

"I'll not let a trifle like a family quarrel ruin my future prospects," said Mrs. White emphatically, as Hal left the tree to go to the house in quest of a saw to help him in his work of flat destruction. Then she flew to the porch of Madame Dove, who had come out to call her children from the roof of the barn, where they were sunning themselves preparatory for the noonday flight, which occurred regularly now. When the two pigeon ladies' eyes met there was a look of reconciliation passed from one to the other. Madame Dove was the first to speak. She said: "Shall we be friends again, Mrs. White?"

"It will be agreeable to me," confessed Mrs. White. "In fact, I never did relish quarreling. But, we'll not allude to the past. I shall call my children and instruct them accordingly. There must be no animosity between our youngsters henceforth."

"You are a noble bird," admitted Madame Dove. "I confess that my son Pig and myself were in the wrong. I shall now call my children and give them their orders. You call yours up here and we'll have a bit of a reunion."

So both mothers called to their flocks and pretty soon all were hovered closely

A Story of An Old Tramp.

BY FRANCIS MARIAN.

"Let's have a walk through the park this morning, sister," said Lucy to Ethel May as they started to school one morning. It was early in the fall and the novelty of going to school had not yet worn off, and each morning the little girls were out of bed just as the old sun was setting the example of rising, and were the first down to breakfast. Then they would set out for school early enough to take the "long cut" through the pretty city park, where they would gather ferns and autumn leaves for Teacher's desk.

As they were strolling along one of the busy thoroughfares at this early hour—Lucy suddenly drew her sister's attention to the sorry figure of an old man seated on one of the park benches. From his tattered clothes and unkempt, dejected appearance the girls supposed him to be a tramp.

"Isn't it awful," said Lucy, "that the park authorities allow such old tramps in here? Really, their coming and sitting here prevents decent people from enjoying what rightfully belongs to them. The citizens of this city park, but the old vagrants and tramps drive them cheeks and the sound of flying hoofs deafened their ears.

"Oh—on—on for your life!" shrieked Lucy to Ethel May, who seemed to be loosing speed. But just at the instant when she urged her sister to make fresh effort, Lucy's ankle gave way—she stumbled and fell face downward in the very middle of the road.

Ethel May grasped the danger of the situation instantly, but she would not leave her sister to be trampled to death. She would do her utmost to save Lucy even though her attempt could be nothing short of madness and mean only death to them both. Stooping over the prostrate Lucy to raise her to her feet Ethel May felt that their fates were sealed, for now the runaway was almost upon them. She closed her eyes and a numbness laid hold of her limbs, but at that instant two quick hands, made strong for the moment, seized the two girls and dragged them to the very edge of the road under shelter of the hedge. And at the very instant the maddened horses dashed over the spot where the two sisters had been, sleeping so close to them at the roadside that the wheels of the rocking vehicle came within an inch of Lucy's feet that stretched towards the road.

Fully a minute passed before the girls could realize what had happened. They sat in the grass and rubbed their faces, breathing as though their hearts would burst forth from their breasts. Then they gradually came to their senses and and so, together on Madame Dove's porch, when out came Hal with saw and hammer in hand. When he saw the friendly gathering he was much amazed, and stopped short, peering at his lips into a long whistle. "Well, well," he said, "I guess I would better try them a little longer. Maybe they have fought it out and are now inclined to live peaceably. I'll wait till after the next feeding time, for it is then they display their warlike propensities."

When old Pol Parrot saw the new order of things, he screeched, "Cowards—cowards!" But Madame Dove only looked at old Pol and smiled. "Oh, you spiteful old bird, you can't work us up to fighting any more just to entertain your depraved taste. We have learned enough of you and your breed to hatter. Henceforth my dear friend and brother, I shall have no cause of complaint against me and mine: and if that bad Pig of mine dares to—"

"Mamma," pleaded Pig. "I am sorry for my past conduct. If I may only have another chance I may live down my misdeeds by reformation."

"Too true," admitted Madame Dove. "I'll name you 'Dine,' which name will signify that its owner divides his last morsel of food with his family and friends. Now, let me charge you to live true to your name."

And so peace and contentment reigned once more in "Pigeon Flats," where descendants of the Whites and the Doves live to this day. For this is a true story.

away by their presence.

"I agree with you, sister," said Ethel May. "Now, who would wish to sit here—and in the prettiest part of the park, too—with that old tramp in such close proximity?"

Ethel May said this and her sister passed so close to the old man to question that he plainly overheard their remarks. Involuntarily he straightened himself up and drew his dilapidated coat across his breast to hide the soiled and ragged shirtfront. A flush dyed his pale cheeks and a new sadness shone in his eyes.

But Madame Dove only looked at old Pol and smiled. "Oh, you spiteful old bird, you can't work us up to fighting any more just to entertain your depraved taste. We have learned enough of you and your breed to hatter. Henceforth my dear friend and brother, I shall have no cause of complaint

EXTRAORDINARY RAINS CAUSE SUDDEN FLOODS

Mississippi River Rises Ten Feet In Twenty-Four Hours. Heavy Damage Done Along Water Front at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Sept. 18.—Heavy rains and swollen tributaries have caused a rise of over ten feet in the Mississippi river during the past twenty-four hours, and resulted in damage along the St. Louis river front amounting to many thousands of dollars. A vast amount of produce and other shipping property along the levee is still in danger. The river stage this afternoon had reached 28.68 feet, a sudden rise of 10.05 feet in twenty-four hours. The danger line is thirty-five feet. The water is gradually creeping up, and it is predicted that by nightfall the gauge will show a stage of twenty-eight feet. Washouts at various places in Missouri caused the annihilation today of five trains due here. They were the Texas accommodation of the M. & K. T., two trains due from Kansas City, on the Missouri Pacific, and two trains due from the West, on the Missouri Pacific. Trains on the Iron Mountain and Burlington systems were one hour or more late in arriving.

THE POLICE GRAPPLE WITH ANOTHER MURDER

The Body of an Unknown Woman Found In "Hell's Kitchen," New York.

New York, Sept. 18.—In the discovery of the body of a woman huddled underneath the rear steps of a big tenement at 240 West Thirty-second street, today, the police believed they had evidence of another murder. The victim, whose name was unknown, was about thirty years old and evidently in poor circumstances. The clothing was torn and her face bruised and there were marks of violence about the throat which aroused the suspicions of the police. When the body was lifted from the street and taken to the morgue, the head was found to be broken. The body was found in a rooming house, and the police are now searching for the woman's relatives. FRICITION BETWEEN CZAR AND SULTAN Constantinople, Sept. 18.—The steady progress of work in new fortifications on the Bosphorus is causing friction between the Russians and the Turks. The fortifications were hastily completed at the time of the Russian occupation of Constantinople, Turkey, and are now being improved. The Russians are now completing the fortifications, and the Turks are now completing the fortifications. AN INSANE ASYLUM WITHOUT LOCKS OR BARS.

Teoria, Ill., Sept. 18.—The asylum for incurable insane at South Bartonville is now without lock and bars, the last one having been removed by Superintendent Zeller. This is in accordance with a step long in contemplation by Dr. Zeller, who has become convinced that more can be accomplished by kindness than by forcible restraint. The inmates now enjoy a large personal liberty and the effect has been apparent in a noticeable improvement in their conduct.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON HURT

Thrown From Horse While Riding In Front of King Edward. King Reviews 40,000 Scotchmen Under Arms at Edinburgh.

Edinburgh, Sept. 18.—The greatest muster of Scotchmen under arms since the battle of Flodden Field was reviewed by King Edward here today. The king arrived at the Scottish capital this morning, and proceeded to Holyrood palace, whence attended by the duke of Connaught and a brilliant staff he rode to the parade ground in Kinn's park where nearly 40,000 Scotch volunteers marched past his majesty. Enormous numbers of visitors from all parts of Scotland and the north of England witnessed the review, which is expected to assist in counteracting the extreme irritation felt in volunteer circles over recent worrying regulations of the war office.

NORWEGIANS AGAIN DENY

The Reports of Mobilization of Troops on Frontier. Declare No Military Preparations Have Been Made.

Christiania, Sept. 18.—Another semi-official denial of the renewed charges of a Norwegian mobilization of troops was issued in this morning's Swedish papers. It declared that Norway has made no military preparations, except such as were absolutely necessary from a defensive point of view, and that the report that practically all the troops in Central Norway and in the frontier districts have been mobilized is unfounded.

KEPT TWO FAMILIES ON $12 PER WEEK

New York, Sept. 18.—John Grady, a longshoreman, earning $12 a week, was arrested, yesterday, in Brooklyn charged with bigamy. It was found, according to the complaint of his first wife, that he was maintaining a second wife, and that he was living with her in a rooming house. Grady was released on bail, and is expected to appear in court tomorrow.

SECTION THIRTY TO BE OPENED UP FOR MINING

Great Northern Railroad Will Extend Its Tracks to Vermilion Range.

The announcement is made that an option for a lease of the famous Section 30, near Elly, has been secured by A. M. Chisholm and Edward Lynch of this city. They visited the property last week, in company with D. M. Phillin, assistant general superintendent of the Great Northern, who has charge of the ore traffic of that road. N. McDonald, of the drill contract, and Thomas H. Merritt, who has recently been in charge of the explorations on the Vermilion range, were also present. The property, and took samples of the ore. This afternoon, Messrs. Chisholm, Phillin and Lynch will leave again for the property, and if they find that the drift of ore comes up to the claims that have been made, they will have had charge of the exploration, the option for the lease will be closed, and preparations made to open up the mine without delay.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS ROASTED BY GRAND JURY

For Dilatory Tactics in Relation to New Courthouse. Recommends Action Against Grocers and Butchers.

The Reports Show Satisfactory Increase in Membership. The Patriarchs Militant Are Lagging Behind Somewhat.

Philadelphia, Sept. 18.—Disagreeable weather conditions marked the formal opening today of the eighty-first annual session of the grand jury of the county of Philadelphia. The initial exercises were held in the grand jury room, which was crowded with public officials, paying special attention to the alleged bad moral condition of the town during a recent carnival. The grand jury, which has been in session for the past week, criticized the board of county commissioners for its dilatory tactics in the matter of a new county courthouse, and recommended that the county attorney proceed by civil action to recover from Mr. Kugler the cost of the tollhouse which he had built on Frank Max's farm, when the latter was his road foreman, denounced in no unmeasured terms the conduct of the village affairs in the village of Cheltenham in general by the public officials, and recommended that the state and county proceed against the town during a recent carnival.

SECTION THIRTY TO BE OPENED UP FOR MINING

Great Northern Railroad Will Extend Its Tracks to Vermilion Range.

The announcement is made that an option for a lease of the famous Section 30, near Elly, has been secured by A. M. Chisholm and Edward Lynch of this city. They visited the property last week, in company with D. M. Phillin, assistant general superintendent of the Great Northern, who has charge of the ore traffic of that road. N. McDonald, of the drill contract, and Thomas H. Merritt, who has recently been in charge of the explorations on the Vermilion range, were also present. The property, and took samples of the ore. This afternoon, Messrs. Chisholm, Phillin and Lynch will leave again for the property, and if they find that the drift of ore comes up to the claims that have been made, they will have had charge of the exploration, the option for the lease will be closed, and preparations made to open up the mine without delay.

A TRAIN LEAVES TRACK IN TUNNEL

Twelve Persons Injured on the New York Central Road.

New York, Sept. 18.—One car of an express train bound for Boston was overturned today in the New York Central tunnel and twelve passengers were reported to be injured. The accident was said to have been caused by an open switch and occurred near Fifty-sixth street, just after the train had left the Grand Central station.

The tunnel at the point where the wreck occurred is open to the street above so that there was plenty of light and air and no repetition of the distressing scenes of the wreck in the tunnel a few years ago.

The injured were placed on the cars which were not derailed and the train was pulled back into the station. Though the passengers in the derailed car were thrown about violently when the car went off, no one was fatally injured. Many were badly bruised and some were said to have broken limbs. The railroad officials hurried a hundred laborers to the scene and the rails and sleepers which had been torn up for fifty feet were promptly relaid. Within an hour after the accident the tracks were cleared. The train was the Boston express on the New York, New Haven & Hartford road leaving this city for Boston, at noon, via Springfield and thence over the Boston & Albany road.

TO REDUCE SCHOOL TAX

Prospect of Decrease of One Mill in the School Rate.

Shorter School Year and Increased Valuation Allow This.

A cut of one mill will be probably be made in the levy for school purposes, which will be fixed by the Board of Education at the meeting on October 1. The members of the board have been talking matters over unofficially among themselves, and it is understood that some reduction, probably amounting to about one mill, will be made in the rate this year, as compared with the rate last year.

Last year the board fixed its levy at $225,000, which amounted to almost eleven mills on the assessed valuation of the city. Of this amount about $218,000 was required for the general fund, $4,000 for the sinking fund and about $3,000 for the building fund. Allowance was made for uncollected taxes, bringing the total fund up to $225,000.

This year the chances are that the rate can be reduced. The school year has been shortened to nine months, and the teachers receive nine months' pay for nine months' work. In place of ten months' pay for nine and a half months' work, this will effect a saving of something like $20,000.

Against this item, however, there will be an increase in the salaries of the number of new teachers who have been added to the list to take care of the increased attendance at the schools.

Last year the rate was eight mills for the general fund, two mills for the sinking fund and one mill for the building fund. The saving in teachers' salaries should allow of some reduction in the rate. This year, however, it is likely that the rate will be cut down to 10 mills or possibly lower.

Another item that will figure in the rate this year, is the fact that the increased assessment will be a circular mill. Last year a mill was productive of approximately $29,000, whereas this year, with the increase in the assessed valuation of the city property, a mill is worth over $30,000.

LeRougeau, president of the board, when asked this morning whether or not anything definite was known concerning the rate, replied in the negative.

The rate will not be fixed until our meeting on Oct. 1, he said. "I do not know anything definite yet concerning it, beyond the fact that it is not likely to be increased."

There are a number of things to be considered, such as the saving in teachers' salaries, the requirements of the building fund, and the provision we will make for the cutting down of it cannot tell what the board will decide on, until we talk it over in the meeting.

Dr. Charles L. Gidding, president of the board, stated that there was a good prospect of the rate being cut down a mill this year, owing to the decrease in maintenance expenses, and the increased value of the property.

Last year the rate was boosted two mills. The funds of the board were in bad shape, and the board was having a ten-month year, the expenses were very heavy. This year, however, the board starts off with the funds in better shape, and the conditions are favorable for the cutting down of it, at least a part of the increase made last year.

PERSONALITIES NOT DISCUSSED

President Ramsey Refrains From Speaking of Gould Financing.

New York, Sept. 18.—President Joseph Ramsey of the Wabash Railway company was at his desk in the Wabash offices today. Mr. Ramsey said that he wanted to keep away from personalities in this campaign for Wabash stockholders. "I want to say," Mr. Ramsey said, "that I am not backed by any array of strong interests that are inimical to the Wabash and to Wabash stockholders. I am not going into this fight backed by anybody but Wabash stockholders."

"I would rather not discuss the Gould financing of the Wabash. I don't want to go into personalities, and when you discuss a man's finances you sometimes go into personalities."

Mr. Ramsey was asked about the report of the disposition of the Little Kanawha properties, of the syndicate controlling which he is in charge. All that he would say about this was that the properties had not actually been transferred and he would not say whether there had been an agreement to sell. He added that if he had agreed to sell he would keep his word.

Asked what Wabash would do with the Little Kanawha he said: "This is a broad country and a railroad does require so much room, so that Wabash is not confined to the one route. It might be a better and less expensive route but another could undoubtedly be got. You know it was said that Wabash could never get into Pittsburg, but she got in all right. And I guess she can get out, too."

Company Files Answer.

The Duluth & Northern Railway company, which has been sued by Andrew Johnson and seven other settlers, who seek to recover for certain poles, ties and timber which they allege, it has taken, has filed an answer in district court denying knowledge sufficient to form belief that the parties are owners of the timber claimed. The company asks that the suit be dismissed without costs as to itself.

BIDS OPENED FOR BUILDING

Duluth Electrical and Construction Company Makes Lowest.

The Duluth Electrical and Construction company has been recommended to the chief of United States engineers for the contract for the construction of the new government engineers' building at the Duluth ship canal, on a bid of $18,379, the lowest out of seventeen bids opened by Maj. Potter this noon.

Out of the $275,000 appropriation for harbor improvement about $17,000 is available for this building, the plans for which called for a structure costing from $15,000 to $20,000.

The bid of the Duluth Electrical and Construction company was $21 below that of the next nearest competitor, J. A. Robert, Duluth, who bid $18,700. The highest bid, that of $24,000, was made by B. M. Zadeck Co., Chicago.

Following are the bidders and the amount of their bids: J. A. Robert, Duluth, $18,700; Theoph. Nauffts, Duluth, $18,200; John Grady, Duluth, $18,147; J. R. Guleley, Duluth, $17,950; Hanson Bros., Chicago, $20,544; George H. Lounsbury, Duluth, $17,350; John Donlin, Superior, $17,900; W. J. Turus Co., Chicago, $19,834; Clark Construction Co., Chicago, $21,332; B. M. Zadeck Co., Chicago, $20,000; A. Motschman, Chicago, $17,990.

CASE REACHES THE JURY.

Densmore Damage Action Completed—Adverse Possession Suit Started.

The case of John Densmore against the St. Croix Lumber company went to the jury early this afternoon. The trial lasting something over two days. In Judge Dibel's room a jury was drawn and evidence was introduced this morning. The adverse possession case of E. D. Graft against Mary McGillis, Mrs. McGillis, who is a woman well advanced in years, is occupying a lot on the lower side of Superior street between Second and Third avenues east. The title in this lot is claimed by Mrs. McGillis, who has resided on the lot for the past twenty-two years, and claims the title by reason of it.

The case of the Greenwald shoe company against A. Boneventura & Company of Hibbing, was brought for trial in Judge Cant's room this morning. As there was no appearance on the part of the defendants or their attorney, the jury was waived and the case went to trial before the court, judgment being rendered for the shoe company just as L. Power, attorney for A. Boneventura & Company made his appearance. Mr. Power explained his delay was due to a misapprehension of the case, and until this afternoon to prepare affidavits to be used in connection with a motion to have the judgment set aside and a new trial granted.

INCORPORATES NEW CONCERN

Company Organizes to Manufacture Butter and Cheese.

Duluth is to have another new enterprise, a creamery, which, it is understood, is to depend largely on the milk supply from the country surrounding Duluth.

Articles of the Duluth Creamery company were filed with the county register of deeds this morning by Martin Solle of Two Harbors and Edward F. Wagner, John Solle and John Gillman of this city, as incorporators. The concern is capitalized at $50,000, with a limitation of indebtedness to the extent of $25,000. It purposes to manufacture butter, cheese and other dairy products.

Martin Solle is president, E. F. Wagner secretary, and John Solle is treasurer of the creamery company. It is understood that among the stockholders in the new enterprise are a number of outside creamery men.

WESSINGER IS BACK IN TOWN

Chief Engineer of Oliver Company Returns From Eastern Trip.

H. J. Wessinger, chief engineer of the Oliver Gold Mining company, returned to Duluth today after an extended stay in the East. He was in his office bright and early this morning, and was closeted all day with other officials of the company, including President Cole.

Although it is known that he went East on business, the length of his stay and the reticence of other officers of the company indicated that his mission was one of more than usual importance. Rumors regarding the purchase by the company of some new and expensive mining machinery have been afloat during Mr. Wessinger's absence, and he may have closed the deal. It was also rumored that he was purchasing equipment for the company's new shops at Hibbing.

Mr. Wessinger was so busy all day today that he could not be seen regarding these rumors, but other officials of the concern, before his return, denied the rumors.

TWIN CITY REALTY MEN SEE SIGHTS OF DULUTH

Inspection of St. Louis River Water Power Makes Great Impression.

Go Over Proposition and Realize Its Immensity—Saturday's Dinner.

After spending two days at the Head of the Lakes, and viewing the riches of the region, the real estate dealers of the Twin Cities left Duluth for their homes last evening. They were tired, but happy, because, in the short length of time that they were in this part Lakes region than they had ever been before. For many of them it was their first visit over the iron ranges, and, of course, they all saw the water power developments on the St. Louis river for the first time yesterday.

"In one way I am glad we are all going back tonight," said Lester B. Elwood, a prominent Minneapolis real estate dealer, last evening. "I think if we stayed much longer and saw many more things, we would want to remain in Duluth indefinitely, and that would make Minneapolis and St. Paul feel terribly."

But none of the outsiders seemed to be jealous of Duluth's advantages, for as one speaker declared at the dinner given for the visitors at the Commercial club, Saturday evening, these riches belong to the entire state of Minnesota, and every citizen has a right to be proud of them.

The Twin City men were impressed, instructed and interested by everything they saw, and the members of the local real estate exchange feel that and enjoyed a tasty breakfast at the Commercial club before leaving on the special train for the ranges, at 7:30. The train started on time, and reached each stopping place almost on the minute scheduled. The party drank in information and interesting sights at every turn, and returned to Duluth late in the afternoon impressed with the richness and the importance of Minnesota's iron deposits. The big mines at Mountain Iron, Evelevik and Biwabik were inspected, and the giant ore docks at Two Harbors were visited. The party arrived in Duluth in time to afford all a chance of resting and preparing for the dinner.

THE GREAT WATER POWER.

Makes Greatest Impression of Entire Trip on the Visitors.

What, when completed, will be the greatest water power in the country with the exception of Niagara, was visited yesterday afternoon by the members of the Duluth Real Estate exchange, their fellow dealers from Minneapolis, St. Paul and Superior and a number of local business men and of the things they saw this impressed the visitors most.

The party was shown the developments from the head of the rapids and the sight of the reservoir on the St. Louis river at Thomson, to the point further down the river where the torrents of water will pour over a sheer embankment several hundred feet high, and furnish power enough for a great volume of manufacturing.

This was what the members of yesterday's party saw. Not from a car window or the top of a stage coach but from the ground itself. They stood in the middle of a pretty meadow which by the first of next July will be filled with water and constitute the reservoir; they inspected the dam and gates in the course of construction at a point almost in the river and they traversed through the mud for several miles following the route of the canal and the huge tubes which will conduct the water to the embankment where it will fall into the river of which it was once a part.

The day was somewhat cloudy but at least cool. The mud was fairly deep. The sight of about 350 well dressed and well groomed civilians marching in Indian file through muddy gullies, deep cuts, narrow paths, over the hills and far away was an unusual one, but so was the Great Northern Development company's operations. No one regretted having started from Duluth on the special train at 1:30.

Most of those in the party heard C. C. Cokefair's talk upon the company's work, and the water power, at the banquet Saturday evening; had read something of it in Saturday night's Herald, or from time to time, but when they had looked over the operations themselves, they were far more impressed by their magnitude and their importance than ever before. It seemed rather strange to some of them that they were looking over construction work which is to result in a water power greater than all except Niagara, but they did realize all of it, and eagerly drank in all the explanations which C. C. Cokefair, his son, F. A. Cokefair, chief engineer of the Great Northern Power company, and others gave.

Members of the St. Paul delegation felt that they were looking at something which the state capital, for all its river and big hills, can never have, and the Minneapolisians thought that their own falls of St. Anthony was in about the same class with Minnehaha in comparison with the grandeur of which will be hurried through the California redwood and steel pipes into the frothy little St. Louis river.

The train arrived at Thomson a little later than scheduled, and everyone disembarked for the purpose of looking over the upper end of the improvements. The visitors inspected the big dam and gates, in the course of construction, and marveled at the engineering problems which the planning of the reservoir in the nearby field involved.

Led by Whitney Wall, secretary of the Duluth Real Estate exchange, and C. C. Cokefair of the Great Northern Power company, the sight-seeing 350 made their way to the very center of the reservoir, mounted what the writers of Indian tales call a "bird's nest," and viewed the neighborhood.

The reservoir is surrounded by hills and at every place where there is a valley deeper than the level of the water, the engineers who designed the reservoir, said that the water would be put in. This reservoir alone was a great sight, particularly from the point where the water will fall into the reservoir, and the minds of many were naturally more or less excited.

As soon as the inspection of the reservoir had been completed, the party boarded the train, but not until it had looked over the upper end of the improvements. The visitors inspected the big dam and gates, in the course of construction, and marveled at the engineering problems which the planning of the reservoir in the nearby field involved.

The ride to the minefield post, from Thomson, was a short one and the party quitted the coaches for the long walk down the route of the canal and the tube line to the river. A man, in his march to the sea, could hardly have paused every five minutes to look at the contractors' work on the canal and watch the water released by the gates of the dam, and the assistance of a giant mogul, the surrounding place were interesting at close range, too, and no one regretted having come, although the mud was annoyingly deep at times.

The path taken by the leaders took the spectators along the very edge of the canal, which will carry the water released by the gates of the dam at Thomson down to the pipes, which will convey it over the river bank several hundred feet below.

When the redwood pipes were reached, the leader started to walk through one of them and, of course, the others did the same. This was rather a novel experience and gave everyone an excellent idea of the construction and size of the tubes. Three of these are being built, and the ultimate development has been made, there will be eight.

The last walk through mud, over expensive rosewood planks and through underbrush brought the party to the high bank over which the water will go to the power house and the lively little river again.

The descent was a very steep one and many were suggested that the members be roped together, a la Alpine climbing. This suggestion, however, was acted upon there would have been no regret. No better idea of the fall which the water will have could be given than by having the visitors pile over the cliff themselves.

For half an hour after the leaders had reached the site of the power house at the foot, they came slipping and sliding down the face of the cliff. For half an hour after the leaders had reached the site of the power house at the foot, they came slipping and sliding down the face of the cliff. After the visit over the ground, the visitors were better able to appreciate the magnitude of the development company's undertaking, and what its result on the community will be. When all had alighted from the train at West Duluth, Lester B. Elwood of Minneapolis, in a neat speech, proposed the state, their eyes were opened to more things than two years' residence in those rattling good cities, Minneapolis and St. Paul, had shown them. The visitors were delighted with the entertainment provided for them by their brethren of the Duluth Real Estate exchange. They left the Twin Cities Friday night, with the intention of having a good time, and when they left last evening they were unanimous in declaring that their stay had been more pleasant and interesting even than they had anticipated. They went away more impressed with the importance and wealth of the Head of the

For the Little Ones

To Keep Their Digestion Perfect
Nothing is so Safe and Pleasant as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

Thousands of men and women have found Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets the safest and most reliable preparation for any form of indigestion or stomach trouble.

Thousands of people who are not sick, but are well and wish to keep well, take Stuart's Tablets after every meal to insure perfect digestion and avoid trouble.

But it is not generally known that the Tablets are just as good and wholesome for little folks as for their elders.

Little children who are pale, thin and have no appetite, or do not grow or thrive, should use the Tablets after eating and will derive great benefit from them.

Mrs. G. A. Crisley, 828 Washington St., Hoboken, New Jersey, writes: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets just fill the bill for children as well as for older folks. I've had the best of luck with them. My three-year-old girl takes them as readily as candy. I have only to say 'Tablets' and she drops everything else and runs for them."

A Buffalo mother, a short time ago, who despaired of the life of her babe, was so delighted with the results from giving the child these Tablets that she went before the notary public of Erie Co., N. Y., and made the following affidavit:

Georgetown: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were recommended to me for my two-month-old baby, which was sick and puny and the doctor said was suffering from indigestion. I took the child to the hospital, but there found no relief. A friend mentioned the Stuart Tablets and I procured a box from my druggist and used only the large sweet lozenges in the box and was delighted to find they were just the thing for my baby. I feel justified in saying that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets saved my child's life.

Mrs. W. T. Dittmore, Subscribed and sworn to before me this 12th day of April, 1907.

Notary Public in and for Erie Co., N. Y.

For babies, no matter how young or delicate, the Tablets will accomplish wonders in increasing flesh, appetite and growth. Use only the large sweet lozenges in every box. Full-sized boxes are sold by all druggists for 50 cents, and no parent should neglect the use of this safe remedy for all stomach and bowel troubles in the child, or adults in any way regarding its food or assimilation.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been known for years as the best preparation for all stomach troubles whether in adults or infants.

DULUTH'S GREAT FUTURE.

C. C. Cokefair Gives Some Inking of It at Saturday's Dinner.

C. C. Cokefair, promoter of the Great Northern Power company, which is undertaking the control of the swift waters of the St. Louis river a few miles above Duluth, was the principal speaker at the informal dinner given for the visiting real estate dealers by the Duluth exchange at the Commercial club Saturday evening.

We Duluthians have a right to brag about this water power, for it will be the greatest in the world with the exception of Niagara, said the speaker. "For the largest water wheels in the world are being built, and at Thomson the largest dam in the Northwest is being built of concrete. Your trip tomorrow will show what work has been done on these improvements and give you a better idea of the entire situation and plan better than I, but at the same time I am going to tell you something of it."

"Eight mammoth water wheels will be utilized in developing this power, and when it has been completed, ours will be the largest power station in the world. The generators will be capable of producing 10,000 horse power each, and the first day of next July will see the system in operation, giving Duluth one of the most glorious Fourth of July feasts ever experienced."

"Perhaps I am saying too much now, but I think I can give you Twin City men a hint of something that will interest you. I think that within two or three years Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth will be bound together more closely than ever before, and that the running time between the points will be reduced an hour and a half or two hours. I mean by this, the construction of an electric line to connect with the street railway systems of the Twin Cities and the Head of the Lakes, or the institution of electric power on one of the steam roads. This change is practically assured."

This water power project is not solely one of Eastern capital, for many Duluth men are interested in it. The Easterners wanted to see the local men interested in a project which involved the expenditure of so much money. So you see that Duluth has a double interest in the water power.

It will take a short trip with you over the development which you will visit tomorrow. You will leave on the special train at 1:30 and arrive a short time afterward at Thomson, where the largest dam in the Northwest is being constructed. There will be eight or ten retaining dams, and the big one is two-thirds finished.

You will also see the big reservoir, from which the water will be conducted through the canal and on to the powerhouse. Some of this contract work must be completed this summer, however. There has been very much rain, but not enough to seriously hinder the work. But we have had a hard time getting men, although the work has not been unusual and the pay has been good. Those who have been working on the water power have been receiving two dollars a day.

"Time and again, we have brought up men from the Twin Cities and they would stay some time ago, my son went to St. Paul and Minneapolis and in about two days, secured a large crew. Their fares were paid to Thomson and they arrived all right one afternoon, but the next morning, only a handful of them were left."

"At this point in his talk, Mr. Cokefair interpolated a number of humorous stories. These were much enjoyed and his remarks about the water power were given much attention, for everyone present was looking forward with interest to the trip."

Mr. Miller made a very happy speech and one that made everyone as good as contented himself. He declared that for years in Duluth, he talked about water. At public gatherings he had been asked to talk about the harbor, the canal, the lake or something and that water had become distasteful to him and that he proposed to discourse on a more congenial subject, wind. He said a great many nice things about Minneapolis, St. Paul and Superior. He coupled with his praise of Superior, several little things which you true residents of Duluth can never resist saying.

Mr. Miller also read some statistics. He gave figures from the newspapers of ten and even twenty years ago and compared them with figures concerning the city's business taken from the live journals of today. The gains were great and the hearts of the Duluthians naturally glad. In the absence of the mayor, Alderman Barnes of West Duluth, welcomed the visitors on behalf of the city.

William Henry Eugene, mayor of Minneapolis, made an eloquent speech, extolling the wealth of the Head of the Lakes country. "Wonderful," Duluth said he. "And the process of creation is still going on. There is iron in the making on the ranges. The Twin Cities are glad that it is never Minneapolis and St. Paul than Duluth."

Realizing that it is never Minneapolis and St. Paul than Duluth, the president of the St. Paul real estate exchange, responded to the address of welcome, and the president of the Duluth real estate exchange, responded to the address of welcome, and the president of the Duluth real estate exchange, responded to the address of welcome.

DEER'S BODY IN THE LAKE

Dead Buck Mistaken For Human Corpse By Two Children.

The body of a buck gave the dead wagon and the coroner a hurry-up call to Park Point at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night. It was reported to police headquarters that two children had seen the dead body of a man washing about on the shore of the Point. The coroner was rushed to his home, and accompanied by Durkan and Crawford's wagon he made a round-trip to the scene, believing it might be the body of one of the victims of the recent heavy storm on the lake.

When he reached the shore, he found the body of a dead deer floating about in the waves. The body had been skinned, and presented a gruesome sight, which was probably too much for the nerves of the children who saw it.

DRAMATIC CLUB FORMS.

Scandinavian Society Organized and Will Present Amateur Performances.

An organization which is named the Swedish Amateur Dramatic society was organized Saturday night with fifteen members, and the following were elected officers: President, U. Lindstrom; secretary, T. E. Gustafson; treasurer, J. Nylander. The other members of the organization are Misses Selma Swenson, Amanda Nelson, Emma E. Kollberg, G. Freda Swenson, Nora Strandmark, Hilda Johnson, Miss M. E. Carlson, Gus Landin, John Miller, G. G. Johnson, A. Melander and L. Deener.

Plans will be immediately made for increasing the membership and also for producing plays and other kinds of entertainment for the coming winter.

LOOKS LIKE SETTLEMENT.

Job Printers May Not Have Trouble Over New Scale.

It is very probable that there will be no strike of journeymen job printers in Duluth. Appearances indicate that the printers and the bosses are getting together on the eight-hour day and that trouble will be averted. Neither side is saying anything about the matter, however, for the reason that they do not want to have publicity, which they fear will create discussion and the progress already made in the matter of settlement consequently disturbed.

The settlement of the strike in 100 of the offices in Chicago and the general victories of the journeymen printers throughout the country where the matter has already been at issue, is having a strong influence in Duluth.

WILL BUILD CHURCH.

Norwegian-Danish M. E. Congregation to Erect a Handsome Edifice.

The Norwegian-Danish M. E. congregation of the West end is making plans toward the building of a new church, and will push the subscription work rapidly. Already $700 has been collected for the fund.

The new church is to be erected on Second or Third street and between Twenty-first and Twenty-fourth avenues west. It will be a large and quite elaborate structure.

At yesterday morning's service Rev. H. K. Madsen, the pastor, presented his annual financial report. It shows an increase of 25 full members and 22 probationers in the past year. The financial condition is excellent.

The working staff of the Ben Hur company, which played at the Lyceum all of last week, presented W. H. Longstreet, stage carpenter of the theater, with a handsome Eagles' charm on Saturday afternoon, immediately after the matinee performance. This was given to show the appreciation of the working staff of the company of the efforts of Mr. Longstreet in making things smooth for the scene men, and the efficiency shown by Mr. Longstreet and his staff.

The Ben Hur staff declares that the scenery was handled in time last that has beaten anything accomplished with the elaborate scenery of the company at any time this year.

Thomas Gosman, property man for Ben Hur, made the presentation speech, which was a very happy one. There are twenty-eight members of the working staff of the company. The charm is of gold, set on black enamel and has engraved on it, "Presented to W. H. Longstreet by the Ben Hur staff, Sept. 16, 1905."

Judge Parker Speaks of Big Funds Contributed For Campaign.

Says Many Other Corporations Were Contributors to Republicans.

ESOPUS, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Former Chief Justice Alton B. Parker, last year the Democratic candidate for president of the United States, yesterday referred to the charges made by him in the presidential campaign last fall, that corporations were being used in aid of the Republican campaign.

As a correspondent of the Associated Press, who called at Rosemount and asked him if he had anything to say in relation to the statement made by Vice President George W. Perkins of the New York Life insurance company, before the legislative committee investigating the insurance business, that the fact that President John A. McCall of that company had caused a contribution of about $50,000 to the Republican national campaign fund, Judge Parker said:

"Yes, I believe I ought to say that now that there is no political excitement to distract the public attention, that the president of the New York Life was not the only contributor."

"There are also others of great life insurance companies, such as the Equitable and Mutual Life, who also contributed for campaign purposes last year. What has been proved in the case of the New York Life was undoubtedly proved in the other cases. The facts were not only established by the public, but by the committee, which, backed by an honest committee, will undoubtedly bring them out for the public good."

"Where there is investigation of railway, telegraph and other corporations it would be found that these life insurance companies were not the only contributors who put their hands into the treasury and would have the same effect on the public mind as the public assume that when Mr. McCall unlawfully and wrongfully contributed these funds to the campaign, he was probably as a member of the underwriting syndicate it was evidence of political virtue rather than misconduct."

"The truth about it is, and I say it without feeling, but especially, that men like McCall have no political convictions that stand in the way of their financial obligations. Such men desire the triumph of the party which will better serve their personal financial interests, and will for contributions, past, present and future, continue to protect those interests by lenient legislation and by pretension at execution of law which shall be tenderly blind to all their offenses."

"That party they espouse in the board room and contribute to it of the money they hold in trust and, occasionally, a little of their own. The underlying principle which divides the great mass of the people into parties has no effect upon such men. Of course, the organization does remember its contribution for the next time. Such contributions have been made before in national, state and municipal elections. Officers responsible for these raids upon the treasuries of corporations have received their reward in unforced management of life insurance corporations; in unembarrassed raids upon the public through trusts controlled by both common and statute law; in refusal to punish criminally the officials of railway and other corporations, violating the laws and in statutory provision to members of the corporations to levy tribute upon the people."

"There can be no hope of checking the unlawful aggressions of officers of corporations, so long as they must thus form a quasi partnership with the organization of the dominant political party. For in the hour when the administration official seeks to punish the offender he is reminded by the president of the organization of the magnitude of the contributions of the organization."

"There is, however, something worse, if possible than the escape of such offenders from justice. It is the gradual demoralization of voters and the dulling of the public conscience in trying to prove these immense sums are the benefits they were intended to be."

"The Democratic party, if subjected to the temptations of the other party has been subjected to during the past few years would have acted differently. The facts should be diligently sifted, that the people may themselves insist upon legislation making it a criminal offense to make contributions for political purposes and depriving the apparently successful candidates of their offices. Efforts in that direction have been making in different states since November last, and particularly in this state. But the Republican organization has not consented to it, so the legislation defeated the bills. Nor will the organization consent to it, until an aroused public sentiment threatens the legislators with oblivion who fail to favor putting such laws upon the public statute."

A BIG STAKE ON RESULT

Of Race Between New York Navy Yard and Newport News.

The Work on Battleships Louisiana and Connecticut Being Rushed.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The work on the battleships Connecticut and Louisiana grows nearer the finishing point, the race that is on between their builders assumes more and more the character of an epochal finish in a hotly contested horse race. The stake that there was to be a race from the Newport News Shipbuilding company, as has been told before, congress would be built more advantageously by private contract, or by the government itself, in its own shipyard. To accomplish this it was decided to put one battleship through private contract, and to construct the other at the government navy yard.

The New York navy yard was assigned to the task of building the Connecticut, and the Newport News Shipbuilding company was awarded the contract to construct the Louisiana. It was under the first, and both sides settled down to make the best showing possible. For a while it looked as if the Louisiana would be finished ahead of the Connecticut. It was launched first, and had a splendid lead. Then the Connecticut began making gains, and about four months ago it had overtaken and passed the Louisiana. Since then the race has been neck and neck, the first one vessel being ahead and then the other. Each monthly report of the bureau of construction and repair of the navy department has shown a very close contest. Last month the Connecticut was in the lead, having taken the place of the Louisiana during the month preceding the issuance of the monthly statement. At that time the Connecticut was 32.5 per cent completed, and the Louisiana 32.5 per cent. Since then the Connecticut has been making gains, and has taken the lead away from the Connecticut again, and lengthened its lead by another 10 per cent. Since the last monthly statement was given out.

The statement shows that on Sept. 1 the Louisiana was 54.4 per cent completed, and the Connecticut 54.5 per cent. In the month of August, and the Connecticut progressed 2.43 per cent during the month of August, and the Louisiana 1.11 per cent. The statement shows that the Louisiana gained 1.11 per cent on the Connecticut during the month of August, and the Connecticut gained 2.43 per cent. This shows that the Louisiana was done on the Louisiana as was done on the Connecticut at that time. The Louisiana would win out by a considerable margin. But it is not safe to predict that this will be the result. The outcome will be in doubt until the very end, and even then it will require the analysis of naval experts, and the trying out of the boats themselves. There is much at stake in the contest. If the result of the contest shall be to the advantage of the Connecticut, the government can build its own battleships more advantageously than the private yards. This is a possibility that the private yards would not like to see. After there would be more and more vessels built by the government, the private yards would be in a bad way. The navy yard is interested very deeply in the outcome, as the government navy yard is essentially conducted on open shop principles.

The navy yard is interested very deeply in the outcome, as the government navy yard is essentially conducted on open shop principles.

There is much at stake in the contest. If the result of the contest shall be to the advantage of the Connecticut, the government can build its own battleships more advantageously than the private yards. This is a possibility that the private yards would not like to see. After there would be more and more vessels built by the government, the private yards would be in a bad way. THE FIGURES OF IMPORTS

By Russia From United States Little Affected By Tariff.

The Bulk of Imports Is Made Up of Raw Cotton.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Sept. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The recent announcement that the Russian government has ordered that the levying of discriminating import duties on a number of articles, the products of the United States, be discontinued, lends some interest to the figures below, presented by the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics, showing the total imports into Russia from the United States during the calendar years 1904-1905, inclusive, as well as the imports during the period 1900-1905 from Russia to the United States, as reported by the United States tariff legislation.

The application of the higher discriminating rates dates back to the beginning of the year 1901, when, in accordance with article 1 of the Dingy tariff, the Russian minister of finance ordered the application of the tariff rates to imports of manufactures of cast iron, of hand tools, machinery, and numerous other articles classed under the general head of manufactures of iron and steel. These articles, which were subject until then to the same conventional rates as were paid by like articles coming from Germany, France, and other European countries, became subject to rates from 20 to 50 per cent higher.

In May of the same year an order of the Russian minister of finance raised the rates on cast iron, pine pitch and brooms' pitch by 20 per cent, and that on velocipedes by 50 per cent, which higher rates have prevailed since. In order to be able to determine the origin of the articles affected, the Russian government also ordered the presentation of certificates of origin in case the goods were no trade-mark or other proofs of their real origin.

It is interesting to note that the total imports into Russia from the United States, as shown by the official trade returns of the Russian government, show but little effect of the adverse tariff legislation. Thus the total imports from the United States during the calendar years 1904-1905, inclusive, were $22,745,000, as compared with $20,774,000 in 1903, and $20,541,000 in 1902. Preliminary figures for the year 1904 show the imports from the United States into Russia over the European frontier only, as $3,105,000. The corresponding figures of the Russian statistics, showing the total exports from this country to Russia during the same period, are as follows:

1901	7,237,395
1902	19,815,806
1903	18,944,548
1904	17,823,856
1905	12,457,000
1906	13,350,000

By comparing the values of the exports from the United States to Russia with those of the total imports into Russia from this country, it is seen that the larger or smaller size of the total import figures for the respective years depends mainly upon the magnitude of the figures showing the cotton imports from the United States during the same periods.

An analysis of the figures showing the imports from the United States of the various articles affected by the discriminating tariff legislation furthermore shows that these imports have, on the whole, increased during the period in question. Thus, the imports of manufactures of cast iron increased from $135,000 in 1900 to $235,000 in 1903, while the imports of the various articles under the general head of manufactures of iron and steel increased from $15,375 in 1900 to $32,500 in 1903. Those of machinery increased from $22,329 in 1900 to $33,594 in 1903, while the imports of the various articles under the general head of manufactures of iron and steel increased from $15,375 in 1900 to $32,500 in 1903. While we were indulging in these plays the dinner committee had finished their work and presently we were called to take part in the game. It was a game of chance, and we were placed in long parallel rows, sitting on logs. In front of each person was a little table, covered with a white cloth, and on it were two or three small bowls, and each was given a roll of bread. Now the game began. The first person to come off was a little fellow, who was given a little full of vegetable soup, followed by some stewed pork and some bread. Then it was the turn of the next person, and so it went. The game was a game of chance, and we were placed in long parallel rows, sitting on logs. In front of each person was a little table, covered with a white cloth, and on it were two or three small bowls, and each was given a roll of bread. Now the game began. The first person to come off was a little fellow, who was given a little full of vegetable soup, followed by some stewed pork and some bread. Then it was the turn of the next person, and so it went. The game was a game of chance, and we were placed in long parallel rows, sitting on logs. In front of each person was a little table, covered with a white cloth, and on it were two or three small bowls, and each was given a roll of bread. Now the game began. HIGH WATERS RECEDE PEOPLE RETURN HOME

CONDITIONS IMPROVING TWO PLANS FOR DIGGING CANAL PRESENTED TO BOARD OF ENGINEERS

Rivers In Western Missouri and Kansas Go Down Rapidly. Mississippi Still Rising But Crest Is About Reached.

One Would Gradually Excavate to Sea Level, Other Provides For Lakes. By First Plan One Lock Would Be 130 Feet Above Sea Level at First.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The board of consulting engineers of the Isthmian Canal commission today devoted its time to hearing an explanation of the plans for a canal which Mr. Bunau-Varilla and Linden W. Bates, respectively, have formulated. Mr. Varilla was engaged on the canal work as an engineer under the French regime, and has given much time to the study of the problem. Mr. Bates is a civil engineer of New York. Mr. Bunau-Varilla told the board that under his proposed method a canal could be built and put into operation within five years. It could be deepened to a sea level canal within five years more. The novel feature of his plan is to construct the locks from a foundation below sea level. The highest lock on the canal as finished first would be 130 feet above sea level. With the locks built down to the sea level depth, the work of dredging the canal could be continued without interrupting its operation for commerce. The same locks could be utilized at every depth until a sea level was reached, when the locks could be taken out. This is regarded rather as a method of treatment than a canal plan, as Mr. Bunau-Varilla submitted no proposition as to location of dams or other suggestions regarding the engineering features of the canal.

The plan of Mr. Bates combines many suggestions which have been made from the inception of the idea of a canal across the isthmus. It is essentially different from that being studied by the board in the location and arrangement of the locks. Mr. Bates proposes to locate the principal dams on either side of the isthmus close to the sea level. He pointed out that this would facilitate the digging of Culabra cut, utilize the health and sanitary conditions on the isthmus. His plan does not obviate the digging of Culabra cut. The board was presented with information as to every detail of the Bates plan in a pamphlet of nearly 200 pages of closely printed matter, accompanied with maps and diagrams.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS GIVEN BY INSURANCE COMPANIES ARE TO BE RESTORED

New York, Sept. 19.—States Attorney Mayer arrived here today intending to interview members of the legislative insurance investigating committee and its counsel regarding the political campaign funds paid by life insurance companies. It was reported today that the attorney general had been informed that money so paid out would be restored. It is not necessary to prevent him from taking any action he might think proper.

MONEY DEFEATED RALSTON BILL

Nolan Says Fund of $7,000 Was Raised at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Sept. 19.—Billy Nolan, manager for Battling Nelson, the prize fighter, has made a statement that a fund of $7,000 was raised at San Francisco to defeat the Ralston anti-prize fight bill at the last session of the state legislature. He charges that Harry Corbett, with whom he had deposited $2,600 forfeit money prior to Nelson's fight with Britt, is holding $1,000 forfeit money as Nolan's share of the alleged corruption fund at Sacramento. Corbett admits holding the money, but says Nolan owes him that amount. He denies that any money was paid legislators to defeat the prize fight bill. During the last session of the legislature, Senator Ralston introduced a bill prohibiting professional prize fights in the state. The bill passed the senate and enough votes were pledged in the assembly to insure its passage in that house. A few days before the bill came up for consideration in the assembly, the governor of San Francisco, Mr. McCall, and prize fight managers and promoters intervened. The bill was defeated and when the anti-prize fight bill came up for consideration it was defeated. Nolan says San Francisco has become the prize fight center of the country.

GERMANS SAY THE CHOLERA IS CHECKED

Washington, Sept. 19.—Ambassador Tower and the state department today from Berlin say as follows: "It is announced officially by the German government that the cholera has been checked and that no epidemic is entirely unlikely."

PRESIDENT CASTRO'S ORDER IS EFFECTIVE

New York, Sept. 19.—A Caracas dispatch to the Herald says: Communication of the coast cables of the French company with the Caracas office ceased on Sept. 18, by virtue of the decree of President Castro imposing a fine of 500 bolivars for violation of his order. Mr. Dodge is sailing for New York.

GREAT LAND SALE IN CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles, Sept. 19.—What is said to be the most important sale of acreage that ever fell under the auctioneer's hammer in Southern California took place in this city today, when 35,000 acres of land and the townsite of China in San Bernardino county were sold.

FORMER ALDERMAN IS NOT GUILTY, SAYS JURY

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 19.—After being out on the state department today found former Alderman James M. Not guilty of accepting a bribe of $50 from former City Attorney Lunt K. Salsbury, to aid the noted Lake Michigan fishing boat. This was the second trial by the supreme court because some of the jurors in the case had served in previous water deal trials.

RAN TRAIN PAST SIGNAL

Heavily Loaded Milwaukee Freight Wrecked Near Newport, Minn. Engineer Lost His Life By Failure to Stop Train.

St. Paul, Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—A heavily loaded Milwaukee freight train of thirty cars was derailed and wrecked at Newport this morning. Disregard of a semaphore signal to stop was the cause of the wreck and the engineer, Edward Bristol, aged 37 years, who made the error, was crushed to death in his cab. The engine plowed up the earth and ties for some forty feet and some of the cars were thrown clear over the engine. Others were piled in all sorts of positions on all sides of the engine. The fireman and head brakeman were in the cab with the engineer but escaped without injury.

ONTARIO TO INVESTIGATE

The Alleged Illegal Fishing By American Fishing Firms.

Toronto, Sept. 19.—The Ontario fisheries commission will institute a rigid investigation into alleged illegal fishing by American firms in Georgian bay and Lake Erie. It is claimed that thousands of tons of fish illegally taken are shipped to the United States every week. The charges taken by fishermen on Lake Erie of clashing with the government cruiser Vigilant are not the only means taken by American firms to get fish from Canadian waters, according to a government official. It is alleged that they secure the services of licensed Canadian fishermen and supply them with nets and other fishing gear. The fishermen turn their catches over to boats belonging to the American companies.

QUEEN WILHELMINA OPENS LEGISLATURE

The Hague, Sept. 19.—The stated general reopened today. Queen Wilhelmina's speech after expressing her regret at the loss of the Far East, the war death with internal matters. She said the financial condition of the country, although not as serious as it was some time ago, was still a matter of concern. The queen's speech was received with enthusiasm and the session of the legislature was opened with a prayer.

DECISION RENDERED ON A DIVORCE TANGLE

Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 19.—Judge Beach today rendered a decision on the application of Howard Hews, a prominent citizen of Chicago, to have a decree of divorce granted for the divorce of Mrs. Hews. The case had been pending for some time and the decision was rendered after a hearing on the matter.

WITTE AT PARIS

Paris, Sept. 19.—M. Witte, accompanied by his wife and daughter and several members of the Russian mission arrived here today, from Cherbourg. Following the express wish of the Russian statesman there was no formal reception and only a few intimate friends gathered at the railway station. A crowd of travelers respectfully saluted M. Witte who bowed his acknowledgments. He appeared to be much fatigued. M. Witte will make a brief stay in Paris, conferring with Ambassador Nelidoff and probably also with President Loubet and Premier Rouvier.

HERRERA AND HANLON HAVE SIGNED ARTICLES

San Francisco, Sept. 19.—The Herrera-Hanlon match will take place, both men having signed the articles. Permits of $500 to be posted and a $3,000 side bet will be deposited today, at noon. The papers call for a meeting at 10:30 at the Pacific Athletic club of Los Angeles, the combatants to weigh 133 pounds ring side and to receive 50 percent of the gross receipts to be divided 75 and 25 per cent.

CRISIS ARISES OVER AFFAIRS IN MOROCCO

DRIVER THROWN OVER BRIDGE 150 FEET HIGH TO DEATH ON PAVEMENT

Frightful Accident Followed a Wild Runaway Across New East River Bridge. Wagon Struck Rail and Man Shot Out of His Seat With a Dive Clear of Bridge.

New York, Sept. 19.—A man, supposed to be William A. Fursich, the driver of a newspaper delivery wagon, was thrown over the railing of Williamsburg bridge, the new suspension bridge, over the East river, and dropped over 150 feet to the stone sidewalk which borders the New York shore of the river beneath the bridge approach. He died almost instantly. The man's death came after a wild runaway ride across a large part of the bridge. An automobile frightened the horse, Fursich made no attempt to jump, but leaned far forward and guided the horse past the other teams in the dangerous passageway. His seat was on a level of the outer guard rail of the bridge, and when the wagon careened against this rail, Fursich shot out of his seat with a dive that carried him completely beyond the bridge to the pavement below. The horse continued to run to the great peril of other teams on the bridge. The police closed the iron gates leading into the stand, and at these gates the horse was stopped.

DISASTROUS FIRES IN FORTS ALARM MILITARY AUTHORITIES

New York, Sept. 19.—Four mysterious fires in three of the forts, protecting New York harbor within the last two months have caused the military authorities of the department of the east much concern. The fires, which have been at Fort Hamilton, one on the night of July 17, and the other last Friday night. On the same night in July of the fire at Fort Hamilton there was a disastrous fire at Fort Wadsworth. The latest fire was at Fort Sloam, on David island, in the sound, Sunday night. In each case there has been suspicious circumstances concerning the origin of the fires. Magazines, barracks, hospitals, forage and even big siege guns have been destroyed and damaged in these fires, and despite the most thorough investigations nothing is known definitely as to how the fires started. The officers in command of Fort Sloam regard the fire there on Sunday night as so suspicious that a court of inquiry has been ordered to make an investigation. It is likely that an effort will be made by the commanding officer of the department of the east, Gen. Fred D. Grant, to see whether the fires in the three forts had any connection with each other, or resulted from a prearranged plan.

IRONDALE WOMEN DEPORT THE ONLY IDLE MAN IN THEIR TOWN

Chicago, Sept. 19.—The women of Irondale, a suburb of South Chicago, are showing a remarkable interest in the economic welfare of their community by raising sufficient money to transport the only idle man in Irondale to the big steel mills in 1907. The marked man is Tony Hartford, 30,100 Bensley avenue, who said last Saturday that he had worked for three months, and now intended to take a three months' rest. Hartford is 30 years old, unmarried, and in easy circumstances, but the women of the suburb fear that his idleness may set a bad example for their husbands and fathers.

JAPANESE BUSINESS MEN ARE COMING TO THEIR SENSES AGAIN

Tokio, Sept. 19, noon.—Despite the fact that the ebullience of popular satisfaction over the peace arrangements continues unabated, there are indications that the business community is slowly sobering down. The capital intended for new enterprises, following the successful conclusion of the treaty of peace, is gradually coming into the banks as deposits in amounts, which are likely to lower the rate of interest. The profound disappointment which has prevailed has at last proved a benefit to the extent of saving the people from any feverish intoxication, resulting in bubble enterprises, like those which accompanied the close of the war with China. The money class has resumed the attitude of cautious frugality, which guided its transactions during the war. The financial outlook is not gloomy and capital is impatiently awaiting solid investments.

SULTAN YIELDS A LITTLE TO THE U. S.

Constantinople, Sept. 19.—Turkey has taken the first step towards yielding to the demands of the American legation by admitting the right of the American consular authorities to see the Armenians, Vartanian and Afarian, and investigate their claims to be entitled to American protection. Consul General Dickinson has visited the prisoners and has opened an inquiry. Contrary to general report, Minister Leishman's audience of the sultan was merely a courtesy visit, and was not connected with the present diplomatic difficulty, to which neither the sultan nor Mr. Leishman alluded. Vartanian is charged with the murder of a prominent Armenian merchant, Apik Undjian, in Constantinople, Aug. 26. The crime was political. Afarian is accused of participation in the plot to assassinate the sultan July 21, when a bomb was exploded at the conclusion of the Seashell ceremony, just as the sultan was leaving the mosque. About forty persons were killed by the explosion. Both Vartanian and Afarian had been sentenced to death, but owing to the intervention of the American legation, their sentences have been quashed and new trials ordered.

DYNAMITE BOMB FOR OHIO OFFICIAL

East Liverpool, Ohio, Sept. 19.—When Chief of Police John Wynman entered his office today he was surprised to see the window adjacent to his desk open. A few minutes later he learned the reason, when he discovered a dynamite bomb on the window sill hidden under some paper. The fuse was turned toward the street and it is a theory that it was meant to explode the carriage after the chief entered. Chief Wynman has served as an officer in Columbiana county for twenty years and has always been an active anti-saloontist.

MEETINGS SUSPENDED

France and Germany May Yet Come to a Clash. Both Sides Showing Considerable Anxiety Over Matter.

Paris, Sept. 19.—Another crisis has arisen in the negotiations between France and Germany relative to the Moroccan conference. This has resulted in a suspension of the meetings between Dr. Rosen and M. Revell, respectively the special envoys of Germany and France. Their last meeting occurred three days ago and there is no present sign of resumption of their conferences. Dr. Rosen in the meantime is seeking instructions from Berlin, but the extended delay begins to excite apprehension in official quarters that Germany will not yield on points which France considers essential. Both sides show anxiety and the strain promises to seriously affect the bourse. The foreign office, however, continues to view the situation as being susceptible of adjustment and specifically denies the alarmist report in a French newspaper that the German demands include the port of Mogador on the Atlantic coast of Morocco.

The following official statement was made to the Associated Press today, on the subject: "The question of the cession of the port of Mogador does not enter into the negotiations in any form or respect. The obvious reason that Germany and France in their exchange of notes have specially agreed to maintain the integrity of Moroccan territory. Therefore, it is impossible to negotiation on the cession of Mogador or any other part of Moroccan territory."

When questioned today concerning the renewed tension in the Franco-German negotiations Dr. Rosen made a reassuring statement saying: "The alarmist report in some French newspapers are quite unwarranted. The questions involved are of supreme importance to both countries and therefore M. Revell and I are proceeding slowly and cautiously, not desiring a hasty solution but seeking an adjustment which will leave the future free from further misunderstanding. We prefer a few hours delay rather than accept a lame, uncertain agreement which would be a continual source of future conflict rather than a definite assurance of peace. Both of us seek an accord equitable and honorable for both countries and one not wounding the legitimate self respect of either country. Therefore the prolongation of the negotiations ought not to excite apprehension on either side. We are trying to reach a durable accord."

The foreign office's denial that Germany was demanding the cession of Mogador also served to reassure public sentiment and exercised a steadying influence on the bourse.

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER CANADIAN NORTHWEST.

New York, Sept. 19.—Sir Gilbert Parker, author, playwright and member of parliament, is in New York, on his way East, after spending several weeks in Canada. He is enthusiastic over the northwestern part of the Dominion, and says that it is one of the richest agricultural countries in the world. He claims it is being settled rapidly, and that the immigrants are from the United States, and that as a rule they are becoming British subjects. He sees in this evidence of the friendly feeling existing between this country and Canada.

BRYAN ATTENDS HIS COUNTY CONVENTION.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 19.—William J. Bryan was a delegate to the Lancaster county Democratic convention which met here today. This convention chose delegates for the Democratic state convention which Mr. Bryan will also attend before starting on his trip around the world. The Populists and Democrats of Nebraska will hold separate state conventions tomorrow, but it is the plan of the leaders to have the Democratic nominees nominated also by the Populists.

EAGER TO MARRY

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 19.—Imbued with the idea that he ought to be married, and proposing to every girl that he met on the streets, James J. Sullivan, a stranger here, has been in this insane and committed to the state hospital by Judge Brindley. When arrested by the police Sullivan was kneeling in the mud before a young lady, asking her to become his wife.

JAIS REACH SEATTLE

Seattle, Sept. 19.—H. W. Denison and six other members of the Japanese peace mission arrived in Seattle at 11 o'clock last night. The party will sail on the Dakota on Wednesday.

RURAL CARRIERS

Washington, Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—William A. Witte has been appointed a regular and Thomas Witte a substitute rural carrier on route No. 1 at Bagley, Minn.

Never Carry Out Ashes Till Spring!

Moore Heaters Heat!

That is the purpose for which they are built—and they accomplish it economically.

Incidentally, the "Moore" is the largest and handsomest base burner on the market.

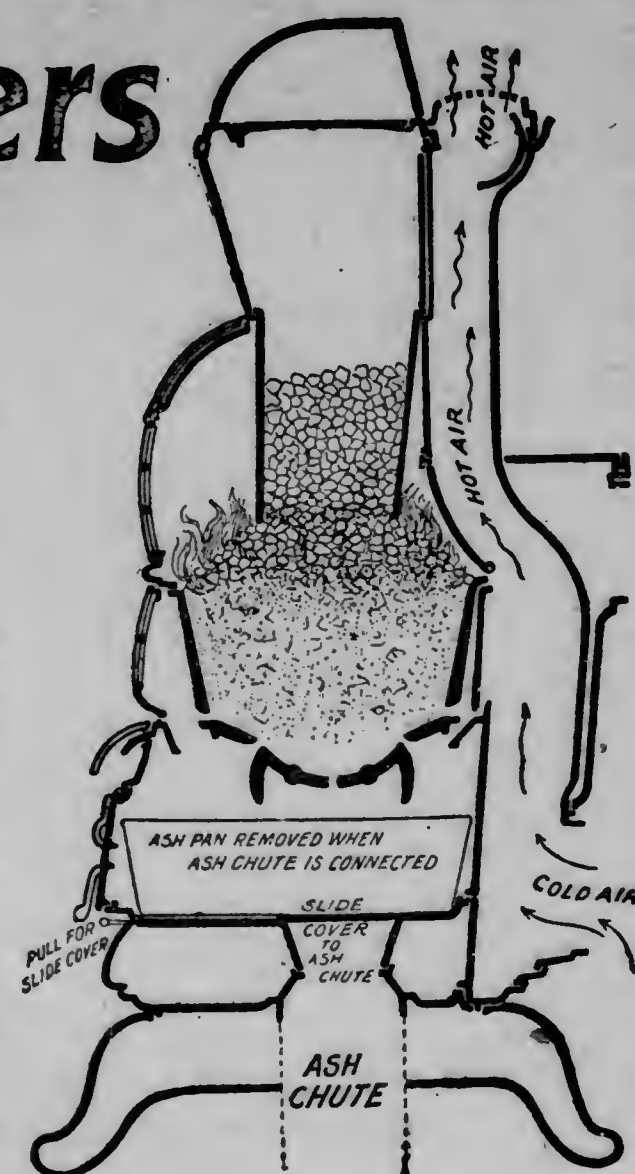

A short comparison will convince you of the superior merits of the "Moore." We can point you to hundreds of enthusiastic users of the "Moore."

"Moore Fire Keepers"—the stove that burns anything—slack, hard coal, soft coal or wood—prices $12.00 and up.

"Moore Hot Blast Oaks"—$16.00 to $28.00.

"Moore Base Burners"—the scientific and therefore economical heaters—$38.00 and up.

Never carry out ashes 'till spring—the "Moore" makes it possible.

The Moore Steel Range

Is the Range With Features, features that mean convenience and comfort.

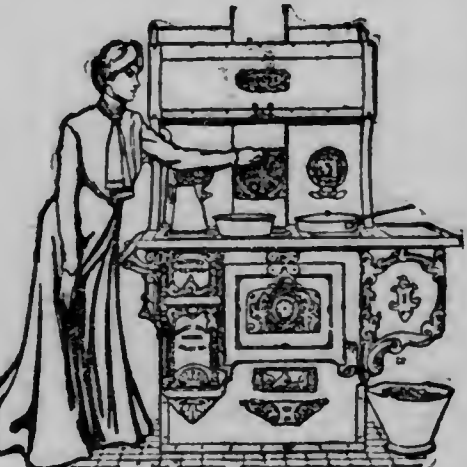

"It's just a little different" from the ordinary kind, and that little difference means much to a busy housekeeper, in comfort and time saved. The hinged front covers are so handy. "Moore" Ranges—

HARDWARE AND FURNITURE

TWENTY-FIRST AVENUE WEST, ON SUPERIOR STREET, DULUTH.

While one of the local commission men was unpacking eggs the other day and thinking of the obliging way hens had of laying eggs to the wholesale and then cheerfully stopping at Christmas time, one egg came to his attention and stopped his rosy wanderings in the realms of high finance. The egg was such as he had never seen before and he could not help but wonder if the excessive leanings of the age toward mental culture, had even affected the hens so that they were now producing eggs neatly stamped with each hen's own monogram.

A closer inspection revealed the fact that the hand writing on the egg was in that of a feminine fist unused to scribbling on a rounding surface but which had made itself legible in spite of difficulties. The egg bore the name of the girl who has helped pack the eggs, her address and the useful and necessary information that she was handsome and wanted to correspond with some "good fellow from the city."

Enough said, anybody without the least inclination to romance or silly imaginings can follow that up and the chief of police or health officer or whoever has it in charge in her town or county can begin to make out the marriage license right away.

The person who cannot dig up a story of the girl who knit stockings for the soldiers in the war and eloped her name and hope for his welfare in one too and then waited anxiously and not in vain for his return from battles, many and bloody, and the wedding that followed; and the girls who wrote their names on chewing gum boxes and mercantile merchants, and the girls, who—but one could go on forever. But the wonder remains that any girl allows herself to fall into the snare and yellow leaf when the matter of acquiring a husband is so simple. Write your name and send it hither and yon and the country and sooner or later a man will become attached to it, then to you, and then your troubles—in one direction, are gone.

In the previously mentioned case of eggs were two names on as many eggs and one can easily imagine the dire distress of the country maidens who resorted to this method of dragging their names into their lives. One can easily imagine the routine of carrying the chicken mixture and calling "chuck, chuck" in an indifferent tone and how at every single call the silly hens came just as if something really was going to happen. And then collecting the eggs and sending them off until the heaven-inspired idea was conceived of inscribing their names on one of the eggs just to see what would happen. After that in addition to feeding chickens and collecting eggs one might hopelessly watch the mails. And anybody who ever has watched the mails, knows it takes more time and mind matter than almost any other occupation. The fact that no body may answer the appalling little invitation causes the tender-hearted a qualm and one cannot help hoping that some really good fellow will try to ease the monotony of packing and shipping eggs.

As to Active Members.

Those members who are planning to secure active membership in the First Free Musicians this year for the first time are requested to observe the following notice, drawn up by the board of directors:

"There will be no change for former active members, but in order that the musical director may know the capability of the new active members and so properly place them on the programs during the year, it will be necessary for them to be heard by a committee appointed for that purpose. New applications for active membership must be sent in at once, to the secretary, Miss Berenice Crowley, 605 West Second street.

Weds in Minneapolis.

Announcement of the wedding of Miss George Alexander formerly of this city, and Drew F. Blymyer of Minneapolis is made. The bride is well known in Duluth, where she lived for a number of years, but has made her home in Minneapolis during the past several years. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams have gone to Bismarck, N. D., on their wedding trip. They will be at home in Duluth at the corner of Second Avenue and Fourth street, after Oct. 1.

WELL PLACED MIRRORS

Are of Splendid Effect in Room Decoration if Properly Located.

A well-placed mirror has the effect of a pool of water in a garden; it makes reflections, and a pleasant spot upon which the eyes may rest. In a dark corner a mirror is nearly equal to a window—provided it reflects a bright portion of the room, says Pictorial Review.

In olden times the distinction between a mirror and a looking-glass was clearly defined. The glass was purely personal, and had no place outside of the bed chamber. The mirror belonged to the parlor or the dining room, and was chosen to accord with the woodwork of the room. The most beautiful of these articles was the mantel mirror, which is now reproduced in many modern homes, but in our houses does it have the old-time character. In the old days a pair of candlesticks and two tall India vases were frequently the only ornaments on the mantelpiece. What housewife today has the courage to place only four things on her mantelpiece?

In new houses the built-in mantel-mirror is seldom used. When it is employed, it is sunk in a plain band of wood like the trim of the room. The few articles used should be chosen with care. A clock of plain design, if it is going, is a sensible thing to have. If it does not keep time it is the most useless thing in the house, and should not be placed where it is a constant delusion. Place it on the mantelpiece and so near the glass that the back is not reflected. A pair of candlesticks and a pot of flowers; something for matches, if there is a fire-place, or if the sticks hold candles—and nothing more is needed. The bowl may cost 50 cents or $10.00, the candlesticks may be of brass or of silver, inherited from a great-grandmother, but the rule holds good. With such an arrangement you cannot go astray.

If the mantelpiece has no mirror do not add one. Decide what you wish the mirror to reflect, and hang it accordingly. The room may be deficient in sunshining; place the mirror where it will catch the reflected light. Or the room may have a charming view from one window; duplicate the view in the mirror.

AT THE ELEVENTH HOUR.

By J. A. Tiffany.

(Copyright 1905 by Daily Story Pub. Co.) "Fifty-one—yes, this is our room. Second turn from the elevator. I thought it was the third; but I must have counted wrong."

She went into the parlor and closed the door behind her. The room was flooded with moonlight, and she needed no other light for the present. She looked out the window at the beautiful sea, which lay like a sheet of burnished silver stretching away to the dim horizon.

With a sign of content she sank down into the depths of a luxurious sofa near the window. Her bedroom door stood ajar, and she did not feel in the least sleepy.

"I will wait for Horace," she said. Her husband had left her at the elevator and had gone to play a game of cards. The most beautiful of these articles was the mantel mirror, which is now reproduced in many modern homes, but in our houses does it have the old-time character. In the old days

Mr. Lester was twenty years her husband's senior, but he and Horace appeared to be the kind of a man who takes him to be a few minutes before—

When Mrs. Travers had announced her intention of getting and her husband had intimated that he proposed playing a game of billiards before going to bed. They had all arrived that day—an arrival of a few hours separating the appearance of Mr. Lester following their own. She was glad Mr. Lester had come.

Mrs. Travers kicked off her white canvas shoes and slipped off her overskirt. Her kimono was hanging just behind the door, but it was too much trouble to get up for it.

She remained sitting on the sofa, her eyes on the water for an hour. Then she closed her eyes and fell asleep. She awoke with a start to find a man standing over her.

"What brings you here?" she cried. "What might repeat the question were it not happiness enough to have you here without inquiring too curiously as to why you came."

"It was kind of you to come," he said, smiling.

"He spoke in a whisper, and his breath fell hot upon her cheek."

"If I am in your room," Mr. Lester, "I shall go to my husband immediately and tell him of my mistake."

"You had been in my room more than an hour. Do you think he will believe you?"

"Assuredly he will."

"Not after he has seen me. Don't you remember the lady in Shakespeare, who sacrificed her honor to save her reputation? Don't you think—"

But she was gone. She had snatched up her things and fled.

She ran almost to her husband's arms. He walked before her, and opened the door of their rooms for her to pass in. Then he followed her, turned up the electric light and stood, with his arms folded across his breast, waiting.

"She told him her story, and he listened with quiet incredulity. He left her to the enjoyment of the suite of rooms, and went and engaged another room for himself."

Horace Travers was a proud and unemotional man. He was not a man to make a fuss—no one who would shoot a faithless wife, nor yet a treacherous friend.

He went to his wife the following morning, and advised her to go to her sister, and that she should try and obtain a divorce with as little unpleasantness as possible.

She said everything she could to convince him of her innocence, but in vain. In her desperation, she even appealed to Lester's sense of honor.

"Let him get his divorce," he said; "and I will marry you."

There was one other person staying in the hotel to whom she felt she could go with her trouble—the Rev. David Ballantyne. He had been a friend of her father's. He was an old man, but he had the calm and besetment of a man who had left the church in which he had been ordained to join new strange monastic order unrecognized by any theology. She went to him and said:

"I am sorry, child," he said when she had finished. "If you husband is the kind of a man I take him to be, he can accomplish nothing by reasoning with him. And this other man will go on the witness stand against you, you must meet everything with a flat denial. Admit nothing. Explain nothing. Do not be dishonest. I will pray for you. Though everything may seem black, even up to the eleventh hour—if you push you so hard—you shall be delivered. Fear not."

She kissed his hand, and left him, feeling comforted and tranquil. She did not know what he meant; but the strength and confidence of the man of the faith gave her courage.

Horace Travers pressed his suit for divorce. The day was fixed for the trial. He gave evidence—the plain, bald statement that he had met his wife coming out of Arthur Lester's room after 11 o'clock at night, carrying part of her clothing in her arms.

Lester followed him. He still hoped to make this woman his wife, after Travers should have obtained his decree, and for that reason he did not wish to smother her character more than was necessary to gain the immediate purpose of the trial. He swore to the fact that Mrs. Travers had come into the room at 11 o'clock on the night mentioned by her husband; that he had been there all the time; and that she had remained with him until after 11 o'clock.

As Mrs. Travers' lawyer rose to address the court, a tall man, of commanding figure, clad in monastic garb, leaned over and whispered to him.

The lawyer spoke briefly, intimating that his defense consisted in a flat denial of every statement that had been made by the plaintiff and his witnesses. He called the Rev. David Ballantyne.

"I will ask the witness to tell his own story," said the lawyer. "It will be necessary for me to lead him."

"Shortly before 11 o'clock on the night mentioned by the plaintiff and his witnesses," said the lawyer, "I met Mrs. Travers in the hall of the upper veranda, named in to it through the door in the hall; and we remained talking together there until half-past eleven o'clock. Then I escorted Mrs. Travers along the hall to her own room. The door was opened by Mr. Travers. He asked me in, but I pleaded the interest of the hour as an excuse, and went to my room."

"That is all, your honor," said the defendant's lawyer.

"I would like to ask the witness a few questions," said counsel for the plaintiff. "Now, sir, what did you and Mrs. Travers do and say on the night of the 11th of October, at the hotel where you should be sitting together until nearly midnight?"

"The secrets of the confessional are not revealed," said Father Ballantyne, not revealing a gesture.

The motion of a decree was denied. Mrs. Travers went back to her sister's house, and two hours afterwards her husband came seeking her—suing for pardon.

"Lester has gone away," he said, leaning over and whispering to him. He himself had trapped you into his room by changing the number on the door and then making the number right again after you had gone outside. He stole out through the bedroom door to put the figure '7' there again in place of the '11.' He admits that you were not aware of the mistake you had made until a minute before you rushed from the room as I saw you. Can you forgive me, Oliver?"

And she had forgiven him freely. They had lived together another happy year since then. Driving home to dinner together one evening Mr. Travers had called her wife's attention to the figure of a man walking slightly ahead of them—a man with a white hair, with a little cry, she stopped the carriage and jumped to the street. She saw before her the man before he saw her and seized his arms in both her hands.

"Father Ballantyne—oh, my Father—how is it that I find you thus?"

"I have changed my occupation, child," he said, with his old sweet smile.

"And I know it—I was the cause of it all."

"Made in a way. But it was a great service that you did me—in being the means of my changing my monk's frock for a workman's coat. I acted rightly in what I did for you. But, of course, it would not have looked well for a minister of religion to have had to face a charge of perjury. But believe me, I would do it again for you, and hold it no sin."

"Oh, father—you have made an awful sacrifice for me."

"Nay—for eternal justice."

"And you are working as a carpenter doing better work for my Master than I ever did before. I am following not only his profession, but also his trade."

Pain from a Burn Promptly Relieved
By Chamberlain's Pain Balm.

A little child of Michael Strauss, of Vernon, Conn., was recently in great pain from a burn on the hand, and as cold applications only increased the inflammation, Mr. Strauss came to Mr. James N. Nichols, a local merchant, for something to stop the pain. Mr. Nichols says: "I advised him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and the first application drew out the inflammation and gave immediate relief. I have used this balm myself and recommend it very often for cuts, burns, strains and lame back, and have never known it to disappoint." For sale by all leading druggists.

PURITY CONFERENCE TO MEET AT LA CROSSE, WIS.

New York, Sept. 19.—The national purity conference will be held in La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 17 to 19. Delegates will be present from all parts of the United States and Canada, and this conference is expected to be the most important meeting of purity workers ever held in this country.

The purpose of the conference is to consider and discuss the present situation in the country as pertains to the cause of purity. Rescue work, preventive methods, the traffic in girls, law enforcement, divorce, race suicide, state toleration of the social evil, additional laws now needed, will each and all receive attention, while methods of agitation and education for promoting higher standard of purity in family and individual life will be recommended.

Every mother feels a great dread of the pain and danger attendant upon the most critical period of her life. Becoming a mother should be a source of joy to all, but the suffering and danger incident to the ordeal makes its anticipation one of misery. Mother's Friend is the only remedy which relieves women of the great pain and danger of maternity; this hour, which is dreaded as woman's severest trial, is not only made painless, but all the danger is avoided by its use. Those who use this remedy are no longer despondent or gloomy; nervousness, nausea and other distressing conditions are overcome, the system is made ready for the coming event, and the serious accidents so common to the critical hour are obviated by the use of Mother's Friend. "It is worth its weight in gold," say many who have used it. $1.00 per bottle at drug stores. RAILROADS' ULTIMATUM

To Congress Proposes to Throw a Sop to the Public.

Hope Abolition of Private Car Lines Will End Agitation.

FROM THE HERALD
WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Sept. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—"You may do what you please to the private car lines, but hands off the railroads" is the ultimatum of the railroad lobby to congress, the interstate commerce commission and those behind the agitation for regulated railroad rates. By this sop to the public the railroads propose to postpone if not to escape altogether from what they regard as "unwarranted interference" in their affairs. That the scheme is plausible and likely to prevail is undeniable. The clamor for the regulation of railroad rates was largely inspired by commission men handling fruits shipped in private refrigerator cars and by the cattleman who ship in privately owned stock cars. The abolition of private cars will, so the railroads lobby believes, put an end to their complaints and to their ceaseless agitation.

The interstate commerce commission would be highly pleased to have its power extended over the private car lines and congress could virtually point to such action as calculated to remedy all ills connected with railroad rates. This is undoubtedly the program of the railroads, already antagonistic to the car lines and eagerly awaiting the day when they shall fall like an over-ripe plum into their hands. The logical outcome will be the organization of corporations owned and controlled by the railroad magnates instead of outside parties, who will acquire the private car lines at a fraction of the value of their ownership which will be almost worthless when the present companies are legislated out of business. Thus congress, the cattleman and commission merchants, and, above all, the railroads, will be pleased. But how about the immense body of shippers and consumers who are interested in the rates on other products than cattle and fruit, and who are seeking relief from the oppression of the discriminating rate, secret rebates and the manipulation incidental to private switches, private terminals and the like? Will they complacently watch the railroads absorb the private car lines by the help of congress and the interstate commerce commission and think their pains have been relieved? By all means let congress regulate the private car lines, but it must stick to the main proposition, regulate railroad rates, passenger and freight, and not permit itself to be sidetracked, without or without delay, by some day the people may wake up.

The many friends of Representative Ruppert of New York are highly pleased that the report of his prospective retirement from congress appears to be without foundation. Mr. Ruppert is one of the younger members on the Democratic side, and serves his constituents in an unobtrusive but thoroughly satisfactory manner. Since he first took his seat in the Fifty-sixth congress, Mr. Ruppert has been nominated and re-elected by overwhelming majorities. The son of one of the wealthiest of New York families, Mr. Ruppert has large business affairs, but is constant in his attendance on the sessions of the House. His vote on matters of importance is almost always in evidence. In his biography in the congressional directory, it is noted that he was born on the 15th of May, 1864, in the city of New York. He is a member of the Episcopal church, and is a member of the Episcopal church, and is a member of the Episcopal church.

Representative Hay of Virginia, chairman of the Democratic caucus of the house, announces his determination to introduce a resolution to investigate the conduct and affairs of the Panama canal commission as soon as congress meets. He is, however, pessimistic as to its chances of passage. "I am not charging that anybody is guilty of malfeasance or misfeasance in connection with Panama affairs," said Mr. Hay. "But the fact remains that a great deal of money has been expended down there, and that little or no progress has been made in the actual work of digging the canal. Before it when we take up the question of issuing canal bonds, which will have to be considered this winter, I do not know how good are the chances of getting such a resolution through congress. A resolution to investigate the affairs of the commission should go to the committee on military affairs, but it will probably be referred to the committee on ways and means. When the Republicans want to whip anything through, or to kill a resolution to investigate fraud, I have observed that they refer it, as a rule, to the ways and means committee."

PETITION TO INTERVENE

Filed By the Minnesota
Railroad and Warehouse Commission.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Judge Bethel, of the United States circuit court heard testimony yesterday in support of an intervening petition filed by the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission in a suit brought by the interstate commerce commission to compel the Chicago Great Western road and fourteen other Western roads to adjust rates on livestock from Minnesota points, so as not to discriminate in favor of packing house products. Twenty prominent attorneys appeared for the transportation companies involved. Attorney Mills represented the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission. Thomas Yapp, assistant secretary of the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission, was the only witness called in support of the intervening petition. Mr. Yapp said he attended a conference held in Chicago in 1904 to discuss the readjustment of rates on stock from points in Northwestern Minnesota to Southwest Minnesota to Chicago higher than the rate on hogs," said Mr. Yapp. "Later we had a conference with the railroad representatives at which the situation was discussed and the companies agreed to make the same rate on cattle, sheep and hogs."

On cross-examination Mr. Yapp admitted that the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission had filed the intervening petition to prevent a readjustment of the rate on live stock in accordance with the findings of the interstate commerce commission on the advice of Third Vice President Bird of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road. He further stated he believed the relative rates on live stock and packing house products from Minnesota points and Chicago were unreasonable and unfair. George H. Crosby, general traffic manager of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, does not believe the method of shipping live stock and packing house products and does not believe the rates from various points in Minnesota to Chicago.

SIXTY BUILDINGS BURNED AT NOME.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 18.—Sixty buildings were destroyed by fire at Nome, Alaska, on the night of Sept. 15, causing a loss estimated at close to $200,000. The city hall and a small building was destroyed, but the records were saved, and it is reported that the big stores of M. E. Atkinson and J. P. Parker were destroyed. It was at first reported that the fire destroyed the larger wholesale and retail stores, but this proved incorrect. No loss of life is reported. Details are meager.

CHINK DEAD, WHITE MAN DYING IN OPIUM JOINT.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 18.—A Chinese woman yesterday called the police to the building at 53 Plum alley, where, on the third floor, three officers found a dead Chinese sitting bolt upright on a cot, while in the same room another Chinese, who appeared to be insane, had kindled a fire on the floor, apparently in an attempt to destroy the building. On the floor below the police found "Edley" Merode, a young white man, in a dying condition from what the police believe to be opium poisoning.

Merode is an acrobat, who recently has been giving exhibitions in vaudeville houses. His money, watch and chain were missing.

WOMAN'S PERFDY

Results In Death of Two Men Near Roscommon, Mich.

Roscommon, Mich., Sept. 18.—Two men were killed Sunday near Houghton lake, twenty-five miles from here as a result of Mrs. Kate Ogden's perfidy to her husband. Last winter Mrs. Ogden and Henry Knight, a neighbor, eloped and went West together. Mrs. Ogden's husband, who returned to her father's home last week, Knight followed her and made threats against the woman and her family. Sunday morning Mrs. Ogden met her husband on his way to ride to her father's house with her. As they drove into the yard Knight opened fire on them from across the road, wounding Mrs. Ogden in the hand and instantly killing Ogden. The shots brought Mrs. Ogden's father, William Kuper, who ran into his house for a rifle and from a window fired two bullets into Knight's body, killing him instantly.

CUNNINGHAM MAKES DEFENSE

Several Witnesses Declare
He Had a Good Reputation.

Testimony for the defendant, M. J. Cunningham, is being introduced today in the action brought by the state on the charge of grand larceny in the first degree. Cunningham is one of two men indicted on a charge of holding up John Spelman and robbing him of $30 in money near Hibbing.

Chief O'Connor of the Hibbing fire department was one of the character witnesses called this morning. He testified as to his knowledge of Cunningham's reputation for honesty and uprightness as a citizen.

Another witness was called who knew Cunningham in St. Paul several years ago and who had seen more or less of him on the range in the past several months. He also claimed that so far as he knew, the accused bore a good reputation. Just before the noon recess, George Butterfield, who was one of the two men with Spelman when he is alleged to have been held up, was on the witness stand. Butterfield said that they had been drinking and that Spelman was intoxicated when they started over to a railroad track on which a number of cars were standing. He declared that three men stepped out from behind a car, one of them pointing a gun and demanding that Butterfield and his companions throw up their hands and face in the opposite direction. Butterfield said they did so, while the men went through their pockets, telling them, as soon as the process was completed, to go. He said they got away from the place immediately and went to the nearest saloon.

It was thought likely this noon that the testimony would be completed by this evening.

The Informal Opening Displays
Of wearing apparel for women by the Gidding store is attracting much attention. That the Gidding establishment has been influenced by the well-dressed women of Duluth was plainly in evidence yesterday and today. The store seemed to be a "mecca" for our well known society women who were in the store to be informed as to what is in popular "vogue" for the fall and winter season of 1905 and 1906. ishment looked even more inviting than ever today, with palms, plants and cut flowers on a background of beautiful mahogany fixtures and the rich but great decorations of green, and the soft toned monumental copper fixtures. It can justly lay claim to the honors given it so many times of being among the few of the handsomest stores of its kind in America. It is too bad that their annex was not entirely ready (some of the fixtures not being quite finished), as it would have enabled the Gidding firm to hold their formal opening of their enlarged store at this time. As it is they must be content with their opening in an informal way which is important enough in itself, and as they have informed us they will hold the formal opening of their enlarged store as soon as all of the fixtures are finished. In the meanwhile, they extend a sincere invitation to Herald readers to attend their informal opening displays, which competent critics have said, are the most beautiful and complete displays of women's wearing apparel ever made up by any house in the Northwest, and their very busy store seems to bear out this assertion.

"THERE'S A REASON"

That's All Right, But What Is It.
A lady teacher in South Dakota says:
"I was compelled to give up teaching for nearly four years because of what the physicians called 'nervous dyspepsia.' Nor was I of any use in the household economy. I was in many respects a wreck.
"I had numerous physicians, one after another, and took many different kinds of medicine, but they did me no good.
"Finally, five years ago, I began to use Grape-Nuts food. I grew stronger in a very short time. On the new diet, and was soon able to resume, and am still teaching. I no longer use drugs of any kind, my dyspepsia has disappeared, and I am a hearty woman—thanks to Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.
"I had a nervous brain, work and worry take strength from the stomach and bowels. They become too weak to handle the fried meats, eggs, bacon, coffee and white bread, so, partly digested, they decay and cause all sorts of trouble, which will become chronic if continued. Then the nerves and brain grow weary, for they are deprived of the rebuilding elements the food must furnish to replace the soft gray filling of nerve centers and brain, which is partly used up each day.
"Now comes the mission of Grape-Nuts to supply the 'Reason.' Made in a peculiar and scientific way of the selected parts of Wheat and Barley, this famous food contains natural phosphate of potash, with albumen, which combines with water in the body and makes that gray matter quickly and surely. Then when nerves and brain feel the power of new made and properly made cells, the strength returns to stomach as well as other parts.
"There's a reason." Anyone can prove it.

DEMAND IS STILL SMALL

Applications For Hunting Licenses Do Not Keep Clerks Busy.

One Hundred and Seventy-Three Issued to Date.

County Auditor Halden has issued but 173 hunting license to date to hunters in St. Louis county and it is believed that the number thus far issued by deputies in various parts of the county is limited.

The demand for the permits has not yet reached a stage where the license clerk has his entire attention taken up with the work of issuing them. Yesterday, seven licenses were issued, which was about the largest number that has been given out in one day since the county auditor received the proper blank forms.

The licenses entitle the holders to hunt big and small game. The permits are unnecessary where it is intended to hunt birds in St. Louis county only, but when a resident of this county desires, when the season opens, to shoot partridges in other parts of the state, he will be required to have a license. This costs $1.

It is expected that the latter part of next week will see a brisk demand for permits by those who are planning on visiting adjoining counties for partridge hunting. In view of the fact that the new licenses require a greater length of time than formerly for the clerk to fill out the proper blank forms, those who do not wish to encounter delay are getting their requests in a little early. A personal application for a permit is necessary.

Reports from the partridge country in this vicinity indicate a scarcity of birds this year, the same reason being given as for the scarcity of prairie chickens—too much rain in localities where partridges were quite thick last fall, the farmers and settlers claim that only a few scattered flocks are to be found and that most of those are comprised of old birds, the young birds being drowned when the hatching season began.

The open season for pinnated grouse is now on in this state, but there are not many of that species of bird found in this section of Minnesota. The open season for partridge and ruffed grouse will begin Oct. 1.

Considerable amusement prevailed at the county auditor's office yesterday over the application for a license from a young man who lives in one of the outlying districts of the county. He was in the right place, and he was turned over to the hunting license clerk.

That official proceeded to take down his height, weight, color of his hair and eyes, his complexion, and any other distinctive marks that might aid in his identification as the proper person to hold the permit. After the applicant had made the proper affidavit that he was a resident of the county and state, and the person in whose name he was getting the permit, he signed his name and the clerk collected the usual fee of $1. At this juncture the young man remarked, as he was in the right place, and he was turned over to the hunting license clerk.

"Gosh, that is cheap. I heard it cost $2 to get a man's license." Explanations were immediately in order. The license was immediately canceled, and the would-be grocer was directed to the office of the clerk of district court, where licenses are issued to take the legal possession of the other kind of deer.

DEBTOR FADED AWAY.

Chisholm Man's Stock In Hands of Fred Reynolds, Receiver.

An involuntarily bankruptcy petition was filed today in United States court by several local commission houses in the case of C. Edgar Sibbett of Chisholm. Fred Reynolds of Duluth was appointed receiver.

It is claimed that Sibbett owes the following debts to those who filed the petition: Knudsen-Ferguson, $1,130.02; Fitzsimmons-Derrig, $216.59; Stone-Ordean-Wells, $234.79. It is also claimed that Sibbett hid the goods from his store, and finally with his family, skipped out of Chisholm, and his whereabouts are at present unknown.

In the involuntary bankruptcy case of R. E. Bangle of Deer River, Minn., Ambrose Gutterman of St. Paul has been appointed receiver, and has gone to Deer River to take charge of the Bangle stock, which has been in charge of the sheriff of Itasca county.

Settle Trespass Case.

The trespass cases against Leander Anderson and William Anderson of Mille Lacs lake have been dismissed in United States court. A quiet complicity took place in these cases. The trespass was charged against Leander Anderson at first, then the state found it had made a mistake, and had William Anderson arrested. Now both cases have been dismissed, evidently having been settled.

"I am sending you two of my photos. They will tell you better than I can how much different I look, and you can imagine how much better I feel. My doctor tells me that the effect of the remedy seems to be to strengthen and fortify the system before stripping it of its surplus fat. He was very much interested in the 'experiment,' as he called it. In fact, I do not believe I would have ordered it if he had not urged me to. He said that he had analyzed it and found it to be harmless, but that he did not believe it could do what you claimed for it."

"I weighed over 200 pounds, which, for a woman of my weight, is very fat. Now I weigh 135, am plump and well formed, and I feel good all day long and sleep so restfully at night."

"I shall always thank you for what you have done for me, and I will be glad to have you refer me to any of your patients."

ALBERS FOUND GUILTY BY NICARAGUAN COURT.

Washington, Sept. 20.—The state department was informed today that the Nicaraguan court in session at Ocotlán, in the province of Segovia, has convicted William S. Albers, the American resident agent at Balagua of the Port Limon company, on the charge of resisting legal process and insulting President Zelaya. Sentence has not yet been imposed, however. Mr. Albers is said to be in free communication with the American legation at Managua and has the advice of counsel.

DULUTH IN THE CIRCUIT

The Metropolitan Becomes One of Empire Line of Theaters.

"The Jolly Grass Widows" to Come Monday Evening.

Monday evening, the Metropolitan becomes one of the theaters of the Empire line of vaudeville theaters and all circuit of vaudeville companies on "the wheel" as the circuit is called—will be seen in Duluth.

"The Jolly Grass Widows," one of the best companies, will be the opening attraction and will begin an engagement of five nights and three matinees, Monday evening. A matinee Saturday afternoon will close the engagement.

The deal involving the converting of the Metropolitan into a house for "extravaganza and vaudeville" was closed last evening by the Orpheum company, lessees of the house, with the Western Extravaganza association, which is very closely allied with and, in fact, a part of the Empire circuit. H. Longstreet, who has been connected with the Orpheum for the past fourteen years, will be resident manager of the "Met."

All the companies playing in the circuit houses in the Twin Cities, the Star in St. Paul and the Deway in Minneapolis, will play engagements of five nights in Duluth, beginning from Minneapolis.

The Duluth engagements will close Saturday afternoon, however, to enable the company to get to Duluth, the next stand, in time. Prior to this, the Empire shows have been playing a host of one night stands in Duluth, to the poor business. It was found that Billings, Bosman, Anacosta and Helena were too small and the Metropolitan here in Duluth was secured for the open week caused by the discontinuance of the one night stands.

From Duluth the companies jump to Spokane, to Tacoma, then to Seattle, Portland and San Francisco, coming back by way of Ogden, Salt Lake City, Denver, Kansas City and St. Louis.

Harry Rose, advance agent for Fulton & Hugan's "Jolly Grass Widows," arrived in the city this morning. He is very enthusiastic over the addition of the Duluth house to the Empire circuit and prophesies big houses here.

The work of putting up the posters for the new show began this morning and everything is being made ready for the opening of the Metropolitan as a "wheel" house Monday.

"The Jolly Grass Widows" are headed by Miss Jeanette Gulchard, queen of burlesque. The principals connected with the company are: Billings, Bosman, Anacosta and Helena, who are giving Weber & Field's famous billiard table act this season. Other well known vaudeville people who contribute specialties and participate in the extravaganza are Bush and Gordon, eccentric comedians, and Plunard and Walters.

The company boasts of a large and beautiful chorus, too. L. H. Herk is manager of the company for Fulton & Hugan.

"The Washington Society Belles" and Drew's "Tiger Lilies" will follow "The Jolly Grass Widows," but further than that the bookings have not been announced.

Performances will be given Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of each week and the matinee days will be Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

For the Little Ones
To Keep Their Digestion Perfect Nothing is so Safe and Pleasant as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets

Thousands of men and women have found Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets the safest and most reliable preparation for any form of indigestion or stomach trouble.

Thousands of people who are not sick, but are well and wish to keep well, take Stuart's Tablets after every meal to insure perfect digestion and avoid trouble.

But it is not generally known that the Tablets are just as good and wholesome for little folks as for their elders.

Little children who are pale, thin and have no appetite, or do not grow or thrive, should use the Tablets after eating and will derive great benefit from them.

Mrs. G. A. Crostley, 535 Washington St., Hoboken, New Jersey, writes: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets just fill the bill for child as well as for older folks. I've had the best of luck with them. My three-year-old girl takes them as readily as candy. I have only to say 'Tablets' and she drops everything she is doing and runs for them."

A Buffalo mother, a short time ago, who despaired of the life of her babe, was so delighted with the results from giving the child these Tablets that she wrote before the notary public of Erie Co., N. Y., and made the following affidavit:

Gentlemen: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were recommended to me for my two-months-old baby, which was sick and puny and the doctor said was suffering from indigestion. I took the child to the hospital, but there found no relief. A friend mentioned the Stuart Tablets and I procured a box from my druggist and used only the large sweet lozenges in the box and was delighted to find they were just the thing for my baby. I feel justified in saying that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets saved my child's life.

Mrs. W. T. DETMOLD, Subscribed and sworn to before me this 12th day of April, 1907.

Knighthood was in flower." LYCEUM—"The Only Son."

"The Heart of Chicago." "The Heart of Chicago" drew another large audience last evening and pleased present. This afternoon a matinee was given, and tonight the final performance will take place.

ROSELLE KNOTT. Interest is kept in the production of "When Knighthood Was in Flower," at the Lyceum Friday evening by Roselle Knott. Miss Knott is one of the popular actresses with Duluth audiences, and on the occasion when she appeared once before in this play scored a fine success.

If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know what will pleasure it. These famous little pills cleanse the liver and into the system of all ailments without producing unpleasant effects. Sold by all druggists.

LATE DOINGS IN MICHIGAN

Systematic Violation of Game Laws Discovered in Schoolcraft County.

Schoolcraft—State Game Warden Chapman has unearthed a systematic violation of the game laws in Schoolcraft county. As a result, a warrant has been issued for Frank Hathaway, a prominent dealer of Marquette, who, it is alleged, has been selling birds and trout out of season. Deputies in the allowed law-breaking scheme. Game Warden Chapman says other warrants may be issued soon.

It is said that at one time the business of killing game at Creighton, near Marquette, became so heavy that a private telephone was put up to connect that place with the Hathaway market. After the market was closed, game was taken from Creighton, which was supposed to be headed for the baggage car before reaching the station. In connection with the case Robert Cade, a section horse, was arrested. He had several cartridges, and it is believed was hunting for Hathaway.

It is said the evidence secured implicated several of Marquette's leading citizens, who have been interested in the alleged law-breaking scheme. Game Warden Chapman says other warrants may be issued soon.

Rippling—John Griffith, aged 10 years, died at Rippling, Bellevue county, is dead, the result of an insignificant scratch. He ran a silver in his foot some time ago and later went bathing in water which was contaminated with blood poisoning and died. Death followed after a two weeks' illness.

Sault ste. Marie—Three soldiers from Fort Brady, Sam. Brackett, Charles Bonner and Robert Meredith, stirred up much excitement on Spruce street at the Sault Ste. Marie. Officers placed them under arrest for carousing, but the soldiers broke away and several others were fired to frighten him into submission. The men were taken before Judge Couch, fined and given jail sentences.

Stambaugh—Guiseppe Shattari, employed at the Baltic mine at Stambaugh, had his right leg badly injured. It was necessary to amputate it above the knee. He was riding on the train on the second level. His car jumped the track. He called to the man on the car following, but instead of getting out of the way, sat still and allowed the other car to run into him, with the result above mentioned.

Iron Mountain—Thomas Wills of Iron Mountain is suffering from a bad attack of blood poisoning. A result of a cut in the left knee received some three weeks ago at his farm. He was badly injured, but a grain of rice over his shoulder when the point of the scythe struck his knee, cutting a deep gash. About a week later his knee began swelling badly and blood poisoning set in. He is now in a critical condition, although the attending physicians are hopeful of his ultimate recovery.

Manistique—Angus Floyd, employed at the Manistique boarding house at Manistique as a domestic, was kicked down the stairs, it is alleged, by a man named Huns Hamberger. She was considerably injured and was unconscious for about thirty hours. Until she regained consciousness it was supposed by the family that she had fallen down the stairs. It is thought that the man took her for another girl with whom he had trouble. Hamberger is believed to have gone to Escanaba or Ontonagon and Sheriff Klugstad is in search of him.

LOST HIS TRAIN, CHILD IS DYING

Plight of James Houghton, an Indiana Man, In St. Cloud.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 20.—Stranded in a strange town, lacking $2 of the fare to Indiana, where his little child was dying, yet with plenty of money in the bank at home, was the sad plight of a well-dressed man who accosted a St. Cloud merchant for information.

This stranger, James Houghton, was on his way from Butte, Mont., to his home at Monticello, Ind., where his 7-year-old child lay dying or dead. Tired from a long journey he fell asleep on the train and was awakened by the brakeman's cry of what he thought to be St. Paul, but which he found, upon alighting, to be St. Cloud. The train had pulled away before he discovered his mistake, and though he made a valiant effort to catch the rear platform, he failed.

Stepping to the ticket office, he requested a ticket to Chicago, where he was to meet his brother, but found, when it came to paying for the ticket, that he lacked $2 of the required amount. He telegraphed to Chicago for money, but when the answer came, the banks were closed and an order must be identified. In the deepest anxiety as to the condition of his child, he accosted one of the business men, telling him of his mistake and the loss of time it had already cost him. The cashier of the bank was sent for and money was advanced to Mr. Houghton, who left on the early morning train, not knowing that what he lost of twelve hours here might have prevented him from seeing his child before it died.

RANGE TOWN OFFICERS ARE BROUGHT INTO COURT

President and Village Council of Chisholm Under Indictment.

Grave Charges of Malfeasance in Office—Carnival Aired.

The grand jury did something more than report on the bad administration of public affairs at the village of Chisholm. It indicted the village president and trustees for malfeasance in office and for being connected with the carnival scandal, and also several men who were connected with the carnival company, who operated gambling devices or sold liquor without a license.

Arrests on the indictments were made by members of Sheriff Bates' force, yesterday morning. President William Grant, Trustee W. J. Smart, W. A. Kelly, M. McLain and E. J. Matheson were brought to Duluth on the afternoon train, for arraignment before Judge Cant. Oscar Wilberg, another trustee is also said to be indicted. He is believed to be visiting relatives near Minneapolis at the present time.

W. A. Kelly is manager, and M. McLain is a member of the carnival company that recently held forth in Chisholm.

President Grant is indicted under four counts. These charge perjury, the fraudulent auditing of claims against the village, keeping a gambling device, and operating a tent or resort for persons to visit for lewd and indecent purposes. In default of bail aggregating $2,500 he spent last night in the county jail.

Trustee W. T. Smart and Oscar Wilberg are indicted for malfeasance in office and for being implicated with the carnival people in giving indecent exhibitions and operating gambling devices. Kelly and McLain are indicted for running an indecent show and E. J. Matheson and James Crowley with selling liquor without a license.

William Grant, W. J. Smart, M. McLain pleaded not guilty. Smart's bail was fixed at $1,500 and McLain's at $500. Neither of the men were allowed to furnish bail and they went to jail. Matheson furnished bail in the amount of $200 to appear, today, for pleading.

The village officers of Chisholm, and McLain, is said to be a resident of Minneapolis, are charged with unlawfully and feloniously keeping a tent as a resort for persons to visit for indecent and obscene purposes, where a negro danced an indecent dance, all of which the defendant Grant with his co-defendants exhibited to sundry then for him, Aug. 20. Witnesses examined before the grand jury relative to this matter were James McDonald, G. L. Train, E. G. Martin, Webb Latham and J. J. Hayes.

Grant, Smart, Wilberg and Kelly are charged with operating a gambling device known as a "Pinch Spindle," the operation actually being done by a member of the carnival company, whose name is unknown, the village officers being charged with implication in the deal. On this charge the witnesses before the grand jury were W. A. Masters, James McDonald, Webb Latham, G. L. Train, J. J. Hayes and E. G. Martin.

Grant, Wilberg and Smart are charged with fraudulently auditing, allowing and paying with intent to defraud, a claim against the village of Chisholm, in the way of a charge of $50, by William Grant, as his expenses for a trip to St. Paul and Racine, Wis., all of which is said to have occupied ten days, and which was paid only $10 a day, or $100 for the whole time. The claim is said to have been allowed at a meeting of the village council last July.

On the perjury charge, William Grant is claimed to have procured one William O'Brien to swear falsely against Josephine Farley at a trial before Justice Richard Bateson, July 24, by the promise of $10 for the commission of the act. It is charged that O'Brien swore the woman sold herself and others some whisky. Witnesses before the grand jury were Richard Bateson and William O'Brien.

While the men were arraigned, and the indictments read, William Grant appeared unaffected throughout the ordeal, but with Trustee Smart it was different. As the charges came one after the other, he had difficulty in keeping his self-control.

Counting the indictment returned a few days ago for drunkenness, President Grant will have to face trial on five charges during the present term of court. These range from a misdemeanor to an offense serious enough, if proved, to cause his removal from office, and punishment by fine or imprisonment.

This morning William Grant was arraigned on two counts in addition to those to which he was asked to plead yesterday. One of these was for presenting a fraudulent bill of $80.85 against the village of Chisholm, and the other for presenting a fraudulent bill of $80.85 alleged to have been contracted at his own hotel in the name of the city.

Bail upon these two charges was set at $500 each, making the total sum in which he is held $3,500. Up to about noon today he had been unable to furnish this.

perior and upon this the Minnesota commission returned its report.

The matter broke out afresh this summer when Wisconsin authorities took away the inspectors in Superior, but they returned to Duluth to inspect elevators. Some of them are former Minnesota inspectors, but their inspection is not official.

IN WORLD OF SPORT

Boat and Yacht Club Seasons Are Nearing an End.

Yacht Club Members Are Talking of Taking Up Ice Boating.

There still remains two or three weeks of weather which is counted on as favorable to boating and yachting, and at the expiration of that time the season of both the boat club and the yacht club is likely to come to an end.

The yacht club at present is pulling on its three-race series. One of the races was sailed last Saturday. The second will be sailed this coming Saturday, and the third one the following Saturday. When they have been decided, there are not likely to be any more regular races sailed this season.

The club members are due to hold a week from Friday. It will be the first evening of this nature ever given by the club, and it is looked forward to with much interest.

Some of the club members are talking of taking up ice-boating this winter. A watchman will be kept at the club house during the winter to protect the boats and the club property. It would be a very simple matter for the members to go into ice-boating. With the masts and sails at hand, it would be very easy for those members who have not already ice-boats to construct them. If the yacht club members take it up this winter, the season will be given a wonderful impetus. At present there are not more than half a dozen ice-boats in the city, in spite of the excellent facilities afforded for the sport.

The weather has been too cool during the last two weeks for boating, and the boat club has been nearly deserted during most of that time. On the few days when the weather has been good, the boats have been in great demand, and if the weather moderates the club should be well patronized during the next two weeks. The club house will be kept open just as long as there is any demand for boats on water, and the season will not be brought to a close until after Oct. 1 at least.

If the weather is fine during the latter part of the month, the season may be brought to a close with another dance, but nothing of this nature has yet been announced.

REACHES THE SEMI-FINALS.
Only Four Golfers Left In Race For Northland Club Championship.

Play in the tournament for the club championship in the Northland Country club has reached the semi-finals, and only four players are left in the race for the championship.

The players are W. W. Walker, E. P. Towne, William Dalrymple and L. J. Hopkins. Walker is drawn against Towne, and Dalrymple against Hopkins. The winners of the two matches will play off in the finals.

The games in the semi-finals should be played some time during the week if the weather clears and allows the course to be in good condition. It is expected that the tournament should be brought to a close this week.

CHANGE POSITIONS RAPIDLY.
Baseball Teams In the American League Perform Some Rapid Evolutions.

The closeness of the race in the American league is shown by the shakings-up that has taken place in the standings within the last two days.

As the result of one day's play, Detroit jumped from fifth to third place, Chicago from fourth to second, and New York and Boston occupied fourth and sixth place respectively. Yesterday's games and the shakings-up that followed have saved the standings another jolt, and today Detroit has dropped from third to fourth place, Cleveland has jumped back into third place, while Boston has climbed to the fifth notch. All four teams are within a dozen points of each other, and scarcely a day passes without some change takes place in their positions.

While they are fighting it out for third place, Chicago is pushing the Athletics hard for the lead.

BADGERS TRAIN HARD.
Wisconsin Football Team Plays First Game Next Saturday.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next Saturday at Marinette, the Wisconsin football team will play its first game of the season, meeting the husky eleven of the Marinette national guard. Although not schooled in the fine-arts of the game, as are the "varsity" players, the soldiers are heavy and fast and can be relied upon to put up a stiff game. It is said that Melvin, the famous former player of the Carlisle Indian eleven will be in the line-up of the squad.

Should Rush report in time for the game, he will be given a workout on an end. Other men of promise who will be given a trial in the contest are: Roseth, Gelback, Kuchanstad, Thompson, Deering and Hirschberg.

After the game the "varsity" squad will break camp and return to Madison where strenuous preparations will be made for the Chicago game October 21.

In Time of Peace

In time of peace "Get Rosy." Then you'll be ready for any attack upon your health.

Every drop of strong red blood is a little soldier fighting off trouble for you. The red blood won't do. It's only the RED drops that do the fighting; and they're always on duty. That's why it's so important to "Get Rosy."

Red blood has iron in it—"Organic Iron," or Plant Iron—kind of iron you get in APITZCO, the New Biscuit Cereal. It tastes so good, and has more Plant Iron than any other food.

CUT MADE ON FURNITURE

Board of Equalization Reduces Instead of Raising Rates.

St. Paul, Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state board of equalization sprung a surprise yesterday when it voted for a practical cut in the returns on household furniture, instead of a raise, as contemplated. The standard per capita was reduced from $41 to $39, but even at that quite a number of the counties were raised. The cut was credited to the Democratic members, though in the vote taken there were no negatives.

The return on this class of goods for the state was $11,000,000 odd, against $10,000,000 odd for last year, and it was expected from the start that a raise would be ordered. Ramsey county return was $2,366,682, against $3,075,390 last year, and in Hennepin county the difference was even greater. Last year Hennepin county suffered a 50 per cent raise on this class, and Ramsey $3 1/4 per cent. The various counties, including the two counties, anticipating a similar raise this year, it was said, were active in the movement which brought about a reduction per capita for the state.

ARE YOU ENGAGED?
Engaged people should remember, that after marriage they will be expected to avoid, by keeping their digestion in good condition with Electric Bitters. S. C. Brown, of Bennettville, S. C., says: "For years, my wife suffered intensely from dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver, until she lost her strength and vigor, and became a mere shadow of her former self. Then she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and finally brought her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." All druggists sell and guarantee them, at 50c a bottle.

UNEXAMPLED PROSPERITY

Of Railroads Owing to Prosperous Conditions of Entire People.

The Structural Iron Men Have Orders For Months Ahead.

New York, Sept. 20.—The crop statistics are now obtainable to such a degree that approximate results can be arrived at with definiteness and accuracy, and merchants, manufacturers and business men generally throughout the Union can rely upon it that the coming twelve months will increase the general prosperity of the entire people.

Wheat crops show a very large production, and taken with the corn crop, which promises to break all records, we have plenty of food for our own people and hundreds of millions of bushels of surplus wheat for the people of foreign lands. Wheat is lowering in price for the time being, but observers and students of the world's markets and production believe that later on there will be a recovery in the price, as the production of Russia and the Argentine Republic and that of the United States. This export movement, which will give a great freight tonnage to all the railroads of the North and West, and taken in connection with the carrying of the tremendous corn crop, the large shipments of hogs and cattle, the great activity in iron and all other building materials, the immensely increased tonnage of coal to be carried, the mail and ore shipments, the huge passenger travel, again in the autumn and winter of 1905 the railroads of the United States despite their great equipment will find their facilities, as in former years, inadequate for the business offered them.

Manufacturing establishments dependent upon steady transportation by rail of their raw materials and coal or supplies necessary for the continuation of their business during early fall and winter months will be wise if they at once provide reserves which they will find exceedingly useful later when freight will be at a premium. The want of cars, or possibly be stored in cars on the switches waiting for motive power to take them to destination. The railroads of the country are enjoying unexampled prosperity by reason of the conditions of the entire people. The steel rail people are fully aware of the necessities of the railroads for supplies for extensions, and for new extensions, and see a full demand for the products of the furnaces and mills. The orders for steel rails have in sight all the orders they can fill for months ahead. The coal mining companies are on the alert for future business as to two points: First, to keep the same scale of wages, and second, to secure the best of the road companies for the transportation of the coal. Hundreds of thousands of tons of steel rails have been ordered in the leading railroads of the country within the last thirty days, and the industry of the material will be busy for the companies as soon as it can be supplied by the mills. One special order given a few days since exemplify the magnitude of the business now being transacted in railway equipment. The officials of the Harriman lines ordered seventy-five extra long chair cars for use on their lines of Ogden, each car costing fully $10,000. They also approved an order for 5,200 freight cars and 136 locomotives. The entire order for new equipment, it is estimated, will cost about $10,000,000.

The railroad men of the last decade such orders were unknown, but there is no doubt that in the future they will be even exceeded, huge as they undoubtedly are. The railroads will constantly require increases in their equipment, and their order books will grow with each year. One of the centers of the most marked activity in railroad work is being the line recently opened between Salt Lake City and Los Angeles. It is said trains are crowded with people going to the various places, and the promoters are flocking in by the thousands. Cities and towns are being rapidly established, mines opened up and a section of the country hitherto without interest to the people of the Union is about to become a prosperous wide-awake and well populated portion of the Union.

The Southern Pacific company, appreciating the commercial importance of the Tonopah and Goldfield section, is about to inaugurate a through speedy service between these gold camps and San Francisco. Through buffet sleepers, with full cafe service, will leave San Francisco each evening at 7 o'clock, arriving at Tonopah the next evening at 7 o'clock. And this through to a country that five years ago not 1,000 people in the United States knew except as a desolate desert. It is this desert country that is now helping on the general prosperity by turning out annually millions of dollars in gold, and probably will continue to attract both labor and capital to its mines and mills, giving good dividends to the railways which obtain its tonnage and passenger traffic. The slurs which have been cast at Nevada for many years as a rotten place, no other state in the Union will show such a large percentage of increase in population in the next census as Nevada. All over the state business is extending very rapidly, and from every state in the Union men are now going to Nevada. The population is becoming fixed and permanent.

At present there is no state in the Union that has such a cosmopolitan population. Every known country in the world is represented in Nevada today and every state in the Union from Maine to California has its sons in Nevada.

Nevada is on the map to stay, and the hundreds and thousands of people already in her borders give her full authority to demand a state. The famous Comstock lode has been completely overhauled and the old mining works put into complete working order. More men are employed upon the lode than at any time for the past fifteen years. The lower levels are being rapidly unwatered and the men active in pushing the work hope to achieve great results from the richly mined lode. One of the most encouraging facts of the mining situation in the West is the agreement reached by the mine owners and miners of Montana, who on Aug. 30 united upon a scale of wages running to Oct. 1, 1906. It meant plenty of work at good wages for the men and full employment and good returns on capital invested. It was said the meeting had a very business in the state, and it is to be sincerely hoped that all differences between capital and labor that may arise elsewhere will be as wisely terminated as was the miners' wage schedule in Montana.

With ample food supplies everywhere in the United States at reasonable prices, with steady employment and rates of pay higher than ever known before, both skilled and unskilled labor should be saving money and creating capital for themselves, and the workmen are doing so the savings bank deposits in every state bear full witness to the history of the country so prosperous as they are today.

SECRET MEETING OF STATE BOARD

Of Investments to Consider Ways of Securing More Money.

St. Paul, Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Runners were current about the state capital yesterday of a secret meeting of the state investment board late Monday, but the story was denied by State Auditor Iversen. On the other hand, it was said the meeting had to do with a proposition to reopen discussion on State Treasurer Bick's recommendation to the board to consider the sale of holdings in Virginia fund bonds, so as to satisfy the increasing applications for state loans. Mr. Bick was turned down when the recommendation was first made.

Applicants for loans from the state school fund from the various counties are piling up in State Auditor Iversen's office, and he is unable to satisfy them all. They can only be met as the money comes in, and despite statements made by members of the board, the money is not coming in to the extent of that promised. The sale of state timber to be made shortly is primarily for the purpose of meeting some of the applications, but it will not be a drop in the bucket. Governor Johnson, it is said, attended the secret meeting, but he, like the others, has nothing to say.

HIS IDEAS WERE TOO ORIGINAL

Waiter Resents Insult and Gives Inebriate Hard Jolt.

It is not always advisable or diplomatic to be too emphatic in the stands you take on certain matters, as a waiter, out-of-control, learned to his sorrow this morning when he was summarily and forcibly thrust from the aromatic warmth of a West Superior street restaurant to the hard coldness of the curb.

The inebriated one had probably started out last evening with a roll of money as big as three dollars' worth of liquor, and he was in a bad way when he staggered past the sign of an eating house on Superior street, between Second and Third avenues. The tables looked very attractive, so he decided to go in and give his inner man an antidote for his outer man. He had some difficulty in docking in to the bar, and he was a bit of a trouble to the waiter, who was a bit of a trouble to the waiter. The waiter, who was a bit of a trouble to the waiter, was a bit of a trouble to the waiter. The waiter, who was a bit of a trouble to the waiter, was a bit of a trouble to the waiter.

AN AMERICAN SHOOT HIMSELF IN ENGLAND.

Burnley, Eng., Sept. 20.—A sensation was caused here yesterday afternoon by the shooting of an American, who shot himself twice and fell unconscious. He was taken to a hospital. In his pocketbook was found a card on which was written: "Inform my sister, Mrs. John R. King, of my death." The man had partially regained consciousness.

INCREASE IS ENORMOUS

In Cultivation and Consumption of Coffee, Tea and Cacao.

Characteristic Feature of the Last Quarter of Century.

FROM THE HERALD WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Sept. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Coffee, tea, and cacao trade of the world is the subject of a monograph just prepared by the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics, which will be published in the forthcoming issue of the Monthly Summary of Commerce and Finance. The report shows the enormous increase both in the cultivation and consumption of these stimulants which is one of the characteristic features of the last quarter of a century. In the case of coffee, the center of production may be said to have been transferred from South America to the East Indies, Java, and Sumatra, which in old times indicated the source of the coffee which was more characteristic of quality and blend. In the case of tea, the center of production has been shifted to the East Indies, China, which may be said to have been the center of the tea trade for the last quarter of a century. The report shows the enormous increase both in the cultivation and consumption of these stimulants which is one of the characteristic features of the last quarter of a century.

The consumption of cacao has increased at a rate even greater than that of coffee and tea. The figures show that the world's consumption of cacao has increased from 1,744,936 pounds in 1884 to 6,328,391 pounds in 1904. The increase in the consumption of cacao has been due to the fact that the cacao tree is now cultivated in many of the tropical countries of the world, and the demand for cacao is increasing rapidly. The report shows the enormous increase both in the cultivation and consumption of these stimulants which is one of the characteristic features of the last quarter of a century.

CHARGES OF FRAUD

Brought Against Officers of the Western Indemnity Company.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Charges of fraud, misapplication of trust funds and attempts to transfer assets to another company, were made in a suit for a receiver and an accounting filed yesterday afternoon against present and former officers of the Western Indemnity company. The suit was filed in the federal court by the Citizens' Industrial Association, E. I. Rosenfield and W. H. Gray, the latter being the organizer of the Citizens' Industrial Association.

both tea and coffee in the measure that new countries and cultivated areas are drawn into the cycle of international trade. The rapid increase in the production in India and Ceylon is a matter of comparatively recent times. The largest growth of cultivated area and production of coffee in Brazil dates back only to the last decade of the last century. Between the years 1885 and 1904 the tea production of India is stated to have increased about 50 per cent during the years 1885 to 1904, and the production of Java during the decade 1893 to 1903 increased about 100 per cent.

Of special interest to the United States is the coffee industry of Porto Rico. Its "harvest year" was 1904, when the island exported 63,753,476 pounds, valued at $8,354,541. The fall in price, which became acute about that time, combined with the hurricane of August, 1905, the change in money standard, and the partial loss of the Spanish, French and Cuban markets, caused an abrupt decline, so that in the fiscal year 1904-1905 the exports were only 12,150,000 pounds, valued at $1,000,000. The export of 1904 being 3,232,372 pounds, valued at $268,271. There is every prospect that the record of the harvest year will be broken in 1905, and the coffee industry of Porto Rico, under the reciprocity treaty, grants to Porto Rico coffee a 20 per cent reduction of duty, and the vast market of the United States, which formerly took only coffee from Java and Sumatra, is rapidly increasing amount of the Porto Rican product.

With the spread of tea cultivation in the Asiatic colonies of Great Britain a marked fall in the price of tea is noted. The import price of tea brought into this country has fallen from 18 1/2 cents per pound in 1873, the highest price marked during the last century, to 12 1/2 cents per pound in 1904, when the price was 12 1/2 cents per pound. The price was 12 1/2 cents per pound in 1904, when the price was 12 1/2 cents per pound. The price was 12 1/2 cents per pound in 1904, when the price was 12 1/2 cents per pound.

Without Any Authority, So Far as the Records Disclose.

President Morton Makes Public Report on the Turner Loans.

New York, Sept. 20.—That the Equitable Life Assurance society paid out $218,264 to the Mercantile Trust company, in connection with loans known as the "Turner loans," and that these payments were without authority, so far as the records of the society disclose, became known yesterday when Paul Morton, president of the society, made a public report on the subject submitted by him to the society's directors. The "Turner loan," Mr. Morton's report sets forth, was carried in 1894 by the Western National bank, which was controlled by the Equitable association. The collateral for the loans was objected to by a bank examiner, and Henry B. Hyde then agreed to transfer the loans and collateral to the Mercantile Trust company. At that time, apparently, the loans amounted to $601,491. George V. Turner, Jr., and Louis Fitzgerald, then president of the Mercantile Trust company, and Henry B. Hyde, the loan was guaranteed by Marcus Hartley, John E. Seales, Louis Fitzgerald, Jr., and H. B. Hyde. On March 21, 1895, the same guarantors renewed their guarantee of the loans, and the amount of the loans was increased to $1,276,478. The increase being due to attempts to develop the property on which the collateral stood, and to the fact that the collateral was of little value. Other collateral consisted of contracts for the Kentucky Mineral and lumber company and the Anny Land and Irrigation company of Colorado. Attempts were made to develop the property on which the collateral stood, and to the fact that the collateral was of little value. Other collateral consisted of contracts for the Kentucky Mineral and lumber company and the Anny Land and Irrigation company of Colorado.

The "records of the society," said Mr. Morton, "disclose no authority whatever for these payments, and each entry in respect to them were very obscure." Mr. Morton also sets forth that on Feb. 11, 1900, the executive committee of the Equitable Life Assurance society passed a resolution authorizing the president to convey to the individual guarantors of the Turner loans the assurances of the society for their protection. On Feb. 11, 1900, the president of the society made a statement that those loans were made in the interest of the society and assured the guarantors that the society would see that the amounts their companies loaned would be repaid with interest. Mr. Morton referred the matter to special counsel, who assured him that the Equitable Life Assurance society is not responsible for the loans. Mr. Morton has also notified the Mercantile Trust company that the society will not repay the loans, and that the society will see that the amounts their companies loaned would be repaid with interest.

SEVERE ON SHERRICK

Governor of Indiana Says Auditor Was Gaffer and Gambler.

Immense Sums Lost to the State Through His Crookedness.

Hamilton, Ind., Sept. 20.—In an address at the reunion of the Thirtieth Indiana regiment yesterday, Governor Hanly, the principal speaker, made public his reasons for his action in the case of David E. Sherrick, ex-auditor of state, whose resignation was forced by the governor.

Facts and figures were used to show what became of the money belonging to the state that was lost by David E. Sherrick, auditor of state and common gambler.

The governor charged that $10,000 of the state's money "went by check into the hands of the gentleman who was then operating the Casino" at French Lick.

The governor then enumerated a list of what he called "wildcat securities" aggregating a face value of $75,000, in which the state's money went.

Following he charged that Sherrick's continued absence from the sessions of the state board of tax commissioners "was occasioned by drinking bouts and midnight carousals around the gaming table, from which he could not recover in time to meet with the commission."

He charged that Sherrick at the time the monorail came up for assessment argued that the assessment be all-lowed to remain at $18,000, because in that case a friend of his to whom he was under great obligations personally could get permanent employment with the company if the assessment could be kept at $18,000. This part of the speech concluded:

"There is evidence, overwhelming and convincing, that Mr. Sherrick was a common gambler and that he was at the time of his resignation, and had been for two years, in the habit of losing large sums of money, not his, but yours, at the gaming table. Certain people claim that gambling and an open door to vice are essential to the material prosperity of municipal communities. I do not think so. But you are the jury. It is for you to decide."

"Before my inauguration I received trustworthy information that he had written to the management of several railway companies in the month of December, 1904, over his own signature as auditor of state, asking them to send him all passes intended for members of the general assembly then about to convene."

"He stated in substance that he expected to have some legislation of personal interest passed by the assembly, and that if they would send their transportation to him for distribution to the members of the assembly, he would be cared for at the same time. For three weeks the office of the auditor was a place where a broker's office for the distribution of free passes to such members of the general assembly as would receive them."

"On the evening of the 13th of September I was informed by one who had been riding with him, and in whose confidence, that he could not make payment on the 15th. I then sent him a notice demanding for his immediate resignation. The next morning his resignation did not come but some of his friends did come and told me that the money could be raised only upon the condition that the defalcation be kept secret and that he be retained in office."

"Upon inquiry I learned that some of the men who were to furnish the money were the representatives of large railway interests in the state. Mr. Sherrick and his friends were depending upon them and their assistance depended upon his retention in office. I could make no such bargain as that."

"As to the statement that the public officers, municipal, county and state, are doing as Mr. Sherrick did, I need only enter a general denial. It is not true. They are not doing it. Some of them may be, but if any proof of that fact is established I pledge you here that such officers will have successors within thirty days after the information comes to me."

THE UNIVERSAL PEACE CONGRESS

Begins Sessions at Lucerne With Many Delegates Present.

Lucerne, Switzerland, Sept. 20.—The universal peace congress began its sessions yesterday in the theater of the Kursaal with 340 delegates in attendance. In the large American delegation are Rabbi Louis Grossman of Cincinnati and several members of New York and Boston civic organizations and boards of trade. C. M. Comtesse, a member of the Swiss government, was elected honorary chairman and delivered the opening address. He outlined the progress of the Pacific movement, pointing out, however, amid applause, the necessity for safeguarding the patriotic idea and providing for the national defense.

Frederick Passy, formerly a member of the French chamber of deputies, on behalf of France, also spoke in favor of a world-wide peace.

B. F. Trueblood of Boston, read the report of the American delegates, who present a proposition analogous to that recently adopted by the inter-parliamentary congress at Brussels, favoring a second conference at The Hague for the purpose of drawing up an international arbitration treaty and also favoring periodical congresses for the discussions of questions relating to the limitation or reduction of armaments and the protection of neutral commerce against belligerents.

A Chinese delegate evoked applause by protesting against European military dictatorship against China where he said peaceful ideas prevail.

The opening session devoted mainly to organization. Elie Ducommun of Berne was unanimously elected president of the congress.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

The Cherokee national council convened Tuesday in final session. The last to be held before the dissolution of the territorial government next March. An informal vote taken by the council unanimously favored separate statehood for Indian territory.

Almost the entire business section of La Porte, a town in the mountainous region east of Mayville, Ind., was destroyed by a fire Monday that started in the Chinese quarter. The loss is about $100,000, partly covered by insurance. Governor Johnson has appointed ex-Governor Van Sant as his representative at the meeting of the Upper Mississippi improvement company at La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 10 and 11.

Van Sant was made because of his well known interest in this enterprise. Mr. Van Sant will deliver an address at that time in place of Governor Johnson. Persons, the London publishers, have just completed negotiations for the acquisition of 250 square miles of forest area in Newfoundland, and a company is being formed for the purpose of establishing pulp mills on a large scale. The government requires that $1,000,000 shall be spent on the property within the next three years.

LITTLE BUSINESS TALKS

When one wants a particular commodity one is much gratified to come upon an advertisement telling where it may be had, what it will cost and other facts about it.

The information is in the nature of news, which is more important to the person interested than data concerning the session of a legislative body or the status of the Equitable war.

Wise merchants recognize this. They are hungry for store news, and enrich their "ads," accordingly.

THE BANIER ORE CARGOES

Steamers Gary and Perkins Smash All Former Efforts.

Six Hundred Footers Will Be In Game Next Year.

The steamer Elbert H. Gary, which went into commission on May 20, this year, and started out by smashing ore-carrying records, has been keeping up her opening gambit all season, and is at this time far and away in the lead on record-hauling. For instance, only a short time ago she carried through the canal at the Sault a cargo of ore bound from Ashland to South Chicago amounting to 11,000 tons, which makes insignificant all previous records of any boat in the trade. As a sample of the rapidity of the carrying capacity, it may be noted that the record through the Sault for ore-carrying was last season set by the large Maull, which in that year carried 7,500 gross tons through. In 1904 the large Smeaton broke the record of the Maull by taking 7,576 tons through. The steamer Elbert H. WITHROW'S YEAR BUSY

Humane Society Agent
Reviews Work of Twelve Months.

Officer to Make Annual Report at Society Meeting.

Many valuable suggestions are contained in the report of Humane Officer Withrow, which will be submitted to the annual meeting of the Duluth Humane society this evening.

The officer investigated a total of 206 cases, as compared with 231 last year, and 292 the year before. In addition to these, the special officer investigated 104 cases, making a total of 310. Of this number, 24 were in the interests of neglected children, and abused wives, and 199 in the interests of dumb animals and birds.

Thirty-eight children were placed in the state public school at Oatonna, and fifteen voluntary assignments were made to the children's home. Forty-four were placed in the Duluth children's home, nine in the state hospital, and seven in Duluth hospitals.

Nine cases were prosecuted in St. Louis county by the humane officer, and all of them resulted in convictions. The following are some samples of the work done by the officer.

A 14-year-old motherless Italian girl sent to her father in Alaska.

Assisted financially in sending family to California.

Placed a child in an ideal home in Beaver Falls, Pa.

Sent a child to his grand parents in the state of Michigan.

Found good homes for four boys in the country.

Two girls were returned to their homes in West Duluth, by request of their parents, from Minneapolis.

One child placed in good home in Two Harbors.

Nine children placed in good private homes in Duluth and St. Louis county.

Following are some comments and suggestions taken from the report:

"The society accomplished the protection of the birds in a practical way just before the summer vacation. Several hundred buttoned birds were sent to me, were distributed throughout our schools and for a long time we never had so many policemen. Every boy who wore a button considered himself a bird policeman. I was asked for a button to a Sunday school class of boys in Tower, a button for each boy."

"The public institutions of our state that care for children have agents all over the state whose business it is to see that the children placed in our homes receive kind treatment, and that the children are not neglected, and if these conditions are not complied with, it is the duty of the agents to take the child from the foster parents."

"You may place children in our school at Fairbairn for treatment, who are mentally defective, and but little at best can be done for them, but place in our state hospital, where they will receive Christian training, and if these conditions are not complied with, it is the duty of the agents to take the child from the foster parents."

"In submitting our report in the relief work, I desire to call your attention to the fact that in order to give you any idea of the poverty and the needs of the poor, it is necessary that a personal investigation be made, to learn with your own eyes and ears the conditions that exist."

"We have aided fifty-three families during the past year."

CASE IS DISMISSED.

Jury Refuses Mrs. Marcotte Damages For Fall on Broken Sidewalk.

After deliberating less than half an hour, the jury in the case of Mrs. Louis Marcotte against the city of Duluth, returned a verdict for the city, this afternoon, after the second hearing of the case.

On the first hearing the jury disagreed, but today the jurors stood 11 to 1 on the first ballot, and on the second ballot dismissed the case.

Mrs. Marcotte brought suit to recover the sum of $100 for injuries claimed to have been sustained in a fall on a broken sidewalk on First street. Albert Baldwin represented the plaintiff, and City Attorney Foster the city.

Engineers Start Inspection.

Maj. Charles L. Potter, engineer in charge of the Lake Superior district, and Assistant United States Engineer John H. Darling, left this afternoon by rail for Marquette, Mich., where the steam launch Vilette has already preceded them. They will be met tomorrow morning by Col. W. H. Dixby of Chicago, engineer in charge of the Northern division, and the party will proceed to an inspection trip over Maj. Potter's district. Maj. Potter and Mr. Darling are expected to return some time next week.

INSURANCE COMPANIES

Will Be Thoroughly Investigated By State Commissioners.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 20.—Insurance Commissioner Zee M. Host of Wisconsin announced, today, that the insurance commissioners of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Tennessee, Nebraska, Kentucky and Louisiana will meet in New York shortly for the thorough investigation of the New York Life Insurance company, the Mutual Life and the Equitable. This is in accordance with plans agreed on by the commissioners.

FEVER CASES SHOW MARKED INCREASE.

New Orleans, Sept. 20.—Noon yellow fever report: New cases in New Orleans since 6 p. m. Tuesday, 32; total to date, 2,981. Deaths today, 4; total deaths, 349.

The number of new cases of yellow fever in New Orleans during the morning hours showed a considerable increase over the same time yesterday.

CITY BRIEFS

Independent ferry to Superior, 5c.

A sale of unclaimed express packages of the Northern Pacific Express company, at the Central division, against Mary McGillis, who claims title to the property by reason of long residence on the case was tried in Judge Dwyer's court.

C. E. Adams has been appointed attorney to defend Joseph Easton, indicted for cashing a worthless check at Charles Starkweather's saloon on Garfield avenue.

A. H. Fisher and wife, May Fisher, indicted for keeping a house of ill-fame at Chisholm, have pleaded not guilty. They were not able to furnish bail in the amount of $100.

The informal opening display of women's outer garments continues at the Giddings store with unabated interest. The displays are the most magnificent ever made in the Northwest.

Dancing at Oatka Beach tonight. Music by La Brosse's orchestra.

Don M. Cameron of LaSalle Falls, Minn., has been reappointed United States court commissioner by Judge Morris.

The tug Mayflower has been lined up by the collector of the port because Superior has not her official number and her net tonnage shown on her main beam according to regulations. She was reported by Capt. Bennett of the revenue cutter Tanager. Judge Morris has filed his final decree.

In the admiralty case of George A. Kemp of Duluth, Mich., against the steamer Jay Gould, the distribution of the funds received for the steamer, which was brought in by Kemp, will probably be made next week.

C. P. Stapleton, St. Paul, who is a member of the state railroad and warehouse commission, was in Duluth today, but not into the controversy over the inspection of grain between Duluth and Superior. He visited the state inspection at Cass Lake and Sandstone, Minn., and the inspection at Duluth, which he declared, was proving very satisfactory.

B. J. Flynn and his vinegar squad, consisting of twenty young men, are in the city today, dispensing vinegar and cider to Duluth merchants. They are from Rochester, N. Y., and are on their way to the coast.

At the request of A. J. Braden and ten other taxpayers and property owners, City Attorney Bert Foster has filed in district court notice of an appeal from the resolution of the city council allowing the estimate of George B. King of $131.32 for the improvement of Huron street, between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth avenues west. It is understood that the case may not come to trial for the reason that Mr. King is fixing up the street.

CEMETERIES DESECRATED.

Vandals Destroy Monuments In Escanaba, Mich., Burying Ground.

Detroit, Sept. 20.—A News special from Escanaba, Mich., says: Following similar attacks on the Roman Catholic cemeteries at Oconto Falls, Peshtigo and Birch Creek, vandals last night went through St. Joseph's and St. Anne's cemeteries here and demolished the crosses on over 200 monuments, causing damage estimated at $4,000.

Every marble and granite cross in the two cemeteries was either broken or dislodged and the wooden crosses were taken from the graves and piled up in heaps. There is no doubt that the vandals were the cause of the outrage. It is believed from footprints found today that three men were in the party. The damage previously inflicted at Oconto Falls, Peshtigo and Birch Creek also amounts to several thousands of dollars. No motive for the vandalism can be imagined.

Informal Opening Days for Outer Garments. Your presence is desired.

"I've brought just my friends in to have them see this store," said a lady yesterday after showing her friends about the city—"We have taken the Boulevard drive—seen Lester Park—the Aerial Bridge and the Ship Canal, and next on the list, the stores! And do you know, she added, I really feel proud to take my friends through our Duluth stores—they are away above the average, not only for cities of this size, but for cities three and four times the size of Duluth! My friends are from Pittsburg and notwithstanding the fact that Pittsburg is one of the most important cities in this country, she cannot boast of a store like yours!"

Kind words you say? Yes, but not flattery, for she told us only what hundreds of others have said—and, what is true of our store is equally true of the goods we sell—they are not surpassed by any store in the land!

There are those in very large cities that may carry more of any one style—but, no greater assortments—no handsomer or more serviceable things than we do!

Take any branch of our store, beginning with our Exquisite Costumes and Demi-Costumes—Jaunty Tailored Suits for street wear, or Demi-Tailored Suits for party calling or afternoon wear—Rich and Magnificent Furs in coats, scarfs, pelerines, throw-overs, muffs and fur-lined cloth coats—Man-Tailored Separate Skirts—Exquisite Lingerie Waists (of silk mull, imported veilings, handkerchief veilings and nets) or Smart Tailored Waists (of linen, voiles, veilings and novelty materials—) and Tasty Trimmed Waists (of silk, in exclusive novelty effects, chiffon, taffeta, radium silk, crepe de chine) or Lovely Silk Petticoats—beginning with "our special" all silk Petticoats, in twenty different shades to match any gown—unmatchable anywhere at $8.75, and which we sell for $5—and up to the most beautiful kinds at $10, $12.50, $15 and up to $35!

There is absolutely no stock in the Northwest that offers buyers such splendid assortments—exclusive styles, or such exceptionally good values as does this store!

We realized months before we opened our doors that it had to be a store that not only had all these elements—but, must also be able to sell them at prices that would attract the attention of not only women of much means—but also of the woman who studied closest economy, yet who believe the old adage "best is cheapest" and who is able to discriminate between the "flashy" trashy kinds and the tasty and genteel kinds!

That we reasoned well is shown by the splendid business we have built up in less than two years' time—and which continues to increase in volume from day to day, week to week and month to month!

Now, please understand us rightly—we don't say these things as a boast—but merely to acquaint you with facts—for we believe in holding the confidence of the people by letting them know the ins and outs of it—there are no secrets in the successful business of today!

Goods are bought and sold for profit—that is true—but, there's a difference, not only in the buying—from a money standpoint—but, in the taste and judgment used by the buyers—just as there's a difference in art, music or letters! Some prefer the "showy" and "bizarre," or the loud and the ordinary—trying to see "how big" or "how much" can be had for a certain price—while others will aim for the tasty and genteel—crowding as much value in the plainer, simpler and better kinds!

We aim for the latter, and appeal to the trade, who believe in this sort of merchandise; and, that there are plenty who do, is easily demonstrated by our always-busy store!

New things are arriving every day—supplementary styles, so to speak—apparel bought by our Mr. Giddings on his recent trip East—and which always takes from two to three weeks (in some cases longer) to deliver. Among them are stunning effects in long coat Suits, and coats in the tight-fitting styles. Coats of the "Stroller" and "English Great Coat" styles, nearly full length, large and roomy!

The "St. Regis" styles, cut on the lines of Empire models, 48 to 52 inches long—"Paddock" and semi-Paddocks—"Frances" coats with three straps at the back—"Pall Mall" and Chesterfield coats—and several new models in "Swagger" and "High School" coats for bigger girls—all are here in the various cloths, plain or fancy—and trimmed in various ways or perfectly plain tailored—$8.75 and up as high as you wish to go.

These are Informal Opening Days! Your presence is desired!

Officials of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Plead Guilty to Charge.

The Jail Provision of the Law Is Waived on Account of Illness.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Four officials of the Schwarzschild & Sulzberger Packing company of Chicago were fined an aggregate of $25,000 by Judge Humphrey today in the United States district court. The fines followed a plea of guilty to indictments charging conspiracy to accept railroad rebates. The defendants were: Samuel Well of New York, vice president; B. S. Cusey, traffic manager; Vance D. Shipworth and Chess E. Todd, assistant traffic managers. Mr. Well was fined $10,000, the other three $5,000 each. With the entering of the plea, the declaration was made that unless at least one of the cases is immediately settled the life of Samuel Well, who is vice president of the company and is one of the defendants, is in jeopardy. He is said to be a nervous wreck and fears were entertained for his life if he had been allowed to continue under the stigma of an indictment. The plea was entered, it is declared, after a complete understanding had been reached between counsel for the defense and Attorney General Moody. While in Chicago the attorney general

Counsel Hughes Says
That a Start Has Only Been Made.

Intimates That Facts of More Importance Will Soon Develop.

The Probing By the Committee Will Be Most Thorough.

JOHN H. MCCALL,
President of the New York Life Insurance Company.

New York, Sept. 21.—The probing of the methods of life insurance companies was resumed today by the legislative investigating committee. Before the day's proceedings were begun, Charles E. Hughes, counsel to the committee, said that he believed that facts of more importance than any developed thus far, still remained to be brought out. "We have not yet reached the meat of this inquiry," said Mr. Hughes. "In fact, we have only started it." The first witness today was John G. McCullagh of Albany, who is employed by Andrew Hamilton. The checks for $100,000 given by the New York Life to Mr. Hamilton bore McCullagh's name as endorser, but the witness said he knew nothing about the checks. He did not know whether Mr. Hamilton appeared before legislative committees, nor did he know anything about the employer's canceled bonds of the navigation syndicate. In the New York State National bank of Albany. He did not know of any Albany, but knew he was elected a director of the Albany Trust company about a year ago. The witness said he did not know where Mr. Hamilton's books were nor would he know where to find any of the canceled bonds. Mr. McCullagh said further that he knew nothing whatever about the $100,000 paid to Hamilton and concerning which Mr. McCall, president of the New York Life, was examined yesterday. George W. Perkins, vice president of the New York Life Insurance company, was the next witness. He was asked to produce the check for $800,000 given to J. P. Morgan & Co. by the New York Life Insurance company for bonds of the navigation syndicate. These bonds were sold by the New York Life to J. P. Morgan & Co. at the close of the calendar year, Dec. 31, 1903, and bought back on the next business day, Jan. 2, 1904. The check Explanations.

"I do not. I am not the bookkeeper, but I presume the accounts are correct," Mr. Perkins was temporarily excused and Milton Monroe Madison, a bookkeeper of the New York Life, was called. He identified extracts from the books of the New York Life showing that in the Wing & Co. account, the New York Life paid out $1,700,000. Some bonds were withdrawn by the insurance company leaving $1,280,000 bonds in the joint account. Mr. Perkins was recalled and said: "We went into this transaction to get four, sir, that you are under the impression that we went into this business so as to let others make money out of the action, but that was not so. We will skip the motive," interrupted Mr. Hughes. "Let us get at the facts. I do not wish to discuss the matter with you. Let us have the facts." "All right, sir." "Did the New York Security & Trust company buy any bonds for your company?" asked Mr. Hughes. "I cannot say for that was four years ago when I took charge of the insurance department of the company." Mr. Perkins said that in 1888 the New York Life took $2,100,000 of Chicago & Northwestern 2-2 per cent bonds in joint account with Goldman, Sachs & Co., a portion of which was sold with a profit for the insurance company of $13,740. Bookkeeper Madison was recalled and testified that the profits were shared by the life insurance company and Goldman, Sachs & Co., and that if there had been a loss it would have been equally shared. Mr. Perkins again took the stand and said that the firm of C. T. Wing & Co. carried them until they were sold. The profits were divided each receiving $12,180. It was shown that the profits of the New York Life from 1899 to 1901 inclusive in joint accounts were $388,382.

IMPORTANT DECISIONS
GIVEN BY JUDGE DIBELL

No Conspiracy or Fraud Found in the Issuance of Mabel Evans Lease.

Baker and Wilson Acted in Good Faith and Are Innocent Purchasers.

The state mineral lease law is constitutional, says Judge Homer B. Dibell in his decision filed this morning in the action brought by the state of Minnesota to set aside the lease issued to Mabel Evans on what is known as the Virginia silver place of land. In this case the state contended that the mineral lease law under which thousands of tons of ore have been mined from state lands, is invalid and unconstitutional. This contention brought into the case many interests not concerned in the lease in question, for a declaration that the state lease law is invalid meant losses incalculable to mining interests working under them. The attorneys for these interests contended that the law was not only valid because of the practical construction that had been given it by the authorities but also valid under an original construction. Judge Dibell sustains both of these contentions in his decision. He holds that under an original construction of the constitution the state legislature had a right to provide for the leasing of its mineral lands. He holds that the state, its governmental authorities and its people, have put a practical construction on the constitution as to the validity of such a law, to the end that such a lease is not prohibited by the constitution and that as such it should not be disturbed. He also decides that the lease in question issued to Mabel Evans was given upon an application made in the usual form, that Finner and Patterson have no interest in it and never had, and that there was no conspiracy or fraud in its issuance. As to Messrs. B. E. Baker and C. S. Wilson who are defendants he holds that they obtained their interests for substantial considerations and in good faith and are innocent purchasers. He finds that Pearl H. Smith never made an application for the lease orally or written, but was interested in the scrip location and in opposition to the state claim to the land, and that whatever he was trying to do, it was not to get a lease. The decision is a very exhaustive one and traces the law from the earliest days down to the present time. The case was brought by the state of Minnesota against Mabel Evans, George A. Finner, Corvate S. Wilson and B. E. Baker, and was an action brought to set aside a lease granted Mabel Evans. When Attorney General Young raised the question as to the validity of the mineral lease law, the Evans lease issue became secondary and the great interest in the case was upon that point. Judge Dibell's memorandum is as follows: "The plaintiff seeks to set aside the mineral lease and contract issued to Mabel Evans on substantially these claims: "1. That the defendants, Finner and Patterson, the land clerk and the assistant land clerk, were interested with Mabel Evans in the lease and contract. "2. That when the lease was issued another application for a lease of the same land had been made by Pearl H. Smith, and that there was no offering of the lease to the one who would pay the largest sum therefor. "3. That the statute authorizing the issuance of mineral leases and contracts is unconstitutional. "The first claim calls for passing consideration. The evidence does not justify a finding that either Finner or Patterson was interested in the lease. There are some suspicious circumstances. That is all. "The second claim does not call for extended consideration. Smith says that he applied to Finner for a lease on Dec. 12, 1902, and tendered the initial payment. Finner says he did not. The witness Bradshaw is candid, but he fails to give Smith very substantial corroboration. "Smith's story is that Finner told him that he would have to see the state auditor; that a meeting was arranged to be had at the Ryan hotel; that Finner then told him that he had not been able to see the state auditor; and that about the end of the month, and after the issuance of the Mabel Evans lease, Finner told him that the property was in litigation and that the auditor would not issue a lease. "During all that time Smith was interested in scrip land, and he was in the condition was this: The state claimed the land as swamp land. The Smith interests claimed that it was

FLYER JUMPS THE TRACK WHILE RUNNING AT HIGH RATE OF SPEED
East Bound California Flyer Meets With Accident —Passengers Have Narrow Escape.

Newton, Kan., Sept. 21.—The east bound California flyer on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road was wrecked at Walton, a small station, eight miles east of here, last night. Fred Kempnick of Chicago, second cook on the dining car, was badly scalded. No one was killed. Five persons were injured, among whom Kempnick is perhaps the only seriously hurt. He may die. The others injured: Grant Conrad, Los Angeles, member of the board of public works, shoulder badly sprained; Callender, Los Angeles, ankle sprained; Effie Lawrence, Havlin, Mo., ankle sprained; Miss Violet Dale, member of vaudeville circuit, badly shaken up, not serious. The train, which probably is the fastest in the Santa Fe service, was running at a speed of about forty miles an hour at the time of the accident. As the train approached Walton the trucks of the baggage car left the tracks followed by the dining car and the sleeper followed. The dining car and the sleeper ran for about 100 feet on the ties and then turned over. Fortunately the muddy bank broke the force of the fall, and most of the passengers were enabled to alight in safety without sustaining any injuries. William Britt, manager of the prize fighter of the same name was on the train with the moving pictures of the recent Britt-Nelson fight. Neither Britt or the pictures were injured.

NEW ORLEANS NOW MAKING READY FOR THE PRESIDENT

New Orleans, Sept. 21.—While the fact that the Arkansas authorities have asked ten days' time in which to give a definite answer to Dr. White's inquiry as to whether the president's train can enter that state after leaving here has caused some disappointment, it is the expectation of the health authorities that the situation will have sufficiently improved by Oct. 1 to warrant the officials of the sister state in their giving the permission. Meanwhile New Orleans is going forward with its preparations to receive the president and it is the opinion of the entire medical fraternity that he can come here without the slightest risk. The conditions here are constantly improving notwithstanding occasional jumps in the number of cases, the clearing of other types of fever, yellow fever, being responsible for the unfavorable aspect of

TRANSFERRED

Passengers Have Considerable Trouble Getting Across the Atlantic.

New York, Sept. 21.—Having been passengers on three different steamers to the famine districts of Andalusia say that entire trains of emigrants are leaving to embark for South America. Many families are abandoning their homes and farms. Some villages in Galicia have been totally deserted through despair of receiving the promised relief. The steamship companies announce that fifteen steamers loaded with emigrants will leave Andalusian ports in October. The press is urging the government to adopt energetic measures against wholesale emigration to America.

WHOLESALE EMIGRATION

Account of Famine.

Madrid, Sept. 21.—Dispatches from the famine districts of Andalusia say that entire trains of emigrants are leaving to embark for South America. Many families are abandoning their homes and farms. Some villages in Galicia have been totally deserted through despair of receiving the promised relief. The steamship companies announce that fifteen steamers loaded with emigrants will leave Andalusian ports in October. The press is urging the government to adopt energetic measures against wholesale emigration to America.

ORANGE SHIPMENTS

From California During Past Season
Were 29,000 Cars.

San Francisco, Sept. 21.—According to reports of traffic officials of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific, the number of cars of oranges sent East during the season just closed was 29,000. This includes shipments from Butte county and the San Joaquin section, as well as from Southern California, the bulk, however, coming from the latter section. All shipments are included that went out of the state by rail. In these 29,000 cars there were 10,488,000 boxes. The total value of the shipments was approximately $25,925,000. Of this amount it is figured that the orange growers and shippers got $14,500,000. The remainder, or $9,425,000, went to the railroads and refrigerator lines for freight and icing charges. For the season that opens early in November the railroad people estimate there will be 30,000 cars for the Eastern market.

A NAVAL ARMISTICE IS ARRANGED BY ADMIRALS.

Vladivostok, Wednesday, Sept. 20.—The Russian and Japanese fleets commanded respectively by Rear Admiral Jessen and Vice Admiral Kamimura met in Koruloff bay Sept. 18 and the armistice arranged for the terms of the naval armistice. The conference, which lasted five hours, determined on the zones in which ships of the two nations are free to circulate and regulate the question of contraband.

ATTACHES START FOR HOME.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 21.—Brig-Gen. Thomas Barry, Captain Leconte and Col. John Van Hoff, the American military attaches in Manchuria have started for home. They are returning by way of St. Petersburg.

DISSATISFACTION

Over the Treaty of Peace Grows Less
In Tokio.

Tokio, Sept. 21, 1:30 p. m.—The expressions of dissatisfaction over the terms of the treaty of peace, in the columns of the local papers are not as frequent as they were some time ago. At the time of the outbreak of popular indignation occasioned by the intervention of three European powers at the close of the war between Japan and China the cases of papers suspended, exceeded 200, ten of which were in the hands of the government. It is twelve days since its publication was ordered stopped. The news of the Russian emperor's proposal to hold a second peace conference at The Hague, has not so far evoked any comment by the papers.

FOUR MEN BADLY HURT
BY FALLING FLOOR.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Four men were injured here today, three fatally, in the old county courthouse which is being torn down to make room for a new structure. The flooring in the center corridor of the fourth floor of the old county building gave way, burying the men in the debris. The injured men were taken out and removed to a hospital.

SEVEN YEAR OLD BOY ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Marquette, Wis., Sept. 21.—Leon Cram-bur, 7 years of age, charged with murdering his mother's old sister, was placed in jail here today. A coroner's jury found that the boy set fire to his mother's house, which was a cradle and burned the baby to death. The youngster is supposed to be a pyromaniac. He had started fire several times before.

CHINESE CUSTOMS INCREASE.

Shanghai, Sept. 21.—The Chinese customs returns for the second quarter of 1905 show an increase of nearly 30 per cent over those of 1904. In Shanghai the increase was nearly 60 per cent.

PRESIDENT HAS LONG SECRET CONFERENCE WITH ADVISERS

Oyster Bay, Sept. 31.—Secretary of State Root, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts and Joseph H. Choate, who spent last night at Sagamore Hill as guests of President Roosevelt, left for New York today. The conference between the president and his visitors was admittedly important. The principal topic of discussion was the recent disclosure in the investigation of the conduct of the life insurance companies of New York, being made by a committee of the New York legislature. The president has in course of preparation his annual message to the congress and as he proposes to discuss the insurance question in that message, naturally desired to confer with his close friends as to the manner in which he should treat the subject. It is known that the conference continued until a late hour. No details of it are obtainable. It is known, however, that the president has manifested for but will know definitely after his message regarding the conduct of New York life insurance companies and has had in mind the desirability of federal regulations of such companies. Under the law as it now stands the bureau of corporations of the department of commerce and labor has no control over the insurance corporations. It can only make an inquiry into their business for the purpose of gaining information, but it cannot supervise them in any way. The president has been urged to recommend to congress the enactment of such legislation as will give the federal government supervisory control of insurance companies. Whether the disclosures regarding the payment by certain corporations of campaign contributions has anything to do with the present inquiry by the president or whether the disclosures are a result of last night's conference cannot be told.

CUBANS THROW FILTH ON U. S. COAT OF ARMS—GOVERNMENT IS SORRY

Washington, Sept. 21.—Mr. Quesada, the Cuban minister today expressed himself in the strongest terms against the alleged outrage perpetrated on the American consulate at Cienfuegos by the throwing of filth on the coat of arms over the entrance to the building, and said that the Cuban government will deal with the matter in the most energetic way. He called at the state department today, and personally handed to the acting secretary of state a copy of the following cable he had received from Senor Oñer, secretary of state of Cuba, dated yesterday, expressing the regret of the government and people of Cuba at the occurrence: "This morning the coat of arms of the United States consulate at Cienfuegos appeared defiled. Express to the secretary of state how deeply the government deprecates this occurrence, which is interpreted as a demonstration of hostility on the part of the Cuban people towards the American people but as an isolated act due to a criminal hand to the end of creating difficulties to the government. An immediate and scrupulous investigation has been ordered to punish the author of such repugnant action."

BEDE GOING ON TRIP TO SANTO DOMINGO

Washington, Sept. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Bede, who has been in Washington several days on departmental business, said this morning that he intends going to New York tomorrow. Mr. Bede has partially promised certain of his constituents in Ohio to make a trip to Santo Domingo with them. Some of these gentlemen are from New York State, and some from Ohio, and will there await the coming of Mr. Bede. Just at this time Mr. Bede is doubtful whether he can make this ocean trip, but will know definitely after his arrival in New York. Should he conclude to make the voyage he will go from New York for San Juan on Saturday and be away about three weeks. When he returns Mr. Bede will go to Ohio to participate in the campaign. He will probably devote his spellbinding abilities to the lower tier of counties, addressing large crowds in such towns as Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus, Springfield and probably Columbus.

JAP ADMIRAL DECORATED BY EMPEROR OF KOREA.

Seoul, Sept. 21.—Admiral Araki, who refitted the Russian protected cruiser Varang, was given an audience by the emperor and decorated before he sailed for Japan on Tuesday last, Sept. 19. It is probable that he has been recalled to raise the Japanese battleship Mikasa, sunk in the harbor at Saicho. The Russian cruiser Varang was sunk by the Japanese fleet at Chemulpo on Aug. 19, 1904. The Russian cruiser Korietz was sunk at the same time.

SHIPS TO RESUME SERVICE.

San Francisco, Sept. 21.—War between Russia and Japan having come to an end, the Toyo Kisen Kaisha or Japanese steamship company, is to resume its regular mail, passenger and freight service between San Francisco and the Orient. It was officially announced that the service will be resumed Sept. 25, when the steamer Komoro will leave Kobe for this city, arriving here on Oct. 17. On her Eastern trip she will leave on Oct. 27 for Hongkong.

POLICE ARE INSUFFICIENT.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Sept. 21.—Governor General Skalon has issued an army order drawing attention to the insufficiency of the police to quell the general ferment in Russian Poland, and to the fact that it is necessary that the military authorities act vigorously and fearlessly in restoring order.

THE CHILL OF FALL CALLS OUT

The Topcoat!

Men of all ages and conditions of life are constantly growing more careful and discriminating when it comes to the selection of a new garment, especially such an important one as a topcoat. To most men, even of middle or advanced age, style is nearly everything, and they seek that dressy, refined, clean-cut appearance frequently with a touch of the swagger in it, almost as keenly as the most ambitious college boy.

Therefore, we cater above all to style, not forgetting for an instant quality and tailorship.

LATEST STYLES AT GLASS BLOCK

Store Crowded With Buyers at the Fall Opening.

The Glass Block store is celebrating its annual fall opening and Duluth women are calling there in large numbers to admire the fall fashions which are presented in so attractive a manner by the management. The second floor is of course the place where everybody goes and in the profusion of beautiful things shown there, it would be a fastidious taste indeed that could not be satisfied.

In the coat and suit departments, there are garments of style and beauty shown, almost without end. The long coat suit prevails and it is offered in the new greens, mulberry and the attractive and practical grays. In the coats, the long fur-lined garment always is sure of a host of admirers for it is an article of attire that is most serviceable and sensible for the climate of Duluth. One especially beautiful model was of the most exquisite black broadcloth lined with gray squirrel backs, with a high collar of Persian lamb, which continued down either side of the front as a facing.

Evening wraps in the most delicate shades are displayed that would coax the superlatives from the most cautious choicer of English and evening waists and lingerie effects are seemingly more beautiful than ever before. Waists of the more practical variety for everyday use were adorned in colored taffetas, nuns' veilings, albatross and mohairs. Plaids in new and very smart effects were shown and the skirts heavy enough to be worn through the entire season.

The fur department is like all of the other—most complete and offers a variety to choose from. In spite of the biting northeasters to which Duluthians are treated, the fur pieces which are shown are flat and small. They boast no high collars and the skins in which they are shown are ermine.

IS FAMOUS FOR HEALTH

Duluth's Reputation as Healthiest City In World Is Spreading.

Children's Diseases and Senility Are Principal Causes of Death.

"Duluth stands first as the healthiest city in the world," is now a stereotyped phrase on the top of the monthly reports sent out by the health department to all the principal cities in the country.

The words are printed in large red type, and are substantiated by the death rate, which is given as less than nine per thousand of inhabitants for a year.

The report of the health department for August, which has just been completed by Secretary Johnson, is even more convincing along this line than the previous ones. From it people might get the idea that if children safely pass the second year they die only of old age in Duluth.

The total number of deaths for the month was seventy-seven, not including the ten still births. Of this number twenty died of cholera infantum or enteritis before they reached their second birthday.

Of the remaining fifty-seven, seven died of old age, after they had passed their 70th birthday. The remaining fifty, six were drowned, so that only forty-four people between the ages of 2 and 70 died a natural death in the city during the month. Of these only one died from a contagious disease, this one death being due to diphtheria. Five died of tuberculosis and two of typhoid.

The remaining deaths were caused by a score of different causes, no one disease being responsible for more than three deaths.

The total number of births during the month was 144, of whom sixty-nine were girls and seventy-five were boys. This leaves a natural increase in the population for the month of sixty-seven, or at the rate of about 900 a year.

EASY MONEY FOR THE COUNTY

George Horner and Frank Casey Forfeit Their Bail of $500.

The county treasury is the richer by $500 which the courts have declared as forfeited because the persons who put up the money for bail to appear at the recent meeting of the grand jury have left for parts unknown.

George Horner was charged with two other young men with the theft of some rubber tires from a First street establishment and who was bound over to the grand jury, has forfeited cash bail in the amount of $300, and Frank Casey, a colored man who was alleged to have done some fancy carving on another person of his color, decided that $200 cash bail looked pretty small and insignificant to him as compared with his liberty, so he departed without leaving the sheriff or the county attorney his address.

Steve Zagon, who was formerly in the business of dispensing liquors but whom the grand jury decided is now running a house wherein vice is not known, was brought down from Chicago, today and arraigned before Judge Cant.

Effective Sept. 15 Oct. 31st. SMEAR GAME WAS MUCH TOO SLOW

Two Waiters Switched to Poker and Raised the Limit Indefinitely.

Alexander Shillu and Bill Gebhard got into a game of "smear" for 25 cents a game and a 25-cent setback, but the game was too slow for them so they changed the play to poker, without any limit.

In three hours Shillu had won $23 or $24 from Gebhard but the latter did not have the money to cash in, and gave his promise to pay later. About two weeks afterward he met Shillu and said he had a check for $37 which he attempted to get cashed at two different saloons, but failed, and Shillu took the check with the understanding that he was to give Gebhard the balance he had coming whenever the paper was cashed.

Shillu, a few days later, went into the Glass Block store to buy a bottle of hair tonic and tendered the check in payment. The check was again refused to be cashed, and Gebhard was arrested.

Such was the chapter in the history of his life, the bogus check incident is concerned, that Alexander Shillu related to the jury in district court this morning.

Shillu was indicted by the last grand jury on a charge of forgery in the second degree. The grand jury accused him of passing on a young woman in Pantan & White's a check payable to be made out to Bill Gebhard and signed by J. P. Dolan, in the amount of $37.

Shillu is defended by C. A. McPherrin.

MARCH PLANNED AGAINST BEARS

Marksmen to Go After Them In Earnest
Sunday.

Four brave soldiers and true sons are going to march against the bears Sunday. They will not seek the Russian variety but will make a desperate effort to engage some of those who have been plinking in the gardens so much this fall.

The party is composed of the following members of Company C, Quartermaster Sergeant Leo Ziegler, Corporal Frank Smith, Private Harlow Fischer and musician Thomas Benhardt. All of them are marksmen and the bears could not be in greater danger if President Roosevelt himself was going to hunt in this vicinity.

All of the guardsmen are confident that they will return with many bear skins. They are even thinking of hiring a truck to accompany them to the woods and bring their bagged game to town.

Marksmen, Benhardt is rejoicing in the possession of a new gun and he is certain of success with it. The other sharpshooters will carry tried and true weapons. Mr. Benhardt is rather nervous about the bears, but he has a gun a week ago as he could have sat upon his back porch and plugged away at them all day long. Charles King would call a post-prandial cigar.

Of the others regret that they were not more alive to the situation then, too, all are looking forward to a day in the open air with much pleasure in view of the beautiful weather.

SOME AUTO FEATS.

When L. Carle a short time ago drove his 14-horsepower car, weighing over a ton, down the steep chute at the Crystal Palace, says Tit-Bits, the thousands of spectators held their breath in apprehension of a terrible catastrophe; and when the daring motorist checked what promised to be a headlong flight and brought his car to a full stop in the middle of the chute they gasped with amazement, while Mr. Carle, who appeared to be the only cool, self-possessed person present, smiled and raised his hat.

One cannot help wondering what would have been the sensations of the spectators of this feat if they had seen that mad performance of James Carroll, at Tacoma, Wash., some time ago. Mr. Carroll, surely the most daring, not to say reckless, of men, actually drove his car, weighing one and a half tons and brakeless, down a wooden staircase of 700 steps. Scarcely had the machine started on its perilous descent than every tire was torn off the wheels; while, a third of the way down, the monster car had reached a speed of eighty miles an hour and was taking leaps over twenty steps at a time. And yet, marvelous to relate, the journey was successfully accomplished, although when at last its meteoric flight was arrested and the car was brought to a standstill, it was found that almost every part of the mechanism was broken.

In comparison with such a sensational performance as this, one hears without tremor of a motor car climbing the roof of a house. This feat was undertaken by a North country motor manufacturer, who, in order to demonstrate the power and brake efficiency of one of his cars, drove it up a specially constructed chute to the top of a two-story workshop, climbing the slate roof, and then descended backward to the ground, the remarkable double journey being made with what appeared to be ridiculous ease and safety. A more perilous venture was that of a Danish chauffeur who, in the presence of thousands of thrilled spectators, drove his car to the summit of the Round Tower at Copenhagen. Running round the tower is a spiral platform not more than twelve feet wide which climbs to the tower's summit, a height of 120 feet, and it was along this narrow track, where the least loss of nerve would have meant a horrible death, that the reckless Dane drove his car, completing his task in half a dozen minutes.

A very clever, although unintentional feat was that of a well-known motorist on one of the steepest hills in Devonshire. The car when near the summit of the hill came for some reason to a stop and began to run backward, to the great alarm of several ladies who were on it; and when the brakes failed to act all but the driver gave themselves up for lost. Luckily the latter kept a cool head, and, gripping the steering wheel, he steered the car on its mad backward course safely to the bottom of the hill, although before it came to a stop it had reached a speed of fifty miles an hour.

One of the most adventurous of motor trips was that of Jules Picard, who for a wager drove his car, weighing one and three-quarter tons, over the Pyrenees. Part of the journey was along a narrow path cut in the mountain side, with the cliff rising sheer on one side and a precipice 1,400 feet deep on the other, the brink of which was but a few inches from the rear wheels of the car. A dangerous venture was the climbing of Snowdon by Harvey Du Cros, Jr., and Mr. Sangster, part of which was along a narrow track between deep precipices, round sharp curves, and up a gradient of one in five. The plucky motorists were stopped at the last ridge before the actual summit by a snow drift over six feet deep, through which it was quite impossible to make headway. "They had to dig out," Mr. Du Cros says, "and further progress was impossible."

Dudley Grideron had similar thrilling moments when he rode 4,000 feet up Ben Nevis on his motor bicycle; and Miss Vera Butler, when driving her car from Grenoble to La Grande Chartreuse, was more than once within an ace of making a headlong plunge down the break-taking precipices.

Once at least a motorist has ventured with his car into the bull ring. His name is Pedro Garcia, and in his car, draped in scarlet, he made a bold entry into the arena at Lorca in Spain, where an especially fierce bull was waiting him. The animal, roused to fury by this strange adversary, made a furious onslaught with lowered horns; the driver, in seeking to avoid a collision, lost control of the car, dashed into the barrier, and was thrown out on his head. This was the bull's opportunity, and with a toss of his horns he hurled his fallen enemy far among the spectators.

HIS LITTLE GAME.

It happened in an uptown Broadway restaurant, says the New York Sun. He and she used to dine together every night in a quiet domestic way, for they had only lately been married. She was a strict teetotaler, while he—well, he wasn't exact. They invariably occupied the same table and were waited upon by the same waiter. They drank ginger ale with their meal, but hubby, by aid of a tin, invaded the waiter into putting a good horn of whiskey into his soft drink every night.

All went well until one evening the wife was more than ordinarily thirsty. Flushed with the thought of a drink, she reached over for her husband's glass, and before he could stop her she had taken a good average sip from it. She coughed and puffed, gave the waiter a glance that froze what was left of the liquid, and the subsequent proceedings interested only the husband.

Argentina Becomes Enemy to Uncle Sam By New Tariff.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Unrest in administration circles over what appears to be the development and spread of a hostile feeling toward the United States among the republics of South America.

So far this adverse sentiment has found expression chiefly in the adoption of tariff laws hostile to the United States. The president considers the matter of considerable importance, however, and steps have been taken to ascertain the reason of the feeling of unfriendliness.

Argentina is the latest of the southern neighbors to enact a tariff law discriminating against the United States. The matter was first brought to the attention of the state department through representations on the part of American manufacturers, whose agents in Buenos Aires had sent information regarding the intentions of the Argentine government.

Minister Beaupre in Buenos Aires was instructed to look into the subject and advise the state department as to whether or not there appeared to be a desire to discriminate against the United States in the preparation of the new tariff act.

According to Mr. Beaupre's advice to the state department, there are certain features of the proposed tariff law which will injuriously affect American manufacturers.

The minister has been instructed to make further representations to Argentina in an effort to have the offensive provisions modified.

The situation in Brazil is more serious. According to information received in the state department, that government is flirting with Germany in a manner which promises to lead to an agreement with the Kaiser under which Germany will completely dominate the trade of Brazil.

Because of American recognition of the independence of the republic of Panama, Colombia entertains a cordial dislike for this government and for things American, says John Callin O'Laughlin in the Chicago Tribune.

Special Commissioner Calloun is investigating Venezuela's attitude toward American interests with a view to action, perhaps forcible, by this government.

Chile has withdrawn a preferential duty accorded certain American products and imposed an export tax on coffee, which directly affects American consumers, and which will be made a subject of inquiry by the solicitor of the state department, Mr. Penfield, who is now on his way to Rio de Janeiro.

Chile has always entertained a latent hostility for the United States. Some months ago, in order to compel that country to adopt a more correct attitude toward questions in which the American people were interested, it was deemed necessary to make a demonstration with the Asiatic fleet, which was brought to Honolulu, and would have been sent south had not the Chilean government abandoned what was regarded as an unfriendly policy.

Argentina is the latest country to give concern to the president and to American manufacturers. Argentina's tariff law, which was passed in 1904, imposed a duty on agricultural machinery and implements, and the state department received appeals from the International Harvester company and other agricultural manufacturers to take measures to prevent Argentina from imposing what was described as a prohibitive rate of duty upon agricultural machinery and implements.

IS DULUTH A BIT SLOW?

Mayor Says City Is Too Well Satisfied With Itself.

Should Provide Some Attraction For Many Summer Visitors.

"Thousands of people are coming to Duluth every summer in spite of the way we treat them, and not because of it," said Mayor Cullum this morning, in speaking of the necessity for establishing some form of attraction for the summer visitors.

"The tourists come here by the thousands, walk along our streets to the aerial bridge, satisfy their curiosity with a view of the natural attractions of the city, and we pay no more attention to them than if they did not exist."

"We are just a little bit slow here in Duluth. The city is in about the same position as St. Paul was a few years ago when a number of lively and aggressive men went to Minneapolis and built it up until it jumped ahead of St. Paul. The city might well be a little less conservative. We should have more legitimate sports here. By that I do not mean that we should have a push for bigger things."

"Other cities are providing attractions for visitors. Small merchants and farmers and other visitors when they come to the city, want some place to go when they have finished their business, where they will have some form of amusement, a little different from what they can find any place else. Other cities in the East are providing this. I was impressed with it particularly on my last trip to Toledo to attend the meeting of the League of American Municipalities, and I made up my mind then that Duluth should have something along this line."

"Such an institution would bring many thousands of people here every summer from the western part of the state and the Dakotas. Duluth is being talked about all over the country at the present time. The city is more or less in the public eye from its many peculiar natural advantages, and now is the time to start something of this nature. It should be a place where the people can find amusement and recreation, and where they can find a place to go when they have finished their business."

"I believe that every man with anything to sell from a needle to a steamboat, could afford to subscribe to a fund for such a purpose."

"The future for Duluth never looked better, but we are too well satisfied with the prospect, and now is the time to push for bigger things."

John Patton of the Patton & White company, brought a similar idea back with him from the East, and there is apparently a well defined and growing sentiment among the merchants for such an institution for the entertainment of visitors to the city during the summer months, and to attract visitors from the small towns and cities in their vicinity.

The sentiment is likely to result in some action this fall, and a meeting will probably be called in the near future to discuss plans for such an institution.

RAILROADS

MOVEMENT OF FREIGHT

Shipments, Exclusive of Grain, Are Heavy Over All Lines.

Net Earnings of Omaha Road Were $4,249,471 During Year.

The freight business over all lines of railroad entering Duluth is exceptionally good just now. This is true of other shipments than those of grain. The movement of all class of freight appears to be heavy. A considerable amount of coal is moving out of the city and traffic managers of local wholesale houses say the amount of goods being received and shipped by the concerns they represent is breaking all previous records for this season of the year.

The new territory being opened up in the states to the west of here by new extensions of the Great Northern, Soo and Milwaukee lines is proving to be a profitable field for the local wholesalers to work in. The region is almost directly tributary to Duluth, and the Twin Cities and Duluth for the trade is strong. Duluth, with her large wholesale houses, is more than holding her own, and a good share of the business is coming this way. This means an increase in the freight business of the railroads.

PROFITS WERE LARGE.

The Net Earnings of Omaha Road Were $4,249,471 in Year.

St. Paul, Sept. 21.—The twenty-fourth annual report of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha Railway company, which was issued from the general offices yesterday shows that the gross earnings aggregated $11,925,999 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1905. The operating expenses and taxes amounted to $7,676,528, making the net earnings $4,249,471. The net income, counting interest and rentals, amounted to $2,541,129. Out of the income of the year the board of directors appropriated $400,000 for future additions and betterments, which with 7 per cent dividends on both common and preferred, aggregating $2,086,861, leaves the surplus over all charges at $154,288.

As compared with the year ending June 30, 1904, the result was as follows: Total earnings increased, $487,000; operating expenses and taxes increased, $240,688; net earnings increased, $247,041; interest and rentals increased, $247,041; net income increased, $247,041; amount appropriated for future additions and betterments, $400,000; net income over all charges increased, $155,583.

of particulars and had asked that the railroad be directed to file a more specific bill. The court's decision today was in favor of the railroad, Judge McAlhany dissenting. Judge Harker, in giving the prevailing opinion in which Judges Montgomery, Moore and Grant concurred, said that the state was apparently seeking to curtail limit and circumscribe a possible recovery by a bill which would anticipate the proof upon all such subjects. "We think," said the court, "this shows a disposition to exaggerate the office of a bill of particulars. The writ is denied."

ADJUSTING SUGAR RATES

From the Atlantic Seaboard to the Northwest.

St. Paul, Sept. 21.—Twin City traffic officials returned yesterday from Chicago, where they have been in conference with Eastern traffic officials as to the adjustment of sugar rates from the Atlantic seaboard to the Northwest and New Orleans. It was decided to advance sugar rates from the Atlantic seaboard to a normal basis, on the ground that they are at present ridiculously low. The new rates will go into effect Oct. 7 if the roads operating to the head of the lakes concur in the action. Sugar which is in storage at Duluth, Chicago and Milwaukee must be moved before Oct. 23 if the shippers desire to take advantage of the present low rates.

It was also decided to make only one elevator allowance of 14 cents on grain shipments. It has been the desire of freight officials of the West to place the sugar shipment on a sound basis. It is expected that the roads operating to the head of the lakes will concur in the action taken by the traffic officials.

URGENT FULL PUBLICITY

Insurance Men Favor Publication of All Company's Operations.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 21.—Harmony prevailed at today's session of the National Association of Life Underwriters and the threatened split over the resolution presented Tuesday by Delegate Raleigh of St. Louis denouncing misconduct in insurance circles, was averted. A compromise resolution was adopted.

The resolution recommends full publicity to all insurance operations. The report of the executive committee was also adopted. This report recommends that the Raleigh resolution should not be considered because it was "unwarranted and outside the proper province of the National Association of Underwriters."

The first intimation that the crisis, which threatened to cause a split in the convention at adjournment yesterday was averted, came at the opening to today's session when Delegate W. C. Van Tyne of Minneapolis, who led the opposition to the report yesterday, arose and moved the adoption of the report, adding that another resolution would be presented also. The resolution referred to was then offered and adopted unanimously.

Whereas at the present time the attention of the public is directed to evils recently discovered in life insurance to the effect that the long record of faithful handling of funds of policy holders in American life insurance companies is being overlooked, now, therefore, be it

Resolved that the National Association of Underwriters record the fact that the funds of the policy holders in life insurance companies of America have during the past half century been administered with a fidelity, integrity and ability which recent events have but served to emphasize; and be it further: "Resolved, that for the best interests of the policy holders and the companies, both of which in a special sense are committed to us, the association suggests full and free publication of all operations of life insurance companies, as best calculated to minimize future opportunities for evil and to retain confidence of the public in what will surely grow to be the greatest system of organized beneficence in the world—the business of life insurance."

Tokio, Sept. 21.—Regarding the loss of the battleship Mikasa, strong doubt is now expressed that the fire started at the base of the main mast. Otherwise it is inexplicable why the flames were not extinguished by the veteran crew of the ship, which had remained calm under the hottest fire from the Russian guns.

The Duluth-Superior Dredging company is making elaborate preparations for spring and will by that time have a fleet of scows, tugs and dredges, which, it is claimed, will be second to none on the great lakes. Contracts have been let to Napoleon Grignon for the construction of a new fleet and Mr. Grignon has leased a yard from the Northern Pacific at the foot of Sixth avenue west, where he will at once begin work.

The Duluth-Superior Dredging company is composed of a number of the old members of the old Duluth Dredge & Dock company, together with R. B. Knox and Napoleon Grignon. Mr. Knox is brother of the vice-president and general manager of the Bucyrus dredgers concern and it is believed that this concern is interested in the company. Mr. Grignon in the completion of his contract which must be finished by spring will employ 140 men and will build three large dredging machines, two of them to be 10-yard dippers and one of them to be 20-inch hydraulic. They will be among the largest and most powerful on the lakes. The dredge hulls will be 130 feet in length, with a beam of 44 feet and a depth of 14 feet. The dipper dredges will be equipped with Bucyrus dippers.

The company will build four large dumping scows of from 800 to 1,000 yards capacity and three tugs will be either purchased or built.

The La Crosse Dredging company is building a sand-sucker for its work on the filling of the Northern Coal & Dock company of Superior and the new sucker will be in operation shortly. It is understood that the Lake Superior Dredging & Contracting company, formerly E. T. Williams & Company, will build several modern dredges during the coming winter.

STATEMENT IS NOT TRUE

Judge Parker Says Mc-Call's Testimony Was Contrary to Facts.

New York, Sept. 21.—Judge Alton B. Parker, Democratic candidate for president in 1904, last night gave the Associated Press a statement concerning President McCall's testimony relative to the soliciting of funds from the New York Life Insurance company by Democrats in 1904. The statement follows:

"My attention has been called to certain testimony said to have been given by John A. McCall, while a witness before the insurance investigation committee in reply to Mr. Hughes' question whether he thought that in 1904 the interests of the policy holders were so seriously endangered that the company ought to contribute."

"It is evident that Mr. McCall was making his reply, for it is very incoherent. But if his answer is intended to convey the impression that in the campaign of 1904, I, either directly or indirectly, solicited from him or his corporation, or any other corporation, any money or valuable thing, his statement is absolutely false."

"On the contrary, I repeat now what I said before the election, that I expressly notified and directed the chairman of the executive committee of the national committee that no money should be received from corporations."

"William F. Sheehan's attention was called to the testimony of Mr. McCall, and he said: 'I was chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee. There was not a Democratic national campaign that solicited a dollar from Mr. McCall. If any such person made any such solicitation Mr. McCall should name him.'"

"John A. McCall, president of the New York Life Insurance company, referring to his testimony before the legislative committee in relation to contributions to the Democratic party, said last night:

"The meaning I intended to convey when I mentioned Judge Parker was this: Judge Parker, when a candidate for the presidency last year did not personally ask me for campaign funds, but I did so repeatedly."

"Judge Parker as chairman of the state Democratic committee, several years ago, did, however, accept proffered contributions to the campaign fund."

But Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"When my boy was two years old he had a very severe attack of bowel complaint, but by the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy we brought him all right," says Maggie Hickox, of Midland, Mich. This remedy cures all the ailments of children, even cholera infantum, and is sold in all drug stores. A cure is certain. For sale by all leading druggists.

REV. A. W. RYAN PRESIDENT
Will Head Duluth Humane Society For Coming Year.

At the regular annual meeting of the Duluth Humane society, held last evening in the city council chamber, Rev. A. W. Ryan was chosen president of the society for the coming year. The other officers chosen were as follows:

First vice president—Rev. T. H. Cleland.

Second vice president—Rt. Rev. James H. McGovern.

Secretary—Henry Taylor.

Treasurer—J. P. Johnson.

Directors—Mrs. William H. Bates, H. A. Bunker, Walter Turle, Miss Lydia Fuller, Clarence B. Miller, Mrs. G. H. Thompson and Henry Cleveland.

Treasurer J. P. Johnson reported receipts of $1,724.44 and expenditures of $1,492.53, leaving a balance on hand of $231.91.

H. C. Withrow, the society's agent, presented his annual report, containing a record of his work for the year, and some suggestions and comments which were of much interest to the society.

NO BIDS FOR NEW DEPOT

Contract For Construction of Lighthouse Depot Goes Begging.

The Government May Go Ahead With Its Own Work.

Although there were seventeen bidders in competition for the construction of the new government engineers' building at the Duluth ship canal, the fact that there was not a single bidder for the contract to construct a wharf, barge shed and oil house at the lighthouse depot to be established near Superior entry is taken to mean that not all government work is an inducement to the contractors.

The lighthouse engineer at Detroit, Mich., called for bids for the lower Minnesota Point improvement to be opened a few weeks ago, but no bidder submitted an estimate. Whether the government will readvertise for bids or the lighthouse department will go ahead and do its own work under the supervision of its engineers is not yet definitely known. It is understood that there is a possibility of the latter plan of action.

During the past year or two there has been a strong tendency on the part of the government, where bids were not submitted, or were unsatisfactory, to take the work in hand and have it done by the day's work, under the direct supervision of the engineers. This has been true of the United States engineers' department, the pier work at Superior entry now being constructed under the supervision of Major Potter's office.

The lighthouse supply department is distinct from the government engineers' department, although its chief officer is a member of the United States engineering corps, being stationed at Detroit, Mich.

The necessity of a supply depot for the lighthouse in the Lake Superior district at some point nearer than Detroit has been felt for a long time and the last congress provided for the construction of such a depot, also a new lighthouse tender, in the appropriation bill.

The new lighthouse tender to be stationed at Duluth is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, while no figures have been given as to the probable cost of the new depot buildings and wharf. It is understood that the aggregate may not be far from $25,000, possibly a larger amount.

A Mr. Beyer, who is connected with the lighthouse department on the Great Lakes, with headquarters at Detroit, Mich., is in Duluth at the present time and is surveying and laying out the lines on the lighthouse reservation on the lower end of Minnesota Point, where the improvements are to be made. His presence here and the work he is doing is said to lend color to the report that the department is going ahead and supervise the construction work without another call for bids.

The wharf, which is to be erected on the bay side of the point, is to be of pile and timber construction, 195 feet long and 20 feet wide, exclusive of tender piles. The piles are not to be less than 48 feet long, except for the bent at the shore end of the wharf, 14 inches in diameter at the butt end and 12 inches diameter in the middle. Each bent will comprise four piles and the bents will be 13 feet apart.

The buoy shed will be a re-enforced concrete structure 20 feet 8 inches by 22 feet 8 inches and 12 feet 6 inches high from the grade to the wall plates. The footings will be 12 inches thick and 20 inches wide, the foundation walls will be 12 inches and the structure walls 10 inches thick.

The oilhouse will also be a re-enforced concrete structure 25 feet 2 inches by 40 feet 2 inches and 12 feet high. The doors and shutters will be of steel and wrought iron, the idea being to have a building as near fire-proof as possible for large quantities of oil will be stored therein. For this reason the roofing will be of slate shingles.

The site selected for the wharf is about 600 feet southeast of the old lighthouse and the buoy shed and oilhouse will be located about 300 feet from the wharf. The buildings will stand on a gravelly shore and the wharf, which Mr. Beyer is now establishing preliminary to the construction, is being started. The original plans provided that the government would do all the grading.

DAKOTA BEAT OREGON'S TRIP

Great Trip Around the Horn.

St. Paul, Sept. 21.—The Great Northern Steamship company issued a statement yesterday showing that the world famous flight of the battleship Oregon from the North Pacific to the Atlantic during the Spanish war has been outdone by the Great Northern company's steamer Dakota. The Dakota ran from New York to Seattle, making her first stop at Corral, Chile and another at San Francisco. The Oregon on her trip from Puget sound to Cuba made nine stops, the steamer making the distance of the Dakota. The Oregon made several stops, San Francisco, Callao, Port Tamar, Rio Janeiro, Bahia and Barbadoes. This with the detour to avoid Spanish ships increased the Oregon's mileage. She went through the straits of Magellan, whereas the Dakota went around the horn. The Dakota put in at Corral for coal and at San Francisco to discharge cargo, but did not stop an hour owing to defects. From New York to Corral for thirty days, the propeller went 2,760,000 revolutions without one stop.

TROUBLE ON THE EASTON Fight Between Sailor and Cook Brings on Gen- eral Strike.

Strikes, lock-outs and trouble of all kinds came in bunches, for the short space of half an hour yesterday afternoon, on board the Steamer Easton of the Booth line, just as she was getting ready to leave on her regular trip to the South shore.

Yesterday morning one of the wheelmen at Duluth got into a fight in the after end of the boat. The sailor got the worst of it, and was pretty badly mauled when the battle was stopped by Mate Fred Haukman.

For some time past there has been blood between the sailors and the cooks, and the fight yesterday afternoon was the result of a quarrel over the discharge of the cooks. The officers of the company were inclined to grant the request, as it was not the first complaint they had heard, but they did not want to discharge the cooks until others were in sight.

Impatient at the delay, the sailors went on strike, asking for their time, and leaving the boat.

Meanwhile other cooks had been secured, and the old cooks were fired. This made the steward angry, and he asked for his time. He was followed by the waiters in a body, and they all trooped into the pay office, leaving nobody on the boat but the officers and the two new cooks.

When the sailors discovered the cooks were fired, they returned, and meanwhile the officers of the company had been bustling up some new waiters and a new steward. The waiters then asked for their old places back, but they were informed that they were no longer wanted, and by 5:30 all trouble was adjusted, and the steamer got away on her regular trip, only half an hour late.

CONDUCTOR IS HELD UP

Attempt at Robbery on the Highland Avenue Car.

Albert Kumm, conductor and motorman on the Highland avenue car, was the victim of an attempted robbery last night. Kumm had just turned the trolley pole at the far end of the line on the 9:34 trip, when a man stepped out of the bushes and held the car. Kumm followed him to the platform. The man stuck a knife in Kumm's back and tried to force him to get out of the car. Kumm immediately jumped upon the conductor and attempted to rattle his motor in his hand, but the conductor was too quick for him, and turning, he dealt the robber a heavy blow. The fellow rose and fled into the bushes.

The far end of the Highland avenue line is a very lonely and deserted spot at night.

STRUCK BY STREET CAR.

Young Woman Is Caught Between Stone Pile and Passing Car.

Miss Ellen Johnson, a domestic employed by Mrs. Albert Baldwin of 1405 East Superior street, narrowly escaped serious injury last evening about 11 o'clock, by being caught in the narrow passageway between the piles of lumber and stone at the corner of First avenue east and Superior street, and a passing street car.

The young woman, accompanied by Miss Sena Arango and A. Berge, was walking along the street on her way home. She was on the outside, and says she did not hear the motorman sounding his gong. She was struck by the car and thrown to the ground, cutting her face and arm on the pile of stone. The injuries were not serious, and she was able to continue her walk after resting a short time at police headquarters.

WATER SUPPLY OF RANGE TOWNS

State Board of Health to Recommend Its Improvement.

St. Paul, Sept. 21.—Recommendations for the improvement of the water supply in some of the range towns will be made in the near future by Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health who returned yesterday from an inspection of the water supply at Chisholm, Virginia and Hibbing. At Chisholm he found that there was an epidemic of typhoid fever, over twenty cases having been reported and one death as a result of the disease. Samples of water were taken and will be analyzed by the state health department after which certain recommendations will be made.

At Virginia it was found that sewage was being discharged into a stream from which it is thought the water supply of that city might be contaminated. Suit has been brought against the city to prohibit the discharge of sewage, but Dr. Bracken stated yesterday that there was little danger from the disposal of sewage in this manner at present.

Some typhoid was found at Hibbing and

To Recover Money Lost By Auditor Sherrick at Gambling Table.

Indianapolis, Sept. 20.—According to Attorney General Charles W. Miller, who now has in charge the legal matters pertaining to the alleged defalcation of David B. Sherrick, ex-auditor of state, the state will make an effort to collect the money which it is charged was lost by Sherrick at the gambling table.

"The state has the right to follow and collect all funds belonging to the state used by Mr. Sherrick," said Mr. Miller. "Does that mean that the state will attempt to recover the money lost by Sherrick's gambling?" the attorney general was asked.

"I think that my statement covers your question," replied Mr. Miller. The amount referred to lost by gambling was the $10,000 that Governor Harrison had advanced to Sherrick.

FAIR MOST SUCCESSFUL

Lewis and Clark Exposition Makes Record in Fair Line.

Considering Its Size, Attendance Better Than at Other Fairs.

Portland, Or., Sept. 21.—When the gates of the Lewis and Clark exposition are closed for the last time on Saturday night, Oct. 14, the exposition will have made a record that will place it in the front rank as the most successful world's fair ever held. Comparative statistics compiled by F. B. Davidson, chief of admissions for the exposition, show that the attendance has been better, considering the size of the undertaking, than that of any other fair, passing even the Trans-Mississippi exposition at Omaha, which is conceded to have been the most successful of all fairs.

The total of admissions registered by the turnstiles of the Lewis and Clark exposition, up to and including Sept. 12, was 1,780,339, an average of 17,216 a day. The total of admissions, for the whole period, at Omaha, was 2,515,098. The Trans-Mississippi exposition, however, ran for a period of five full months, while the Lewis and Clark exposition period is but four months and one-half. Deducting one-tenth, then, in order to make a fair comparison, gives 2,352,138 as the total which the Western world's fair will have to reach in order to be regarded as successful in point of attendance as was Omaha. In order to reach this number, the daily attendance for the remainder of the exposition period must average over 17,000 a day. This is 200 less than the average has been to date, and as the experience of every exposition has been that the attendance increases as the fair progresses, there can be no doubt that the Portland fair will register more admissions during the four and one-half months of its existence than any exposition of a similar size during a like period.

The Omaha exposition was regarded as the most successful of all fairs, because it was the only one which did not result disastrously from a financial standpoint. The exposition not only paid all its obligations, but returned to its stockholders in the enterprise 98 per cent of their investment. The performance of the Lewis and Clark exposition, an enterprise of about the same magnitude, in equalling the attendance record of Omaha, is more notable by the circumstance of the present world's fair being located in a sparsely settled territory. Within 900 miles of Omaha—a day's journey—live 13,000,000 people, nearly one-fifth the population of the United States. The population within a radius of only 1,500,000 people.

Many things have contributed to the success of the Portland exposition. The first place is a good show. There are many things to be seen at the Lewis and Clark exposition that have not been displayed elsewhere, and the grounds are more beautiful than any before utilized for a similar purpose. The exposition management and the people of Portland have given their guests a square deal. There have been no shams in the exhibition grounds. Hotel and restaurant rates in the city have been so reasonable that there has been no complaint.

The desire on the part of many thousands of people to see the great Pacific Northwest has been the cause of the exposition management to have contributed largely to the attendance from the Eastern states. The rates have been placed the Western trip within the means of the average citizen. Exploitation of the country, by the connection with the exposition, attracted the attention of thousands to the wonderful opportunities possessed by the Pacific Northwest, with unexpected results.

Prior to the Lewis and Clark exposition, 74,000 excursion tickets to the Pacific coast were sold from points east of the Mississippi river, and of this number no less than 61,570 were held by persons who visited Portland. The Lewis and Clark exposition from the first was designed to be an exposition of the resources not of Oregon, but of the entire Pacific Northwest. It was intended that the fair should be the means of acquainting the great numbers of Eastern people with the situation in the Northwest, and this has been accomplished already to a much greater extent than originally was anticipated. A vast majority, probably four-fifths, of the visitors from the East have taken advantage of the opportunity to see not only the resources of the Pacific Northwest, but also the state of California and Idaho, with a result that the sister states have profited nearly as much as the state which gave the big fair its being. Hotels in Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma, San Francisco, Los Angeles and other points have been taxed to handle the crowds of tourists, and many of those who came to see the country have liked it so well that they have stayed in the West. This has been true notably among the farmers and people of ordinary means, the kind of settlers the West is looking for.

The exposition has still several weeks to run, with every prospect of the final weeks being the best attended of any during the fair period. The attendance all along has been steady, except on special occasions when great increases were recorded. The largest day so far was the Fourth of July, when the turnstiles registered 53,703 admissions. At Omaha the attendance on the largest day was 93,845; at Atlanta, 53,336; at Nashville, 38,578; at the San Francisco Mid-Winter fair of 1893-94, 90,097; at the Merchants' Export exposition at Philadelphia, 46,926; and at Charleston, 23,978. In every instance the home city's day at the fair has been marked by the greatest attendance. Portland's day at the Lewis and Clark Exposition is Sept. 30, and it is expected that the attendance will be rolled up on that day.

For the remainder of the fair period there are a number of attractions which should draw great crowds. No table among these are marked by the dates for which are Sept. 19 to 20 inclusive, which is to be the biggest thing of its kind ever held in the West, and one of the greatest live stock exhibitions ever held anywhere. The state of Washington will hold a special celebration Sept. 27, which has been designated as Washington day.

FREAKS OF LIGHTNING

Playing Strange Pranks In the Kansas Oil Country Lately.

One Killed Had His Blood Turned to Salt Water.

Chanute, Kan., Sept. 21.—Lightning has been playing strange pranks in the oil country lately. Within three months the tanks of the Louisiana Purchase Oil company at Cleveland, O., T., have been struck by lightning three times and the loss of 75,000 barrels of oil has been suffered.

No other tanks have been struck in the field during that time. In fact, all the lightning around Cleveland has been directed to the tanks of that particular company. The loss of 75,000 barrels of oil has been suffered.

Each time the destruction came without warning. In addition to the oil, four drilling rigs have been consumed and four derricks. It has got all the people around Cleveland looking for lightning. They think the particular lease is hoodooed and the company is finding it a hard job to get men to go to the property to work.

"You can talk to me," said Tom White, who has been around all the oil fields in the world from Kansas to Santa Maria, "about this lightning business, but the place is bewitched. I one-half month. Deducting one-tenth, then, in order to make a fair comparison, gives 2,352,138 as the total which the Western world's fair will have to reach in order to be regarded as successful in point of attendance as was Omaha. In order to reach this number, the daily attendance for the remainder of the exposition period must average over 17,000 a day. This is 200 less than the average has been to date, and as the experience of every exposition has been that the attendance increases as the fair progresses, there can be no doubt that the Portland fair will register more admissions during the four and one-half months of its existence than any exposition of a similar size during a like period.

"There used to be some kind of a thing. It seems to me to be a field from Jennings. It was located on Bayou Nozique and had all kinds of lightning rods on the steeple and down the sides.

"But the lightning took the roof off just before noon. When the congregation put it back the lightning came along again and took the whole building over. The lightning rods in that neighborhood got superstitious and they let the church building go to ruins.

"The other tanks in the field except those of Brice escaped. It just looked like something was after Brice and burned up his money as fast as he made it. Then there was the case at Sour Lake. Both of the fires there originated in the same place and they cost millions of barrels of oil and hundreds of thousands of dollars.

"This lightning business is a queer thing. It seems to have certain spots where it lights and does all the havoc and certain people it is determined to burn out.

"Other people are let alone all the time and their stuff is as safe as if it had been government property. It may be all right, but there is something queer about it to the average workman.

Kruger, an electrical engineer, then got in with his story.

"My father was killed by electricity," Kruger said. "He was killed all at once.

"When the man came along to examine the corpse he could not find a drop of blood in the body. All the blood in the upper part of the body was just as if a man had opened all the veins and taken out every drop of blood. It was a strange case.

"I have been trying to get the doctors to tell me about it, but all they can say is that it happened and that they are at a loss to know how it happened. Instead of the body of the victim being bruised or disfigured, his face was as white as snow and when he went to dress the body it was white all over.

"There was not a mark on the body nor any sign that the man had ever had blood in his veins."

Then Bill Myers took a hand.

"There was a case down in Texas," he said—"he lived at Hillsboro. I think. Well, this man was a walking dynamo.

"He had been struck by lightning along about 1898 some time, and enough electricity had gone into his body to start a street railway system. Yet he lived.

"He told me he felt as if there were 10,000 needles being driven into his body all the time. He had been all over the United States trying to get rid of it, but could not get the needles out. When I saw him he was going to try the hot water wells at Waco.

"I tried to dissuade him because of him, but never did. I have always thought that if some of the New York promoters had got hold of that fellow before the electricity got out of him they would have capitalized him for about $100,000 and organized a metropolitan street railway system with a human dynamo as the basis of supply."

Then a man who had served a season on the plains in the cow country told the story of Sanderson.

"Sanderson," he said, "was a big sheep man down in the Concho country. One day there came along one of those fierce storms like they don't have any more, and he was out with his men where else but in West Texas, and Sanderson stopped for a minute under a pecan tree.

"He got a terrific shock and was dead for a while, but when he came to and reached for his watch to see what time it was he found that the lightning had melted his watch in his pocket. What had been a fancy timepiece was just a mass of gold and works. And it did not burn the man up.

"Then the Indiana drifter told of a section of country in the oil field in the eastern part of the state where lightning had never been known to strike.

"The strip," he said, "is about twenty miles long and ten miles wide, and during all the years people have been living there lightning has never been known to strike anything.

"All around this little reservation lightning does all kinds of things. It burns barns, destroys fences, kills people and stock, but within the limits of this strip everything is safe. It is just the other side of the story from the Indiana drifter's story, but it is just as true.

"It looks like lightning cannot get to the farms and the oil wells and the other things on the strip. It is known all over that end of the country as a 'charmed strip.'

"What would did ever heal but by degrees. If your business has been crippled by poor advertising, or by none at all, do not expect it to recover in a day.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature, and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained, by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.

GIANT GORILLAS.

One Killed By a French Explorer Weighed 720 Pounds.

Paris, Sept. 20.—M. Eugene Brasseur, a French official and an explorer, has just returned from Algiers, bringing with him photographs of giant gorillas, one of which was killed by his escort on the 15th inst.

The animal is of great size, being 7 feet 6 inches in height, while the width of its shoulders is 4 feet.

One of its hands, when cut off, weighed 6 pounds, while the carcass of the animal weighed 720 pounds and the united efforts of eight native soldiers were necessary to drag it to the French consulate at Algiers.

During the past twelve months several travelers have reported the presence in the upper valleys of Lohani and Sangareah of these enormous gorillas which have never previously been seen, while the Arabs state that several times the beasts have attacked caravans passing through the valleys.

These monstrous gorillas differ in many respects from all others hitherto known. The ears are remarkably small, and the skin is almost bare on the chest and stomach, while the shoulders and thighs are covered with long, thick hair.

M. Brasseur believes that they belong to a new, or at any rate hitherto unknown species.

Pain from a Burn Promptly Relieved By Chamberlain's Pain Balm.

A little child of Miss Strauss, of Vernon, Conn., was recently in great pain from a burn on the hand, and as cold applications only increased the inflammation, Mr. Strauss came to Mr. James C. Nichols, a local physician, for something to stop the pain. Mr. Nichols says: "I advised him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and the first application drew out the inflammation and gave immediate relief. He has since used it many times and I can recommend it very often for such cases. It is a most reliable remedy and has never known to disappoint. For sale by all leading druggists."

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured in Three Days.

Morton L. Hill, of Lebanon, Ind., says: "My wife had inflammatory rheumatism in every muscle and joint, and was suffering terribly and her body and face were swollen almost beyond recognition; had been in bed for six weeks and had eight physicians, but received no benefit. She tried the Mystic Cure for Rheumatism. It gave immediate relief and she was able to walk about in three days. I am sure it saved her life." Sold by all druggists.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR DETERMINATION OF DESCENT OF LAND.

The Petition of William Sturgis Bigelow, having been duly made and filed in this Court, representing, among other things, that one, Henry Jacob Bigelow, who resided last prior to his death at Boston in the State of Massachusetts, died at the County of Suffolk, State of Massachusetts, on the thirtieth day of October, 1894, and that he was at the time of his death an undivided owner of certain lands in the County of St. Louis, State of Missouri, and that he had an interest in said lands, and that more than five years have elapsed since the death of said Henry Jacob Bigelow, and that no probate has been granted or had of said estate, and that the said lands and the descent of said lands and of the interest therein have not been determined, and that the said lands assigned to such persons as may be entitled thereto by law.

Now, Therefore, It is ordered that the

HE FACED DEATH IN LOCKED SAFE
English Locksmith Rescued When the Air Was Almost Exhausted.

London, Sept. 21.—The horror of death in a locked safe while frantic friends attempted his rescue started Alfred Durant in the face at Catton hall, near London-on-Trent, this week. Mr. Henry Anson, owner of Catton hall, had friends, including Lord Zouche, to dinner, and when a servant came to put the valuable silver away in the strong chamber he found that the lock failed to act, and it was impossible to close the safe door. A locksmith named Frank Durant, of Walton-on-Trent, accompanied by his son, Alfred, spent the greater part of the morning in filling away a portion of the bolts in order to insure the closing of the safe, but, try as they would, they could not get it closed. The son, aged about 30, went inside the safe to ascertain the working of the bolts, and asked his father to attempt to close the door.

The father did so, and the door, which had previously refused to shut, now closed, with the man inside. It was a few minutes before either father or son realized the position of affairs. The door refused to open. The imprisoned man, on grasping the position, at once began to kick and endeavor to force open the door, and the father, seconded his efforts from the outside.

Five, ten, fifteen minutes passed. The air inside the chamber was becoming exhausted, and the son, with death staring him in the face, moved about his iron cage excitedly.

The father's cries in the meantime brought Mr. Anson and the full retinue of female servants to the spot, and the scene was one of the greatest excitement. When attempts to force the door proved futile chisels were put into play by the father, but there was no opening to secure a lodgment in which to fix a chisel.

Fortunately, the son saw a faint glimmer of light, and by placing his mouth to this he literally sucked in life, and thus gained a little relief. While he stuck to the inside, with his mouth glued to the slight opening, the efforts of these outside rescuers were about half an hour's further struggling, the bolts at last gave way, and the son fell into the arms of the father. His condition was pitiable in the extreme. Restoratives, however, were soon applied, and he recovered. In an interview, in which he described the state of his feelings, he said that he had given up all hope and resigned himself to an awful death, when suddenly the door shot open.

VACCINATING "CRAWDADS."
French Method of Preventing Plagues From Eating Crayfish.
Paris, Sept. 21.—Alarmist doctors have made one more horrible discovery. Fresh water crayfish are a great source of delicacy here. But it is found that they are liable to a certain microbian disease. This does not appear to be actually communicable to man. Still one stands a good chance at the very least of being seriously upset after eating a crayfish colonized by bacilli. However, the remedy has been discovered. A serum has been compounded which kills the microbe and cures the crayfish. It must be administered to the latter at a tender age. The crayfish is caught when not more than nine months old, vaccinated, and put back into the water, where it lives a happy life, impervious to microbes until captured again for the supper table. The inoculation is made at the tip of the left claw. All crayfish thus treated are marked in a peculiar way on the tail before being put back into the water, so that they may be easily distinguished afterwards. Persons ordering supper in Paris are therefore cautioned to order only vaccinated crayfish, and warned to see that they bear the proper marks on the tail.

GERMAN WAR OFFICE
Decides That Knapsack Carried By Soldiers Is Too Heavy.
Berlin, Sept. 20.—The German war office has come to the conclusion that the knapsack at present carried by the German soldier is too heavy. The heavy caskin knapsack in use up to the present time is being replaced by another of light waterproof canvas, and other reductions in weight are being made.

The German infantry recruit may be said to carry his house on his back. The following is a list of his baggage items:
Cooking utensils, various parts of a tent, an overcoat, thirty rounds of ammunition, a linen suit, a quantity of underwear, two pairs of boots, toothbrushes and blades, numerous metal tools, a hymn book, a box for trifles, a variety of personal articles.

MAIN NEEDS OF FARMERS
Are Adequate Markets and Opportunity to Purchase Supplies.

President J. J. Hill Talks to Farmers of Southern Minnesota.

Preston, Minn., Sept. 21.—James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, addressed the farmers of Southern Minnesota, who assembled at the Fillmore county fair here yesterday.

"Your main needs," said Mr. Hill, after severely condemning graft in public and private life, "are two: an adequate market in which your products may be sold at a fair price and an opportunity to purchase those things you need which the farm does not supply. As far as your main concern is concerned, just sell it in the markets of the world. The tariff will not hurt you although your politicians may say you are protected, and thereby helped, but you know better. There is one way, however, in which you may be helped; and that is by lessening the cost of transportation. You have to bear the cost of carrying the product of your farm to the consumer. Anything that diminishes it is money in your pocket. No one can arbitrarily send out a proclamation that such a service shall be performed at such a charge. The business of transportation must be conducted on a business basis.

"It is an easy prophecy, because it is an obvious fact that railroad rates in this country would decline more slowly under governmental control than under the present system. You have to bear the cost of carrying the product of your farm to the consumer. Anything that diminishes it is money in your pocket. No one can arbitrarily send out a proclamation that such a service shall be performed at such a charge. The business of transportation must be conducted on a business basis.

RURAL CARRIERS LACK HARMONY
Serious Split In Their Convention Is Narrowly Averted.

Indianapolis, Sept. 21.—It seemed for a while yesterday that a number of the delegates to the convention of the National Rural Letter Carriers association, would not only withdraw from the convention, but the council as well. When the report of the committee on credentials was read, the fact that there was a campaign on foot against the president of the association became immediately evident. The anti-administration delegates were seated on one side of the room and the administration men on the other. The delegation from Ohio, first wanted information as to why Ohio was not meted with any young capacity in the convention, and was informed that the Ohio association had not paid its per capita tax, and therefore was not entitled to representation.

Then Michigan wished to know why it was not represented, and was told that it had offered in payment for its per capita tax an order on the Michigan association treasury that could not be cashed without the lapse of several days, and could not be looked on at the present as legal tender. New York was the next state to ask for information and was informed that it had presented in payment for its per capita tax a promissory note, due in April of next year for $15, and that this note could not be accepted as legal tender, and that therefore the delegates from New York could not be seated.

They began the spirited discussion, for New York, Ohio and Michigan delegates among the strongest of the states that are opposed to the retention of President Cunningham. A motion to accept the note from New York and seat the delegates was finally carried. During the arguments that followed the gavel of the president was engaged almost continuously.

CLAD ONLY IN BEAD BELTS.
Costumes at South African Wedding Were Unusually Primitive.
Pietertmaritzburg, Sept. 21.—During the visits of the English scientists connected with the association for the Advancement of Science, the visitors were treated to a Kaffir dance, performed in the presence of Sir Henry McCallum, the governor, as supreme chief. This was followed by a native wedding, the hereditary chief of the Inadi tribe espousing a young woman, daughter of a commoner, who is to be the chief wife and the mother of the principal heir. The actors in this barbaric scene were variously clad in skins, feathers, beads and cloths of gaudy colors. The majority, including the women, were wearing the scantiest apology for a costume, some of the girls wearing nothing but narrow bead belts. The ceremony included much dancing, stamping and capering to shrill cries and whistling.

The bridegroom, practically nude, sat on a mat, his party and the bride's party facing each other. The bride did not appear till after the women and girls of her party had given a dance. She then entered the arena, accompanied on each side by the Kaffir equivalent to groomsmen and bridesmaids. All three were concealed under one umbrella till they reached the bridegroom, when the bride raised him from the ground and sat him in a chair. She then joined in a dance. Mucha remaining seated.

STRENGTH CONTINUES

Flax Is Nervous and Sharp Decline Is the Result.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 21.—Foreign news was of a bullish character today, and upon it the market was advanced. Russian fears of famine were spread and resulted in causing much buying on this side. Liverpool was 5-16 higher. The weather in the Northwest was excellent, but the movement is falling off a little for the time being. Armour was again buying it openly.

The December option closed 1/2 higher in Duluth, 1/4 higher in Chicago and Minneapolis, 1/4 higher in New York, 1/4 higher in Kansas City. The September option was stronger in most markets, particularly in the Northwest. In Duluth it advanced 1/4 for the old and 1/2 for the new. In Minneapolis 3/4-1/2, in Chicago 1/2-1/4 and in New York 1/2. Winnipeg October advanced 1/4. The Chicago market was strong, December closing with an advance of 1/4. In the Liverpool market corn was 1/4 higher, December 1/2, against 1/2 last year, and 1/2 higher than the Northwest of 1904, making a total for the Northwest of 1/2, against 1/2 last year. Chicago received 31, against 12 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 1,074,700 bushels, last year, 1,153,000 bushels. Shipments were 88,000 bushels, last year, 94,000 bushels. Clearances of wheat and flour aggregated 203,000 bushels.

Corn in the Chicago market was strong, December closing with an advance of 1/4. In the Liverpool market corn was 1/4 higher, December 1/2, against 1/2 last year, and 1/2 higher than the Northwest of 1904, making a total for the Northwest of 1/2, against 1/2 last year. Chicago received 31, against 12 last year.

Flax was not very active and acted rather nervous, for while offerings were not heavy, there was a slump in the price. The feeling seemed to be general that a decline was at hand and it was one of those cases where the market takes very little to put the market down. The sale of a large number of puts on December good for tomorrow further mystified the crowd. October opened on December 1 at 26 1/2, fell to 26 1/4, rallied to 26 1/2, and then slumped to 26 1/4. November opened unchanged at 26 1/2, advanced to 26 3/4, and then fell to 26 1/2. The December fell 1/4, closing at 26 1/4.

Ons advanced 1/4 and rye was 1/4 higher.
